AT PRICES THE LOWEST EVER HEARD OF

at the NEW YORK BARGAIN STORE, 324 W. Front St., Plainfield.

WE don't believe in heralding ourselves with a brass band, but instead of that we have arranged a special feast of bargains for the coming fall and winter, of which you are all invited to partake, and we hope that through the many bargains that we will give out the fame of our goods will spread far and wide, as once the echo of the Liberty Bells did.

THINGS WE DO——AND THINGS WE DON'T DO

We don't indulge in any bogus advertising scheme; we do everything we claim to do. We don't sell an article worth a dollar for ten cents, but we do sell by nearly half lower than any other store in the city. Our store is overfilled with all the latest and the most nobby productions for the coming fall. If you are interested in anything in our line now is the time to purchase. You can make a dollar go as far with us as two elsewhere. Polite salesmen will be willing and anxious to show them to you.

Home Baking with ROYAL Baking Powder

The United States Agricultural Department has issued (and circulates free) a valuable report prepared by Mrs. Prof. W. O. Atwater, giving the results of elaborate experiments which show the great saving from baking at home, as compared with cost of buying at the bakers. All bread, cake, biscuit, crullers, etc., are very much fresher, cleaner, cheaper and more wholesome when made at home with Royal Baking Powder.

DUNELLEN.

A curious sight was witnessed on North avenue last evening and all those who saw it are wondering what the cause was. Four young men came from the direction of the trolley about 7:30. When they got in front of an electric light near Jackson avenue they stopped and two of them removed their coats and engaged in a furious fight in the road. All the time they seemed good friends and no anger was displayed. Finally one of them knocked the other out. They then shook hands and went on up North avenue arm in arm. It is not known who they were.

Harry Vliet, son of Walter Vliet, was obliged to go to the hospital yesterday, because of a sore hand. Sometime ago he got a sore on his hand and as it was not properly taken care of poisoning developed.

Rev. S. K. Doolittle, of the Methodist church, will exchange pulpits tomorrow, with Rev. Mr. Kinsey, of Newark, a former pastor of the church.

William Carman, the candidate for sheriff, and Mr. Booraem, the candidate for surrogate, visited here yesterday, on a trip canvassing the county.

Opinions in favor and against macadamizing Prospect avenue will be aired at the next meeting of the Council November 3.

Mrs. Charles Johnson, of Philadelphia, is spending some time at the home of William Giles.

J. D. DeGroff left this morning to spend a week with friends in New York State.

Dealaman & Fenner, the grocers, have had one of their wagons repainted.

Notice has been posted by the borough club of the election next Tuesday.

J. L. Block, the butcher, has moved his family here from Scotch Plains.

Prayer meeting was held in Holy Innocents' church last evening.

Special services will be held in the Methodist church tomorrow.

Regular practice was held last evening by the Checker Club.

There will be no football game in town today.

NEW MARKET.

A very charming reception was given last evening by Mrs. Duncan Phyfe Vail, at the beautiful home of her son, F. Percy Vail, in honor of her two nieces, the Misses Hunt, of California. The house was beautifully decorated. Mrs. Vail received, assisted by her nieces and daughter. A host of guests was present from New York, Brooklyn, New Brunswick and other places, and a number of carriages were kept busy conveying them from the station to the house. An elaborate supper was served at a late hour.

Charles S. Day is in New Brunswick this afternoon attending the meeting of the Republican executive committee.

Rev. Frank Fletcher will exchange pulpits with Rev. G. M. Shott, of Scotch Plains, tomorrow.

Smith & Thorton have recently placed a new cash register in their store.

J. E. Wharton is spending a week with out-of-town friends.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

Services at the Batpist church tomorrow will be: Sunday-school, 9:30; morning preaching, Rev. Mr. Shott exchanging with Rev. Frank Fletcher, of New Market, 10:45; B. Y. P. U. meeting, 7; evening preaching by pastor, subject, "The Ark and the Mercy Seat," 7:45.

Those who are obliged to use the trolley during the evening hours are beginning to wish that the trolley company will be able to procure coal of some kind in the near future so as to be able to start the fires agoing before snow comes.

Manager Johnston, of the local ball team, was unable to arrange a game for this afternoon. Owing to the lateness of the season all teams have disbanded. The local fans will take in the Plainfield-Westfield game at Hope Common.

A number from town attended the funeral services of the late Mrs. John L. Spencer, held from the home of her nephew at Westfield, Friday afternoon. Interment was made in the family plot in the North Plainfield cemetery.

The registry board will meet in the Township rooms Tuesday from 1 to 9 o'clock for the purpose of revising and correcting the registry list for the coming election. This will be the last opportunity for registering.

The Scotch Plains football eleven will play the North Plainfield eleven at the latter place this afternoon.

The weekly prayer meeting of the Methodist church will be held in the church tonight at 8 o'clock.

The Township Committee will meet in the Township rooms Friday evening of next week, October 31.

There will be dancing at Ivamy's pavillion tonight. Music will be by Naylor's full orchestra.

Miss Addie Demarest, of Suffern, N. Y., is spending a week with Miss Nancy Wade.

The Methodist church looks very neat in its new coat of paint.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

Rev. L. E. Livermore will preach and conduct services at the Baptist church tomorrow morning. The evening service will be conducted by the Young People's Society. Mrs. J. A. Cubberley will lead the meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Laing, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bruce, of Metuchen, went to New York today and will remain over Sunday.

Mrs. Oscar Thorn will entertain over Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Patterson and Mrs. Gabel and son, of New York.

The Farther Lights Society will hold a meeting this evening at the home of Miss Nellie Manning.

SOME OF ATTRACTIONS TO BE FOUND AT LOCAL STORES.

A Few Interesting Items Concerning Greater Plainfield's Merchants

Powlison & Jones have just placed in their large display of furniture forty-five patterns of chiffonieres from which to make selections. The prices are almost as numerous.

With winter fast approaching and that harrassing cough grows worse, why not try Powers' Honey, Coltsfoot and Tar Cough Syrup? Try this cure before trying others.

O. L. Stanley, the North avenue florist, has some fine chrysanthemums on display in his window. Purchasers wishing the best and freshest flowers will do well to trade at this store.

In Fowler's candy kitchen, everything known to the confectioner's art is made daily. Nothing but pure ingredients are used in their manufacture and inspection of the workshop is invited.

Clothes to fit right must be made right; to wear well they must be made of the best material and to look well—but anyway just see the new fall suitings Harry Werner is showing. And he can explain to you why a Werner suit is the admiration of all beholders.

One half of the comfort of life is in having shoes that properly fit your feet. If you would be comfortable and happy buy your shoes of John H. Doane, of West Front street. He guarantees satisfaction and he will not charge you more than the best quality of shoes are worth.

The attractiveness of oriental goods is appreciated at the store of P. G. DuBois on West Front street. He carries a full line of these goods, such as you find at Vantine's in New York. Delicacies, fine coffees and teas and toilet preparations of the best kind. Mr. DuBois also keeps a line of favors for social affairs.

The fall and winter opening at Hill & Shupp's dry goods store is now in full swing and every department is filled with new and attractive goods. You can buy economically at this store and at the same time you are sure of getting first quality goods. In the dress goods, carpet and housefurnishing departments you will find just what you want at this time of the year.

AN AMATEUR PIRATE.

Maj. Stede Bonnet Turned from Farming to Freebooting and Became A Greedy Robber.

Early in the eighteenth century there lived at Bridgetown, in the island of Barbados, a very pleasant, middle-aged gentleman named Maj. Stede Bonnet. He was a man in comfortable circumstances and had been an officer in the British army. He had retired from military service, and had bought an estate at Bridgetown, where he lived in comfort and was respected by his neighbors.

But for some reason or other this quiet and reputable gentleman got it into his head that he should like to be a pirate. But besides the general reasons why Maj. Bonnet should not become a pirate, and which applied to all men as well as to himself, there was a special reason against his adoption of the profession of a sea robber—he was an out-and-out landsman and knew nothing whatever of nautical matters. He was fond of history and well read in the literature of the day. He was accustomed to the habits of good society, and knew a good deal about farming and horses and cows and poultry.

But notwithstanding his absolute unfitness for such a life, Maj. Bonnet was determined to become a pirate, and he became one. He had enough money to buy a ship and to fit her out and man her, and this he quietly did at Bridgetown, nobody supposing that he was going to do anything more than start off on some commercial cruise. When everything was ready his vessel slipped out of the harbor one night, and after he was sailing safely on the rolling sea he stood upon the quarter deck and proclaimed himself a pirate. He ran up the black flag, girded on a great cutlass, and folding his arms he ordered his mate to steer the vessel to the coast of Virginia.

Bonnet's men were practiced seamen, and so when this "green hand" came into the waters of Virginia he actually took two or three vessels and robbed them of their cargoes, burning the ships and sending the crews ashore.

This had grown to be a common custom among the pirates, who, though cruel and hard hearted, had not the inducements of the old buccaneers to torture and murder the crews of the vessels which they captured. It was called "marooning," and was somewhat less heartless than the old methods.

As Bonnet wished to adopt the customs of the society in which he placed himself, when he found himself too far from land to put the captured crew on shore he did not hesitate to make them walk the plank, a favorite device of pirates whenever they had no convenient way of disposing of their prisoners.

In one branch of his new profession Bonnet rapidly advanced. He soon became a greedy robber and a cruel conqueror. He captured merchant vessels all along the coast as far north as New England.—Frank R. Stockton, in St. Nicholas.

SAMPLES OF IRISH WIT.

Pat's Ready Tongue Maintains Its Reputation for Putting People in Good Humor.

Two laborers set out from Wexford to walk to Dublin. By the time they reached Bray they were very tired with their journey, and the more so when they were told they were still 12 miles from Dublin. "Be me sowl," said one, after a little thought, "sure, it's but six miles apiece! Let us walk on."

During a discussion at a meeting of the Trinity College Historical society upon the slight consideration attached to life by uncivilized nations, a speaker mentioned the extraordinary circumstance that in China if a man were condemned to death he could easily hire a substitute to die for him. "And," the debater went on, "I believe many poor fellows get their living by acting as substitutes in that way!"

A child went crying to its mother and reported that it had swallowed a button. "Well, well, look at that now!" cried the woman. "Begor, I suppose the next thing you'll do is to swallow a buttonhole!" This reminds me of the graphic description by a beggar man of his tattered coat: "Faith, yer honner, it's nothin' but a parcel of holes sewn together."

A curious peculiarity of the Irish nature is the wide limits to which relationship is extended. "Do you know Pat Meehan?" a peasant was asked. "Of course I do," was the answer. "Why, he's a near relation of mine. He wance proposed for my sister Kate."

A clergyman told me that he has a parishioner who is much addicted to drink. Meeting the man one day when, as the people say, "he had a drop in," the priest insisted that he should take the pledge, for it was the only protection against the temptations of the public house. "You've never seen a teetotaler drunk, Tom," said the priest. "Ah, your riverence," replied Tom, "I've seen many a man drunk, but I couldn't tell for the life of me whether they wor teetotalers or not!"—London Spectator.

Not a Whisky.

When the bishop of New York was once making a visitation at Goshen, one of the vestrymen, who had a pair of Hambletonians, indulged the bishop's fondness for fine horses by allowing him to drive the pair. Bishop Potter was well covered with dust when he drew up at a country inn. Stepping into the office, which was also the bar, the bishop approached the counter and said to the man in attendance: "Would you kindly give me a whisk, sir?" The man looked confused, more especially because of the unmistakable cut of the ecclesiastic's clothes, and he replied, with some diffidence: "Really, doctor, we daren't sell liquor on Sunday." It was soon explained that the bishop only wanted a whisk broom to brush his dusty broadcloth.—N. Y. Tribune.

THE DIPLOMATIC CORPS.

Precedence of Women of the Embassies May Lead to Another Clash at the National Capital.

It is just announced at the embassy that Senora de Aspiroz, wife of the Mexican ambassador, will not return to the American capital this winter. The Washington climate never agreed with her, and her physician gave a positive order that she should remain in her native country for several years. At the head of the Mexican embassy will be the graceful elder daughter of the ambassador, Senora de Parez, but she will not occupy the position at the head of diplomatic housewives which her mother would have occupied had she remained in Washington.

The first ambassador in rank who has a woman at the head of his menage is Sig. Mayor des Planches, the Italian ambassador, and with what must almost seem a miraculous change in affairs the country which stood at the bottom socially will now be foremost in the brilliant social events of the coming winter.

SENORA DE QUESADA.
(The Charming Wife of Cuba's Minister at Washington.)

Neither the German, who heads the diplomatic list, nor the Russian ambassador is married. Count Cassini has as hostess at his embassy his young niece and adopted daughter, Countess Cassini, but the only effort he makes to place her in equal rank with himself is at the white house diplomatic receptions. If this position is insisted upon this season the little countess with her high red-heeled shoes will be the first woman to be presented to the president at the diplomatic reception, and it is believed this will excite another diplomatic discussion.

Later will come the wife of the British ambassador, who is hastening here to avoid being placed lower on the diplomatic list of ambassadors than the Austrian representative. Speaking English and being an American born, she will naturally have much the advantage over the wife of the Italian ambassador, who speaks no English.

Baroness Hengelmuller is probably now the most popular wife of a diplomat in Washington society, as she adapts herself admirably to all phases of life and is an accomplished woman of the world.

The new French ambassador's wife is a scholarly woman of rare mental attributes, and is also fond of the quieter side of social life. From one who knows it is learned that the French embassy is likely to be again noted for a series of brilliant dinners.

With a new French ambassdor, a new British ambassador, a new Spanish minister, Cuban minister and Chinese minister, with a large number of new attaches, the season promises to be rich in entertainment from the diplomatic contingent.

He was a member of congress at large from 1893 to 1895, was United States district attorney for the northern district of Illinois from 1895 until 1899, and is a prominent member of the Loyal Legion. His war record is prime. He entered the army as private, and left it as a brevet brigadier general. His friends think he is a fitted candidate for the command of the Grand army.

THREE-QUARTER EFFECTS.

Velvet and Lace Coats—Princess Gowns.

The long three-quarter coat will be the style this winter for those whose height will enable them to wear it. These coats are made of velvet, ribbed silk and even of brocades and are usually worn over a waist or dress which has a full fall of lace. Sometimes the effect of the long coat is also carried out on the skirt in the shape of gored flounces at even distances. These are trimmed on the edges after the manner of the coat.

Loose coats of lace are very smart for theater wear and accompany skirts of pale colored broadcloth or crepe de chine.

The princess dress will be seen a great deal this winter at smart functions, and robes of crepe de chine incrusted with renaissance lace will be utilized for this purpose.

White in all materials promises to be more popular than ever, and it is particularly becoming to brunettes and women with auburn hair.

The afternoon dress illustrated comes from a well known French house. It is of gray and white liberty silk trimmed with guipure mousseline and ribbon velvet. The shirred skirt is especially worthy of notice, as it illustrates the latest style.

TAILOR HINTS.

The Basque Coat Coming In—Pedestrian Skirts.

The basque coat is coming in with the shorter skirt much strapped and stitched. Collars and revers are once again braided, and new braids will be used as winter advances.

The lace cravat is a pretty finish to a tailor made frock, while the old fashioned jabot must of necessity be in vogue with anything approaching the swallowtail or cutaway jacket.

There is no doubt that on all practical costumes the skirts will be much shorter, but the really short skirt to show the ankles should be kept exclusively for country wear. For town wear the skirt is cut to escape the ground barely all the way around.

There is no doubt that some women never look well without a wide collar; consequently they must not be deluded by new fashions in this respect. Some of the very latest coats are made without the sailor collar and with the little upstanding military affair, but in all such matters individuality must be considered.

A very useful gown is the one shown in the cut. It is of dark red rough goods trimmed with gold and white braid.

Lampkin got up and peered into the jar, turning the ghastly object over on the bed of ashes beneath.

"There is no odor," he said, trying to speak in a matter-of-fact tone. "That is strange."

"Embalmed," said Hendricks. "I saw indications of it in the punctures of the flesh."

"You are right," agreed the doctor.

"Let me see a moment," with these words the detective sprang to the vase, and, picking up the grewsome object, examined it minutely.

"I have only one isolated clew," he said, putting the severed hand back on the ashes.

"What is that?"

"In his effort to cut and wrench this hand from the joint at the wrist, the murderer allowed his sharp nails to sink into the flesh. The marks did not show at the time, but the process of decomposition has brought them out distinctly. Doctor, the fellow who did the job manicures his finger-nails to sharp points, as is the vogue among society men of a certain class."

Lampkin made an examination.

"You are certainly right," he said, returning the hand to the vase. "Shrewd and cautious as the perpetrator evidently was that did not occur to him."

"God has never yet made it possible for a human mind to be full of a hellish deed and at the same time master details that will completely overcome detection," was Hendricks' reply.

"You do not think that the body could have been reduced to ashes in these apartments," said Lampkin, tentatively.

Hendricks shook his head, and pointed to the open fireplace where lay the ashes of a wood fire.

"No, this is the only fireplace and it has not been used for a fortnight."

"Are you sure?" incredulously.

"Quite sure. This chimney seems to come straight down from the roof, and raindrops have fallen and left their imprints here. It rained two weeks ago and has been clear ever since."

"I would never have thought of that."

"It is my business to think of everything."

Lampkin's face betrayed the birth of an important idea.

"Surely," he said, "the body could not easily have been removed for the purpose of cremation elsewhere without being dismembered. Perhaps if you made a careful examination you might find traces of its having been cut up."

"Thanks for the suggestion," said Hendricks. Lampkin watched him as he went into the bathroom and closely examined the porcelain tub and white-tiled floor.

"No," he said, coming back. "I think he managed to remove the body in its entirety."

"You think that?" remarked the doctor, not convinced.

"Yes; it would be an easy thing to do. As Caruthers was supposed to be leaving, it would be natural for him to take a trunk, and his luggage going out would not attract much attention."

"Good heavens!" exclaimed the doctor. "In his own trunk!"

At this juncture the door leading into the corridor swung open and the clerk who had shown them upstairs entered suddenly, his eyes alighting on the severed hand which lay across the somewhat narrow mouth of the vase.

"My Lord!" he exclaimed, his eyes bulging from their sockets, "has—has he been murdered, Mr. Hendricks?"

An expression of deep annoyance settled on the face of the detective.

"Yes," he said. "But leave us alone for a few minutes, and please don't say anything about this down in the office just yet. We would be interrupted by sight-seers."

The clerk thrust his white, horrified face forward and peered into the vase.

"Surely not—not cremated, Mr. Hendricks!" he gasped.

"That's about the size of it," retorted the detective. He went to the door and held it open. The clerk took the hint and backed out of the room.

"Don't lay it to me if this gets out sooner than you wish," he said. "A member of the detective force was down there in citizen's clothes and recognized you when you first came in. He had heard of the remarks going round about Mr. Caruthers' absence, and seeing you on hand made him more curious. He has Mr. Caruthers' man down there now, asking him questions. It seems nothing has been seen of Mr. Caruthers since he had the row with Mr. Arthur Gielow at the club."

Hendricks leaned against the door-facing.

"They had a row, eh?"

"That's the general report, sir."

"Did you hear what it was about?"

"Some dispute over a woman, I think."

"Who was the woman?"

"Miss Dorothy Huntington was the name I heard mentioned."

"Ah," broke in Lampkin, coming forward. "I remember—"

But Hendricks was bowing to the clerk and smiling, as if to denote that the conversation were at an end.

"I might be able to give you a pointer or two," suggested the clerk. "I am a man that generally keeps his eyes and ears open, and for a small consideration I might—"

Hendricks nodded understandingly.

"I'll send for you another time, you may be sure of that, and I always reward people who aid me, but just now—"

"I thought you might like to know that Miss Huntington is down in the ballroom, sir."

Hendricks smiled, expressed his thanks for the information and firmly closed the door.

"Persistent rascal," he said. "I didn't want him to hear what you were about to say. Now, what was it?"

"I started to say that I have a sort of friend, a society man, who brings me all the club gossip worth mentioning, and I remember that there is considerable talk going on at present in the swell set to the effect that this Miss Huntington, who is prospectively a very rich heiress, has recently been informed by her lawyers that her Uncle Jacob Van Courtland, from whom she had expected to inherit several millions had—just before his death—willed her the money on the sole condition that she should marry Caruthers, to whom old Courtland felt in some way indebted. It has caused much comment, for it has been generally understood that Arthur Gielow, a painter of some reputation, but as poor as a church-mouse, was in love with her, and that she thought a lot of him."

"Ah!" muttered the detective, his eyes gleaming; "she liked the poor man best."

"It is said," went on Dr. Lampkin, "that her lawyers informed her of the condition in the will more promptly than they intended because her preference for Gielow was becoming noticeable. In fact, many believe she was on the point of becoming his wife."

The lines of Hendricks' brows ran together as if his beard, at which he was tugging, were a bunch of puckering-strings.

"And in case of the death of Caruthers?" he questioned.

"The will seemed to be equally explicit on that point," replied Dr. Lampkin. "The fortune was to be turned over to Miss Huntington at the end of two years if she was the wife of Caruthers. In the meantime, however, in case of the death of Caruthers she was to have the money anyway."

Hendricks took a deep involuntary breath.

"By Jove!" he cried, in a tone of suppressed excitement. "This is growing into magnificent proportions. It is interesting me doubly, for in case it is the artist who has committed the crime it cannot be my arch enemy, and at first I was inclined to attribute the whole thing to that mysterious genius."

Hendricks reflected a moment, his eyes on the most prominent figure in the rich carpet, then he added:

"Was there anything in the papers about the row between the two men?"

"No, it was hushed up by the club people. It didn't amount to much and my informant did not learn all the particulars. The artist and his rival, who had the reputation of being something of a cad, and who is said to have been badly spoiled by his prospective marriage, were conversing in the smoking-room, which they occupied alone, when the servants in the adjoining lunch room heard their loud voices and went in just as Caruthers was slapping Gielow in the face and calling him a presumptuous pauper. Gielow hurled a bottle at the head of his antagonist, but by ducking Caruthers preserved his countenance, and the waiters separated them before further damage was done."

Hendricks' eyes swept over the room, resting on the open vase and the grewsome member lying across its top, the large diamond on the ashen fingers sparkling in the rays of the gaslight. Filling an envelope with the ashes, he put it in his pocket.

Do You Wish To Borrow Money?

In order to accommodate all classes of borrowers (those who cannot borrow at a bank, as well as those who can), the Mutual Loan and Investment Company, of 118 Market street, Newark, N J., has a department for handling quickly and confidentially loans ranging from $10 to $300 on furniture, pianos, storage receipts, etc.

The security is not removed from your possession or in any way disturbed. The honest, careful and conservative borrower will try and decide two points before borrowing. First, where he can get the best terms. Second, where he can get fair and square treatment.

This company is in a position to give you by far the most satisfactory terms ever offered by any concern or individual negotiating this class of loans.

With this company you are assured of getting the lowest rates, easiest payments and longest time for repayment. The whole transaction from the time the application is made until loan is paid is entirely confidential. We give you another advantage in case you take the loan out for six months or a year, and wish to settle the same before the time expires: we charge you only for the time you have had the money. We also take up loans from other companies and advance more money.

Kindly call and let us explain our simple and up-to-date methods If not entirely convenient for you to call, please write and our representative will call and give you any desired information. Remember it costs nothing to make application. Loans promptly made in Elizabeth, Plainfield, Westfield, Roselle, Rahway, Perth Amboy and all suburban towns.

IN A COUGAR'S GRIP.

Six-Year-Old Child Is Rescued from Perilous Position by His Plucky Older Brother.

Four children of Mr. Rodenberg, whose home is at Big Skookum, in Washington state, go to school at a public schoolhouse a long way off. One Wednesday during the last of June these children, being on the road homeward, were straggling along at some distance from each other, when a cougar sprang out of an ambush and seized the little boy who brought up the rear. This little fellow was the youngest of the party, being only six years old, and least likely to resist the beast, as that watchful creature seems to have known when it saw the school children going by, single file.

The cougar seized the lad by the head and sat crouched upon him, snarling at another boy of the party, an eight-year-old youngster, who came running with might and main to save his brother. The brave boy had in his right hand a milk bottle, of heavy glass. He took hold of one of the cougar's ears, and with the bottle began to beat the snarling beast over the head. At the third or fourth blow the bottle broke, and a hundred fragments of glass were shattered about.

It is possible that some of these fragments entered the cougar's eyes, for as soon as the bottle broke he let go his hold and ran off, plunging into the bushes, from which he did not again emerge.

Meanwhile the unhurt children took the wounded boy into a neighboring farmhouse. The wounds were all flesh wounds, and when they had been dressed the little fellow grew quite animated in his account of the adventure, which was soon the talk of the neighborhood.

HE'S SAFE EITHER WAY.

An Interesting Situation in the Shack of a Western Man Who Entertains a Rattler.

Every time John Prentice, of Kennewick, Wash., rolls over in bed at night, a big rattlesnake lifts its ugly head and bur-r-rs, and some night there promises to be a battle between the two.

Ten days ago Prentice first heard the warning bur-r-r of the rattle in his shack. He is an old westerner and dwells on the bank of the Columbia, half a mile from Kennewick and just across the river from Pasco.

His cabin is a one-room affair in the midst of a wild, sparsely settled, sage brush country, and is piled high on one side with plunder gathered from the river. Here are dozens of heavy boxes and other articles which would take half a day to drag out.

Prentince heard the rattler, looked twice at the boxes and then decided not to interfere with the intruder ensconced behind the mass of rubbish. He shifted his bed a little and gave up half his house to the snake. The rattlesnake bur-r-rs at every move Prentice makes, but the nervy westerner pays little attention to it.

On one side of the shack dweller as he sleeps is a big shotgun and on the other a bottle of approved snake bite.

"If I see that snake first, heaven help him," remarked Prentice. "If he gets in on me first, here's the snake bite. I'm safe either way."

Foxes in Nutmeg State.

The law of Connecticut allows a one-dollar bounty for each fox killed, and the state refunds to the town the amount paid, and allows the town treasurer 15 cents for his services in each case. Last year the various towns paid bounties on 1,272 foxes killed within their respective limits.

Ostrich Has Queer Ways.

An ostrich never goes straight to its nest, but always approaches it with many windings and detours, in order, if possible, to conceal the locality from observation

VOUDOO MAUSOLEUM.

It Is Located in Hayti and Contains the Remains of a Once Famous High Priest.

Langlade, Hayti, has a mausoleum covering the remains of a Voudoo priest. The structure is made of clay, the same kind that the people use for the construction of their huts. It is 15 feet high and 25 feet long.

Curious faces and palm trees have been painted on the sides of the tomb. The representation of the coffin is also made of clay and is about twice the size of an ordinary one.

The priest who lies buried under the mausoleum was the chief "Papa

VOUDOO MAUSOLEUM.
(Haytians Have Frequent Gatherings Around This Tomb.)

Loi" in President Solomon's time, 1887, and the Voudoo worshippers have frequent gatherings around the tomb. They had to sacrifice children during their religious rites, but this custom died out, or rather was stopped by the authorities, and they now are content with killing goats in connection with their ceremonies.

Few white people have succeeded in attending Voudoo festivities, but, says a New York Herald correspondent, I gained a clear account of how they are carried on through an old negro.

The ceremony is a long chant. Each singer keeps on one chord, and as they all sing in a different key the chant has a weird and unearthly sound. The song is accompanied by three tambours (drums), each of which is of a different size. One is very large and is struck regularly and slowly all through the chant. Another is small and has a flat sound.

The third a medium-sized drum, is played with both hands and feet. The player moves his feet up and down the sides of the drum, to produce either a high or low sound. They end the ceremony by drinking the blood of a freshly killed goat.

There are still many adherents of Voudooism in Hayti, which dates back to the time the Spaniards brought negroes as slaves from Africa to the West Indies.

EXPERT RIFLEWOMAN.

Miss Bibby, a Canadian Girl, Defeats Many of the Crack Shots of the Dominion.

Over in Canada, in a picturesque little town called Dundas, lives a young woman, Miss Bibby by name, who is one of the crack rifle shots of the dominion. She is a slender little creature, but she is nerveless and strong-armed, and has been addicted to shooting ever since she was a little girl—and, by the way, that's not so long ago, either. Miss Bibby uses the regulation Lee-Enfield rifle of the British army and the Canadian militia, and she has been admitted to membership in the Ontario Rifle association, an organization of the cream of the rifle-shooting militiamen and rifle clubs, and she holds her own with the best of them.

She is not a Canadian type, for there are very few of the women of the dominion who take to rifle-shooting as an accomplishment, but she has achieved some fame for herself and her town. Recently at the annual matches of the Ontario Rifle association held in Toronto she won considerable prize money and defeated some of the crack shots of the province.

SPORTING NEWS

GOLF.

In the second round of the Intercollegiate Golf Championship yesterday on the course of the Morris County Golf Club, Harry Hollins, Jr., Harvard, beat J. Whitney Baker, by 4 up and 3 to play. Aside from playing a grand mashie shot to the green after a pulled drive from the seventh tee, Hollins did nothing great in his match with baker. The latter was not quite on edge. In the semi-final round McFarland beat Hollins 1 up in 19 holes, and H. C. Egan beat W. E. Egan, 2 up and 1 to play.

NEW RECTOR PREACHED HIS FIRST SERMON

Rev. Edward Vicars Stevenson Occupied Pulpit at the Grace Episcopal Church.

HE WAS WELL LIKED

AFTER THE SERVICE, THE CONGREGATION HAD CHANCE TO MEET HIM.

Members of Grace Parish Were Well Pleased With His Personality and His Sermon as Well —Details of His Sermon.

An unusually large congregation was present at Grace Episcopal church yesterday morning, when Rev. Edward Vicars Stevenson, the new rector, preached his first sermon. Aside from the special interest attendant upon seeing the new rector, many were anxious to hear his first discourse and, judging by the comment following the service, everyone was well pleased with him. Assisting in the service were Rev. E. M. Rodman, rector emeritus, and Rev. John H. Wilson, curate at Grace church.

The new rector has a commanding appearance and he speaks forcibly and with much emphasis, infusing life into the service. His text was taken from Matthew xviii, and the principal part of his sermon was devoted to the duty of the church. He said that wherever the church may be located it must stand as a light and guide unto the people. It must administer to the body as well as the soul and in society as well as the nation.

He said that the church abounds in everything except a deep spiritual life. Without it the church can do nothing. A clergyman is required to be a man, but it is nonsense for any one to believe or expect that he must look different from other people. The rector did not believe it possible for the church to advance if its congregation is constantly holding its clergyman down by its unsympathetic and luke-warm attitude.

After the service a great many members remained to meet the new rector, who they found to be exceedingly sociable and glad to meet them. Next Sunday Mr. Stevenson will assume the pastorate of the church.

DRIVE AND DINNER.

E. V. Feickert Entertained Some of His Former Asssociates.

Edward N. Feickert, of the Plainfield Trust Company, entertained a number of his former associates in the banking house of Kountze Brothers, New York, Saturday afternoon and evening. A drive among the beautiful residential sections of the city was followed by a collation at Mr. Feickert's home, 83 Fairview avenue. Those who enjoyed his hospitality were James E. Price, H. C. Schnude, C. D. Sinclair, W. H. Lawson, J. H. Moon, J. F. Wiley, Jr., of Kountze Brothers; Samuel Ludlow, Jr., of the North National Bank, New York, and J. Herbert Case, of the Plainfield Trust Company.

Last Chance to Register.

Tomorrow the last opportunity will be given the citizens of Plainfield to register. The various polling places will be open from 1 o'clock in the afternoon to 9 o'clock in the evening. It is the duty of every voter to see that his name is on the list.

Preached at Springfield, Mass.

Rev. J. W. Richardson, of the Park Avenue Baptist church, occupied the pulpit of the State Street Baptist church, at Springfield, Mass., yesterday. Rev. J. W. Cubberley, of South Plainfield, preached at the local church.

Euchre Postponed.

On account of the fair being held in Stafford Hall the progressive euchre, arranged by the Retail Clerks' Mutual Aid Association for this evening, will be postponed. The new date will be announced later.

Attended Installation.

A number of the members from the Crescent Avenue church went to New York, yesterday, to witness the installation of Rev. Dr. Richards as pastor of the Brick Presbyterian church.

Baptist Convention.

The New Jersey Baptist State convention will be held in Jersey City, tomorrow, and a number of Baptists from this city will attend.

Democrats at Westfield.

The Democratic Club, of this city, went to Westfield Saturday evening and joined in a large mass-meeting held at that place.

FOUND BY ROADSIDE.

A Wheelman From Summit Attempted to Coast Down Hill From Johnston's Drive.

Foolishly coasting at full speed down Johnston's Drive near the Somerset street end, Saturday afternoon, resulted in Thomas Terribery, whose home is in Summit, meeting with a severe accident.

His wheel swerved suddenly and he was thrown to the roadway, the fall breaking his arm and badly scraping the skin from various parts of his body. For nearly two hours after the accident he lay stunned and bleeding until his groans attracted the attention of Jacob Fleming, of the valley.

The young man was picked up and taken to Mattison's drug store, where his hurts were attended and where for the first he was able to give a coherent story of what had happened. He was afterward sent to his home in a carriage.

NEW HOSPITAL MANAGEMENT

MISS HARRIETE E. WILDEY APPOINTED TO SUPERINTENDENCY.

Succeeds Miss Young November 1—Has Been Assistant Superintendent for Some Time.

Miss Harriett E. Wildey, assistant superintendent at Muhlenberg Hospital, has been appointed superintendent in place of Miss Annie R. Young, resigned, and will assume the duties of her new position on the first day of November.

Miss Young became superintendent July 1, 1901, coming from the Teachers' College of Columbia University, where she had just completed the course in hospital economics. She has received an offer of a position as assistant superintendent of nurses from the New York Hospital where she recieved her training as nurse.

Miss Young has recently had a severe illness, and her strength has been overtaxed since that time by the great demands of a very busy season at the hospital and in consequence, she has decided to accept the flattering offer received from New York, as the duties of the new position probably will be less exacting. She has been held in high esteem here by the managers of the hospital, and by the medical staff.

Miss Wildey, who becomes superintendent, received her training as nurse at the Smith Infirmary, on Staten Island, graduating from that institution in February, 1901. She has been assistant superintendent at Muhlenberg Hospital since September 26, 1901, and has won the respect and confidence of all who have met her there.

INJURED AT FOOTBALL.

George C. Bird, Jr., Given Concussion of the Brain by Tumble in Football Game.

George C. Bird, Jr., aged nineteen, of West Second street, was dangerously injured while playing football Saturday afternoon with Company K against the Roseville F. A., at Ampere and was brought home in an unconscious condition. He was attended at the game by Dr. W. Kempton Browning, of this city.

The injuries are in the nature of concussion of the brain.

This morning it was said that the unfortunate boy had recovered consciousness and showed signs of improvement.

PURCHASED PHARMACY.

Berthold Schreiner to Conduct the Establishment on Park Avenue.

Berthold Schreiner, who has been associated with Druggist R. J. Shaw for twelve years, has purchased of W. R. Codington the drug business owned by him and located at the corner of Park avenue and Second street. Mr. Schreiner is a thoroughly efficient druggist. He is a graduate of the New York College of Pharmacy. He will thoroughly renovate the store and re-stock it. Physicians' prescriptions will be made a feature. It is Mr. Schreiner's purpose to conduct a first-class pharmacy.

KNOCKED DOWN TWO.

Lynus Walpole Knocked Down and Ran Over Two Young Men.

While turning the corner of Park avenue and Front street in a rig Saturday afternoon, Lynus Walpole, of Scotch Plains, knocked down and ran over Frank Shott and Vincent Wisnewski, of the West End. Walpole continued on after the accident and eluded Roundsman Mattox who started in pursuit. A warrant was sworn out for his arrest and it will be served today. The two men were badly bruised but otherwise escaped injury.

OUTDOOR SPORTS FLOURISHED WITH IDEAL WEATHER

Plainfield Lovers of Good Sport Witnessed Some Exciting Contests on Baseball Diamond, Football Gridiron and Golf Links Saturday Afternoon.

WESTFIELD WON EASILY

LOCAL PLAYERS SUCCUMBED TO THE STRAIN AND FELL WAY DOWN, LOSING GAME 11 TO 2.

Closing Baseball Game of the Season on Hope Common Witnessed by Thousands—Ragged Fielding and Timely Hits Decided the Game —Montross Pitched Well, But Lacked the Proper Support—McLaughlin Tried His Hand.

The price of Plainfield Consolidated baseball team stock, which has been in the ascendancy for the past five weeks, took a sudden and startling slump, Saturday afternoon. Consternation spread among its supporters when the impulsive force, which has been booming things, was knocked away and the team was left at the mercy of the Westfield bear market. The latter's aggregation of baseball players had the Plainfielders at their mercy and when out of the chaos of errors, wild throws and misplays the nine innings were pulled through, the home team was holding on to the wrong end of an 11 to 2 score.

No one player or particular point in the game can be assigned as the cause of the extremely poor showing made in comparison with the other games in the series. It was a combination of circumstances. Failure to hit Waller was one, costly errors by Cooney and Lederer was another and the ease with which the visitors connected with Montross's delivery was a third. True, Plainfield made some excellent plays, but the joy of the huge crowd of spectators was almost immediately changed to cold chills when somebody would make a bungle with the bases filled. To sum up, the Consolidateds played simply as they are rated—amateurs.

Westfield made two of its runs in the first inning when Cooney threw wild over first into the crowd and Mallen and McIntyre, who had reached second and first on an error and a free pass, trotted home. Another two were brought in at the beginning of the second inning by Pastor and Jones. The former made a two base hit and Jones was sent to first after being hit by a pitched ball. Through errors and two free passes another couple of runs were tallied in the fifth inning Montross was batted for three straight singles which assisted in sending as many men over the plate. It was believed by many at this juncture of the game that Montross was out of form and that "Warrie" McLaughlin, of the Pittsburg National team, who was in reserve, should have been substituted. Instead "Jimmie" was held over and in the sixth inning a regular merry-go-round was the result. One after another four singles were batted out and it was only by keeping together that scoring was prevented. As it was one run was made.

McLaughlin went in the box in the eighth and interest in him took precedence over everything else in the contest. For a moment it looked as if Westfield's batting streak was going to continue as Burke, the first man up, sent two long drives out in left field which luckily proved to be fouls. He eventually reached first on an error and was advanced until he scored. In the last inning, Pastor made a hit off McLaughlin but he died on third.

Plainfield's first run was made in the third inning by Taylor. He went to first on balls, stole second and galloped home on Egan's low drive passed first. Bolsterli made the second one in the ninth by getting a free pass and a clear field through Martin's beauty two base hit. Good plays were made on the Consolidated side by Bolsterli, Allen and Barnes.

MANY GOLFERS OUT

MRS. B. PAYTON LEGARE WON FINALS FOR ACKERMAN CUP AT HILLSIDE CLUB COURSE.

Other Winners at Hillside Were W. T. Glenney, Miss Edith Tracy, H. de P. Wright and E. T. Newkirk S. St. J. McCutchen Low Man at Park Club—Is Now Second for President's Cup at the Park Golf Club.

Ideal weather and both local golf courses in fine condition was a combination which attracted many golfers Saturday afternoon. It was a big day at Hillside where several events were scheduled. Mrs. B. Peyton Legare won the finals for the Ackerman cup. Other honors were won by W. T. Glenney, Miss Edith Tracy, H. deP. Wright and E. T. Newkirk. S. St. John McCutchen won first honors for the President's cup at the Park Golfg Club and now stands second in the race.

PARK GOLF CLUB.

The contest for the President's cup at the Park Golf Club has now narrowed down to four contestants as a result of Saturday's regular competition. S. St. John McCutchen won first honors for the day and now stands second in the race. Charles B. Morse, who leads, divided second honors with E. Maxwell Honeyman and thereby added a point and a half to his credit. There are only two more opportunities to play as the competitions close Election Day so the only ones who can possibly pass Morse are S. St. J. McCutchen, Roberts deS. Newhall and Charles A. Reed.

A fair field was out and the course was in the best of condition. The only one who distinguished himself by a low score was McCutchen. Newhall, the scratch man, was not at his best. The scores, better than 100 net, were:

	G.	H.	N.
S. St. J. McCutchen	100	19	81
Charles B. Morse	106	18	88
E. Maxwell Honeyman	113	25	88

HILLSIDE CLUB.

A number of interesting events attracted a large crowd of golfers to the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club course Saturday. There was the concluding play for the Ackerman cup in the morning and afternoon. In the semi-final play Miss Daisy Elsberg beat Mrs. Edward VanBuren by default, Mrs. B. Peyton Legare beat Miss Edith Tracy, 3 up and 2 to play. In

ALIS WON ITS GAME

I. C. T. CLUB MET DEFEAT ON GRIDIRON AT HANDS OF THE ELIZABETH Y. M. C. A.

Company K Suffered Crushing Defeat at Roseville—Orange F. C. Met the Lincoln High at Westfield—Alis Played Good Game, Defeating Corinthian A. C., of Staten Island. 17 to 11—The Several Other Games.

Although rather mild, Saturday was very satisfactory to the local football enthusiasts and some good games were played. In the morning the Leal's School boys defeated Pingry School, of Elizabeth, 12 to 6. In the afternoon, Alis A. A. defeated Corinthian A. C., of Staten Island, 17 to 11. I. C. T. lost to Elizabeth Y. M. C. A. at Elizabeth 17 to 0 and Company K lost to the Rosevilles at Roseville 34 to 0. Then there were several other games by local elevens.

LEALS, 12; PRINGRY, 6.

The football team from Pingry School, of Elizabeth, was defeated by the Leal's boys, Saturday morning, on Hope Common in a game full of exciting incidents. The final score was 12 to 6 in favor of Leal's. Both teams showed weakness on the defensive.

Long runs were made by both sides. Lovell, behind the excellent interference which marked the play of Leal's team, made two thirty-yard gains. Pingry's interference was slower in forming and not as invincible. Leals kicked off in the first half and Hoff, of Pingry, made the first touchdown in eight minutes. Merten kicked the goal. Leals got the ball on a fumble soon after the kick off and Abbott made the first touchdown for Leals. Biglow kicked an easy goal and the score stood 6 to 6.

In the second half Leals boys got the ball and rushed it down the field for their second touchdown by Biglow who also kicked the goal. When time was called the ball was ten yards from Pingry's goal.

The lineup was as follows:

Leals.		Pingry.
J. Haughey	le	Davis
C. Perkins	lt	Earle
Martin	c	Tatourette
Faber	rg	Gorman

Umpires, Blake and West. Timers, Stewart and Willett. Time of halves, 15 minutes.

ALIS, 17; CORINTHIANS, 11.

Much interest centered in the football game between the Alis A. A. and the Corinthian A. C., of Staten Island, on Hope Common, Saturday afternoon, at the end of which the Alis came out victorious with a score of 17 to 11. The attendance at the game was very large and the playing which was very fine on both teams was full of sensational features.

The game was called at 3:30. The first touchdown was made by Davis by a center play. The Corinthians scored by a goal from the field, making the score at the end of the first half 6 to 5.

At the opening of the second half Plainfield kicked to Corinthians then Plainfield held them for downs. Radford, Cathcart and Wilson put the ball on Corinthians ten yard line.

Then the real playing began. Smith took the ball around the right end and scored a touch down. Corinthians kicked to Plainfield and they took the ball through tackle and guard to the twenty-yard line. The Corinthians held the Alis for downs on the twenty-yard line. Then the Corinthians had to kick the ball to the Alis from the twenty-yard line.

Cuming took the ball around the right end and made the sensational run of the day by going eighty-five yards with the pigskin through five tackles. Phillips kicked the ball to goal making 17 to 5 the score.

After a few plays the Corinthians left half back took the ball to Plainfield's thirty-five-yard line and then made a touch down and a few seconds later succeeded in kicking a goal making their score 17 to 11. Although there was twelve seconds left to play the game was called.

E. Y. M. C. A., 17; I. C. T., 0.

A surplus of weight possessed by its opponents proved too much for the I. C. T. football team, Saturday afternoon, and it was defeated by a score of 17 to 0 by the Elizabeth Y. M. C. A. The local boys average but 135 pounds while their opponents owned up to going them thirty-five pounds better.

The scoring was all done in the first half. I. C. T. lost the ball on the twenty-yard line on downs and Able for the Y. M. C. A. took it over the line for a touchdown. Brodhead kicked the goal. A series of center playes resulted in the Elizabethans getting their second touchdown by Hunter but he failed to kick a goal. Again in the last part of the half weight told and while Brodhead scored.

The I. C. T.'s took a brace at the beginning of the second half and met the Association people with their own tactics.

Y. M. C. A.		I. C. T.
Eaton, Leister	le	Harris, Flannery
Frank Blackford	lt	Robinson
Williams, Pugh	lg	Hurdle
Fred Blackford	c	Stauffer

ROSEVILLE, 34; CO. K, 0.

The Roseville F. A. defeated Company K, Second Regiment, Saturday afternoon by a score of 34 to 0. The soldiers could make but little impression on the Roseville line owing to the superior strength of the latter. Birch was the star player making brilliant runs which netted splendid games for his team. The lineups were:

Roseville.		Company K.

O.F. C., 17; LINCOLN H. S., 0.

The Orange Field Club defeated the Lincoln High School, of Westfield, at that place Saturday afternoon, by a score of 17 to 0.

BULKLEY WON CUP.

There was a continuation of play at tennis on the courts of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club Saturday afternoon in the open tournament and that for the club championship. In the opening tournament A. D. Beers, Hillside, defeated F. M. Letson, Cedar Brook Club, 6-4, and Duncan Bulkley, Hillside, defeated A. B. Beers, Hillside, 6-4, 6-2, 6-4, thus giving Bulkley the cup.

In the club championship Duncan Bulkley defaulted to Kenneth Bulkley. The latter then played T. M. Day, Jr., the present holder of the cup. The first sets resulted in a victory for Day, 10-8, 6-2. Bulkley won the next set 8-6 and he had a lead of 3-2 on the fourth set. The first to win three sets out of five, will get the cup. The playing was not finished on Saturday, but will be sometime during this week.

Thomas Chamberlain, of West Third street, visited friends in Elizabeth yesterday.

MYSTERIOUS BLAZE IN COOK'S GROCERY STORE

Fire Department Called Out Early Yesterday Morning for a $500 Blaze.

EASILY EXTINGUISHED

A TENANT ON UPPER FLOOR SMELLED SMOKE AND TELEPHONED ALARM.

Rest of Department Called Out by An Alarm From Box 12—The Stream From the Chemical Engine Did the Business.

The entire local fire department battled for over an hour, early yesterday morning, with a stubborn blaze of mysterious origin, which broke out in the grocery store of George Cook, in the Cutter building on West Front street. It was confined to the rear part of the store. The damage is estimated at $500 of which $300 is placed on the building and the remainder on Cook's stock. In both cases the loss is covered by insurance.

A telephone alarm was first sent into headquarters at 2:30 by William Lunger, who resides in the Voorhees building adjoining and who was awakened by smelling smoke. The chemical engine and hose wagon responded but Chief Doane called out the remainder of the department by pulling box No. 12. One stream was laid and with two tanks from the chemical engine the blaze was put out.

An investigation has failed to reveal any cause for the beginning of the blaze. There was no stove in the place and no matches nearby. The same store was gutted by fire in a similar manner a few years ago when it was occupied by V. L. Frazee.

SUDDEN DEATH.

Mrs. J. P. Homan Passed Away Saturday Afternoon After a Few Hours Illness.

With only a few hours warning, death came to Mrs. James P. Homan, of Hillside avenue, Saturday afternoon. She was taken ill at 5 o'clock in the morning with acute uraemia and despite the efforts of Dr. Davis, she passed away at 2 o'clock.

Mrs. Homan was a life-long resident of this city, her maiden name having been Annie Laing. She leaves a son, George Homan, and one daughter, Mrs. Samuel Clark, of New York Three sisters and one brother also reside in this city.

The funeral services will be held from her late residence, tomorrow afternoon at 2:30. Interment will be at Hillside cemetery.

COURT CASES.

Fred Ammons Admitted His Guilt, But Blamed Keely.

Sentence was suspended on Fred Ammons, in the city court this morning, after he had pleaded guilty to participating in an alteration with John E. Keely, Saturday night, but blamed Keely as the cause. Keely did not appear this morning and the police were instructed to arraign him.

John Butler was arraigned on a charge of drunkenness and disorderly conduct. He was fined $5 or twenty days.

The case of the Overseer of the Poor against Michael Walsh was adjourned for two weeks.

RECITED SEAKESPEARE.

Marshall Darrach Gave a Clever Recital at the Casino.

A small but very select audience was present at the Casino Saturday evening when Marshall Darrach rendered Shakespeare's comedy of "Twelfth Night." Mr. Darrach fully satisfied the highest expectations of all present and rendered the lines in a masterful manner. His complete changes of manner and voice in representing the different characters were received with hearty applause.

Death of Child.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Cadmus, formerly of Plainfield, but now of Brooklyn, lost their youngest daughter, Lillian G. Cadmus, who died Friday from diphtheretic croup. She was two and a half years old. The other two children are now with their grandmother, Mrs. Cole, of West Front street.

FIREMEN PARADE.

The Annual Fire Department Inspection Held at Somerville Thursday Afternoon.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, Oct. 27—The annual fire department inspection and parade was held here Thursday afternoon at the county seat. The Board of Commissioners reviewed the firemen in parade.

There were four companies in line numbering about thirty men in each. All of them were attired in fatigue uniforms but the chief, his assistants and the foremen of each company were in their full uniforms complete with overcoats. In line were the steamer company, the chemical company, the hose and truck companies. They made a fine showing marching through the streets headed by Crescent band of twenty pieces from Raritan.

Some of the houses and stores were decorated with bunting and flags in honor of the firemen.

Among the North Plainfield firemen who participated in the parade were Chief J. J. Stahl, L. B. Bodine and James Walker.

THEATRICAL.

The bill of continuous vaudeville at Proctor's Twenty-third Street Theatre, New York, this week, will be the best of the season. Phroso, the mechanical doll, (is he man or machine?) will be the special attraction exhibiting twice daily the most mystifying novelty of the season. Hoyt's "A Texas Steer" will show the versatility of the Fifth Avenue Stock Company. "The Bells" will be given a special scenic production at the Fifty-eighth Street by the Permanent Stock Company. The Proctor Stock Company, in Harlem, headed by Adelaide Moin and Ned Howard Fowler, will be seen in a grand scenic revival of "The Power of the Press." Over in Newark the vaudeville bill at Proctor's will be in keeping with the managerial policy to make each week's show better than the one gone before. Mlle. Capell will be the extraordinary feature, presenting her original equestrienne novelty in which she will introdpce her full-blooded Arabian stallion and her trained hunting dogs.

The Worst Form.

Multitudes are singing the praises of Kodol, the new discovery which is making so many sick people well and weak people strong by digesting what they eat, by cleansing and sweetening the stomach and by transforming their food into the kind of pure, rich, red blood that makes you feel good all over. Mrs. Cranfill, of Troy, I. T., writes: For a number of years I was troubled with indigestion and dyspepsia which grew into the worst form. Finally I was induced to use Kodol and after using four bottles I am entirely cured. I heartily recommend Kodol to all sufferers from indigestion and dyspepsia. Take a dose after meals. It digests what you eat. L. W. Randolph.

WHAT THE PUBLIC LIBRARY IS DOING

Few Realize All the Advantages It Offers and What It Has Accomplished.

SOME IMPORTANT FACTS

ITS ANNUAL CIRCULATION AMOUNTS TO 48,000 BOOKS.

Special Privileges for Teachers and Pupils—Work Among the Children—Its Special Departments—Some Other Details.

There are comparatively few people who realize the excellence of the Public Library or have any idea of what the library is doing for the people of Plainfield. As the Public Library is a municipal institution, supported by the public funds, it will interest many to know what the library is doing.

It is circulating annually about 48,000 books in the community. With its high standard of selection this is in itself a significant fact. Of this number sixty-three per cent. represents fiction, including both adult and juvenile. According to library statistics, Plainfield is reading from 7 to 20 per cent. less fiction than other communities reporting. It is also interesting to note that according to these statistics, as a community it is reading about two and a half times more books than ten years ago, and that the proportion of fiction read is between 7 and 8 per cent. less than at that time.

It is giving to teachers and to special students privileges, which, while not interfering with the rights of others, enable them to do their work more efficiently. On teachers' cards alone, for use by teachers in class rooms, there were issued 2,285 books. This does not include the books borrowed by pupils for school use, often at the teacher's recommendation, nor does it include the 983 books circulated through the Irving, Bryant and Randolph-Cooley schools.

In its children's department, it is placing within the reach of children the best books which have been either written for young people or which are likely to be of interest to them. The importance of its work in thus inducing early a love of good books cannot be overstated. Large liberty is given young people in making their selection of books, though assistance in this is given them whenever it seems advisable. It is interesting and significant that while library statistics show the reading of fiction by adults to be a trifle more than half their entire reading, the children's fiction reading constitutes but a small fraction over a third of their reading.

Through its collections placed in factories it circulated 430 books.

It makes provision for the public to go to its shelves without restriction, a privilege not always granted in libraries of its size. In its contact with the public its aim is to serve each borrower with as little "red tape" as in consistent with the safeguarding of its property.

It provides a reading room open seventy-six hours a week. In this are accessible 108 magazines and reviews. The reading room is open four hours on afternoons of Sundays and holidays for the convenience of those unable to come week days.

In its provision of the standard works of reference and in its new information desk work, it is strengthening the purely educational side of its work. For any club or group of persons undertaking serious study of a subject, it undertakes to furnish list of its books on that subject.

In its series of exhibits last year and in that being planned for the coming year, it is bringing more prominently before the public its resources in various important lines.

It has a scientific collection, the constant additions to which are making it one of unique value in the State.

It has for use in the reading room, a catalogue by which one can ascertain if a given book is in the Library, whether one knows it by author, by subject or only by title. This also shows all the books by a given author or on a given subject. It is kept constantly up to date. For home use it is publishing a series of lists of books by departments, those in fiction, history and travel being already out. These are furnished to the public at nominal price. For the convenience of Press readers, it publishes monthly a selection from its additions.

It has an Art Gallery, open two afternoons a week in which, in addition, to the paintings, etc., are valuable collections of butterflies, birds and coins.

James Keating, of Essex street, who has been detained at home by a serious illness, is slightly improved.

James Herne Haggerty and Ira, C. Bowers, of East Second street, have returned from a visit with relatives at Phillipsburg.

DIGG'S UPRIGHT FIRE EXTINGUISHER.
The Best on Earth! We Challenge the World!

The Extinguishers that turn up-side-down to discharge are good of their kind, but this is far better. Read the following reasons:
Points of superior merit of the Diggs-Upright over any other machine—
1—A sealed acid bottle and an air-tight tank. No change in the conditions of the chemicals possible.
2—Can never be discharged by accident; absolutely under the control of the operator.
3—A 3-gallon machine of this type contains ONE QUART more of liquid than a reversible, because it does not require a handle underneath.
4—It does not need inspection and recharging as required for the reversible with its loose stopple.
5—The acid being released at the top of the tank, and the outlet being at the bottom, the mingling of the chemicals is so thorough before the acid reaches the outlet that it is completely neutralized, and no harm can be done to flesh or fabric. In the reversible type the acid is released within the two inches of the outlet.
6—Convenience in handling. The machine stands on its bottom, and all the operator has to do is to turn the screw in the cap, and the flow begins instantly.
7—The bottle is not broken, and no nuisance of broken glass.

KILLED AT A SHOW.

Crack Marksman Hit Man Instead of Apple on His Head.

COLD SPRING HARBOR, N. Y., Oct. 27.—The coroner has held an inquest on the body of John Volkman, a barber, who was accidentally shot and killed on the stage of Thespian hall by Charles Meinel of a company which has been giving a two weeks' show in connection with the sale of a medicine. One of the star features of the show was Meinel's feat of shooting an apple from the head of any person who would volunteer to stand up and allow the apple to have his head for a resting place. When no one volunteered, a member of the troupe performed this service.

Volkman had offered to allow the apple to be placed on his head. Meinel for some reason was not shooting well, having missed a card target a short time before the barber came on the stage. When the apple was placed on Volkman's head, he was placed in position, and Meinel began shooting at a distance of about twenty feet. The first two shots failed to hit either the apple or the man, but the third struck Volkman in the forehead, and he dropped to the stage and died within an hour. Meinel was arrested and held for a hearing on a charge of manslaughter.

Volkman was eighteen years of age and has a father and mother who live in Germany. His grandmother lives in Buffalo, where it is said he had other relatives and where he lived at one time.

PRAISE FOR AMERICA.

Lord Beresford Says England Need Not Fear Shipping Trust.

LIVERPOOL, Oct. 27.—Vice Admiral Lord Charles Beresford has arrived here from New York on the Cunard line steamer Umbria. In the United States Lord Beresford studied the construction of American battleships and also investigated shipping matters.

He was interviewed on his trip to America and said he had had a splendid reception in the United States and that he could vouch for the genuineness of the kind sentiment entertained in America for Great Britain. He said his investigations on the other side had convinced him that Great Britain had nothing to fear from the International Mercantile Marine company. On the contrary, he believed this combine would benefit England commercially and otherwise. "The United States," said the admiral, "is certainly ahead of us in engineering and administration, and we need to adapt ourselves more to modern ideas."

Continuing, Lord Beresford said he did not take a pessimistic view of the situation and did not agree that Great Britain was going down hill. Public men ought to strive to bind the two great countries more firmly together. "If Great Britain and the United States," said the admiral, "were joined in the interests of universal peace and if the rest of the world wanted to fight these countries, then let the rest of the world look out."

Many Colombian Soldiers Dying.

KINGSTON, Jamaica, Oct. 27.—The German steamer Hercynia reached here from Colon, Colombia. Her officers report that considerable fighting is going on in the interior of that country, the revolutionists taking advantage of the withdrawal of government troops for service on the isthmus. At Savanilla the government soldiers are dying at an alarming rate from fever and privation. While the Hercynia was moored at Savanilla there were on the pier the bodies of several soldiers who had died there and whose remains had not been removed. Disease is rife on that part of the coast.

Mother Drowned Her Child.

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., Oct. 27.—Mrs. Daniel Lynch, the wife of a prominent shoe merchant of this city, drowned her eight-year-old daughter in the bathroom at her home and then attempted suicide by cutting her throat. Although badly wounded, it is believed the woman will recover. One of the Lynch children died a month ago, and Mrs. Lynch has been acting strangely since. There is no doubt Mrs. Lynch was insane when she took her daughter's life and attempted to take her own.

Lost In the Sierras.

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., Oct. 27.—United States Consul Alonzo Garrett, at Lando, Mexico, has returned to the consulate, according to a telegram just received here, after wandering with a party of friends in the Sierra Madre mountains for twenty days, the greater part of the time without food. The party was on a hunting trip, and its water supply failed. Garrett resides here.

Floods and Earthquakes In Italy.

ROME, Oct. 27.—There have been floods in the province of Calabra, in which several persons were drowned. There have also been renewed earthquake shocks at Rioti, Umbria.

CONDENSED DISPATCHES.

The French dock laborers' central committee has issued a circular ordering a general resumption of work, thus ending the strike.

Almeric Hugh Paget, who married Miss Pauline Whitney of New York, was accidentally shot by a friend while shooting in England. One eye was taken out as a result.

The St. Petersburg police have captured an accomplice in the reported plot against Dowager Empress Marie Dagmar of Russia which was recently unearthed at Copenhagen.

In Saturday's football games Princeton defeated Columbia, 21 to 0; Yale won from Syracuse, 24 to 0; Harvard defeated Brown, 6 to 0, and Pennsylvania defeated Bucknell by a point.

A GLOOMY OUTLOOK.

War, Pestilence and Famine Among Filipinos' Troubles.

INDUSTRIAL PROSPECTS ARE DARK.

The President's Order Permitting Foreign Vessels to Engage In Coastwise Trade May Relieve the Situation.

MANILA, Oct. 27.—It is believed here that President Roosevelt's order permitting foreign vessels to engage in coastwise trade through the Philippine Islands will relieve immediately the interinsular freight situation as well as improve the supply and lessen the cost of rice, in which article a famine is threatened. The civil commission intends to act at once on the president's order, hoping thereby to avert suffering among the poorer Filipinos. It is expected that a number of British, German, Japanese and Chinese vessels will engage in the interisland trade. Existing freight rates from Manila to some ports in the archipelago exceed the rates from San Francisco to Manila.

Agriculture in the islands, already impaired on account of the war, rinderpest and the cholera, has been further injured by locusts. These insects have appeared in many places and are working serious injury to the crops. The advent of the locusts, together with the fall in the price of silver, renders the business and industrial prospect in the Philippines gloomy and cheerless.

The cholera is gaining a strong foothold on the island of Mindanao. It is expected to spread there, as it has elsewhere in the islands. The disease continues to be bad in the province of Iloilo, island of Panay, but it is slight elsewhere. It has disappeared from Manila. The cases reported up to date exceed 100,000.

General Sumner has completed his inspection of the proposed roadway from Iligan to Lake Lanao, Mindanao. He will return to Zamboanga within a week and will then go to Camp Vicars to organize and start the expedition against the sultan of Bacolod. There is a slight possibility that the sultan will not resist the American forces, but he continues to strengthen his forts.

Twenty-seven thousand dollars has been realized from the sale of food supplies in the provinces of Batangas and Laguna, Luzon, and in the island of Mindoro. These sales were conducted with the idea of aiding the people, and the work was carried on by General J. Franklin Bell. The sum derived has been turned over by General Bell to the insular government, and it will be expended by the civil commission among the people of Batangas, Laguna and Mindoro.

Train Robber Caught.

HELENA, Mont., Oct. 27.—The man who held up the North Coast limited near Bearmouth and killed Engineer O'Neal has been captured. Positive proof has not yet been produced against the suspect, but Sheriff Prescott of Missoula is sure that he has the right man. Deputy Sheriff Mitchell was guarding a pass near Gold creek, twenty miles from the scene of the holdup, when he saw a man approaching. The officer concealed himself, and as the man neared him he drew his revolver and ordered him to hold up his hands. Before the officer explained the cause of the arrest the man is said to have exclaimed, "Why, I was in Drummond when the robbery was committed."

Grave Robbers Indicted.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Oct. 27.—The medical profession of this city is wrought up over the return of twenty-five indictments by the county grand jury in what is known as the grave robbery cases. The jury has only partly completed its labors. It is announced at the courthouse that the indictments will cause astonishment among the residents of this county both in respect to some of the persons who have been indicted and also regarding the evidence of grave robberies upon which the charges are based.

Lincoln Buys Vermont Lands.

MANCHESTER, Vt., Oct. 27.—Robert T. Lincoln of Chicago, son of President Lincoln, has purchased 2,500 acres of land here, which he purposes to transform into a country seat. The property overlooks the golf links of the Ekwanok Country club and adjoins the summer places of A. M. Gilbert and Edward S. Isham of Chicago. Mr. Lincoln, who for several years has made Manchester his summer home, is to erect a handsome residence during the winter.

Heavy Powder Explosion.

FAIRMONT, W. Va., Oct. 27.—The Fairmont Powder works, located eighteen miles from this city, have been damaged to the extent of $30,000 by 600 kegs of powder exploding. No one was injured. The machinery was completely destroyed, and iron was thrown for miles around. Earth was torn up for forty feet. The plant is owned by Delaware parties.

Boers Abandon United States Trip.

LONDON, Oct. 27.—In a dispatch from Brussels the correspondent of the Standard says it is declared positively there that Generals Botha and Delarey have abandoned their proposed tour of the United States and will return shortly to South Africa.

The Czar's Plans.

LONDON, Oct. 27.—According to the Copenhagen correspondent of the Daily Telegraph, the czar of Russia after visiting Italy will proceed to Montenegro, Athens and probably to Constantinople. While in Italy the czar will have an interview with the pope.

PANAMA TITLE GOOD

Attorney General Knox So Reports to President.

A THOROUGH INVESTIGATION MADE.

Work on the Project Will Be Delayed For Some Months Because of Colombia's Failure to Ratify the Treaty.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—Attorney General Knox in a report just submitted to the president says that if the United States should accept the offer of the new Panama Canal company submitted last spring for the sale of the canal for $40,000,000 it would receive through the parties in interest a valid and unencumbered title to the property.

This decision was arrived at after a thorough investigation of the situation in Paris, first by Special Attorney Charles W. Russell and later by the attorney general himself.

It was at first supposed that as soon as the attorney general had satisfied himself of the sufficiency of the title to the canal property that could be conveyed by the French government the way would be clear for the appointment of the canal commission and soon after for the preparation of the specifications upon which the work is to be done. This was upon the assumption that the agreement upon the outlines of the treaty with the canal company reached in Washington between the secretary of state and the Colombian minister amounted to a pledge by the latter in behalf of his own government to promptly ratify such a treaty.

Now it has developed that the ratification of the treaty is a long way off owing to the fact that the Colombian congress before which the convention must come has not even been elected up to this time.

British Forces Not Pursued.

LONDON, Oct. 27.—A dispatch to the Daily Mail from Simla, India, reports that Colonel Swayne and his forces are continuing their march from Bohotle to Berbera, Somaliland, east Africa, and that they are not pursued. The correspondent of the Daily Mail who is with the force under Colonel Swayne says in a communication to his paper that the Mad Mollah's original idea to hold and fortify Mudug, where he would command the only wells available and compel Colonel Swayne to attack him at enormous disadvantage, was a good one, but it was spoiled by an unexpected drought and terrible heat, which dried up the wells and killed the mollah's live stock and ponies by the thousand. Finally in the beginning of October it was reported that the mollah's forces were scattered and that the mollah himself had only a few riflemen left with him. It was then that Colonel Swayne decided to advance on the chance that a decisive engagement would result in the mollah's capture.

A Present For Mitchell.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Oct. 27.—President Mitchell has been presented with a gold badge and gold watch by the Polish, Lithuanian and Slavish members of the United Mine Workers. The badge bears his monogram, "J. M.," in diamonds just underneath the bar containing the pin by which it is fastened to the coat lapel. Below this is the button of the United Mine Workers of America, from which hangs a pendant—a tiny pick and shovel, with miner's lamp in the center—underneath which is a medallion. The seal of the organization in the center is in the form of a breaker boy standing in the midst of a bank of coal. The presentation took place at President Mitchell's headquarters, and a large crowd listened to the speeches of presentation and acceptance.

Floods In Georgia.

BRUNSWICK, Ga., Oct. 27.—As a result of continued heavy rains for the past forty-eight hours five blocks in the center of the city are under water, and considerable damage has been done. On Newcastle street, one of the principal business blocks in the city, from Monk to Mansfield street, the water has rushed into the stores and is from ten to fifteen inches deep. The city fire department is under water, the jails are both flooded, and from Bay to Union street, a distance of a quarter of a mile, traffic is impossible. The Brunswick Electrical Supply company has been put entirely out of business by the water, and not a light furnished by that concern is burning.

Panic on a Runaway Car.

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., Oct. 27.—While descending a steep hill in the central part of the city a street car of the East Liverpool and Rock Springs line became unmanageable, the brakes refusing to work on account of leaves on the track, and despite the motorman's efforts to stop it dashed wildly down the hill, left the rails and ran nearly a square over the paving bricks, finally stopping only a short distance from the river. John Wallace, a pottery worker, leaped from the car, fell on his side and was seriously hurt. Motorman C. W. Rauch escaped by jumping. There were eight passengers on the car, and a panic prevailed among them.

A Queer Shooting.

Rochester, N. Y., Oct. 27.—A strange shooting took place two miles south of this city on the Genesee river, in which two men who were hunting for wild geese were shot, one being fatally injured. Egbert Chatfield, twenty-eight years old, who killed a man here in a quarrel eight years ago, is the most seriously hurt. The other is Edward Lloyd, nineteen years old, whose chest was filled with bird shot.

EXPANSION AT CORNELL.

New Buildings Planned and More Land to Be Bought.

ITHACA, N. Y., Oct. 27.—President Schurman of Cornell university today announced the results of the deliberations of the annual fall meeting of the board of trustees of the university, which was in session all day Saturday and until late in the evening. The following out of an increase in facilities for instruction in which are included gifts from the late Dean Sage of Albany, Hiram W. Sibley of Rochester, the late James B. Guilford of Utica, and Cornelius N. Bliss, Henry R. Ickelheimer, George C. Boldt, Jacob H. Schiff, John D. Rockefeller and Oliver H. Payne of New York were announced. The location of the Rockefeller hall of physics, which will cost $250,000, was decided upon, and the building will be placed on a line running east and west between the present Lincoln and McGraw halls. President Schurman's recommendation of immediate erection of a hall for arts and humanities to cost $250,000 was adopted and the building located, the plot of ground now occupied by houses of Professors Wait, Law and Hewett being chosen for that purpose.

A plan for the future expansion of Cornell university on most magnificent lines was adopted, and for this purpose the president was authorized to purchase immediately sixteen acres of land to the west of the library building. It is proposed to erect six new costly buildings on this plot immediately and eight more in the remote future.

A scheme for the superannuation of all professors at the age of seventy was adopted, the details to be arranged later. It is probable that all professors so retired will be pensioned.

A FORGER CAUGHT.

A Criminal of National Reputation Held by St. Louis Officers.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 27.—After an exciting chase officers here captured William Smith, alias "Kid," alias C. E. Green, alias C. O. Brown, alias George Frank, alias E. E. George Frank, a self confessed forger.

It is believed Smith is a criminal of national reputation. He admits having served time in the Missouri penitentiary for forgery and three years at Sing Sing, N. Y., for the same crime. Smith had left an order at a printing office for some checks purporting to be for the Elgin City Banking company of Elgin, Ill. Detectives learned of the matter, and when Smith called for the checks they attempted to interview him. Smith ran at sight of them and after a chase was captured, but not before he had thrown away the package of checks and had shot twice at the officers.

At the hotel where Smith was stopping his traveling bag was found to contain a revolver, a check perforator and nearly a thousand checks on Frederick Bros., bankers, Tonawanda, N. Y. Nine of these checks, aggregating $745, and twelve that had been perforated, which aggregated $1,140, were found. All purported to have been signed by F. K. Robertson as the cashier of the bank. A rubber stamp reading, "To Bank of America, New York, N. Y.," was among the effects.

Smith admitted at the police station that he was ready to begin operations as a wholesale forger. He said he had intended going to Texas to pass the checks.

What Mayor Jones Thinks.

CHICAGO, Oct. 27.—Political parties were scored at a meeting here of the Chicago Philosophical society by Samuel M. Jones, the "Golden Rule" mayor of Toledo. He characterized the whole party system as "childish, immature and imbecile." One of his sentences that called forth applause was spoken when he referred to the action of President Roosevelt in bringing about a settlement of the coal strike. "The president became more than a president—he became a man," he said. "The coal strike in 1902 will be found in the future to have made the largest contribution to the cause of human liberty of anything since Lincoln signed the emancipation proclamation," is the way Mr. Jones summed up the coal strike.

Macedonian Killed?

LONDON, Oct. 27.—A dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph company from Constantinople says it is reported that M. Zontcheff, the Macedonian leader, was killed during a fight between insurgents and Turkish troops at a point between Revekop and Melnik, European Turkey. The insurgents had twenty-three men killed in the engagement. A dispatch from Constantinople says that the porte has received news of the defeat of the revolutionary band under Zontcheff. Zontcheff himself was wounded, but escaped.

Killed at Football.

JAMESTOWN, N. Y., Oct. 27.—A football fatality occurred in this city in the game between the Jamestown and the Buffalo high school teams. In an unusually fierce scrimmage one of the Jamestown players was injured and taken from the game. His place was taken by George McClurg, a substitute. McClurg had been playing a few seconds when he was thrown in such a way that his neck was broken, death occurring almost instantly.

Nonunionists Maltreated.

SCRANTON, Pa., Oct. 27.—Half a dozen nonunionists employed at the Oxford colliery of the People's Coal company were given a sound drubbing and chased half a mile through a gangway yesterday by a crowd of union employees of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western company's Bellevue colliery, which adjoins.

Wheat Poor Crop In Siberia.

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 27.—Reports received from Siberia say that the wheat harvest there is very poor.

AMENDMENTS TO THE CONSTITUTION OF NEW JERSEY, PROPOSED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF 1902.

Be it resolved by the Senate (the House of Assembly concurring) that the following amendments to the constitution of this state be, and the same are hereby proposed, and when the same shall be agreed to by a majority of members elected to the Senate and House of Assembly, the said amendments shall be entered on their journals, with the yeas and nays taken thereon, and referred to the legislature next to be chosen, and shall be published for three months previous to the first Tuesday after the first Monday of November next (being the fourth day of said month), in at least one newspaper of each county, if any be published therein, the said newspapers to be designated by the president of the Senate, the speaker of the House of Assembly and the secretary of state.

LAST CORONATION CEREMONY.

King Edward and His Queen at St. Paul's Cathedral.

LONDON, Oct. 27.—The last ceremony connected with the inauguration of the reign of King Edward VII. occurred yesterday when the king, accompanied by Queen Alexandra, the Prince of Wales and almost all the members of the royal family, drove to St. Paul's cathedral and offered up thanks for the recovery of his health, which had enabled him to be crowned.

The weather was rainy, and small crowds marked the royal progress through the metropolis. At Temple Bar the lord mayor of London and the corporation, in bedraggled robes, met the king and escorted him to the cathedral. At St. Paul's were gathered several thousand persons, including Premier Balfour, leading members of the nobility, almost all the members of the cabinet and the foreign embassadors to Great Britain, among whom was Mr. Choate.

The choir, the chapter and the bishop of London, the Right Rev. Arthur Ingram, escorted the king and the queen to the throne under the reredos. There was a full choral service of thanksgiving, followed by a sermon from the bishop of London, who laid special stress upon the fact that this was the second time in his majesty's life that he had entered St. Paul's to give thanks for his recovery from a dangerous illness. At the conclusion of the service the "Te Deum" was sung heartily.

The royal party then returned to Buckingham palace and were well greeted on the way wherever the crowds were large enough to raise a cheer.

READY FOR MEETING.

Coal Strike Arbitrators In Washington—New Member For Board.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—All is in readiness for the meeting this afternoon of the anthracite coal strike commission. All the members of the commission are in the city, and most of the operators or their representatives are here. The meeting will be called to order at 2 o'clock, and the wishes of both parties to the controversy will be considered as to the method of procedure in securing testimony. Plans for holding the public sessions, places of meeting and various other details necessary to be settled before the actual work of taking testimony can be begun will be decided. No testimony will be taken today. It is expected that very little evidence will be heard in Washington, as it is not the desire of the commission to compel the attendance of witnesses here when the evidence they have to give can be secured at greater convenience to them at or near their places of residence.

The president has, with the assent of George F. Baer, representing the coal operators, and of John Mitchell for the miners, appointed Labor Commissioner Wright a seventh member of the commission to investigate the coal strike. That designation, however, will not interfere with his designation as recorder of the commission. He was added in order to make the membership consist of an odd number to preclude the possibility of a tie vote on any proposition.

Trolley Car and Automobile Collide.

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—Twenty-two passengers on a trolley car were injured, but none, it is believed, fatally, in a collision between the car and an automobile. The accident occurred in front of Greystone, the home of the late Samuel J. Tilden at Yonkers. The chauffeur says he was running along the track of the trolley line when the car ran into him from behind. The motorman says the automobile while going down grade swerved on to the track, and before it could again get off his car bore down upon and hit the machine. When the car struck the automobile, it left the tracks and turned over in the direction of Greystone. Had it gone to the other side of the road it would have been thrown over a precipice eighty or ninety feet to the New York Central tracks. The automobile was but slightly damaged.

Chamberlain Going to South Africa.

LONDON, Oct. 27.—It is officially announced that Colonial Secretary Chamberlain has decided personally to visit South Africa and examine on the spot the problems presented by the termination of the war and the settlement of affairs in the new colonies. King Edward has given his approval of this plan, which, it is said, has also the full approval of Premier Balfour and the cabinet. Mr. Chamberlain proposes to start for South Africa toward the end of November and to return the early part of March. His visit will embrace the Cape, Natal, the Orange River Colony and the Transvaal.

A Find of Pure Copper.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 27.—A piece of almost pure copper weighing several pounds has been found in a glacial deposit within the city limits near East Rock and Lake Whitney. Mr. Eli Whitney, a member of the Yale corporation, has given the specimen to the Sheffield Scientific school. The lump is in the shape of a rough triangle eight inches along its longest side and six along the next and an inch thick.

Severe Floods In Sicily.

CATANIA, Sicily, Oct. 27.—There have been heavy rains and floods between Catania and Syracuse. The railroad was partly destroyed near Bicoca, and great damage has been done to property. In many places the water has attained a depth of fifteen feet. The peasants have taken refuge on the roofs of their houses and are firing pistols as signals of distress.

Weather Probabilities.

Fair; brisk south winds, becoming west.

SURPRISING FIGURES

Census Report Upon Illiteracy Among Children.

FOREIGN BORN PARENTAGE AHEAD.

Comparison of Children Between Ages of Ten and Fourteen Results In Their Favor—The Reasons Given.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—The census office has issued a statement giving a compilation of figures regarding illiteracy among children of immigrants and children of natives. The statement says:

Confining the comparison to children between the ages of ten and fourteen years in the United States as a whole 95.6 per cent of the native white children of native parents and 99.1 per cent of the native white children of foreign born parents are able to read and write. This surprising difference in favor of the children of the foreign born population is due largely to the fact that the children of the foreign born immigrants live mainly in the northern and western states, where the public school systems have already reached a high degree of efficiency, while great numbers of native white children of native parents live in the southern states, and in that region about 10 per cent of such children are illiterate. When the comparison is carried out by geographic divisions, the difference between the two classes in each part of the United States, except the south Atlantic states, is found to be much less than in the whole country.

This is partly explained by the clustering of immigrants and their children mainly in the cities and towns, while the native white children of native parents live more generally in the rural districts. Thus in the north Atlantic division there are 996,851 native white children ten to fourteen years of age and born of native parents of whom 32 per cent live in cities having at least 25,000 inhabitants. On the other hand, among the 713,170 native white children ten to fourteen years of age and born of foreign born parents who live in the same group of states 62 per cent live in similar cities. There is no reason to infer from the census figures that the children of illiterate immigrants are constituting a permanent illiterate class in the population.

The Olympia Sails.

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—The United States cruiser Olympia, flagship of Rear Admiral Coghlan, and one of the first vessels to leave for the scene of the winter maneuvers of the combined European, north Atlantic and south Atlantic squadrons at Culebra island, near Porto Rico, has left this port, having been detained here several days on account of failure to secure a sufficient supply of coal in time to sail on her scheduled date of departure. The Olympia precedes the combined fleets to Culebra for the purpose of preparing anchorages for the ships and landing places to be used by the forces during the period of the maneuvers. This work will be in charge of Rear Admiral Coghlan.

Elizabeth Cady Stanton Dead.

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—Mrs. Elizabeth Cady Stanton died yesterday afternoon at the age of eighty-seven after a short illness at her home in this city. Mrs. Stanton was born in Johnstown, N. Y., in 1815. In her father's (Judge Cady) law office she learned the legal wrongs to which her sex was compelled to submit, and this laid the foundation for her famous career as an advocate of "woman's rights." In 1839 she was married to H. B. Stanton, a prominent antislavery lecturer, and accompanied him on his tour through the country. Mrs. Stanton's long life had been devoted to resisting the various tyrannies against her sex.

Death at a Dance.

SHARPSBURG, Pa., Oct. 27.—As a result of a row at a dance held at the house of M. Sando, an Italian, Antonio Stein lies dead at the Pittsburg morgue, and the police are searching for Antonio Rich, an Italian from Pittsburg, who is said to have committed the murder. Stein was killed almost instantly by a number of kicks in the stomach, and it is said by those present at the row that Rich was his assailant.

Prize Attracts French Aeronauts.

PARIS, Oct. 27.—A number of French aeronauts held a meeting here for the purpose of devising a united plan under which to compete for the St. Louis exposition aeronautic prize of $100,000. Emilien Marceau, the inventor of the flying machine Le Papillon, was the principal promoter of the meeting.

A Double Drowning.

HYANNIS, Mass., Oct. 27.—An overturned boat caused a double drowning in Lewis bay, the victims being Martin Lenan of this town and Cornelius Herrington of Boston, both railroad men. The third man in the boat, Thomas L. Hallett, saved himself by swimming ashore.

Italy to Adopt Wireless Telegraphy.

ROME, Oct. 27.—It has been decided to establish wireless telegraphy apparatus at all stations and on all passenger trains on Italian railroads. King Victor Emmanuel of his own initiative has appointed William Marconi a chevalier of the Order of Industrial Merit.

REV. DR. CLEAVER.

Decidedly this is the most eventful political campaign that Somerset county has seen for many a year. First, there were the troubles in the Republican camp, the attempt at harmony which met with failure and the subsequent withdrawal from active participation in party affairs of most of the borough leaders. Then the Democrats injected an unexpected incident at their convention and promised to disrupt their party on charges of crookedness at the gathering. Another convention was required to straighten matters out.

After all this excitement was just beginning to disappear and the real issues of the campaign were coming to the fore, the sudden and most unaccountable change of heart of Rev. J. B. Cleaver has upset the equanimity of all concerned and new interest is added to the situation in general. Mr. Cleaver, who is now pastor of the First Church of Christ, of this city, has long been one of the most eloquent adherents of Republican principles in Somerset county. Hardly a campaign has passed that he has not raised his voice in behalf of the nominees of the G. O. P. He was considered as a rock and the idea of any change of base was never considered. Imagine then the sensation which was caused when this reverend gentleman came out with the statement that he would support the Democratic ticket this fall.

Such a sudden and unexpected change as that could not be made without causing no end of talk. In its issue of Thursday, the Unionist-Gazette, which is the organ of the Thompson faction of the Somerset Republicans, is quite frank in expressing itself on this subject. Frequent references are made to the "barrel" of the Democratic county committee and the inference cannot fail to be drawn from its comments that it believes that other than personal ideas have been the means of drawing Rev. Mr. Cleaver into the Democratic fold.

Mr. Cleaver is booked to speak in North Plainfield this evening. With all this talk about him, it will be up to Mr. Cleaver to devote a little of his time at least to his own troubles besides advocating the Democratic party. He is likely to prove a decidedly drawing card for this evening's gathering.

Former Assemblyman Ellis B. Meeker has been nominated by the Republicans of Elizabeth as candidate for mayor. Mr. Meeker is a popular man and will undoubtedly run well but it seems probable that he will be defeated when election day comes by Mayor Ryan who is a candidate for re-election. Mayor Ryan has made a success of his municipal office and has lost no friends by it. He was a very popular man. Mr. Meeker's name has been mentioned too many times for other offices to help him any in this fight. Had Former Governor Foster M. Voorhees taken the nomination, there is reason to believe that he would have given Mayor Ryan a harder fight than will Mr. Meeker although the latter is likely to make a good run.

Very timely was the action of the Organized Aid Association in securing cheap coal for householders of modest means. This action will undoubtedly be the means of saving much discomfort and some possible suffering in this city. While the mines are operating again, it will be some time before there is a plentiful supply of coal at normal rates and this method will serve to relieve the local situation.

This new arrangement of financing the Prudential Insurance Company strikes one as rather clever. The Prudential is to have the controlling interest in the Fidelity Trust Company and the Fidelity Trust Company is to have the controlling interest in the Prudential Company. It looks as if the problem of perpetual motion, in a financial way at least, had finally been solved.

An experienced advertiser, according to the Philadelphia Record, says he used to suspend advertising occasionally, but found that it cost more in the end than uninterrupted advertising would have cost; that he always lost something when he kept out of the papers, and had to double his space to make it up.

Delightful Saturdays have been so few and far between this fall that the one which came two days ago was particularly appreciated. As a result outdoor sports flourished as they had not before for some time. Baseball, football and golf all had a host of devotees out enjoying the delightful weather.

Former President Grover Cleveland is going to take a hand in the present campaign in the Fifth Congressional district. It certainly looks as if both sides were putting up the fight of their lives.

There are some people who do not realize what a Public Library Plainfield possesses. It would be greatly to their advantage if they would pay a personal visit to that institution.

It really looks as if the baseball season was over now.

SUBURBAN NEWS

A Department Devoted to the Minor Events in Greater Plainfield's Suburbs by Our Own Correspondents.

DUNELLEN.

The Methodist church presented a gala appearance last evening upon the occasion of the annual celebration of the autumnal services. The church was prettily decorated with plants, autumn flowers and fruit. Rev. E. C. Kinsey, a former pastor of the church, was present and spoke in the evening. Many of Mr. Kinsey's former parishers gathered to hear him and he gave an unusually interesting talk. Some appropriate pieces were spoken by some of the younger children from the infant department and the choir sang several anthems in an excellent manner. In the morning Rev. Mr. Kinsey preached and a large congregation gathered to hear him.

Rev. N. J. Sproul attended the inauguration of Dr. Woodrow Wilson, as president of Princeton University, Saturday. Mr. Sproul is a graduate of the university.

A good deal of fun is anticipated at the meeting of Court Dunellen, I. O. F., this evening as an amusing entertainment is promised.

Rev. E. C. Kinsey, of Newark, who preached in the Methodist church yesterday was entertaned by Mr. and Mrs. G. T. Schenck.

Miss Edith Tilton was given a surprise party by a number of young friends on Friday evening. An enjoyable time was had.

An interesting meeting of the Willing Workers was held in Holy Innocents guild room Saturday afternoon.

The quarantine has been removed from the house of George Vail, where there has been a case of diphtheria.

The contract for the parish house for St. John's church will be given out this week.

Practice will be held this evening by the Banjo Club for their coming reception.

Miss Carrie Heyl entertained out-of-town friends yesterday.

Mrs. Robert Lowry has recovered from a slight illness.

NEW MARKET.

Rev. Geo. Shott, of Scotch Plains, preached yesterday morning in the First Baptist church before a large congregation. Rev. Frank Fletcher preached in Mr. Shott's church at Scotch Plains. In the evening the regular services were held.

The foundation of W. B. Smith's new house on the hill is finished and the exterior of the house is almost done.

C. T. Rogers has taken most of his fleet of boats from the water and laid them up for the winter.

Miss Stella Sofield entertained out-of-town friends yesterday.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

The Republican voters will enjoy a free trolley ride to Westfield tonight, when they will attend the Republican rally. A special trolley will leave the Park avenue crossing at 7:30. Congressman Fowler will be the speaker of the evening and a large number of the local element of the party are expected to take in the outing.

George Davison, of Plainfield, paid $3 into the township treasury Sunday morning for being drunk and disorderly at the Park avenue trolley crossing Saturday night. When arraigned before Judge Clark he plead guilty and the court considered $3 and cost could fit the case. The fine was paid.

A large crowd from town attended the last of the series of ball games between Plainfield and Westfield which was held on Hope Common on Saturday afternoon. Manager Johnston and the Plainfield management are talking of arranging a game between the locals and All-Plainfield for Saturday afternoon.

Rev. G. M. Shott and Rev. Frank Fletcher, of the New Market Baptist church, exchanged pulpits Sunday morning. Rev. Mr. Fletcher is no stranger to a Scotch Plains audience and it is needless to say his sermon was enjoyed by an appreciative audience.

The last opportunity for registering for the fall election will be had tomorrow. The registry board will meet in the town rooms from 1 to 9 o'clock for the purpose of revising and correcting the registry.

The local football eleven failed to go to Plainfield Saturday afternoon to meet the North Plainfield eleven on the gridiron. The Westfield-All Plainfield baseball game was too great a counter attraction.

"Treating a Gracious Invitation Lightly," was the subject discussed by the members of the B. Y. P. U. at their weekly meeting held in the church parlors last night.

Several members of the B. Y. P. U. of the Baptist church are attending the State convention of that body being held today in the Parmley church, Jersey City.

Mrs. Frank Klemser and child, of Plainfield, have been visiting at the home of Mr. Klemser's father, August Klemser.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Jimerson, of Westfield, were the guest Sunday of their daughter, Mrs. George W. Marsh.

The members of the Epworth League held their weekly meeting in the Methodist church Sunday evening.

Wm. Hosinger, of Plainfield, spent Sunday with his mother, Mrs. Frank Hosinger, of Park avenue.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

Fred Manning met with a serious accident Saturday afternoon, being thrown from his bicycle by an object in the road. His collar bone was broken, and his thumb put out of joint. He is under the care of Dr Fritz.

A noisy crowd of young men were seen drinking on the street from a bottle, yesterday afternoon. They came from a neighboring town. Their general hilarity was evidence that they were not drinking milk.

A good sized audience enjoyed the ministrations of Dr. L. E. Livermore, at the Baptist church yesterday morning.

The Christian Endeavor meeting last night was well attended. The leader was Miss Matilda Nevius.

Miss Cora Ayres, of Rahway, is visting with Mrs. Thomas Vannest.

Chales Gaffney, of Mutchen, called on friends in town yesterday.

CITY JOTTINGS.

—Plainfield Council, No. 711, Royal Arcanum, will celebrate its anniversary this evening.

—L. B. Woolston, of the borough, recently purchased the Harris house at Bound Brook and he is now improving the same.

SOME OF ATTRACTIONS TO BE FOUND AT LOCAL STORES.

Just a word about meat. J. W. VanSickle, the North avenue market man, keeps nothing but the choicest cuts. Just drop in and have him quote prices.

The confections made and sold by Campbell, of West Front street, are the best kind to eat. It is wholesome for only pure materials are used in its manufacture. Campbell also makes the best ice cream.

Orders for flowers and floral pieces left at the residence of William H. Brower, 127 East Fifth street, will receive prompt attention. W. H. Brower & Sons lay their success in business to their careful attention to detail.

No pharmacy in the State has a better equipped or more complete prescription department than is to be found at Nagle's. It is under the proprietor's personal supervision. Nagle always has all the standard medicines on hand.

Women appreciate the work of S. Hirsch, the Watchung avenue tailor, because the gowns made by him have that stylish look and fit so perfectly. Mr. Hirsch employs only the very best of help and he gives his personal attention to all work.

"Strictly Fresh" is a familiar word at the seafood market of Foss & Jeter. It is applied to their stock of fish which is received direct from the nets every day. They make a specialty of breakfast orders, as all are delivered at the time agreed upon.

Among the hundreds of customers of Wm. Lindsay & Son, the Mountain avenue dairymen, you never hear a complaint about the milk furnished by this firm. It is perfectly safe to use at all times, being produced under strict sanitary conditions.

R. W. Barnes, the Park avenue grocer, will make a specialty this week of his delicious smoked salmon, sturgeon, Holland herring, potato salad, home made crullers and his new honey mince meat. His figs and dates are always of the finest.

PERSONAL.

Charles Westphal, of South Second street, is recovering from a two weeks' illness

Mr. and Mrs. David Linbarger are expected to return from their wedding trip this week.

George Cose, of Grant avenue, was the guest of friends in New Brunswick yesterday.

Mrs. David Huff, of Pluckemin, has been visiting relatives in Plainfield for a short time.

Miss Clara Long, of Park avenue, has been visiting her cousin, Miss Long, of Somerville.

Miss Edith Annin, of Liberty Corner, has returned home after a visit with boroguh relatives.

Miss Vina Wells, of Providence, R. I., returned home, yesterday, after a three days' stay with Miss May Duckworth, of Duer street.

Miss Annie Garretson, of East Millstone, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. T. R. VanZandt, of Madison avenue, has returned home.

Mrs. Williams, of Roxborough, Philadelphia, and her sister, Mrs. Smith, of Wissahicken, Philadelphia, are visiting Mrs. Cornelius Schenck, of West Front street. Mrs. Williams is Mrs. Schenck's mother.

The Misses Woodland, of Newark, formerly of the borough, were entertained over Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Herbert Case, Duer street. Miss Sue Woodland will remain here the balance of the week.

Dr. Seeley, president of Smith College, and his son-in-law, Rev. Rush Rheese, president of Rochester University, were among the visitors at the installation ceremonies of President Woodrow Wilson in Princeton, Saturday. Yesterday they were the guests of Plainfield relatives.

Natural Anxiety.

Mothers regard approaching winter with uneasiness, children take cold so easily. No disease costs more little lives than croup. Its attack is so sudden that the sufferer is often beyond human aid before the doctor arrives. Such cases yield readily to One Minute Cough Cure. Liquifies the mucus, allays inflammation, removes danger. Absolutely safe. Acts immediately. Cures cough, colds, grip, bronchitis, all throat and lung trouble. F. S. McMahon, Hampton, Ga.: "A bad cold rendered me voiceless just before an oratorical contest. I intended to withdraw but took One Minute Cough Cure. It restored my voice in time to win the medal." L. W. Randolph.

OUR INSULAR BUREAU

It Has Recently Been Expanded from a Division.

Will Have Complete Charge of Matters Relating to All Affairs Subject to Jurisdiction of the War Department.

Under authority of the Philippine government act the former division of insular affairs of the war department has been organized into a full-fledged bureau of that department, and will hereafter bear the designation of the "bureau of insular affairs of the war department." Capt. Clarence R. Edwards, Tenth infantry, remains at the head of the newly-established office under a special detail by the secretary of war, and while so acting he will have the rank, pay and allowance of a colonel. The act contains a special provision to that effect.

The business assigned to the bureau embraces all matters pertaining to civil government in the island possessions of the United States, subject to the jurisdiction of the war department.

The bureau is the repository of all civil records of the government of the Philippines that do not remain at the island capital. Similar records for the period in which the war department exercised jurisdiction over Cuba and Porto Rico are on file here. For the present these records interpret the purpose and intent of orders, laws and rulings, and furnish the data for the determination by the secretary of war of civil questions that arise in the government of the islands. In the future they will furnish valuable data for the government in respect of certain classes of claims that may arise in those islands, and in adjusting our relations with the governments of Cuba and the Philippines. The bureau transmits the instructions and orders of the secretary of war to the insular governments, and handles their correspondence with him and through him to the other departments of this government when communication with foreign nations is necessary. It may be truly said that every question involved in the conduct of governmental affairs lies within the possible scope of examination by this bureau.

Many matters referred to the bureau involve questions of law. These questions are of such diverse character as to require extended research, being questions of constitutional interpretation, international law and relations, military and martial law, the political and municipal laws of both Spain and the United States, as well as the general principles and established customs which ordinarily regulate and control the action of public officers and private citizens.

It acts for the insular governments in the procurement and transportation of personnel, supplies and equipment that have to be obtained in the United States—a notable example being the employment and transportation of a thousand teachers and the purchase and shipment of a complete government printing plant for the Philippine islands. It is also the medium through which the vast commercial interests of the United States are furnished with trade statistics, tariffs, duties and laws of the islands, and are made acquainted with their present and prospective commercial needs and desires, and conserves the interests of American trade in said islands in as far as is permitted by our international obligations.

Col. Edwards has as his chief assistants in the conduct of the affairs of the bureau Capt. J. Van Ness Philip, formerly of the volunteers; Capt. J. R. M. Taylor, Fourteenth infantry, and Judge Charles E. Magoon. Capt. Philip is assistant chief and Capt. Taylor is a special assistant, while Judge Magoon is the law officer of the bureau.

As organized the bureau consists of 91 clerks, whose aggregate compensation is $66,000. There are five divisions, as follows:

Record—A. D. Wilcox, chief; disbursing and accounting, James G. Jester, chief; compilations, M. E. Beall, chief; statistics, H. C. Lewis, chief, and correspondence, N. A. Woodson. Mr. Frank Steinhart, who is now in Havana as the agent of the government in closing up the accounts of the military government, has been selected as chief clerk of the new bureau, and will take hold of affairs as soon as he can be relieved of his present duties.

Lawsuits in Europe.

In Britain there are 1,150,000 civil lawsuits in a year. France, generally considered a litigious nation, has only 798,000 yearly.

POISON FOUND IN POTATOES.

Solanine, It Is Called, and It Causes Illness and Sometimes Brings On Death.

Potatoes contain a poisonous alkaloid known as solanine. Little of this poison is found in the new potatoes, but even fresh potatoes which have grown above the surface of the soil and have a green skin are generally known to be poisonous, says a scientific authority. When potatoes are kept a long time they contain a large amount of this poison, and many cases of serious poisoning have occurred in late summer from eating old potatoes. About ten years ago many soldiers in the German army were ill from an unknown cause. They suffered with headache, colic, diarrhea, vomiting, weakness, and slight stupor, and in some cases dilatation of the pupils. The matter was investigated and it was discovered that the men had been eating potatoes which had been kept for a long time in a damp place until they had begun to sprout. Chemical examination revealed the fact that these potatoes contained 24 times as much solanine as is found in new potatoes.

CITY SAFER THAN COUNTRY.

More People Killed by Lightning in the Open Than in the Wire-Bound Houses.

It is in the country that most of the fatal accidents from lightning occur, and they are about evenly divided between people who are struck in houses and those who are killed in the open or while seeking refuge under a tree, says an article on lightning, in Frank Leslie's Popular Monthly. To stand under a tree in a thunder storm is perhaps, next to clinging to a lightning rod, the most dangerous position that can be chosen. The comparative safety of the modern city from lightning is due to the network of wires which covers it, and the number of tall buildings with iron points, tin roofs, metallic gutters and steel frames connected with the water, sewer and gas pipes, which form an excellent system of conductors. Still the city is not by any means absolutely protected, for when a cloud with a tremendous store of energy approaches quickly, all the wires and pipes in ten cities cannot prevent it from discharging recklessly right and left.

STATISTICS ON SUICIDES.

The Number of Persons Who Committed Self-Destruction in United States in 1901.

The number of suicides in the United States during the year 1901, as compared with former years, was as follows: 1901, 7,245; 1900, 6,755; 1899, 5,340; 1898, 5,920; 1897, 6,600; 1896, 6,530; 1895, 5,759; 1894, 4,912. A considerable increase is apparent in recent years. Of the total number in 1901, 5,850 were males and 1,395 females, showing the same proportion as for several years past. The causes of self-murder were reported as follows: Despondency, 2,980; unknown, 1,643; insanity, 674; ill-health, 618; domestic infelicity, 541; liquor, 439; disappointment in love, 283; business losses, 67. The agencies used in committing suicide, with the number of persons employing each, were as follows: Poison, 3,106; shooting, 2,476; hanging, 614; drowning, 613; cutting throat, 356; jumping from roofs and windows, 58; throwing themselves in front of locomotive engines, 27; stabbing, 23; fire, 23; dynamite, 11; starvation, 6.

PANAMA HATS.

Why This Style of Headgear Sell First in Front in Our Large Cities.

"Not being in the city every day," said an occasional visitor to town, "may make me more observant of small things than you folk who are here all the time. I have noticed, for instance, that most men who wear panamas are the possessors of dirty headgear.

"This doesn't apply to the whole hat, but only to the front. The front may be quite dark, while the back is nice and clean. I suppose it happens so because there is much soft-coal smoke in the air and they are walking or riding against it every day. I have never seen such a thing here before.

"It seems strange, however," concluded the visitor, according to the New York Mail and Express, "that the use of soft coal should so change conditions here that you get a better impression of a man when seeing him from behind than when you meet him face to face."

Executioner Executed.

The official executioner of Tokio is dead. His death was curious in itself, and considering his profession, was little short of remarkable. He was crossing a railway track near Tokio when he was run down by a fast express. The body was found by the track with the head as neatly decapitated as any which had been cut off by the official executioner himself. Otherwise there was not a mark on his body.

Expressionless Faces.

The Japanese physiognomy is commonly thought expressionless by western nations. The reason is that it is always seen in repose. This is a part of Japanese education. It is, with them, a mark of the underbred to permit the face to express any feeling in public.

ionable and looks well with a deep shade of Paris lace and old silver or cut steel buttons.

Gray squirrel is another fad of the season, and flat stoles of this lined with ermine are fastened in front with pearl clasps. Hats bordered with the squirrel are considered very smart and are combined with emerald green and pale pink velvet. The flat muffs are made jaunty by additions of lace and chiffon ruffles.

The latest evening decoration for the hair consists of a scarf of tulle wound in and out of the pompadour.

A smart gown recently seen was in a pale shade of grayish beaver cloth with broad insertions of Paris guipure. The cloth was cut into tabs at intervals and fastened over the lace with tiny silver buttons. The coat blouse had a basque at the back, but opened in bolero fashion in front over a pouched narrow vest of the guipure. Large silver buttons decorated the coat, and a big collar and revers of moleskin corresponded with the gauntlet cuffs which confined the sleeves.

The cut shows a three-quarter length coat of sealskin lined with white satin. The wide lapels are appliqued with heavy guipure lace.

trimming gowns and wraps. No loud color combinations are attempted, however, but a soft blending of shades.

The craze for heavy white and ecru laces still continues, and in some cases the laces are hand painted or embroidered. Guipure, bruges, venetian and Irish point as well as the real cluny are first in choice.

Heavy raised chiffon appliques representing leaves and flowers are very handsome and when jeweled bring prices out of the reach of the ordinary purse.

Long coats of heavy lace divide popularity with Louis XV. affairs meant to be worn with crepe de chine or chiffon skirts.

A useful black silk coat is here shown. The tucked shoulder cape is especially smart. The trimming is of dotted panne and green embroidery.

COPYRIGHT, 1898 BY A. N. KELLOGG NEWSPAPER CO.

"We must be going," he said. "The police, headed by that detective—Sergt. Denham—will be here in a minute. They are welcome to our find. I want to see Miss Huntington before the news reaches her. If I wait till she is dumfounded by all this horror, she'll close her lips. I saw Denham down there. He is a new man, a great pet of Capt. McRae's, but he is awfully fresh."

CHAPTER III.

They had left the room and closed the door after them when they saw a man accompanied by two uniformed policemen step from the elevator.

Hendricks grunted contemptuously and quickly drew the doctor into a corridor leading off to the right.

"That's the way young detectives do it," he sneered. "Half a dozen people must have seen those blue uniforms ascend the elevator and are now wondering what's up. It won't be five minutes before the whole thing will be public property. Ye gods!" (as two young men turned a corner and rushed past them examining the numbers on the floors). "Reportorial vampires! Our clerk despaired of making anything out of me by holding his tongue and has sent these fellows up the rear stairs. They know the number of the apartment and they'll get there in time to report the whole bloody business in the morning. Geewhilikins, won't the public have a royal feast?"

The two men managed to reach the office unobserved. Little groups of idlers were gathered here and there like eddies in the current of humanity that swirled through the great room. Every now and then some one would throw a horrified glance up at the main stairs as if expecting the reappearance of the policemen.

Hendricks was glad he was known by sight to only a few people, for it often enabled him to act with more freedom than he could otherwise have done. Doffing his soft hat, and carelessly brushing back his heavy hair, he stood in the doorway leading into the crowded ballroom. Signaling to a man who seemed to be a sort of floor manager, he said:

"I have an important message for Miss Huntington; can you point her out to me?"

The eyes of the man thus addressed swept over the swirling waltzers for a moment, then he said:

"There she is sitting with her aunt, Mrs. Winfret, on the divan under the palms."

"Thank you," said Hendricks, and to Lampkin's surprise for he had considered his friend mortally averse to meeting ladies, the detective, gracefully avoiding whisking skirts and flying heels, made his way to where the two ladies were sitting.

"I beg your pardon," he began, addressing the younger of the two, an exceedingly beautiful young woman. "I trust you will pardon my boldness, but it is important that I should speak to you on a matter concerning your interests. I must take the liberty of introducing myself. Hendricks is my name. I am a private detective."

"Oh!" with that exclamation, the young lady stared helplessly at Hendricks for a moment, and then transferred the gaze of her long-lashed eyes to her aunt. Thus appealed to, Mrs. Winfret addressed the detective in a tone of no little astonishment:

"You wished to speak to us, sir?"

"On a matter of important business, and immediately, if possible."

"I—I hardly know what to say," she stammered, pushing the ice she had been eating aside and giving her white skirt a pull towards her. "If you would call to-morrow—"

Hendricks smiled reassuringly.

"What I desired to say must be confided to you to-night. I thought as it was growing late that you might go home before long, and that I might perhaps see you there."

Mrs. Winfret colored slightly.

"I have no doubt that your request will prove to be reasonable in every way, but our escorts have just left the room for a few minutes, and—and your proposal is unusual, to say the least."

Hendricks cast a furtive glance at the office. Small groups had melted into large ones, and quite a crowd had gathered round the counter. It was plain to him that it would not be many seconds before the gay and giddy revelers would be horrified by the awful report concerning a prominent member of their set.

"My request is decidedly unusual," he admitted, turning to the ladies and biting his lips, "but the matter is a very grave one, and you will appreciate my boldness when you have heard what I have to say. I must urge you to order your carriage at once. I shall follow you to your home. Surely, protected by your own servants you have nothing to fear from me—a servant of the public."

"But we have never seen you before," the lady began hesitatingly.

"Oh, aunt, don't say that," interposed Miss Huntington, completely winning the heart of the detective by her gentleness and rare beauty. "I have read so much of Mr. Hendricks' courtesy to ladies, and his bravery, that I absolutely fear nothing. It won't take us a minute," she added, smiling graciously on Hendricks. "I'll order the carriage and we will meet you at home in ten minutes."

Hendricks bowed like a cavalier and wended his way through the maze of dancers to the office, where he was joined by Lampkin.

"I presume it is out," were his first words.

"They are talking of nothing else," replied the doctor. "The excitement is raging. The proprietor has called in the police to prevent the crowd from going upstairs."

Hendricks peered into the ballroom. He saw the two ladies entering the cloakroom.

"I hope they will get to their carriage without hearing the news," he grunted. He led Lampkin outside, and they stood together near the ladies' entrance till he saw the coachman in the Huntington livery rein in his horses near the awning. A moment later Mrs. Winfret emerged in her flowing wraps, accompanied by her statuesque niece.

As soon as their carriage had rolled away Hendricks bounded across the sidewalk to an open hansom.

"Follow that carriage," he said, brusquely, to the driver, and he jumped into the cab and was followed by the doctor.

"All right, sir," said the driver, through the hole in the roof.

As they bowled away Hendricks looked up at the windows of Caruthers' rooms.

"Jamb full of sightseers!" he sneered. "Sergeant Denham is in his element. He is posing to that gang and gloating over his importance. If Captain McRae could see him now he wouldn't hold his job an hour."

The Huntington residence was on Fifth avenue, not half a mile from the hotel, and it required only a few minutes for the ladies to reach home. As Hendricks and his companion alighted, and were paying their fare, they saw the white-clad figures mounting the brown-stone steps to the cut-glass doors. A great stream of light flashed across the street as they were admitted. Mrs. Winfret went in last, and Hendricks saw her glance back at them nervously.

"We'll give 'em a minute to collect themselves," he said. "The old lady is very suspicious, but the young one is a brick, and by far the most beautiful creature that ever wore shoe-leather. Why, hang me if I ever dreamt such a being existed! When she turned that majestic Gibson head and neck, as I began to introduce myself, I wanted the earth to swallow me up. I felt so—so inadequate."

Lampkin laughed. "I have never heard you express yourself like this," he said. "I had no idea you had even the germs of admiration for womankind in your make-up."

Hendricks seemed to be somewhat ashamed of his outburst.

"The lights have flashed up in the drawing-room on the right," he said, all business again. "Here goes."

CHAPTER IV.

As the doors opened in response to their ring, the visitors saw four footmen in livery ranged against the wall, like guards before the Vatican. Hendricks, with an air that showed his unfamiliarity with just such a field of operation, gave his hat to the nearest man, and, keeping on his overcoat, he walked straight into the drawing-room. Lampkin was more deliberate. He took off his overcoat, gave it and his silk hat to a lackey and came in and sat down quite as if he were expecting to be summoned to the boudoir of a wealthy patient.

Miss Huntington was a few steps in advance of Mrs. Winfret, as the two ladies entered through the folding doors from the rear.

"My aunt feels sorry of her hesitation just now, Mr. Hendricks," she began, with a genial smile; "but she is so much given to reading all the sensational news lately that she is constantly expecting some awful calamity to befall us. She is worried now with the fear that you may bring bad news. Her brother Alfred sailed two weeks ago for Africa, and we have only heard from him once."

"It is not concerning him that we desired to speak," said the detective, introducing Lampkin with commendable ease. "I won't keep you long. I have been informed that you are friends of Mr. Weldon Caruthers, and it is about him that I wanted to confer with you. To come to the point at once, I have reasons for being disturbed about his rather peculiar absence."

"But he is in Philadelphia," exclaimed Miss Huntington, in a tone which revealed no little relief over his explanation. She seemed to think the detective was laboring under some mistake which she could easily rectify.

"May I ask how you know that?" asked Hendricks, diplomatically.

Miss Huntington hesitated, and then, receiving the sanction of her aunt's glance, said:

Do You Wish To Borrow Money?

In order to accommodate all classes of borrowers (those who cannot borrow at a bank, as well as those who can), the Mutual Loan and Investment Company, of 118 Market street, Newark, N. J., has a department for handling quickly and confidentially loans ranging from $10 to $300 on furniture, pianos, storage receipts, etc.

The security is not removed from your possession or in any way disturbed. The honest, careful and conservative borrower will try and decide two points before borrowing. First, where he can get the best terms. Second, where he can get fair and square treatment.

This company is in a position to give you by far the most satisfactory terms ever offered by any concern or individual negotiating this class of loans.

With this company you are assured of getting the lowest rates, easiest payments and longest time for repayment. The whole transaction from the time the application is made until loan is paid is entirely confidential. We give you another advantage in case you take the loan out for six months or a year, and wish to settle the same before the time expires: we charge you only for the time you have had the money. We also take up loans from other companies and advance more money.

Kindly call and let us explain our simple and up-to-date methods If not entirely convenient for you to call, please write and our representative will call and give you any desired information. Remember it costs nothing to make application. Loans promptly made in Elizabeth, Plainfield, Westfield, Roselle, Rahway, Perth Amboy and all suburban towns.

SPEAKING ABOUT FOGS.

Rockaway Oysterman Proves Himself King of All Liars Along Atlantic Coast.

"I have met a great many liars in my time," said Pilot Josh Lane to a New York correspondent the other day, "but John Lundy, a Rockaway oysterman, is far and away king of them all. It doesn't make any difference what you tell John in the way of a fairy tale, he will always go you one better. You may depend upon him, for he never fails.

"Two or threa weeks ago I met John in a saloon in Long Island city. We got to talking about fogs, and I tried to impress him with the thickness of the fogs in London. I told him how people, standing on a street corner in London, could not see the lighted lamp on the post beside them; how people, after leaving their own doorstep, could not find their way back home, until the fog had lifted, and a dozen other stories all greatly embellished. But it was no use—I could not even faze him. This was the return I got:

"Sonny, fogs may be pretty thick in that town, but they ain't half so bad as I've seen right here on Long Island. I remember once, 'bout ten years ago, when I was shinglin' the upright part of my house, a fog rolled in from the east fit to put a man's eyes out. I didn't take much notice of it at first, but kept on nailin' down shingles, an', by and by, it lighted up some, and what do you think I'd been doin', sonny? I was a half mile away from the house, and the shingles was lyin' on the field all the way back. That blamed fog was so thick I'd been nailin' shingles on it and didn't know it. And that ain't the worst fog I've seen, neither."

PAINTED HER GREEN.

Chicago Man Haled to Court by Sister-in-Law Whose Face He Had Decorated.

Surrounded by a number of friends and her face smeared with paint, Mrs. Anna Brandt, 76 Liberty street, appeared in Justice Dooley's court at the Maxwell street police station, Chicago. She told the court that her brother-in-law, Nathan Brandt, had painted her face because he believed she would be more handsome.

"Don't the paint look to be green?" inquired the astonished magistrate, as he adjusted his glasses. "Why, to be sure, it's a familiar sign," continued his honor, looking sternly at Brandt, who sought refuge behind Attorney Gilhorn.

"Yes, your honor, after he had painted my face he stood a few feet from me and after having a good laugh, he said I ought to have been Irish instead of Jewish," said Mrs. Brandt, as she tried to wipe some of the spots of paint which she had left on her face in order to prove her asertions when she appeared in court. The complainant's story was corroborated by a number of witnesses. Brandt, when called to testify in his own behalf, did not deny having smeared the woman's face with the paint, but he said it was an accident. The case was continued.

Goat Dined on Banknotes.

A peasant woman whose little farm is near Brussels, Belgium, threw her jacket on the grass and went about her agricultural duties. Her pet goat found in the pocket of the garment a roll of banknotes amounting to about 1,200 francs, and ate them. The animal was killed, and the chewed paper, recovered from the stomach, was submitted to the bank, which paid out the amount after making a chemical analysis.

Obesity Called a Disease.

Obesity is regarded by Dr. Gabriel Leven, a French physician, as a nervous disorder. It is not a disease, but a symptom arising from various conditions, with some disturbance of nutrition—usually a kind of dyspepsia—as the foundation. Treatment is directed to the dyspepsia.

WON FAME OVER NIGHT.

How Pietro Mascagni, the Famous Italian Composer, Rose from Obscurity to Dizzy Heights.

Pietro Mascagni, the famous Italian composer, is to make a tour of this country. His engagement opens at the Metropolitan opera house, New York, on October 8, in "Cavalleria Rusticana." He will bring over with him an orchestra and company of principals selected from among the finest musicians in Italy.

The tour of Mascagni in America has revived interest in the somewhat romantic career of the young composer, whose "Cavalleria Rusticana" served the double purpose of relieving his hunger and gaining him fame in a night.

At the beginning of 1890 he was unknown and struggling; six months later his fame had spread over the civilized world. In light of his career it is an interesting and significant incident that the composer was so little known in Rome. He was refused admittance into the Teatro Costanzi, where "Cavalleria Rusticana" was being rehearsed for its first public performance. This opera had won the Sonzogna competition and was being prepared for presentation under Sig. Mascheroni. Mascagni, who for weeks had been experiencing the bitterness of great poverty, went to the Costanzi to see his work in preparation. He had never seen it on the stage—in fact, had never heard a note sung, except by his own badly trained voice, and he was full of nervous expectancy as he approached the theater. But the doorkeeper looked askance at his frayed garments and thought of calling an officer when the figure before him claimed to be the composer of the opera being rehearsed within. The indignant and disappointed musician paced up and down the sidewalk half an hour, when Sig. Mascheroni happened to come to the door, recognized the haggard young man and led him within. The evenings later, May 17, 1890, Mascagni, in immaculate garments, was bowing his acknowledgments before the most enthusiastic audience ever assembled within the historic Costanzi.

PEACE TO BE RESTORED.

Gen. Booth, Chief of Salvation Army, to Seek Reconciliation with His Son Ballington.

A former officer of the Salvation Army at New York has said that Herbert Booth, who recently left the army, was now in America, having BALLINGTON BOOTH.

(Founder and Chief of the "Volunteers of America.")

arrived a few weeks ago, and it was probable that Gen. Booth would arrive within a few weeks to make an effort to bring about a reconciliation between himself and his children, six of whom are out of the Salvation Army. Gen. Ballington Booth, of the Volunteers of America, has refused to discuss the matter in any form.

The trouble between the members of the Booth family began five years ago. Ballington Booth was then commander of the army in the United States and it was a command from his father that he surrender the work here and go to Canada that brought about the separation. The son refused and resigned. Ballington Booth then organized a rival organization—the Volunteers of America.

Talk of reconciliation has been heard since June. It was then announced that Gen. Booth and his son would meet in September and that a love feast would follow.

Ballington Booth's friends claimed that Gen. Booth issued orders of importance to the workers in the United States without consulting the officers in this country. Ballington Booth resented this and the order for his transfer was the climax.

MARCONI IS BEATEN.

American Inventor Puts Italian's Device in the Shade.

Can Transmit 52 Words a Minute to Two Wires—Atmosphere Will Not Affect the Work of the New Instruments.

Wireless telegraphy has been taken out of the realm of theory and experiment and made a practical commercial possibility by the invention of Dr. Lee De Forest, an American inventor and a graduate of Yale. He has perfected the DeForest receiver, or "responder," which consists of a small glass tube, open at both ends and holding in its bore two small wires. Between the ends of this is is placed a small bit of special paste which ordinarily offers a passage for the local current. When the electrical wave from the sending machine traverses the responder on its way from the upright wire to the ground it increases the resistance of this device, but its conductivity is automatically restored the instant the electrical wave has passed.

A telephone receiver in circuit with the responder will give a sound which is an exact reproduction of the sound of the sending spark, from which emanates the electrical waves.

No relay or tapping-back device is required, as is the case with Marconi's receiver. Hence the simplicity and the great speed of transmission possible with the De Forest system.

During the last week two operators of the De Forest Wireless Telegraph company accomplished a feat which, while new in the annals of wireless telegraphy, is only significant of the possibilities before the responder or automatic receiver in combination with the telephone.

At the station of the De Forest company at 17 State street, New York, two messages were received and read simultaneously by the two operators listening at two separate telephone receivers attached to one and the same De Forest responder, and without any especial attuning or syntoning device in circuit. One message was from the De Forest Staten island station and was sent quite rapidly, 30 words per minute, with a high-frequency spark (120 per second). The other was from some foreign station, evidently a Marconi installation. The speed was about ten words per minute, sent with a low-frequency interrupter. One operator concentrated his attention upon the Staten island message while the other was able to pick out by their peculiar drumming sound the signals from the other station.

(Inventor Who Has Just Improved the Wireless Telegraph.)

The fact that without any tuning device this can be accomplished with one and the same responder demonstrates the advantages of the telephone receiver over any sounder or tape-recording device, and the greater immunity of the De Forest system from atmospheric and foreign disturbances.

So far as has been published two simultaneous messages is the record to-day for any tuned or syntonized system in its present development, and it is interesting to know that, with two styles of interrupter and sending speed sufficiently diversified, the same can be accomplished by the human ear listinening in a telephone connected with a De Forest responder.

Last week also the De Forest operators established a new record as to speed in its wireless transmission. A commercial message 48 words in length was transmitted and successfully read at the rate of 52 words per minute. This is by far the fastest speed yet attained by the wireless telegraph, being five times as rapid as is ordinarily attained by the coherer system, such as Marconi commonly uses, which only has a speed of ten or twelve words a minute.

The United States army has adopted the De Forest system to take the place of the cable system of communication between Forts Wadsworth and Hancock, New York harbor. The signal service of the United States government has purchased a De Forest apparatus to place on a war vessel in the fall maneuvres off Sandy Hook.

Freeze Their Winter Milk

Cows are scarce in Labrador, because it is extremely difficult to keep them in the extremely cold weather. The natives procure their milk for the winter and then kill their cows. The milk is kept in barrels, where it freezes and never turns sour throughout the entire season. When one wishes to use any milk he has simply to go to the barrel and cut out a slice.

The Blood is the Life.

The circulatory system consists of the heart, the tireless blood pump; the arteries, which carry the blood to the system and to the lungs; the veins, which return the used-up blood to the heart, and the small capillaries which connect them. How many times do we find areas of the body striving for good blood, and as a consequence diseased, and this from some obstruction to its blood supply, or on the other hand, congested and inflamed because the blood cannot return properly through the veins. Neither bone, ligament, muscle or any other tissue can live without it.

Osteopathy does more, however, than simply remove obstructions to the flow. It controls the size of the blood vessels through the vaso motor nerves and relieves anaemia or bloodlessness of a part by direct stimulation to that part, and just as surely relieves congestion and inflammation by stimulating the flow from the part.

G. O. P. CANDIDATES IN SOMERSET

Something of the Men the Republicans Have Nominated for the Various County Offices.

A sketch of the men who compose the Republican ticket in Somerset county, this fall, is interesting just at this time to residents in North Plainfield and various parts of the county. The Republicans claim it is one of the strongest tickets ever named, although there is not a single North Plainfield man on it.

Joseph S. Frelinghuysen.

Joseph S. Frelinghuysen, who has been nominated for State senator, was born in Raritan in 1869, and always had his home there. He is the scion of a distinguished family. His father, Frederick Frelinghuysen, was a lawyer in Somerset county, and was surrogate from 1872 to 1877. The nominee for senator was educated at the grammar schools in Somerville, and early in life engaged in the insurance business in New York city. He is now a director in, and has control of several well-known insurance companies.

At the outbreak of the Spanish-American War, he went as lieutenant of Troop A, First Volunteer Cavalry, New York city, to Porto Rico, and there he performed a good service. He was mentioned in Gen. Henry's report for a brevet for zealous and efficient services during the campaign.

The nominee for surrogate, Peter VanDeventer VanDoren, comes from good old Dutch ancestry on his paternal side and traces his materal relationship right back to that bold English navigator, Sir Francis Drake. He has always been a farmer and is today conducting his own farm at Hillsborough. For two years he represented the county in the Assembly. For several past he has been an active Republican and a zealous worker.

Peter VanD. VanDorn.

Irving Hoagland, the nominee for the Assembly, is 33 years old. He was born in Franklin Park, and has always lived in Somerset county. He began his education in the public school at Pleasant Plains, and there prepared his studies at the New Brunswick Grammar School. He entered Rutgers College in 1886 and was graduated in 1890. He then took up the study of law with John S. Voorhees, the present prosecutor of Middlesex county. He subsequently entered the New York Law School and was graduated in 1894. In 1893 he was admitted to the bar as an attorney and as a counselor three years later. He is now counsel for Franklin township and for the township of New Brunswick.

To Form Classes.

The Young Women's Club will meet this evening in the rooms, corner of North and Watchung avenues, when classes for the winter will be formed. All young women interested are cordially invited. On Thursday evening the club will hold a Hallowe'en social.

TOURED STATE.

F. L. C. Martin Has Just Returned From a Delightful Trip in His Oldsmobile.

Frank L. C. Martin returned yesterday from a week's outing with his oldsmobile, accompanied by his friends, Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Zacharias, of Asbury Park. They rode 428 miles without a mishap excepting two punctured tires. Most of the roads traveled were ideal for automobiling. Mr. Martin has an odometer attached to his oldsmobile, and the exact distance was taken at every city and he will be pleased to give a copy of the route to any one wishing it.

The different day's runs were as follows: Monday—Asbury Park, through New Brunswick, Oldbridge, Jamesburg and Freehold. Wednesday—Atlantic City through Lakewood, Toms River, Barnegat, Egg Harbor City and Pleasantville. Friday—Philadelphia through Absecon, Waterford and Camden. Saturday—Asbury Park through Frankford, Bristol, Trenton, Heightstown, Freehold and Farmingdale. Yesterday returned home through Allenhurst, Long Branch, Seabright, Red Bank and New Brunswick. Throughout the trip the weather was exceedingly fine.

WESTFIELD'S RALLY.

Congressman Fowler Spoke There Last Evening Before a Large and Enthusiastic Audience.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Westfield, Oct. 28—A Republican rally was held here last evening which proved to be a very enthusiastic gathering. Early in the evening, the Aeolian Band headed a parade a hundred strong through the principal streets and finally came up to the Westfield Clubhouse where the meeting was held.

There were 500 people present in the hall which was gaily decorated with bunting and flags for the occasion. George H. Embree, a member of the Union county Republican Committee, was chairman of the meeting.

In the audience were a large number of women who cheered loudly when the name of Charles N. Fowler was announced.

Congressman Fowler, who is the Republican nominee for Congress, spoke for about an hour, answering the questions put by the Democraitc orators and ably handling the tariff and trust problems. Joseph Cross, the senatorial candidate in Union county, B. Frank Coriell, the shrievalty candidate in this county, William Newcorn, the nominee for the Assembly, and George T. Parrott, who is running for surrogate, were the speakers of the evening.

CLASSICAL CONCERT.

The First to be Given by a Local Orchestra in Plainfield.

The fifth regular concert of the Young Men's Christian Association orchestra will be held in the large hall, Thursday evening, November 20, beginning at 8:15. It will be the first classical concert ever given by a local orchestra and the members are very anxious to show Plainfield lovers of high class orchestral music that the city possesses material for the purpose. The Haydn Symphony, No. 1, in E flat, requires forty minutes in playing and this with "Ervani" and Stradella will be the leading numbers.

PERSEVERANCE PREPARING.

Will Celebrate All Hallowe'en in Good Old-Fashioned Way.

All Hallowe'en will be celebrated in the good, old fashioned way by Perseverance Lodge, No. 74, K. of P., Friday evening. The versatile members are busy devising a programme that will eclipse anything of a similar nature given on this night of parties and social gatherings. The committee asks that all who attend bring something in the line of eatables to help along the refreshment end.

Reception to M. P.

James E. Martine has received an invitation to be present at a reception to be tendered Messrs. Davitt and Dillon, Irish members of the British Parliament, by the United Irish Societies, of Union county, at Jacob's Theatre, Elizabeth, tomorrow evening. The committee in charge consists of of Patrick J. Ryan, Daniel Fallon, Lawrence O'Donnell, James J. Manning and Peter J. Mitchell.

Purchased Voorhees Building.

Edward Laing, the bookseller and stationer, has purchased the part of the Voorhees building occupied by Horace Sherwin, the shoe dealer, and the two flats overhead, on West Front street. He still has a year's lease on his present store and he may remain where he is until the expiration of that. He means to eventually move into the building recently purchased by him.

PLAINFIELD COUNCIL A SCORE YEARS OLD

Anniversary Was Delightfully Celebrated in Council Rooms Last Night.

MANY IN ATTENDANCE

MANY MEMBERS OUT—OTHER COUNCILS WERE REPRESENTED.

Musical Selections, Addresses and Recitations Made Up the Excellent Programme Rendered—Grand Regent Bowne Present.

Amid the pleasant association of members and friends, Plainfield Council, No. 711, Royal Arcanum, appropriately observed its twentieth anniversary, last evening, in the rooms on Park avenue. Everyone heartily entered into the spirit of the occasion and made it an event long to be remembered in the history of this popular Council. There were many members present who had not been in the Council rooms for a long time past and there was an exchange of good fellowship and the recalling of the early history of the organization.

The room was attractively decorated with red bunting, while a table was laden with all kinds of fruit and flowers. About the room were placed potted ferns and palms.

Among those who enjoyed the affair was the members of Greenbrook Council, Royal Arcanum, who were present in a body. Frederick J. Pope was master of ceremonies and he announced the various numbers on the programme.

The first number was an instrumental selection by Fred and William Van Eps, banjos, and D. Stuart Pope, piano. This was excellent music for such an occasion and several times during the evening these young men enlivened the affair with popular selections.

After the first selection, Rev. E. M. Rodman was called upon and he made a few happy remarks to the old, new and prospective members. He was followed by Charles Thompson, formerly of Plainfield but now of Elizabeth, who gave a wonderful exhibition of sleight-of-hand, entitled "The Silk-Worm's Dream." He produced any number of handkerchiefs and did all sorts of things with them. Later he appeared again and gave "A Financial Dream," in which he produced all kinds of money. His work received great applause.

Perhaps one of the most interesting features was the address and recitations by Grand Regent Horace I. Bowne. Other remarks were made by Grand Secretary Robert H. Alberts, of Hoboken.

After the programme, refreshments were served and a social time enjoyed. Plainfield Council was organized October 12, 1882, with twenty-four members. William H. Lyons, who died within the past two years, was the first regent. The Council has had a remarkable growth and today it numbers 223 members and is constantly growing. Edward T. VanWinkle is the present regent.

The committee in charge of last night's affair comprised D. W. Littell, chairman; J. F. O'Keefe, Dr. W. Kempton Browning, George E. Sanders, A. I. Littell, F. J. Pope, G. H. Kenyon, Clarence Goss, John Martin, F. H. Martin, Robert H. Lowry and Wheaton S. Lowry.

FATHER BEAT HIM.

A Bound Brook Grocer Charged With Serious Crime.

Bound Brook has been considerably stirred up over an alleged assault by a grocer on a five-year-old girl of that place which occurred Wednesday. The matter was hushed up on payment, it is said, of a certain sum by the grocer. When the latter tried to leave town, Saturday evening, the child's father, a respectable citizen of that town, saw the man and beat him unmercifully on the main street of the town. The grocer has closed his store, having made an assignment and has left town.

Preparing for Annual Inspection.

The officers of the Woman's Relief Corps will meet this afternoon to prepare for the annual inspection of the corps on Friday, November 7.

Sock Social.

A sock social and entertainment will be given Thursday evening in the rooms of the W. C. T. U. under the auspices of the Union.

—Bellflower, Greening, Northern Spies and King apples, for table or cooking, at Neuman Brothers.

IS IT DYING?

Finances of Scotch Plains Library are at a Very Low Ebb—Great Need of Aid.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Scotch Plains, October 28 — The finances of the Public Library are at a very low ebb at the present time. At a recent meeting of the Library Association plans were discussed by which it was hoped to realize money to keep the association in a flourishing condition.

When the library was opened several years ago there was not a town in the States of the same population that had a more complete library and reading room than Scotch Plains. The library since then has ever been improved and kept apace of the times. Every thing has been done by subscription or by the effort of those interested by holding fairs, teas and entertainments, but of late the subscriptions have dwindled down until at present the board of directors are beginning to worry for the future of the association.

The library has been the pride of the village so long that there is no one but that feels as though the association should be supported in its good work.

LADIES' DAY.

Closing of Tournament for Hooley Cup at Park Golf Club to be Held Tomorrow—Special Events.

According to schedule, the season's play for the Hooley cup, women's handicap, was to close this afternoon at the Park Golf Club. On account of the wet weather, however, the closing competition and the events arranged in connection have been postponed until tomorrow.

There has been play throughout the season on Tuesday afternoons, except when rain and a lack of competitors prevented, and now Miss Laura Long has won sufficient points to give her the trophy, no matter who wins tomorrow. The trophy is a handsome silver one, offered by E. S. Hooley. In addition to the concluding play for the Hooley cup, a silver trophy has been offered by a friend for the women's driving contest and the golf committee has offered three prizes for an approaching and putting contest to be held during the afternoon. As is customary at the close of the season, the women of the club will hold an informal tea and reception at the club house to which all the members and their friends have been invited.

VISITED MUSEUMS.

Pupils of Borough Schools Visited Them of Natural History and Art.

The pupils of Miss Alberta E. Waterbury's and Miss Minnie Green's classes of the North Plainfield public school were taken to New York Saturday under the escort of their teachers where they visited the Museums of Natural History and Art. The management placed at the services of the pupils a special guide who pointed out the articles and specimens of the greatest interest.

The children of this school have had an opportunity for the past few Saturdays to take this trip and many of the pupils have taken advantage of the chance. A week ago Saturday Miss Yoran took her class on this trip. The special guide at the museums are furnished by the managers free of cost to the pupils and teachers.

NO PRAYER MEETING.

Congregation of Monroe Ave. M. E. Church Will Go to Westfield.

No prayer meeting will be held in the Monroe Avenue church tomorrow evening in order that the congregation may attend the first of the series of evangelistic meetings which are to be held at Westfield. Dr. Halloran, the presiding elder of this district, will be in charge. Rev. Dr. W. C. Snodgrass, of this city, is to speak Thursday evening and on Friday evening Rev. Dr. W. S. Galloway, of Elizabeth, will be heard.

Schedule of Vacations.

The North Plainfield Board of Education held its regular meeting last evening when the schedule of vacations for the school year were decided upon. The school will be closed on the day after Thanksgiving, between December 19 and January 5, all Easter week beginning April 12 bringing the commencement on June 19.

Social at Trinity.

A social will be held in Trinity Reformed church, this evening, under the auspices of the home department of the Sunday-school.

Sunday's Preacher.

Rev. Wm. Montgomery Downey, of the Church of the Holy Cross, preached at Grace Episcopal church Sunday evening.

KNIFED WIFE WITH RAZOR

Italian Resident of Cottage Place Grew Jealous of the Visitors to See His Wife.

SHE IS BADLY CUT

Antonio Perratti Said to Have Slashed His Wife Across Back and Breast, While Visitors Ran Away—They Had Put Him Out and Defied Him to Enter.

When Antonio Perratti returned to his store at the corner of Richmond street and Cottage place last evening at 9 o'clock, he found three Italians there talking to his wife, a good looking Italian woman. Perratti is insanely jealous of his wife and he at once accused her of being unfaithful. A quarrel ensued in which the three Italians took part.

The visitors put the irate Italian out of his store and then defied him to enter. Perratti drew a razor and then rushing around to the back door forced his way in and attacked his wife. It is said that he slashed her across the back and breast and on the arms while the three Italians ran out of the front door and down the railroad tracks.

Finally the woman freed herself from her husband's grasp and ran up Richmond street, her husband in close pursuit.

There were a number of people in that locality at the time and they interferred and prevailed upon the infuriated man to return to his store. His wife soon returned and friends bandaged her wounds.

No complaint was made to the police and no arrests were made. Perratti's son was seen this noon and he denied any knowledge of the affair whatever. He said he was up town when the quarrel occurred. Several neighbors, however, were eye witnesses of the assault. The names of the three men could not be learned.

GOOD BALANCE.

Shown by Treasurer's Report of German Benevolent Society.

The regular meeting of the German Benevolent Society was held last evening at the home of Charles Schantz, of Park avenue, when the annual report of the treasurer was read. The report shows that there is a balance in the treasury of $672.18.

The following committee was appointed to arrange for a ball which will be held in Saengerbund Hall January 19: August Mercher, A. Stencenberger, George Cepp, Henry Rummel and John Wirth.

PASSED OFF QUIETLY.

Queen City Lodge Informally Observed its Eleventh Birthday.

Queen City Lodge, No. 226, I. O. O. F., observed its eleventh anniversary, last evening, in a quiet and informal manber. The affair was arranged for the members only and, after the transaction of the business of the evening, a smoker was enjoyed, after which there was a collation. This lodge has had a most gratifying history and the steady increase in membership speaks well for the excellent manner in which the lodge is conducted.

YOUNG MEN HOSTS.

Young Men's Bible Class Entertained at Epworth House.

Sociability reigned supreme in the Epworth House of the Monroe Avenue church, last eveinng, when the young men's Bible class was entertained by its former teacher, Adam Neuman. Twenty-six members were present.

Keen enjoyment was had from the playing of ping-pong and crockinole and in listening to instrumental and vocal music. Refreshments were sreved at the close. The table decorations were handsome and much admired.

Taken to District Court.

The case of Miss Annie Holmes against Frank Haulenbeck, for assault and battery, has been discontinued in Justice Huff's court and will be taken to the district court. In the contract case of Deutch against Paroz, on contract, the defendant filed a set-off yesterday, claiming a balance of $15. Justice Huff reserved his decision to examine the facts. Settlement has been effected in full in the contract case of Ellis against Evans, in Justice Huff's court.

CLEAVER HAD ANOTHER DATE

So the Audience at Borough Democratic Mass-Meeting Listened to Another Man.

ON NATIONAL ISSUES

Man Now Famous in Somerset County Did Not Appear as Advertised and His Place Was Filled by Cook Conkling, of Rutherford—A. E. Kenney Presided.

The Democratic mass meeting, held in Saengerbund Hall, last evening, was not addressed by Rev. J. B. Cleaver as advertised, owing to a misunderstanding of dates. Instead he lectured at Mount Bethel and Cook Conkling, of Rutherford, made the principal speech of the evening.

The hall was pretty well filled at 8 o'clock when David J. Carney called the meeting to order by announcing that A. E. Kenney had been chosen the chairman of the meeting. Those who occupied seats on the platform were Borough Assessor Elston M. French, W. J. Conroy, Levi Kline and David Carney.

Mr. Kenney in opening the meeting said that Mr. Cleaver had been called to Mt. Bethel rather unexpectedly to attend a meeting there but that it was very probable that Mr. Cleaver would speak in North Plainfield before the campaign closed.

The chairman then advised all his hearers to take a personal interest in the election this fall, to vote early and secure all the votes they can for the party. He mentioned the fact that Spencer Hall was the borough Democratic headquarters and that on election night the returns would be received there. He said that those present who were in the hall last week when the ratification meeting was held, could not help but be impressed with the high efficiency of all the candidates and recommended each to the voters as candidates who, once in office, would have the people's interests at stake. Mr. Conkling was then introduced and spoke for fully an hour and a half on the principal National issues. He did not touch on county affairs except incidentally when he spoke of the shoddy mills as an illustration of the present tariff protection.

Revolution is the only escape from the power of the trusts, he quoted from a Republican friend. He ridiculed this statement by saying that the people had the power of doing away with this evil in forty-eight hours if they would but use the power that lies within their hands. That power lies in the ballot box and, said he, if the people want to be relieved of the present unfortunate conditions they should place such men in office as would have the interests of the people at heart. Such men, the speaker declared, are named on the Democratic ticket and these men are the ones you should vote for if you want to be truly represented.

The tariff question was dealt with by Mr. Conkling and the uses of the tariff was defined. He said the Republicans were allied with the combinations and therefore no legislation to oust the trusts could be looked for on their side. The coal and meat question was dealt with and the tariff on each.

By way of illustration the speaker showed through figures the great difference between the prices of an American made article sold on American shores and the same article sold in a foreign county. Powder, for example, he said, and he read the figures from an export list, is 11 cents cheaper abroad than here in our own country. Hand saws, 13 cents, sewing machines, $8.25, typewriter, $35 cheaper, and so on. He said that the American people were the most patient people in the world to be robbed right and left and scarcely raise a hand to protest against this outrage.

He said those in the Republican ranks don't want to stop this because it helps the monopolies they are allied with. Another reason lies in the bribery which goes on daily. The halls of the Legislature are fairly alive with bribe givers, they are in the Boards of Freeholders and in the Common Councils. The men in Congress want to stay there to reap the advantage the tariff gives them.

One of the greatest reforms needed today is to properly direct the vote of the people. Who are the people who

The Blood is the Life.
The circulatory system consists of the heart, the tireless blood pump; the arteries, which carry the blood to the system and to the lungs; the veins, which return the used-up blood to the heart, and the small capillaries which connect them How many times do we find areas of the body striving for good blood, and as a consequence diseased, and this from some obstruction to its blood supply, or on the other hand, congested and inflamed because the blood cannot return properly through the veins. Neither bone, ligament, muscle or any other tissue can live without it.
Osteopathy does more, however, than simply remove obstructions to the flow. It controls the size of the blood vessels through the vaso motor nerves and relieves anæmia or bloodlessness of a part by direct stimulation to that part, and just as surely relieves congestion and inflammation by stimulating the flow from the part.

HOAR ON TRUSTS.

The Senator Would Curb, Not Destroy Them.

BOSTON, Oct. 28.—Senator Hoar in a speech before the Chickatawbut club spoke words of praise for President Roosevelt and Governor W. Murray Crane, saying that in the national election we are to send men to either uphold the president's hands or men whose sole object in the next two years will be to hunt him from power.

Speaking of trusts, Senator Hoar said: "The evils of trusts are, first, destruction of competition; second, the management of industries by absentee capital; third, destruction of local public spirit; fourth, fraudulent capitalization; fifth, secrecy; sixth, management for the private benefit of the officers; seventh, the power to corrupt elections and in some cases to corrupt the courts; eighth, indifference to public sentiment.

"If the first, fourth and fifth can be cured, the cure of the others, in my opinion, will follow. Now, is it not the duty of wise statesmanship to go slowly and carefully in this matter, so we can cure or prevent the evil without sacrificing or destroying what is good?"

Senator Hoar then reviewed the Sherman antitrust law and claimed that he himself had inserted in the bill the section which declares any combination or trust which restricts trade to be illegal and also provides for the punishment.

"Every suit that has been brought," he continued, "which has been successful has been under this section."

He said he would curb trusts, not destroy them.

Senator Hoar next discussed the tariff, saying in regard to tariff revision that it should be made on the principles of the protective system. He favors reciprocity, believing it best can be secured by concurrent legislation rather than by treaties. The tariff will have to be revised, he said, again and again hereafter.

In conclusion Senator Hoar discussed strikes, saying that if capital combined he could not see why labor may not also combine.

"A republic," he said, "cannot live if any body of men undertake to impose their own will upon the lawful freedom of others. I believe the sympathy of all true Americans is on the side of labor and its attempt to better its condition. Capital and wealth will in the end take care of themselves."

MISSING BOY FOUND.

Mystery of His Brother's Shooting Not Cleared Up.

SOUTH LONDONDERRY, Vt., Oct. 28.—Melvin Johnson, aged fifteen, for whom fully a hundred men and boys have been searching, fearing that he had killed himself as a sequel to the death of his younger brother, Clifford, by a bullet wound, has been found at Manchester, twelve miles from here. He claims that his brother was accidentally shot. An inquiry into the circumstances will be held.

The shooting occurred in the chamber occupied by the brothers in the Johnson home here. Mrs. Johnson called up to her sons for them to go outdoors with their father, and Melvin, the elder, answered. A moment later Mrs. Johnson felt the jar of a heavy object falling in the chamber. Melvin came downstairs and went out without uttering a word.

Mrs. Johnson went upstairs and found Clifford on the floor with a bullet hole in the temple. He died in a few minutes. Melvin meanwhile had disappeared. The wound in Clifford Johnson's head indicated that it was made with a revolver bullet, but no revolver could be found. It was supposed that Melvin Johnson had carried it away with him. This fact aroused fears for the boy's safety, and in the absence of any known quarrel between the brothers the parents were convinced that the shooting must have been accidental and that Melvin in his grief might have taken his own life. The alarm was sent out, and for a day and a night the neighbors searched for the missing boy.

A Rear-End Freight Collision.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., Oct. 28.—In a rear end collision between two freight trains on the Ontario and Western railroad near Rockland, Sullivan county, several cars were demolished and one engine was thrown down the bank. No one was injured.

Forged Nobility Patents.

PRAGUE, Bohemia, Oct. 28.—The trial has begun here of Alois Mueller and Peter von Schlecta on charges of trafficking in forged patents of nobility. It is alleged that Mueller has duped the buyers of such patents to the extent of $100,000.

Three Boys Killed by a Train.

OKLAHOMA, Okla., Oct. 28.—Joe Bogat, Dan Callahan and Hugh Merro, each thirteen years old, of Oklahoma City, were killed near Noble by a Santa Fe train. The boys had been hunting and returning home walked down the track.

COLOMBIA RESPONDS

Long Awaited Reply to Canal Proposal Received.

A LARGER PAYMENT IS DESIRED.

It Is Also Asked That the Annual Rental of $600,000 Begin at Once. Will Rent, Not Cede, Waterway Strip.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—The long expected response of the Colombian government to the proposition made by the state department for the negotiation of a canal treaty on the lines of the Spooner act has reached Washington and was presented to the state department by Mr. Herran, the secretary of the Colombian legation.

It is difficult to learn the exact understanding of the nature of this communication, but it is known that it is not altogether an unqualified acceptance of the state department's proposition. It is, however, friendly and dignified in tone and does not close the negotiations by any means, though it unquestionably sets back the date of final agreement by opening up new topics for argument.

For one thing the Colombian government now is entirely dissatisfied with the small amount of the payment to be made to it by the United States under the terms of the protocol, which it is proposed to use as the basis of the treaty. This sum is $7,000,000. Colombia wants at least $10,000,000. Moreover, the original proposal looked to a wait for fourteen years before beginning the payment of annual rental, the amount of which was to be then fixed by mutual agreement. Colombia now asks the United States to agree at once to a lump yearly payment of $600,000, which will considerably increase the immediate cost of the enterprise.

The Colombian government clings to its contention that it has no constitutional authority to alienate any Colombian territory and reiterates that the best it can do to meet the language of the Spooner act, which looks to perpetual control by the United States over the canal strip, is to make a 100 year lease, with a distinct stipulation that the same shall be renewable by the United States at the expiration of the first century.

Democrats Rally in New York.

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—Madison Square Garden was well filled last night, the occasion being a Democratic mass meeting. Former Vice President Adlai E. Stevenson, Senator Hill of New York, Senator James K. Jones of Arkansas, Congressman Griggs of Georgia, Bird S. Coler, Democratic candidate for governor; W. R. Hearst, president of the National Association of Democratic Clubs, and Congressman Sulzer of New York were among the speakers of the evening. The auditorium was elaborately decorated for the occasion. The representatives of Tammany Hall, Democratic candidates from the district of Greater New York and a large number of invited guests were on the platform. Bird S. Coler occupied a box. Senator Jones was the presiding officer.

College Students Strike.

LANSING, Mich., Oct. 28.—The students at the Michigan Agricultural college, numbering about 1,000, have gone on strike owing to the suspension of seventeen of their number for participation in a freshman-sophomore rush ten days ago. Two years ago when one student left college permanently injured as the result of a "rush" the faculty issued an edict forbidding such affairs in the future. Resolutions were drawn up at a mass meeting of the students in the chapel demanding reinstatement of the suspended students, but the committee that presented the resolution to President Snyder was informed that the faculty meant to stand firm in its position.

Trials of St. Louis Delegates.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 28.—The cases of sixteen former members of the house of delegates who were indicted jointly on the charge of bribery in connection with the passage of the suburban franchise bill were called for trial in Judge Douglass' division of the criminal court yesterday. Circuit Attorney Folk announced that the state was ready for trial. Separate trials were asked for by the majority of the defendants.

American Twice Expelled.

PARIS, Oct. 28.—Le Soir says that Burns, an American horseman, who was recently expelled from France after investigation on the part of the authorities of the alleged turf scandals, having returned to this country in the expectation that his case would be reheard, the minister of the interior directed that he be at once expelled again. Burns was arrested and will be conducted to the frontier.

Where Murder Suspects Congregate.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 28.—Emanuel Johnson, colored, employed as a laborer at the new city filtration plant here, has been arrested on suspicion of having murdered a man at Clinton, Mass., in 1897. He was held to await the action of the Massachusetts authorities. Seven murder suspects have been arrested at the filtration plant during the present year.

COMMISSION MEETS.

Preliminary Conference Held at Washington.

VISIT TO MINE REGION PLANNED.

Beginning Thursday Morning the Entire Anthracite Field Will Be Covered—No Favors Will Be Received.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—The anthracite coal strike commission in the hearing room of the interstate commerce commission held its first conference with the parties to the controversy in the anthracite regions. There was a full representation of both operators and miners, and members of the press and a number of other interested parties were present.

The commission occupied the elevated seats generally filled by members of the interstate commerce commission, Judge Gray, as president, occupying the center seat and Messrs. Wright, Watkins and Clark the seats to the right of him in the order named, while General Wilson, Bishop Spalding and Mr. Parker sat on the left in the order of their names. The proceedings covered about two hours' time and were given up entirely to a discussion of the time and method of proceeding with the proposed investigation.

The commission decided to begin its work next Thursday morning at 9 o'clock, the first days of the investigation to be devoted to a physical examination of the mines and the homes of the miners, starting in the vicinity of Scranton. The entire anthracite field will be covered. There was considerable discussion over a proposition made by the commission to have expert accountants appointed to audit statements of wages and classification of miners to be made by the operators for the use of the commission, but no result was reached on this point beyond the announcement by the chairman of the commission's intention to appoint such an accountant in case his services should be found necessary.

During the progress of the meeting Mr. Mitchell, as the representative of the miners, presented a copy of the original declaration of the miners as formulated by the Shamokin convention as the basis of the demands of the miners. This demand is, first, for an increase of 20 per cent in wages of those not engaged by the day; second, a reduction of 20 per cent in working hours of those engaged by the day; third, the payment for coal mined by weight at a minimum rate of 60 cents per ton of 2,240 pounds; fourth, a wage agreement between the operators and the miners for an adjustment of wages.

Mr. Baer, on the part of the coal operators, took exception to Mr. Mitchell's appearance before the commission as a representative of the mine workers' union, but said that he had no objection to his presence as a representative of the strikers as such in their individual capacity. The commission made no attempt to settle the controversy, but it was apparent that the recognition of the miners' union will be an important and knotty problem for the arbitrators.

Preceding the discussion over opening the books to the experts, Mr. Baer said the operators would be prepared to meet the miners in the region and to assist in giving all information. Many of the individual operators are not represented, and they were not consulted and were not compromised by the letter he had written.

Judge Gray suggested that they could be represented. At the meeting next Monday they would determine which of the companies could be taken up first, and the place of meeting could be determined by the location of the coal company taken up.

Mr. Baer made a point of saying that the case of each coal company would be dealt with separately. He would contend for the sliding scale in the regulation of wages.

"I shall urge the adoption of that profit sharing plan," he said, "which gave us peace formerly in our relation to our employees."

Mr. Thomas of the Hillside Iron and Coal and the Pennsylvania Coal company said he noticed that the word "arbitration" had been applied to the commission's work, while he wanted it considered as an investigation.

Judge Gray said the president's instruction settled that as an arbitration.

Mr. Thomas also urged that the conditions in each of the mining companies were different and could only be considered separately. He thought more progress could be made by a physical examination of the coal region. He thought that as many of the interests involved in the controversy were represented in New York some of the hearings should be held in that city.

The suggestion that both sides appoint experts to examine the books of the companies was made by Judge Gray, the chairman of the commission. He said it would be a good plan for the opposing interests in the case to agree that tabulated statements relative to existing rates of wages in different localities of the mining region be taken from the books of the operators by two expert accountants, one to be named by each party, such accountants to be employees of the commission. Mr. Baer, after expressing his disinclination to accept this suggestion, said that his company would submit their pay rolls under oath of their accountant. He said they now had seventy clerks who are working day and night in compiling data for the commission.

After considerable controversy between the members of the commission and the miners and mine representatives Judge Gray modified his suggestion, this time presenting it in the shape of a proposition that only one expert accountant be appointed, who should analyze the statement made by both sides to the controversy and verify the facts for the consideration of the commission. Mr. Baer promptly accepted this suggestion, and Mr. Mitchell followed suit after a brief explanation on his part. He said that the plan was not entirely in accord with the wishes of the miners, who are anxious to avoid all controversy as to the interpretation of figures. President Gray then announced that the commission for the present would proceed without appointing an expert, but that it would require that statements should be prepared, and then, he added, an accountant could be secured in case it was found his services were needed.

After consulting the members of the commission President Gray announced that it would begin its inspection next Thursday, commencing its work in District No. 1, in which the city of Scranton is located.

The public meeting of the commission then came to a close, and the commissioners retired for the purpose of private consultation. They first took up the question which had been raised by the proffer of a special train by Mr. Baer and unanimously decided not to accept the train. The exchange of views which followed brought out the fact that the commissioners expect personally to pay all of their expenses, accepting no favors and relying on the government to reimburse them if so disposed.

Official stenographers to report the proceedings of the commission and also to act as secretaries for members of the commission were appointed.

Few Mines Idle.

SCRANTON, Pa., Oct. 28.—Of the 108 collieries operated by the five big companies having headquarters here only thirteen are still idle. The Erie has thirty-three places working and one idle; Delaware and Hudson, twenty-five working and five idle; Delaware, Lackawanna and Western, nineteen working and three idle; Ontario and Western, eleven working and three idle; Temple, seven working and one idle. Even the Butler colliery of the Erie company, which was allowed to flood, is being worked in the levels not reached by the water. The individual operators are rapidly getting into line, and before many more days all of them except a very few will be in operation. About 80 per cent of the old employees of the collieries in the Lackawanna region are back at work. By Wednesday the companies expect to be getting out 70 per cent of their normal output.

Miners Must Get Out.

HAZLETON, Pa., Oct. 28.—Charles Halferty, president; James Gallagher, secretary; Paul Dunleavy, treasurer, and Henry Shovelin, a member of the relief committee of the Jeddo local union of the United Mine Workers, are among the eight employees occupying company houses of G. B. Markle & Co. at Japan, Oakdale and Foundryville who have been served with notices by the firm to vacate their premises within six days. Henry Colt, one of the remaining four, was until recently on the relief committee of the local. The three other men are foreigners. The company announces that these men will not be re-employed at any of its four collieries.

WOULD RUIN CUBA.

Palma Said to Have Returned Treaty, With Counter Proposition.

HAVANA, Oct. 28.—It has been learned from official sources that the proposed treaty between the United States and Cuba was returned to Washington by mail last Saturday.

With the treaty was sent a counter proposition from the government of Cuba to that of the United States, the nature of which is not known, but it is understood that President Palma in a letter sent with the treaty says that the acceptance of the propositions made by the United States would be ruinous to Cuba, as it would result in a large reduction of the customs revenue of the island.

At a meeting of the governmental secretaries the sum of $7,500 was appropriated to repair the Cabanas fortress and make it sanitary.

Died to Save Boys.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Oct. 28.—At the Acorn street crossing of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad in this city Walter H. Wilson lost his life while endeavoring to save three boys from death. These youngsters had ventured upon the track at the crossing, apparently intending to steal a ride upon an approaching freight train. Wilson, who was on the train, saw their great peril and swung himself off to save them. As he did so he struck a post, was hurled under the train and so injured that he died in the ambulance. The boys warned by Wilson were not hurt.

"Young Corbett" Too Much For Erne

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 28.—Young Erne of this city managed to stay six rounds with "Young Corbett," the featherweight champion, at the Washington Sporting club. During the six rounds Erne was down twenty-four times, but only one of these falls was the result of a fair knockdown blow. "Corbett" rushed the fighting from the start.

Sabbath Association Meets.

SARATOGA, N. Y., Oct. 28.—The New York State Sabbath association has begun its thirteenth anniversary here. The Rev. Dr. David G. Wylie of New York city delivered an address on "The Sabbath as Related to the Church and State."

Julia Marlowe Ill.

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—Julia Marlowe, the actress, is seriously ill at the Hotel Netherland, and her manager, Charles B. Dillingham, says she will not be able to play for two weeks at least.

GET DOWN TO FACTS.

Read What Plainfield Citizens Say.

Get down to the facts of the matter. Don't take a stranger's word. It is easier to prove the truthfulness of statements made by citizens of Plainfield than endorsement coming from some far away place. Read the following:

Mr. Jepp Zensen, of 728 West Front street, pattern maker by trade, says: "For a year I had a sort of grinding pain across my back at times extending up to my shoulders and there was a lameness over my kidneys and severe headaches. When I stooped I always felt dizzy and sometimes was fairly blinded. In the mornings I felt stiff and sore until I got some exercise. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised in my city paper and so highly recommended for kidney complaint that I went to L. W. Randolph's drug store and got a box. They did me a great deal of good. From my experience with Doan's Kidney Pills I cannot do otherwise than endorse them."

DIGG'S UPRIGHT FIRE EXTINGUISHER.

The Best on Earth! We Challenge the World!

The Extinguishers that turn up-side-down to discharge are good of their kind, but this is far better. Read the following reasons:

Points of superior merit of the Diggs-Upright over any other machine—

2—Can never be discharged by accident; absolutely under the control of the operator.

3—A 3-gallon machine of this type contains ONE QUART more of liquid than a reversible, because it does not require a handle underneath.

4—It does not need inspection and recharging as required for the reversible with its loose stopple.

5—The acid being released at the top of the tank, and the outlet being at the bottom, the mingling of the chemicals is so thorough before the acid reaches the outlet that it is completely neutralized, and no harm can be done to flesh or fabric. In the reversible type the acid is released within the two inches of the outlet.

6—Convenience is handling. The machine stands on its bottom, and all the operator has to do is to turn the screw in the cap, and the flow begins instantly.

7—The bottle is not broken, and no nuisance of broken glass.

WU TING FANG RECALLED.

Chinese Minister Ordered Home to Fill New Post.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—Wu Ting Fang, who has been the minister of the Chinese empire to the United States since May 1, 1897, has been recalled to China by an edict of the emperor cabled to Minister Wu by the Chinese foreign office. The edict is peremptory, Mr. Wu being directed to return to China at as early a date as possible, even the route by which he is to make his voyage from this country being indicated.

The edict informs Mr. Wu that he has been appointed minister of commerce in association with Chang Chi Tung.

WU TING FANG.

He takes the position just vacated by Sheng, whose father died recently. Under a peculiar provision of Chinese law when an officeholder loses by death his father or mother he vacates his office, and he is not eligible to hold office again for three years, although by custom the period of his official mourning is reduced to twenty-seven months. Mr. Wu said that he might be able to leave this country in about three weeks, but the precise date of his departure has not been determined.

Mr. Wu also received a cablegram announcing that he had been appointed one of the two members of a commission to negotiate commercial treaties with foreign powers. He will be at the head of this commission and will have associated with him Mr. Lu, who until about a year ago was the Chinese minister to Germany. As Mr. Wu has been ordered to proceed directly to Shanghai it is probable that the headquarters of the commission will be in that city.

Minister Wu expressed great regret at his sudden recall from this country, although he is not unappreciative of the honor done him by his government. In official and diplomatic circles the news of the early departure of Minister Wu was received with sincere regret. For years he has been one of the most popular members of the diplomatic corps.

Mr. Wu expects to leave the legation in charge of the first secretary, Mr. Shen Tung. No advices have been received as to the probable time of the arrival of the new minister.

Needs of Our Navy.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—Admiral O'Neil, chief of the naval bureau of ordnance, in his annual report, just made public, says that the ordnance bureau wants $13,182,806 next year, of which amount $10,000,000 is to be devoted to arms and armament for new ships. The gunshop at the Washington navy yard during the past year turned out 234 new guns, prepared sets of forgings for 146 more and has sixty-five in course of manufacture.

HAWAIIAN AFFAIRS.

Interesting Facts In Governor Dole's Annual Report.

ISLANDS' ASSESSMENT $110,388,578

Attendance at Schools Has Increased 72 Per Cent In Ten Years—Death Rate From Leprosy Has Greatly Declined.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—The affairs of Hawaii during the last fiscal year are reviewed in the annual report of Governor Dole of that territory, which has just been submitted to the interior department. The report shows that the total cash on hand in the territorial government on June 30, 1902, was $287,131. The total amount of property subject to ad valorem taxes according to assessment appraisements was $110,388,578. An income tax imposed by the legislature of 1901 realized $287,366 during the fiscal year.

The report submits the estimates for appropriations by congress for the next fiscal year, aggregating $1,106,000, of which $750,000 is for the construction of a breakwater at Hilo harbor, $250,000 for widening channel of Honolulu harbor and dredging channel entrance and harbor to a depth of thirty feet at low water, $22,000 for a postoffice and a custom house at Hilo and $78,000 for erection and maintenance of lighthouses.

The governor makes the following recommendations: That the federal government assume the management of all Hawaiian lighthouses, harbors and harbor improvements; the maintenance of a forester to establish a forestry system; that the payment of the full amount of the awards made by fire claims commission, aggregating $1,473,173, as indemnity for damages to property caused by the board of health in 1898 be assumed by the United States government or as an alternative that the customs receipts collected at Hawaiian ports be paid to the treasury of the territory; provision for a federal building at Honolulu; the receipt of Hawaiian silver coins in exchange for United States silver coins of like denominations, and authority for a limited immigration of Chinese laborers, subject to deportation at their own expense if they cease hiring out in agricultural work.

The number of pupils in all schools in Hawaii is now 17,518, an increase of 72 per cent over ten years ago. The death rate from leprosy has shown a marked decrease for the last decade, largely due to better sanitary conditions at the Molokai settlement. The number of patients there June 30 last was 915.

The shipments of merchandise, not including specie, for the past year are less in value than the previous fiscal year by $3,260,693. All of this except $86,885 is chargeable to the one item of sugar and is due solely to a decrease in the market value of that article and not to a diminished production. The sugar shipped the past year was 720,553,357 pounds, and increase of 29,674,123 pounds.

Bernhardt In Berlin.

BERLIN, Oct. 28.—Sarah Bernhardt for the first time since 1870 played in Germany last night. She appeared in "Fedora" at the Royal theater before an assemblage of members of the nobility and the first social personages of Berlin. Emperor William and the empress were not present, but they sent a huge wreath to the French actress. The actress was tumultuously applauded. At the end of each act she was recalled four or five times, and at the close of the performance, after her sixth recall and surrounded by a mass of flowers and wreaths, Mme. Bernhardt said, "If statesmen can forget, so can I."

Strike of Snappers Ended.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 28.—The strike of the snappers at the Arnold works of the American Window Glass company has been ended. The men had repudiated the wage settlement made by their organization and demanded an increase, which was refused. After an idleness of about a week the strikers returned to work at the rate of wages being paid in other factories. About a thousand men were out on strike.

Bandits Capture Russian Town.

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 28.—A dispatch received here from Kharbin, a new Russian town on the Manchurian railroad 615 miles from Port Arthur, says that the town of Bodune, Manchuria, has been captured by bandits and that Russian troops have been sent to its relief.

A Peculiar Accident.

BELLEFONTAINE, O., Oct. 28.—A peculiar fatality occurred at a ball game here. Thomas Walker was passing an open knife to a companion when a foul ball struck his hand and drove the blade into his side, severing an artery. Walker died almost instantly.

THE MEEKER ACT.

While the first trial of the Meeker election law a year ago seemed successful as far as Plainfield was concerned, there are signs which would lead one to believe that the consolidation of local and county elections is not going to work for the best interests of this community. While there have been local elections when comparatively little interest was taken, even the oldest inhabitant cannot recall a time when there were two tickets in the field and such an utter absence of interest as there seems to be this year.

The cause for all this is not hard to find. The importance of the Congressional and county fights has overshadowed the municipal election and forced it way in the background. This year it does not make any particular difference as the men nominated by the Republicans, now practically assured of election, are with few exceptions, the same who are filling the offices now. Another year might not see such a satisfactory lot of candidates selected and there would be a chance of placing in office those who would not be best fitted for the place and whose defeat would be brought about if the municipal election was not forgotten in the interest taken in the county and Congressional fight.

In Newark particularly has there started a vigorous campaign on the part of the newspapers against the Meeker election law. Their ground of opposition is the same as is taken here, the crowding out of local interests by the county fights. Partizan politics should play no part in municipal affairs. They should be decided on strictly local issues. Good, intelligent business men, whether Democrats or Republicans, can successfully govern a city and it should be the constant aim to keep men of that class in power. The fact that they are so generally interested in Plainfield's city government accounts in no little degree for the excellence of this city's condition today.

If this Meeker act is going to interfere with this state of affairs, then let the Legislature repeal the law without any delay.

An eye surgeon who had stood high among his fellows for twenty years at Louisville and Chicago began to advertise in the newspapers two years ago, relates the Philadelphia Record. Last year he spent $60,000 in newspaper advertising. The result is that he has an enormous practice. He is not less skillful than he was during the eighteen years when he did not advertise and was not frowned on by the profession.

Everywhere that Charles L. Moffett, the Democratic nominee for the Assembly in Union county, has gone, he has made an excellent impression and the movement in his favor and against Assemblyman W. F. Hall, of Cranford, is growing stronger every day. Mr. Moffett is a deservedly popular young man and there seems to be every indication that he will defeat Assemblyman Hall on Election Day.

Plainfield may well be thankful that the Jersey Central Railroad raised its tracks through this city years ago and that it is not compelled to pass through the experiences of several of the Jersey cities at present. It will be up to Rahway to raise the tracks before many years.

MUSICAL TREAT.

Oratorio of "Elijah" to be Rendered at Holy Cross Tonight.

Mendelssohn's famous oratorio of "Elijah" will be rendered this evening in the Church of the Holy Cross at 8 o'clock. The choirs of Holy Trinity church, of New York, and the Church of the Holy Cross, of North Plainfield, will be combined in rendering this oratorio. The following soloists, Mrs. E. M. Buckhout, soprano; F. H. Potter, tenor; Mrs. Katherine Hanford, contralto; Edwin H. Lockhart, basso; and William E. Maclymont, A. G. O. organist and director. A silver offering will be taken to defray the expenses of the concert.

The choir from New York will arrive here this afternoon at 4:40 in a special car and will return at 11:28.

DINNER TO PLAYERS.

Hope Y. M. A. Will Feast Members of Its Baseball Team.

Arrangements have been completed by Manager John H. Cose to give the dinner to the Hope baseball team Thursday evening. It will be served in W. W. Warnock's supper room and in addition to the players, officers of the Y. M. A. and prominent guests will be present. During an intermission the cup for the highest batting average won by James Montross, of the Hope team, will be formally presented by the donor, J. Hervey Doane.

Returned From Convention.

Mrs. T. H. Tomlinson and Mrs. Elizabeth Parse, of the local W. C. T. U., have returned from Portland, Me., where they attended the National convention of the Union. They went as delegates and arrangements will be made soon for the giving of reports throughout the county.

Two Big Men Coming.

Among the speakers at Thursday evening's mammoth Republican mass-meeting will be Senator John Kean and Congressman Charles N. Fowler, of Elizabeth. Former Mayor Alexander Gilbert will preside as chairman.

Hallowe'en Social.

The Christian Endeavor Society of the Seventh-Day Baptist church will hold a Hallowe'en social Thursday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Nathan E. Lewis.

WE don't believe in heralding ourselves with a brass band, but instead of that we have arranged a special feast of bargains for the coming fall and winter, of which you are all invited to partake, and we hope that through the many bargains that we will give out the fame of our goods will spread far and wide, as once the echo of the Liberty Bells did.
THINGS WE DO——AND THINGS WE DON'T DO
We don't indulge in any bogus advertising scheme; we do everything we claim to do. We don't sell an article worth a dollar for ten cents, but we do sell by nearly half lower than any other store in the city. Our store is overfilled with all the latest and the most nobby productions for the coming fall. If you are interested in anything in our line now is the time to purchase. You can make a dollar go as far with us as two elsewhere. Polite salesmen will be willing and anxious to show them to you.

DUNELLEN.

Something novel had been promised all the members who attended the meeting of Court Dunellen, I. O. F., last evening and the promise was carried. A larger number of members than usual was present and after the regular business, which was of no importance was concluded, a set of parlor quoits was brought out. The game immediately sprang into favor and during the evening some close matches were pitched and a number of unusually clever players came to the front. Before the meeting broke up it was decided to purchase a parlor bowling outfit. This will probably be secured bythe next meeting and will help spend a social time afterwards.

Fred Brown, of Somerville, who it will be remembered played guard on the local football team one season, is at present substitute end on the Princeton team. Brown received a good deal of his elementary training here and his success will be watched with interest.

A regular official meeting of the third quarterly conference will be held in the Methodist church, Saturday evening. The presiding elder of this district of this district will be present on that occasion.

There is some talk among the members of changing the night of meeting of the Literary Circle from Saturday to Tuesday. The step will be considered at the next meeting.

The interior of the Kratzel building, formerly occupied by Siriski's barber shop, has been papered and decorated and will shortly be reopened as a pool room.

The hard rain last evening made a regular river of Jefferson avenue and people wishing to take the Plainfield trolleys had trouble in getting across.

A number of music lovers from here will attend the rendering of the oratorio, "Elijah," in Holy Cross churcrh, Plainfield, this evening.

Some changes have recently been made in the time of the arrival of mails. The changes will be published at a later date.

The work on Chestnut street has been started and a portion of the street has been plowed up.

The Literary Circle will hold its meeting Saturday evening with Mrs. W. J. Hamilton.

Miss Ethel Jamison, of Raritan, is spending a few days with friends in town.

The Juniors will hold their regular weekly meeting this evening.

The banjo club met last evening for its regular weekly practice.

William Marsh, of Westfield, visited friends in town yesterday.

The cornet band will meet this evening for regular practice.

Edward Craig visited friends in Westfield on Sunday.

The public school will be closed on Election Day.

NEW MARKET.

An active canvass of Piscataway township is being made by the candidates for office of both parties and it is probable that the race will be a close one. The township will probably bring in a good majority for Dr. Whitford, its candidate for the Assembly.

Friendship Dancing Class will hold a dance this evening in Friendship Hall. This is the second of the series. The usual music will be on hand.

Regular services were held in the Seventh-Day Baptist church Saturday morning. Rev. L. E. Livermore preached to a large congregation.

Only one session was held in the public school today on account of the storm.

Stanley Day visited friends in Plainfield yesterday afternoon.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

The registry board is meeting in the Township rooms this afternoon and evening until 9 o'clock for the purpose of revising and correcting the registry list for the election Tuesday. If you are not registered this will be your last opportunity.

A carload of enthusiastic supporters of the Republican ticket journeyed to Westfield by special trolley last night and attended the Republican mass meeting at the clubhouse.

Fanwood Council, R. A., will hold its semi-monthly meeting in the Library rooms tonight. A full attendance is desired as business of importance will be transacted.

Rev. G. M. Shott, of the Baptist church, is attending the three days convention of the Baptist societies being held at the Parmly Baptist church, Jersey City.

Mr. and Mrs. David Clark, of Montclair, have been spending a few days with Mr. Clark's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Benj. Clark, of Prospect avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Grant, who have been visiting Mrs. Grant's parents, have returned to their home in Plainfield.

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Jimerson and children, of Westfield, have been visiting at the home of relatives in town.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

George Martin, a former Piscataway resident, but now residing in Brooklyn, is very ill with cancer.

Work on the new macadam road on Maple avenue is about completed.

Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Laing have returned from a visit in Brooklyn.

The work of renovating the Baptist parsonage began yesterday.

Mr. Voorhees, of Brooklyn, was in town yesterday.

NOT TO BLAME.

Horse Shied at Trolley Car and the Driver Was Released.

A dismissal of the complaint was the disposition made by City Judge Runyon in the city court, this morning, when Lynus Walpole, of Scotch Plains, was arraigned on a charge of reckless driving preferred by Frank Schott and Vincent Wisnewski. Witnesses testified that Walpole's horse jumped aside from a trolley car and the two complainants, who appeared to be engaged in conversation on the cross walk, were knocked down.

Wisnewski was unable to appear in court and Schott stated several of his ribs were broken. Schott was painfully bruised and, although able to be about, has difficulty in walking.

HOSPITAL AFFAIRS.

Contracts for Operating Department Building Were Not Awarded.

Owing to the very small attendance of members, little or no business was transacted at the regular meeting of the Board of Governors of Muhlenberg Hospital last evening. It was expected that the contracts would be signed so that work could commence on the operating department building which is given by J. Howard Wright, but this was not done. C. M. Meeker, contractor, was authorized to go ahead with the grading of the grounds about the new site. No other business of importance was considered.

—Assemblyman Wm. Newcorn is in Atlantic City today on business. This evening he will go to Rahway to attend a Republican mass meeting.

COLUMN FOR THE SHOPPERS

SOME OF ATTRACTIONS TO BE FOUND AT LOCAL STORES.

A Few Interesting Items Concerning Greater Plainfield's Merchants

If you would be satisfied with your clothing you want to select a suit from the large stock carried by M. Weinberger on West Front street. He has the latest styles in all the fashionable colors.

For this week Fred Endress intends making a sweeping reduction in all fish, oysters and clams in his seafood department. Prices will be lower than they ever have before but the quality will be the same.

One of the best hardware stores in the State is the one kept by the H. E. Gayle Hardware Company. They keep the best goods at the most reasonable prices. They invite you to inspect their stock of stoves.

As America stands at the head of all nations, just so does the Dorothy Dodd shoe take supremacy above all other makes of women's footwear. It is comfortable, shapely and lasting. M. C. VanArsdale is the only agent in this vicinity.

The weather is favorable for exterior or interior painting and there is no one who will give you a better job at a more reasonable price than Charles Conover & Company, of Elmwood place. Consult them before giving out your contract.

A first-class watch will save you lots of trouble and inconvenience. That is why J. Hervey Doane, of Park avenue, sells the best. This applies to other goods in silver and goldware sold by Mr. Doane. His repair department is one of the best.

"Leggett's Emulcent Cream and Witch Hazel." There is magic in the name and there is magic in its touch when applied to rough or chapped hands. For these annoying troubles it has no equal. Sold only at Hodge's pharmacy in the Y. M. C. A. building.

The New York Bargain Store has bought out the stock of overcoats, suits and men's furnishing goods of Frank Rodler, of Morristown, and these will be sold at less than manufacturer's prices. The goods are all of the finest grades and of the best workmanship.

A new consignment of dress goods have been received by I. H. Boehm, the dry goods dealer, which gives the patrons of this store an excellent chance to select goods of the prevailing styles. A specialty will be made this week of women's suits, skirts and separate waists.

PROHIBITION RALLY.

Will be Held in the Borough Thursday Evening—The Speaker.

A grand prohibition rally will be held at 38 Somerset street, Thursday evening, when Rev. James Parker, of Jersey City, will speak. The meeting will be opened at 8 o'clock. This evening there will be a big meeting and concert at Jacobs' Theatre, Elizabeth, when the Park Sisters will render cornet solos. Charles A. Crane and Joel G VanCise, the Prohibition nominee for Congress for the Fifth district, will be the speakers.

In Justice Mattison's Court.

At Justice W. E. Mattison's court, this morning, in the case of the First National Bank, plaintiff, and Charles Wickoff, defendant, judgment was rendered for $45.35 in favor of the plaintiff. The costs amounted to $5.42. F. J. Blatz was counsel for the plaintiff and A. C. F. Randolph represented the defendant.

The case of William L. Sharkey against George Conover on contract will come up before Justice A. E. Mattison at his court this afternoon at 2 o'clock.

To be Bridemaid.

Miss Charlotte F. Lowe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Lowe, of Park avenue, will be one of the bridemaids at the marriage, November 26, of Miss Margaret M. Robinson, daughter of Minot Robinson, of Park avenue, New York, to Francis Sherwood Male, of Mount Kisco, N. Y. The ceremony will be performed at 5 o'clock in All Souls church, Madison avenue and Sixty-sixth street, New York.

Cut by Bicycle Wheel.

William Hickey, twelve years old, of Spooner avenue, was treated at Muhlenberg Hospital, yesterday afternoon, for a deep gash in the leg just below the knee. It was caused by a ped of his wheel striking him as he suddenly jumped from it to the ground.

Valuable Dog.

Lewis L. DeCamp, of West Front street, is the proud possessor of a valuable imported English bird dog, the gift of a friend who is touring the British Isles. He has already refused an offer of $100 for the animal.

represent the people today? Are they the most upright men? Are they put there because of their great learning or because of their great ability? You will find that they are there because they have much money. Look at the State of Pennsylvania where the people have to be represented, or rather misrepresented, by a man who has been prosecuted on a charge of bank wrecking and who admitted his guilt but through the statute of limitations escaped punishment.

The speaker closed his address by advising his hearers to make sure the Democratic ticket is elected this fall. He closed by saying that a Congressman was not needed so much nowadays to make laws but to prevent some laws from being made and if such a man is elected then there will be a Legislature which will prevent the people from being robbed.

AUSTEN CHAMBERLAIN.

Son of British Colonial Secretary Who Has Been Appointed Postmaster General.

Austen Chamberlain recently succeeded Lord Londonderry and with his father, Joseph Chamberlain, the colonial secretary, now occupies a place in the British cabinet. He is a "chip of the old block" and a young man of great promise. He was educated at Rugby and Trinity college, Cambridge, and has already served as civil lord of the admiralty and as financial secretary to the treasury.

Mr. Chamberlain's appointment has some direct interest for the United States, for there has been a lot of complaint about the delay in getting American mails through to London from Queenstown, and it is expected that the new man will look into the trouble. Furthermore, the question of a parcels post with the United States is up for discussion, and Mr. Chamberlain is known to be deeply interested in that subject.

It speaks well for the younger Chamberlain that his father's bitterest enemies—he has a wonderful collection of enemies—have had little criticism to offer over the son's appointment to succeed the marquis of Londonderry. The rich and ornate marquis got the place because he had a political pull, was rather sore at the government, and had to be placated. Even the conservatives admit that he was about the most inefficient postmaster general St. Martin's-le-Grand had ever seen.

Young Chamberlain, on the contrary, is a quiet, level-headed business man, who can be depended upon to make the fusty permanent officials in the post office sit up. Their motto apparently is: "It must be done thus, for thus it always has been done."

Postmaster General Chamberlain, who will be 40 next year, is about the same age as his second stepmother—the third Mrs. Chamberlain—who was the daughter of Judge Endicott, of Massachusetts. He lives with his father and is unmarried. He is not at all a humptious young man, and is making his way largely on his own merits. He has a wonderful opportunity for cutting out a great future for himself by reforms in the post office.

JOKE WAS ON DOCTOR.

Asked a Question in School and Got an Answer He Neither Expected Nor Desired.

Dr. J. L. M. Curry, special ambassador to Spain, tells the following anecdote, says Harper's Magazine:

In the discharge of his duties in promoting the cause of education he has been frequently called upon to address the pupils of schools he has been visiting. On one occasion he was at a rural school, and the usual address was expected at the close of the exercises. The children went through a number of calisthenic exercises, which were, probably, somewhat elaborated in honor of the distinguished visitor, and then came the doctor's speech. Thinking that it was a favorable occasion to impress upon his youthful auditors the importance of drill and practice, the doctor, after expressing the pleasure that the exercises had given him, told the children that they had done far better than he could have done, and then asked:

"Can some one of you tell me why it is that I cannot do these calisthenic exercises as well as you have done them?"

After an instant's pause a small hand went up, and, on receiving an encouraging word from the doctor, a little boy stood up and said:

"'Cause you are old and stiff in the j'ints"—which was not exactly the answer either expected or desired.

PRAISES THE FILIPINOS.

Maj. Gardener Says Natives Have Been Abused and Some Day Will Surprise the World.

"I tried only to do my duty. I belong to the army and not to politics or to those seeking the notoriety that political speeches and intrigues bring. I made reference to the water cure, as I saw it had a bad effect upon the natives and I believed it should be stopped."

That was the statement of Maj. Cornelius Gardener, late military and civil governor of the province of Tayabas, island of Luzon, and who returned from the Philippines after three years' stay in the islands.

"In December I sent a confidential report to the secretary of war, or at least what I supposed was a confidential report," said Maj. Gardener, in speaking of the much mooted water cure administered to Filipinos by American soldiers.

MAJ. CORNELIUS GARDENER.
(Until Lately Governor of the Province of Tayabas, P. I.)

"As governor of Tayabas, I was asked to make a report on the conditions there. Unfortunately my report, or a part of it, crept into the newspapers and into politics—there was a leak somewhere. In that report I criticised the manner in which some things were being done by certain individual officers, whose acts I believed contrary to what the government desired should be the means employed to bring peace and harmony among the natives.

"The Filipinos are hungry for education. They have been lied about, and misrepresented, and misjudged, but the fact remains they desire our education and our civilization. Why, I have here with me a young Filipino, Emila De Gala, whom I am sending to the University of Michigan, where he will enter the medical department after taking a preparatory course. He is not the first that has gone to that institution from the province of which I was governor.

"There are a dozen towns in Tayabas province that are making up subscriptions to keep as many young Filipinos in American institutions of learning as they can possibly afford.

"That water cure business? Well, the fact is, I made the reference to the water cure practice among soldiers and sanctioned by some officers because I saw it made a bad impression upon the Filipinos. They were and are a much-abused people. I became as intimate with them as any officer, and I tried to do my duty as an officer and a man.

"I belong to the army, and the army has done glorious work out there. The war is now over, and I think we can afford to be generous as well as just with the Filipinos. Give them an equal chance at education as in civilization and they will surprise you."

LADY EDITH VILLIERS.

Charming Young British Aristocrat Whose Hand Is Sought by W. W. Astor's Son.

Lady Edith Villiers, for whose hand in marriage young Waldorf Astor has just proposed, is the daughter of the earl of Clarendon, and is one of the most popular young women in British society. Her father, Edward Hyde Villiers, earl of Clarendon, is the fifth of his title, so that it would appear that William Waldorf Astor's son aims at a high social mark. Lady Edith's mother is the daughter of the third earl of Northampton. The young woman secured for the recent coronation a magnificent diamond tiara, said to have been once the property of Empress Josephine of France, and is said to have collected other rare gems, which she wore on that occasion.

Kodol Dyspepsia Cure
Digests what you eat.

Many persons suffer frightfully from indigestion, and are in torture when they eat anything; the heart palpitates and they can't sleep. They try pepsin, soda tablets and almost everything else, and half-starve themselves, and still get no better. Isn't there anything to help them?

Many doctors know their patients suffer this way and don't know what to do. But here is how some doctors secure the gratitude of their patients:

"I suffered terribly from indigestion for fifteen years till my family doctor recommended KODOL DYSPEPSIA CURE. The first dose relieved me, and I continued its use till now I am sound and well."—John H. Ellenberger, Helixville, Pa.

It can't help but do you good

"My family physician recommended me to use KODOL DYSPEPSIA CURE for chronic indigestion that had tortured me for years. Formerly I couldn't eat anything or drink even a glass of water without distress. Now I can eat and drink whatever I want."—Mrs. R. F. Buffington, Xenia, Ill.

SHORT SKIRT COSTUMES.

They Are Made of Hairy Goods In All Shades.

The new short skirt costumes are very popular for street wear. They are made much longer than formerly. The skirts barely escape the ground, and the jackets are made in a variety of pretty ways. Chief among these is the norfolk jacket with its three plaits modified into a pouched effect in front.

The majority of these walking costumes are made of zibeline and all the fancy hairy goods. Gray, ranging from the pale shade to gun metal, is the favorite color.

Very smart little suits are also made of rough blue goods, the jackets box shaped and the skirts with a stitched front gore, sometimes ornamented with bone buttons to match those on the jacket.

The skirts of these suits are almost invariably lined with silk to match and the jackets with white or pale gray satin.

The empire negligee shown in the cut is of pale blue cashmere, with the bolero of Irish lace.

FOR DRESSY WEAR.

The New Furs, Velvets and Crepe de Chines.

The new furs are very much altered in shape and have more the style of a flat stole, while the fluffier types of fur are arranged more like a cape ruffle. The flat stoles are rounded up and caught together with a handsome clasp. These are very new and effective and have a dainty appearance when finished by a hemmed tie of spotted net or a strip of chiffon or tulle.

Brown velvet is very fashionable just now. A smart costume recently seen of this had the skirt very simply trimmed with tabs of brown velvet arranged in groups and a medallion of string colored lace in diamond shapes, through which the tabs were passed. The deep collar and the sleeves also showed this trimming of velvet and lace, and the hat was of the flat, projecting fashion trimmed with chic bows of deep red velvet and drooping clusters of red and black cherries.

The elaborate gown in the cut is made of gun metal crepe de chine. The waist has a full bolero, fastening by a single strap over a blouse of pink chiffon. The undersleeves are also of the chiffon, which, by the way, is run through with tiny butter colored insertion. The skirt is shirred around the hips and has three ruffles around the bottom.

The hat is of pink chiffon and roses.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

COPYRIGHT 1896 BY A. N. KELLOGG NEWSPAPER CO.

"I had a letter from him only a few days ago. He had invited Count Bantinni, an Italian nobleman, my aunt and myself to use his box at the Horse Show last night, and had taken the tickets away by mistake. Oh! I am sure he is all right, although his leaving was quite unexpected. I feel confident he will explain everything when he returns."

"Are you quite sure that letter was from him?" was the next question of the detective.

The young lady started and stared at Hendricks as if debating whether he could be in his right mind.

"I have never dreamt of its not being from him," she said, firmly. "I am sure I've no reason at all for doubting it."

Mrs. Winfret leaned forward, her angular form stiffening as if under some petrifying process due to the action of a startled state of mind.

"I am not sure of it, now I come to think over the matter," she remarked, giving each word a separate and distinct drop. "You remember, Dorothy, you said you could not forgive him for dictating the letter to a typewriter and not even signing it."

The young lady flushed at the personality, but she finally admitted that she had not exactly appreciated the manner in which the letter had been written, while she still held firm to the belief that it was genuine.

"Nothing could be easier than to forge a typewritten communication," suggested Hendricks, paving his way to more startling disclosures. "Have you the letter?"

"It is upstairs," said Dorothy, her tone betraying growing perturbation, despite her effort at calmness. "Come with me, aunt; we will return in a moment."

When they had quitted the drawing-room, Hendricks resumed his seat, and looked steadily at the doctor.

"I think I'll let it out," he said. "She can bear it. A blind man can see she isn't in love with the murdered man. It is the other patch in the red crazy-quilt that will turn her cheeks white and darken those great eyes."

"Oh, you refer to Gielow!" cried the doctor.

Hendricks shrugged his shoulders.

"It will doubtless strike her, as it will the police, in fact, as it will the public at large—that he is the one man in existence who would be likely to want Caruthers to send in his checks, as it were, especially as they had a row just prior to the committal of the deed."

"It certainly does look shaky for Gielow," admitted Lampkin.

"My one hope," said Hendricks, "is that Gielow does not needle-point his finger-nails. Few artists have time for such feminine rubbish."

"But Gielow is not a regular Bohemian," rejoined Lampkin. "He is most particular about his dress and is thoroughly conventional — a strict church-man and that sort of thing. His studio is said to be a marvelously attractive place where, during the season, he holds afternoon teas and musicales. It wouldn't surprise me a bit to hear that he manicured his nails."

The door opened just then and the heiress entered, followed by her aunt. Miss Huntington opened the letter and handed it to the detective. Even at a distance of several feet, and in the dim sensuous glow made by the light striking through the ruby-colored globes, the doctor saw Hendricks' eyes flash as they fixed themselves on the sheet of paper, and noted the eager flush of his face which betokened a discovered clew. The letter ran as follows:

"My Dear Miss Huntington: How can I ever hope to get your forgiveness for running away from New York so suddenly without acquainting you with my plans? However, this will reach you in time to inclose the tickets for the Horse Show. I am sure Count Bantinni will see to your pleasure and comfort. I am here since three days, and have every day—nay, every hour—been occupied with pressing business. Hoping soon to see you again and tendering my best regards to Mrs. Winfret, believe me, Yours sincerely,

"WELDON CARUTHERS."

Silence filled the room as Hendricks read and reread the letter, his eyes dwelling on the lower part of the page. Lampkin thought, with eager fixity.

"Does Mr. Caruthers speak French fluently?" was the first question he directed to Miss Huntington.

"He does not speak it at all," replied that young lady.

"Or German?"

"That language neither."

"Has he a command of any other tongue except English?"

"No, I am positive that he has not," answered Miss Huntington, authoritatively.

"Then he did not write this," said Hendricks, in a certain tone of satisfaction peculiar to a man who has found himself correct in a conclusion derived from slight evidence.

"Surely you must be mistaken," began the young lady, but the detective leaned forward, pointing to a line on the paper.

"The person who wrote or dictated this communication is accustomed to speaking foreign languages. The letter, as a whole, is correct English, but at one point the writer made a slip. See, he says: 'I am here since three days.' Now that is one of the idioms which are discarded last by foreigners in their efforts to acquire our language. You know we say: 'I have been here,' etc."

"You certainly are most observant," granted Miss Huntington, with an incredulous smile, "but I happen to know that Mr. Caruthers often dictated his correspondence to stenographers at hotels during his travels, and on this occasion he may have employed a typewriter whose one weak point may be the very idiom you mention."

"THE PERSON WHO WROTE THIS IS ACCUSTOMED TO SPEAK THE FOREIGN LANGUAGES."

"I thought of that before I spoke," said the detective. "But typewriters in this country usually are English-speaking men and women. Moreover, I see by the inequality of the strokes that this was done by a hand new at the business."

Miss Huntington's face fell, and then a nervous, worried expression came into it.

"Tell me frankly," she said, "what all this is about."

Hendricks drew himself up.

"I wonder," he said, "if you would object to speaking to my friend and myself alone. It is a little matter that perhaps Mrs. Winfret may not be exactly interested in."

The heiress threw a perplexed glance at Mrs. Winfret, and for a moment seemed not to be able to formulate a reply. Her aunt's intuition, however, had been sharpened by the nervous strain upon her.

"Something has gone wrong with Mr. Caruthers," she burst forth. "You think I am too excitable to hear it, but I am not. What has happened?"

"You may speak before her," said Miss Huntington, slowly paling. "In great trials she is as strong as the strongest."

"We have vital reasons for believing Mr. Caruthers has been foully dealt with," said Hendricks. He studied their set faces for an instant and then concluded: "The truth is, he was murdered in his apartments on the night he was said to have left."

"Oh!" simultaneously burst from both ladies, and then dead silence filled the room. There was no sound without except the dull rumble of a passing stage.

"Murdered?" came from the lips of the young lady.

Hendricks nodded.

"But I think we had better not go into the details to-night. The papers will be full of it in the morning."

"But you must—you must have come to me for a purpose," said Miss Huntington, helplessly.

"It was because, if you will pardon the allusion, I seem to see the shadow of a motive for the murder in the fact that your uncle had stipulated in his will that your inheritance from him depended on—"

"My marriage to Mr. Caruthers," interrupted the girl. "Yes, that is true."

"Also," added the detective, "your acquiring the fortune without marrying him was not possible except in the case of his death."

"Ah, I see what you mean!" exclaimed Miss Huntington.

"I have no one in view," quickly resumed Hendricks; "but you must know that such a vast fortune, and the hope of winning your hand with it, would be a great temptation to many. You must have several suitors, and it was with the hope that you might confer with me about them that I sought you so quickly. Little suggestions from the fountain head, so to speak, often save me much futile research."

The heiress leaned back in her chair, white and faint. The delicate, tapering hand she placed on her brow shook as if with palsy.

"Oh, aunt!" she ejaculated, and then she tightly pressed her lips together and remained mute.

"You should not think of those you really care for," said Hendricks, more sympathetically than Lampkin had imagined possible to his weather-beaten nature. "There must be many—very many who have hoped to gain your regard."

The suggestion evoked no response from Miss Huntington. Her features seemed under the control of but one dominant idea, and that idea, whatever it was, deprived of her normal action.

"There can be no harm in telling all we know," broke in Mrs. Winfret, who acquired considerable calmness in feeling that she might be of service. "You know, Dorothy, there have been so very many."

Do You Wish To Borrow Money?

In order to accommodate all classes of borrowers (those who cannot borrow at a bank, as well as those who can), the Mutual Loan and Investment Company, of 118 Market street, Newark, N. J., has a department for handling quickly and confidentially loans ranging from $10 to $300 on furniture, pianos, storage receipts, etc.

The security is not removed from your possession or in any way disturbed. The honest, careful and conservative borrower will try and decide two points before borrowing. First, where he can get the best terms. Second, where he can get fair and square treatment.

This company is in a position to give you by far the most satisfactory terms ever offered by any concern or individual negotiating this class of loans.

With this company you are assured of getting the lowest rates, easiest payments and longest time for repayment. The whole transaction from the time the application is made until loan is paid is entirely confidential. We give you another advantage in case you take the loan out for six months or a year, and wish to settle the same before the time expires: we charge you only for the time you have had the money. We also take up loans from other companies and advance more money.

Kindly call and let us explain our simple and up-to-date methods If not entirely convenient for you to call, please write and our representative will call and give you any desired information. Remember it costs nothing to make application. Loans promptly made in Elizabeth, Plainfield, Westfield, Roselle, Rahway, Perth Amboy and all suburban towns.

THE "FOUR HUNDRED."

Kentucky Editor Says the Smart Set's Distinguishing Trait Is Its Moral Abandon.

Henry Watterson in the Louisville Courier-Journal makes a scorching attack on the New York "400," referring to them again as a flock of unclean birds. The editorial occupies two columns of space, and says in part:

"The term 'smart set' was adopted by society to save itself from a more odious description. The distinguishing trait of the 'smart set' is its moral abandon. It makes a business of defying and overleaping conventional restraints upon its pleasures and amusements. It sets itself above the law, both human and divine.

"Its women are equally depraved with its men. They know all the dirt the men know. They talk freely with the men of things forbidden the decent and virtuous. They read the worst French fiction. They see the worst French plays.

HON. HENRY WATTERSON.
(Kentucky Editor Who Is Down on Top-Crust Society.)

"The women of this smart set no longer pretend to recognize virtue, even as a female accompaniment. Innocence is a badge of delinquency, a sign of the crude and raw, a deformity which, if tolerated at all, must carry some promise of amendment, for among these titled cyprians the one thing needful is to know it all.

"In London and in Paris and at Monte Carlo in the winter and at Trouville and Aix in the summer they make life one unending debauch; their only literary provender, when they read at all, the creeds of D'Annunzio and Bourget; their Mecca, the roulette table and the race course; their heaven, the modern yacht, with its luxuries and isolation. The ocean tells no tales, and as the smart set knows no law, in extremis it can go to sea.

"The 400 are rotten, through and through. They have not one redeeming feature. All their ends are achieved by money and largely by the unholy use of money. If one of them proposes to go into jingo politics he expects to buy his way, and the rogues who have seats in congress or foreign appointments to sell see that he pays the price. If one of them wants to marry a lord she expects to buy him, and the titled rascals who wish to recoup their broken fortunes see that she pays the price.

"Must these unclean birds of gaudy and therefore conspicuous plumage fly from gilded boughs to boughs, fouling the very air as they twitter their affectations of moral supremacy, and no one to shy a brick at them and say 'Seat, you devils?'"

SNAKES PLAYED TUNES.

Old Colorado Plainsman Heard a Reptile Family Rattle Off Popular Airs.

"Yes, sir," said the old plainsman, as he stood before a den of rattlers at the Lincoln park zoo, to a Chicago Inter Ocean reporter, "I don't allow there's a more interestin' rep-tile a-goin' than this here same breed. There is those as places the intellect of the rattlesnake on a low order an' I don't know as they have as good a workin' brain as a Gila monster or a tarantular, but I do know this: Their appreciation of the art of music is profound an' stirrin'.

A SIGHT NEVER TO FORGET.

They takes to it like one of these here Wagner fellows does to a Theodore Thomas concert. An' they're smart to learn, lemme tell you!

"Up in Routt county, Colorado, where I come from, there is most rattlesnakes and sagebrush an' a few people huntin'. I remember a party of hunters passin' that-a-way last fall. In the evenin's they set about the camp singin' an' there was some mandolins along. Three or four times the party was scairt out by snakes that crept into camp to hear the music, though they should a-known better'n to be, for there's no harm in a rattler when there's music goin'.

"But that ain't the curious part of the tale which I'm unfoldin'. I was along that place some time after the campers broke up and was attracted by a low musical sound from behind the bowlder. Knowin' somethin' of tunes, I was s'prised to catch the chorus of one of the coon songs that had been popular with the campers. It was the one they sing down to the Chicago opera house, 'Ain't that a Shame?' Ponderin' over it, I crept up on top of the bowlder an' looked over at some flat rocks on the other side. It was a sight never to fergit. A chorus of ten rattlers had their tails in the air on' was poundin' out the song for all they was worth! I lay there fascinated, and, by ginger, before they got through they done 'The Holy City' an' 'Go Way Back and Sit Down' as well's I ever heard 'em done. Kill 'em? 'Twould been a crime to break up a musical family like that."

DOPED BY CIGARETTE.

Victim of Cunning Thief Is Rendered Unconscious and Robbed of a Large Sum.

While on his way to the Imperial bank in Warsaw recently Constantine Kaidax, a young Pole, was accosted by an elegantly-dressed man who politely asked him the way to the bank.

"I am going there now," replied Constantine, "and we may as well walk together." He had with him a roll of rubles worth about $12,000 which he was intending to deposit.

THE DRUGGIST EXPLAINED.

The stranger thanked him and offered him a cigarette, which he took, and began to smoke. A few minutes later he became very sick and fainted in his companion's arms. When he recovered consciousness he found himself in a drug store and soon saw that his elegantly-dressed companion and his roll of rubles had disappeared. While he was wondering what had become of them the druggist told him that he had certainly been robbed.

"Your companion vanished as soon as he brought you in here," he said, "and, of course, he took the money with him. I suspected nothing at the time, but I soon noticed a peculiar odor from the half-burned cigarette which you held between your fingers, and when I examined it I saw plainly enough that you had been drugged."

AMONG THE STEPPERS.

The fall race meet at the Fair Acres Driving Club, Westfield, will be held Saturday, November 1. Entries closed Saturday. The programme will include three races: Class 2:20, trot or pace, for a purse of $200; class 2:30, trot, for a purse of $200; class, free for all, for a purse of $250. These races will be best three in five, with four divisions of money, 50, 25, 15 and 10 per cent. of purse.

Among the horses entered in the matinee races at Woodbridge Saturday were a number of Plainfield horses who took two first places and two seconds. Fast time was not made on account of a heavy track. Edward Campbell's Merritt Wilkes took the first place winning two out of three heats in 2:30 and 2:31½, Aloysia, owned by Mayor N. B. Smalley, took the second place, in the 2:35 class. In the 2:35 class Osborne's Fairmount Maid finished second. One of the Woodbridge horses got first place in the 2:34 race. One of the best races of the day was that of David Smalley's Ned Davis in the 2:35 class. The other horses led the race until the last half mile post and then the driver loosened up on the horse which took the outside and easily finished first in 2:35½ in the first heat. In the second the finish was made in 2:37.

ON THE GRIDIRON.

The Netherwood F. C. will line up against the Somerset A. C. Saturday. The line up for N. F. C.: Stewart, re; Cashin, lf; Decorsey, rf; Duglace, lt; Johnson, lg; Coller, rg; Coffee, c; Bartlau, lb; Marsh, rhb; Hunt, lhb; Staats, fb.

The Alis A. A. will play the Cranford football team on Hope Common Saturday afternoon. The Cranford team is considered a very strong team this year and this will be the first time that the Plainfielders have played the Cranford boys in over four years. Manager Chandor announces that today and Friday have been set aside as practice days this week.

GOLF.

F. O. Reinhart, of Belvidere avenue, has been chosen as a member of the Metropolitan golf team which will play the Philadelphia team this week. Mrs. N. P. A PROMINENT WOMAN.

Mrs. A. C. Baldwin, Well-Known in Local Women's Club Circles, Passed Away This Morning.

Mrs. A. C. Baldwin, of Park avenue, passed peacefully away at an early hour, this morning, after a protracted illness.

Mrs. Baldwin was born at Madison, Wis., and was the daughter of Rev. Hugh B. Gardiner. She obtained her education at Ingham University and afterward lived in Brooklyn, N. Y., where she succeeded her father as principal of Gardiner's Institute, which was a successful private school for about nine years, when she married and removed to this city.

She was a member of the Crescent Avenue church and a zealous worker in the McAll Auxiliary and other religious societies. She was also one of the charter members of the Monday Afternoon Club and was prominent in local social circles. Her loss will be keenly felt by her many friends and associates.

Mrs. Baldwin is survived by one son, Hugh Baldwin and two sisters, Mrs. Atwater Trowbridge, of New York, and Miss Harriet Cornelia Gardiner, of this city. The funeral service will be held from her late residence, Friday afternoon at 2:30. The interment will be private.

FAIR ENDS TONIGHT.

Report of Another Assistant at St. Mary's Church is Not Confirmed by Father Egan.

The fair, which has been going on during the past week in Stafford Hall, will come to a close this evening when Rev. Father Morris, who was formerly rector of St. Mary's church, will be present. It is probable that many members of that church will embrace the opportunity to again meet Frther Morris.

On Friday night Rev. Father Egan will conduct a meeting of all the Italians of this city in Stafford Hall. He is very anxious to have a large attendance at this time. The address will be in Italian.

It was reported this morning that another assistant was to be sent to St Mary's church but Father Egan when asked about it over the telephone said that he had not heard of another assistant being appointed although it may be possible.

Candidates for Manager.

Principal Travell, of the City High School, announced this morning the following as nominees for business manager of the school paper: Ralph S. Lane, Allen E. Moore, Francis K. Anderson and George L. Babcock. A business manager will be balloted for from among this list of nominees Friday.

Captain Browning is Out.

The resignation of W. Kempton Browning, as captain of Company K, was accepted Saturday by the staff officers of the Second Regiment. First Lieutenant John M. Lewis is now in command of the company.

READY MARKET FOR COAL

RUSH YESTERDAY TO SHARE ORGANIZED AID ASSOCIATION'S STOCK.

There Were 120 Orders Aggregating Six Tons Received—Only Twenty Tons in All.

Corroboration of the Organized Aid Association's theory that an opportunity to obtain cheap coal would be taken advantage of by the city's poor was evident at the Madison avenue yard of the Consumers Coal Company, yesterday. From 10 to 3, the hours allotted for the transaction of the association's business, 120 orders for small amounts of coal were received. Each one was accompanied by the cash, conclusively showing that the persons desiring fuel were willing to pay a fair price. The orders aggregated six tons and it is thought nearly as much more will be asked for today.

The car of coal, which the Organized Aid Association procured, is but a small one, twenty tons being its amount. Tomorrow will be the last day to place orders for amounts up to 100 pounds and a continuance of yesterday's demand will soon exhaust the supply. The entire car would undoubtedly have been sold the first day for the fact that Sunday's cold snap had left during the night.

In some cases, application was made by those whose circumstances seemed to indicate that they did not belong to the class that the Organized Aid Association had in mind in arranging the supply. Attention is therefore again called to the fact that the supply is as yet limited and that those who have wood or have means to buy coal at the market rate are requested not to apply for the coal of the association, as by so doing, they may prevent supplying those whose resources are such that they cannot obtain coal elsewhere. At the same time, it ought to be said that there is no "charity" in the ordinary sense about the matter and therefore there is no reason why the small wage-earner should have any hesitancy in applying for it.

While the coal for the Organized Aid Association was standing on the freight track before delivery, several tons were stolen during the night. Since it came into the hands of the association it is under police protection night and day.

TRAMP BEHEADED.

Unknown Man Killed by Lehigh Valley at Cranford Yesterday.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Cranford, Oct. 28 — An unknown man, presumably a tramp, was instantly killed and beheaded on the tracks of the Lehigh Valley road at Aldene, yesterday morning. He was walking on the bridge which spans the New Jersey Central tracks and the force of the impact hurled the headless body down the embankment and on to the tracks of the Elizabeth, Plainfield and Central Jersey Railway on South avenue. Detectives are making an effort to learn the man's identity.

THEATRICAL.

This week's bill at the Central Theatre is conceded by everyone to be the best Manager Schorb has yet put on. It includes the Mannings, comedy musical artists, Dracula, contortionist and known as "the human bow-knot," The Moores, an unrivalled sketch team in Irish and German specialties, Otilia, ballad singer and many others. These artists will be succeeded by others, Thursday evening, when Company No. 2 makes its first appearance.

Preacher for November.

Commencing Sunday and continuing throughout the month of November, the pulpit of the Crescent Avenue church will be occupied by Prof. Thomas C. Hall, of Union Theological Seminary.

Auto Sprained His Arm.

While operating his automobile, yesterday, N. P. Rogers, Jr., of East Front street, severely sprained the ligaments of his left arm, thereby obliging him to carry the arm in a sling for awhile.

THE DEMOCRATS ARE HOPEFUL

Chairman William B. Gourley Says Year is Propitious for a Democratic Success.

ALL APPEAR HOPEFUL

Democrats Believe They Can Elect Five Congressmen—Flanagan Included in That Number—Hopeful Attitude of Visitors at the State Headquarters.

William B. Gourley, chairman of the Democratic State Committee, has announced at the party headquarters in the Hotel Washington, Jersey City, that, while there will probably be no more meetings of the State Committee during the present campaign, there will be no lack of organized effort to produce results at the November election that will be to the liking of the Democrats of New Jersey.

"This campaign being principally on Congressional nominees, is really a national fight," said Mr. Gourley to a reporter. "It is too early to discuss in detail with any degree of certainty the chances of Democratic success in the Congressional fights. Probably some time the last of the week I will be in a position to speak more definitely than I feel justified in doing today. I am not making predictions, but am free to say that from the reports I have received from the members of the State Committee there is a more hopeful feeling prevalent over the entire State than Democrats have experienced in some years. The sentiment of the party leaders in all parts of the State, gained from contact with the people, is that this year is propitious for Democratic success.

"As I said, the campaign will be conducted on national issues, because of the paramount importance of the Congressional election, but there will be active and vigorous efforts made in the several counties in which State Senators are to be elected. We will try our best to make substantial gains in both houses of the next Legislature, and we feel encouraged to believe we will be fairly successful."

Mr. Gourley's hopeful attitude has been reflected among the visitors at the State headquarters. The Congressional situation was viewed with confident optimism and the chances of electing Democratic Representatives from both Hudson districts and in the Third, Fourth and Fifth districts were held to be good. The Democrats also look for results in the First district, and in the Sixth, where William Hughes is making an active campaign against Colonel William Barbour.

State Committeeman Hurley, of Mercer, has assured the party powers that in the Fourth district, Colonel Lewis Perrine has victory already practically won, while the reports from Union, Morris and Warren counties have encouraged hope that Congressman Fowler will be forced into retirement by Congressman DeWitt Clinton Flanagan. In the Third district the confidence is also strong that Jacob A. Geissenheimer will turn the tables on Congressman Benjamin F. Howell.

Senators are to be elected in Camden, Essex, Gloucester, Monmouth, Salem, Somerset, Union and Warren. Of these eight, the Democratic leaders concede only Camden and Essex to the Republicans. They claim that all the other counties form good fighting ground.

If the Democratic calculations bear full fruit, the State Senate next year will consist of thirteen Republicans and eight Democrats, a fair nucleus upon which to base a probable fight for a United States Senatorship in 1905.

Government May Act.

There is some talk that the postal authorities may take some action regarding the obstructions in front of the local postoffice in the Babcock building. It is claimed that the contractors have no right to make an obstruction in front of a Government office, and that where such a thing is maintained damages can be secured.

Democratic Smoker.

A big Democratic smoker will be held in the North Plainfield headquarters, Spencer's Hall, Saturday evening. Arrangements are being made for an elaborate programme and the affair promises to be an enjoyable one.

ONE DAY OF CAMP LIFE

NOVEL ENTERTAINMENT BY THE CITY HIGH SCHOOL CADETS.

Will Give Some Thrilling Drills and End Up With a Night Attack.

Rapid progress is being made in the preparation for the miliary entertainment to be given in Franklin Hall, Monday evening, November 3, by the members of the City High School battalion. Tickets for the affair have been placed on sale and may be had from any of the members of the battalion.

The High School boys will strive to represent a typical day in camp and will give several army drills. A squad under Captain R. S. Lane will go through a litter drill with stretcher and will demonstrate methods of bandaging and carrying wounded. First Sergeant J. L. Tweedy will have charge of the fatigue detail, the "white wings" of the camp.

A squad under Captain F. T. Van Auken will demonstrate the wall-scaling drill now in use in the regular army. A division of men under Lieutenant M. T. Moynihan will give the Butts manual drill of the army which will show how the athletic side of the American soldier's training is looked after by the Government. Captain A. E. Moore with a squad will give the bayonet manual showing how the bayonet formerly was used in the army in personal combats.

Aside from these drills, the bugle calls of the average day in camp will be given in their proper place by Buglers Thompson and Briggs and there will be speeches by veterans of the Civil and Spanish War. Finally a night attack will be made on "Camp Murphey" and the boys will turn out to repel the enemy. The affair will terminate in an informal dance.

SAVED THE HORSE.

Equine Forced Into Stream by a Heavy Load and Nearly Drowned in Green Brook.

A vender's horse had a very narrow escape from drowning in Green brook near Elm place, yesterday morning at 10 o'clock. Had it not been for Roundsman Mattox and two well known young men the horse would have met its death in the swollen stream.

These two young men were passing across the bridge at the time and succeeded in holding the animal's head above the water until assistance arrived.

The horse had strayed down the embankment and was unable to check its speed owing to the heavy load of vegeables in the wagon behind it. The harness had to be cut from the horse before it could be liberated.

STRANGE RELICS.

Two Mastodon Teeth Sent From the Klondyke.

Reminders of prehistoric times and of the mammoth fauna, which are now extinct, have come to Victor Jacobson, of LaGrande avenue, in the shape of two mastodon teeth. The two immense molars were dug up by his brother, John Jacobson, near Dawson City, Alaska, where he has been gold hunting for the past six years. They are excellent specimens and weigh nearly five pounds each. The largest is nearly a foot in length.

Odd Ladies' Social.

A pleasant social was given Monday evening under the auspices of Mizpah Lodge, No. 1, U. O. I. O. L., in the rooms in West Second street. During the evening an informal programme of music and recitations was rendered, at the close of which refreshments were served. The committee in charge consisted of Mrs. Andrew Cox, Mrs. Gibbons, Mrs. Joseph Randolph, Mrs. Margaret Sweeney and Mrs. George Myers.

Native of Plainfield.

Charles Thompson, of Elizabeth, who appeared at the entertainment given by Plainfield Council, No. 711, Royal Arcanum, Monday evening, was born in Plainfield and attended the High School. Several members present at the entertainment were school boys with Mr. Thompson and all were pleased to renew their acquaintance.

Marriage of Plainfielder.

Mrs. William H. Moore, of 500 East Second street, has issued invitations to the marriage of her daughter, Mabel Augusta, to Charles C. Geer, of New Brunswick. The affair will be celebrated Wednesday afternoon, November 12, at 5 o'clock at the home of the bride's mother.

Council Meeting.

The regular November meeting of the Common Council will be held Monday evening of next week.

GRAND RENDITION OF THE ORATORIO "ELIJAH"

Given by Combined Choirs of Holy Cross, Plainfield, and Holy Trinity, New York.

LARGE AUDIENCE THERE

WAS GIVEN LAST EVENING AT CHURCH OF THE HOLY CROSS.

Under the Direction of Organist Wm. E. MacClymont—Those Who Sung the Solo Parts—Work by Chorus Was Well Done.

Mendelssohn's oratorio of "Elijah," with its wealth of solos and choruses, was produced in Holy Cross church, last evening, by two choirs under the direction of William E. MacClymont. Holy Cross' body of singers was augmented by the choir of Holy Trinity church, of New York, whose soloists, have a national reputation. An audience which packed the edifice to the doors heard the rendition and marvelled at the thoroughness which characterized every part.

The solo parts were taken by Mrs. E. W. Buckhout, soprano; Mrs. Katherine Hanford, contralto; F. H. Potter, tenor, and Edwin H. Lockhart, basso. It devolved upon them to make the production a noteworthy event and each proved adapted to the numbers assigned. Their work as well as that of the chorus was faultless and the result was a musical treat such as is seldom heard. Every singer seemed to respond feelingly to Conductor MacClymont's leadership and evidence of careful preparation under the guidance of an experienced mind was manifested. The balancing of parts was noticeable and action was especially acute.

Mrs. Buckhout's solos were enjoyable. A wide range of voice permitted her to do the parts justice while she imparted a feeling into the lines. Mrs. Hanford's work was none the less appreciated and that of the tenor and basso could hardly be improved upon. The quartettes gave their voices an opportunity to be heard in blending that produced a charming effect. Mr. MacClymont presided at the organ and his accompaniment was no small feature of the rhythm. The organ prelude and postlude was played by Miss Daisy M. Zerbee, organist of the church.

Those taking part in the production were as follows: Holy Cross Choir, P. W. Brakeley, H. B. Fahn, Kerman Klinsman, Hugh Sweeney, Ira Vail, F. M. Whiteley, Russell Conroy, Clarence Hand, Geo. M. Mead, Walter Vail, Russell Vail, W. P. Westphal and Theodore Wyman; Miss Lillian Conover, Mrs. Lulu Dentz, Miss Fannie Mills, Miss Carrie Mulford, Mrs. W. A. Westphal, Miss Lillie Weigman, Miss Carrie Dentz, Miss Irene LeMaire, Miss M. M. Mulford, Miss Beatrice Miner, Miss Mamie Philpot and Miss Annie Weigman; R. S. Lane, Henry Williams, F. S. Cutter, W. B. Gilbert, Arthur Smith, Willard M. Miner, Ralph K. Miner, J. C. Martin and E. Maxwell Honeyman. Holy Trinity Choir, Mrs Theodore H. Bridgman, Mrs. Ella Sammis, Mrs. Gad, Miss V. L. Fraser, Miss Leah Gad, Miss G. E. Kyle, Miss Lillian A. Underhill, Mrs. S. H. Barrett, Mrs. R. E. Ulbricht, Mrs. J. C. Salter, Miss Julia Guerry, Miss M. F. Hutchinson, Miss I. L. Pratt, Miss E. I. Whalen; Frank Albright, R. C. Jones, H. T. Pratt, Herbert Schutt, S. H. Barrett, F. K. Osborne, E. J. Sisley, F. M. Sutphen and W. C. Sibley.

Miss Daisy M. Zerbe, the church organist, played the organ prelude and the choir marched in singing the hymn, "To Forward, Christian Soldier." After the procession came Rev. Erskine M. Rodman, pastor emeritus of Grace church, Rev. Wm. R. Nelson, Rev. J. P. Taylor, Rev. Vincent Dawson, of St. Stephen's church, Netherwood; Rev. John Fenton, of St. Luke's church, Metuchen; Rev. Mr. Fisk, of Somerville; Rev. Chas. S. Phelps, of Bound Brook; Rev. Mr. Wilson, of Grace church; Rev. Mr. Sweezy, curate of Holy Trinity church, New York and the rector of the church, Rev. W. Montgomery Downey. Rev. Chas. S. Phelps read the opening sentences and lead the Lord's Prayer, then Rev. Mr. Fisk read the lesson, selected from the xixth chapter of I Kings. The chorus then sung Clare's Magnificat in D and Rev. Mr. Sweezy read the collects, versicles and Apostle's Creed. After this the chorus rendered the oratorio in a grand way. A collection for defrayment of expenses and for the repairing of the church organ was taken, amounting to $113. The services closed with a prayer and benediction by Rev. Downey and the choir marched out singing "Jerusalem the Golden."

The visiting choirsters were given supper by the Ladies' Guild of the parish under the direction of Mrs. Downey, and left for New York on their private car at shortly after 11 o'clock.

FEW PROPERTY OWNERS ARE NOT SATISFIED

Most of Complaints to Commissioners of Appeal Were Over Dog Taxes.

A HUNDRED APPEARED

COMMISSIONERS ONLY HAD TIME TO LISTEN TO EIGHTY.

Residents in West End Objected to Raising of Assessment From $1 a Foot to $3—The Reasons Why It Was Increased.

Assessments of property this year were evidently more satisfactory than for a long time before, according to the number of persons who appeared before the Commissioners of Appeal at their sitting, yesterday. One hundred property owners and others interested sought a hearing but it was possible to listen to but eighty. In nearly every case it was a protest against taxation for a dog that wasn't owned or had died and most of these were remedied. Those relating to property were referred and will be considered by the commissioners at a private sitting to be held Friday. Last year over 200 persons were heard and it required two days to transact the business.

One of the principal protests was from land owners on West Eighth street below Grant avenue in the Third ward, where property that has always been assessed at $1 per foot was raised to $3. The building of numerous handsome residences in that section has boomed the values and the assessments was made in proportion to the rated increase. With the other land protests, the matter was referred and will be acted upon later.

WESTFIELD SOCIETY WEDDING

MARRIAGE OF MAY V. SHERMAN AND JOSEPH A. JOHNSTON.

Married at Westfield Congregational Church Last Evening—The Bridal Party.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Westfield, Oct. 29—A fashionable wedding was witnessed in the Congregation church, at 8:30 o'clock last evening, when Miss May Virginia Sherman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph S. Sherman, of Lawrence avenue, and Joseph A. Johnston, of Broad street, were married by Rev. J. R. Danforth, pastor of the church, in the presence of a large and fashionable throng of society folk.

The bride was gowned in white satin crepe de chine, trimmed with bruge point lace. She wore a veil and carried a bouquet of bride roses and lilies-of-the-valley. Her matron-of-honor, was Mrs. J. S. Foster, of Westfield, who was gowned in green crepe de chine. She carried pink roses. The bridemaids were Miss Mary Weber, of Brooklyn; Miss Blanche Ehlen, of Philadelphia, Miss Lucille Johnston, Miss Laura Peckham and Miss Caroline Beebe, of Westfield. They were all gowned in pink silk nulle, trimmed with lace. They also wore sashes and carried white chrysanthemums. The best man was Thomas French Russum, of Elizabeth, and the ushers were Fred Wilkins, of Philadelphia; Dr. R. Melvin Davenport, of New York; Dr. John Jennings, of Brooklyn; J. S. Foster and Joseph Sherman, Jr., of Westfield.

Miss Laura Crawford, of New York, presided at the organ and played the wedding march, and at the large reception which followed at the Westfield Clubhouse, the music was furnished by Harry Westervelt, of Newark.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnston left later in the evening on a bridal tour and upon their return they will reside on Kimball avenue. The groom has a lucrative position in New York and both he and his wife are well-known and popular in Westfield's best society.

—Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. French have taken rooms at Mrs. Truell's boarding house on Central avenue.

GATHERED TO MEET THE OTHER MEMBERS

Social to Home Department of Trinity Sunday-School Last Evening.

IS AN ANNUAL AFFAIR

ANNUAL REPORT SHOWS DEPARTMENT IS GROWING RAPIDLY.

W. S. Webb, a Sunday-School Worker, From Westfield, Made a Brief Address—Pastor Schenck Also Spoke.

The social given to the members of the home department of the Sunday-school of Trinity Reformed church in the church, last evening, was a pleasing and profitable affair. It is the custom to entertain the members of this department once a year, when they have an opportunity of becoming better acquainted and learning more about the Sunday-school work.

Superintendent F. E. Smith was in charge and extended a cordial welcome to all, after which he read the report of the acting superintendent of the home department, Mrs. George Saums. This was a most gratifying report.

It was as follows:

Number of members at last report, 117, added during the quarter, 5; withdrawn, 3; net increase, 2; present membership, 119; contributions for the quarter, $29.72; number of visitors this quarter, 13; number of members reporting this quarter, 96; number of members studying every lesson, 56; whole number of lessons studied, 1,032; average per member reporting, 10; number of visits paid by members to Sunday-school, 14; number of visits paid by visitors to members, 155.

The visitors at present are Mrs. O. W. Dunham, Mrs. Peter B. Hodge, Mrs. John Ross, Mrs. G. Q. Dolliver, Mrs. Will F. Williams, Mrs. Julius Williams, Mrs. Charles E. Ball, Mrs. George Lunger, Mrs. Edward Cooley, Mrs. Charles Beckman, Mrs. R. B. Rogers, Mrs. B. Frank Coriell and Mrs. A. L. Force.

After the reading of the report, Mr. Smith introduced W. S. Webb, of Westfield, an active Sunday-school worker. He gave an excellent address on practical work in the Sunday-school. He gave the members of the home department helpful advice and suggested many things which will tend to increase their interest and enthusiasm in this work.

Following Mr Webb, Rev. Dr. Schenck was called upon and he made a few well-chosen remarks. He characterized the infant department as the infantry, and other departments of the Sunday-school as the light artillery, the quartermaster's department, the commissary department and finally the home department as the reserve force. He praised the efforts of the women in their work and said he hoped for the time when many men would be identified with their department. These remarks were greatly enjoyed by all.

This concluded the speechmaking and a social time was then had during which refreshments were served by members of the home department.

DEATH OF MRS. PEARSON.

An Estimable Woman, of Plainfield, Has Passed Away.

The death of Mrs. Susan B. Pearson, wife of William W. Pearson, has left a void which will be difficult to fill. She had sterling qualities and was very much beloved by her friends and family, being a woman of estimable Christian character. Mrs. Pearson was the daughter of the late Charles O. Hoffman, of the firm of Fellows, Hoffman & Company, of New York city.

Funeral services will be held at her late residence Thursday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock.

New Engine and Dynamo.

The new engine and dynamo which arrived several weeks ago at the Plainfield Gas and Electric Light and Power Company's dynamo station on West Second street is now being set up in position. New solid concrete foundations have been set and the frame work of the mammoth new engine is being erected. The engine will be ready for use in about two months.

U. V. U. Fair.

The members of the Union Veterans Union are planning to hold a fair during the second week of December.

Borough Council Meeting.

The regular meeting of the Borough Council will be held Friday evening, November 7.

MANY HONORED HER MEMORY

FUNERAL OF MRS. J. P. HOMAN WAS HELD YESTERDAY.

Rev. Dr. W. C. Snodgrass Paid Tribute to Memory of One Active in Church Work.

A very large number of friends gathered at the funeral services of the late Mrs. J. P. Homan, which was held yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the home on Hillside avenue. Not only from the First M. E. church, where the deceased for many years was an active member, but from other churches as well, there were friends who through years of friendship had loved and admired Mrs. Homan for her true Christian qualities. Another evidence of the esteem in which she was held was in the profusion of flowers. There were wreaths, crosses, pillows and many bunches of cut flowers from relatives and friends, completely covering the casket.

The services were conducted by Rev. Dr. W. C. Snodgrass, pastor of the First M. E. church. After reading appropriate Scripture selections and offering prayer he spoke words full of comfort and consolation. Having an acquaintance with Mrs. Homan since coming to Plainfield, Dr. Snodgrass was especially able to speak of her earnest Christian life in the church as well as the home. He referred to the fact that Mrs. Homan was one of a committee of four women, who extended to him the right-hand-of-fellowship when he first came to Plainfield, and that she was the first of the four to pass away.

Dr. Snodgrass referred to Mrs. Homan's sincere devotion to her church and her home. He spoke to her special activity in the various departments of work at the church and how willing she always was to do all in her power to advance the cause of Christ. Her place in the home was also mentioneed in loving words and comforting thoughts were spoken to the bereaved ones who have been so suddenly bereft of a devoted wife and mother. At the conclusion of the service a prayer was offered by Dr. Snodgrass.

The interment took place in Hillside cemetery. The bearers, all business associates of Mr. Homan, were Postmaster E. H. Bird, Councilmen J. F. Buckle, R. I. Tolles and L. B. Woolston, J. P. Emmons, Peter A. Emmons and Salmon C. Baker.

BOROUGH REGISTRY.

Total of 1,369 Registered in the Two Districts.

The total registry of the voting population of North Plainfield showed that there were 664 voters in the First district up to yesterday, nine being added and one erased making in the district a total of 672. In the Second district there were a few more, a total of 667 names being secured in the house to house canvass. Thirty were added yesterday making a total of 697 voters in this district. The combined total is 1,369.

To Continue Choral Club.

The members of the Young Men's Choral Club met at the Park Avenue Hotel Monday evening and decided to continue the organization this winter. A meeting will be held next week when plans will be formulated for the work to be carried out. At the meeting this week the club rehearsed several selections, after which a social time was had and refreshments were served.

Commandery Drilled.

Freedom Commandery, Knights of the Golden Eagle, was drilled last evening by Dr. J. H. Buchanan. The charter has not been received yet but it is expected that it will arrive by next Tuesday evening when it is hoped that the final arrangements for permanent organization will be completed.

No Trial.

When the case of William L. Sharkey against George Conover came up for trial in Justice W. E. Mattison's court yesterday afternoon it was moved to adjourn the case for one week. Owing to Election Day coming on Tuesday next Justice Mattison adjourned the case until November 5.

Dr. Herring Made An Officer.

At the second annual meeting of the New Jersey Osteopathic Society held in Trenton a few days ago, Dr. G. D. Herring, of Plainfield, was elected secretary and treasurer. Dr. Herring also read an interesting paper on "Prophylaxis and Palliation."

ST. MARY'S FAIR CLOSED WITH GREAT SUCCESS

Final Evening Was Reception to a Former Pastor, Rev. Father J. P. Morris.

FAIR LASTED A WEEK

THE PRIZES WERE AWARDED AT LAST EVENING'S GATHERING.

Fair Has Been Under the Charge of Three Societies of St. Mary's Parish—Those Receiving the Prizes—The Committees.

It was an enthusiastic crowd of people that assembled at Stafford Hall, last evening, when St. Mary's fair and bazaar came to a successful close after a week's run. Aside from the usual features of the fair the large number of people were present to greet their former pastor, Rev. Father Morris, who was rector of St. Mary's church a score of years ago but who is now the rector of a flourishing parish at Avondale, N. J. This was the first opportunity the people of St. Mary's church has had in many years to greet their former pastor publicly and the reception given to Father Morris last evening was a very cordial one.

The chief event of the evening was the awarding of the various prizes to the contestants. The prizes in each case were very handsome ones.

The affair was conducted by the three societies of the church all of which were under the supervision of Rev. Father Egan. These societies were the T. A. B.'s, the Children of St. Mary and the Sewing Circle and it is principly through the untiring efforts of the members that the success of the fair was as great as it was. The decorations of the booths were very elaborate.

The booth of the Children of St. Mary was particularly attractive and was in charge of the Misses May Mercoir, Margaret Carney, May Culbert and Julia Day. The T. A. B. booth was in charge of Thomas J. O'Keefe, Michael O'Keefe, John Hines, William Shaffer, Thomas F. O'Keefe, David Doyle, Patrick Sutton, Thomas Carty, James O'Keefe, Patrick Melvin, Richard Birmingham, John Welsh, Thelsphore Parent and Thomas Mack.

Refreshments were dispensed by a number of young women all of whom were members of the Sewing Circle, of which Miss Catherine Mack was chairman.

During the week the fair has been very well attended and the proceeds will exceed $700. This amount will be used to swell the church funds.

The prize winners were as follows: Gun, presented by Frank Linke, was won by James O'Keefe, Rev. Father Egan, a handsome stick pin and rocker; Miss Hillman, harp; John Powers, of Grove street, a ton of coal; Sisters of the Convent, opera glasses and a barrel of flour; Cornelius Mc Carthy, a barrel of potatoes; John McCarthy, a couch; Daniel Duggan, a gold Waltham watch; Mrs. Whalen won a barrel of flour, a blanket and a goose; Patrick Nugent won a pair of bantam chickens; and Miss Kate McNamara, a handsome dinner set.

In the bicycle contest between Miss Mary McKenna and Miss Kate Birmingham, Miss McKenna won the wheel by a narrow margin. The contest for the $5 gold piece was between John Kyle and Cornelius McCarthy and was won by Mr. McCarthy.

The ice cream which was served by the women of the Sewing Circle in the annex was provided by Tier, the Park avenue caterer.

WATCH AND BOARDER GONE.

Police Are Looking Into Case on Supposition They Went Together.

When James Hogan, who is a boarder at Mrs. Flynn's at 957 South Second street, returned home from work, last evening, he discovered his gold watch was missing. A little later he learned that another boarder, James Clifford, alias James Cox, had departed also and he concluded both had gone together. He reported the matter to the police and the latter are working to bring man and watch back. From a letter found in Clifford-Cox's room it is surmised that he has recently been in prison for some offense.

Annual Inspection.

The annual inspection of the Woman's Relief Corps will be held Friday evening, November 7, when some of the department officers will be present.

REOPENING SERVICES.

Grace M. E. Church Announces a Series of Meetings in Honor of Church Reopening.

The programmes of the reopening services of the Grace M. E. church have been issued announcing that the church will be reopened next Sunday morning with a sermon at 10:30 by Rev. Dr. J. M. Buckley, LL.D., editor of the New York Christian Advocate. Mr. Buckley has spoken in this city before and will need no introduction to a Plainfield audience.

At 2:30 there will be a grand Sunday-school rally followed at 7:45 by a sermon by Rev. Dr. Frank Mason North. Tuesday evening, November 4, there will be an organ recital by Palu Martin, Jr., assisted by Miss Marie Peaumont Weber and Carl Grinauer, celloist.

Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock a fellowship service will be held when addresses will be made by visiting pastors. Thursday evening at 8 o'clock the Ladies' Aid Society and the Epworth League will hold a reception. Special music will be a feature of all these services.

THEATRICAL.

It is now definitely announced that the remarkable season of the Bostock Zoological Congress and Trained Wild Animal Arena at St. Nicholas Garden, New York, will close December 1. This is made peremptory from the fact that other engagements preclude any possibility of the Bostock aggregation remaining beyond that date. The season, up to the present time, has been noteworthy not only from the distinctive character of the entertainment offered, but from the astonishing attendance. There has been an average of more than 25,000 people each week attending the St. Nicholas to see the Bostock show. Each week presents another starting feature. The latest addition is a Hindu with more than 100 snakes of every variety and kind, venomous and dangerous as boa, rattler or gila, who handles them in a manner that evidences a perfect understanding between this strange man and his hissing, crawling pupils. All of the other great features that have so startled the metropolis are retained, including the lion monarch, Bonavita, and his twenty-seven jungle kings; Herman Weedon, with his singular group of which the fighting tiger, Goldie, is the star; Madame Louise Morelli, the Lady of the Leopards; Prof. A. Millero and his pickaninny group of elephants, and Mr. Esau—the man ape—whose intelligence has excited and confounded the most eminent physicians, scientists and savants of New York. Two performances are given daily, on at 2:30 and the other at 8:30 in the evening, the doors being opened at 1 and 7 p. m., so as to afford all visitors an opportunity to view the vast zoological collection before witnessing the performances in the arena.

Look Out for Fever.

Biliousness and liver disorders at this season may be prevented by cleansing the system with DeWitt's Little Early Risers. These famous little pills do not gripe. They move the bowels gently, but copiously, and by reason of the tonic properties, give tonic and strength to the glands. L. W. Randolph.

New Ice Company's Office.

The first of next week the office of the Plainfield Ice and Cold Storage Company will be closed on North avenue and transferred to Madison avenue, where the new concern will hereafter be located.

The Worst Form.

Multitudes are singing the praises of Kodol, the new discovery which is making so many sick people well and weak people strong by digesting what they eat, by cleansing and sweetening the stomach and by transforming their food into the kind of pure, rich, red blood that makes you feel good all over. Mrs. Cranfill, of Troy, I. T., writes: For a number of years I was troubled with indigestion and dyspepsia which grew into the worst form. Finally I was induced to use Kodol and after using four bottles I am entirely cured. I heartily recommend Kodol to all sufferers from indigestion and dyspepsia. Take a dose after meals. It digests what you eat. L. W. Randolph.

EX-PRISONERS WILL MEET

NEW JERSEY ASSOCIATION WILL HOLD ANNUAL MEETING HERE.

Sessions Scheduled for Tomorrow Morning and Afternoon—Two Local Members.

The members of the New Jersey Association Ex-Prisoners of the Civil War will meet in the Y. M. C. A. building tomorrow morning and afternoon. Col. Perry and Edward Olssen are the only two members in this city. It is believed that in New Jersey there are nearly 150 in all. The present officers of the association are as follows: Commander, J. A. Peloubet, Bloomfield; vice commander, G. M. Cadmus, Bloomfield; adjutant, D. Snell, Montclair; quartermaster, S. M. Long, East Orange; chaplain, E. H. Williams, East Orange.

Col. Perry enlisted in Co. D, 83d Pennsylvania, and he was shot and captured a prisoner at the Battle of the Wilderness, May 5, 1864. He was taken to the hospital at Lynchburg, Va., after which he was placed in Andersonville Prison, where he remained for a year.

Garfield League, of this city, of which Mrs. Edward Olssen is the president, will entertain the visiting members. The morning session will be called at 10 o'clock and the business will be transacted at this meeting. The afternoon session will be held between 2 and 4 o'clock.

Mrs. Frank Krewson, of the borough, who recently underwent an operation at Flower Hospital, New York, is expected to return home soon.

Two Subjects Worth Study.

How many can name the presidents in their correct order, or give the dates of their terms of office and other data concerning them, that all Americans should know? Can you?

There's an attractive little book just from the press that can be had for the cost of the postage, that tells all about the presidents from Washington to Roosevelt, with correct portraits of each. This book is entitled, "Two Subjects Worth Study," and in addition to its historical value for its treatment of matters presidential it has a practical value to every housekeeper because of its clear, concise and interesting description of the modern process of making flour and its simple and proved recipes for perfect bread baking.

Teachers and housewives are especially interested in the subjects of which this little work treats, and all can be supplied with a copy by sending six cents in stamps to the publishers, the Washburn-Crosby Company, Minneapolis, Minn.

MOROS ACTIVE.

Sumner's Expedition to Start Next Monday.

MANILA, Oct. 29.—A report from Mindanao says that Datto Grande has recaptured two stolen horses from Maciu Moros and returned them to the army. The Macius were seeking forage along the shore of Lake Lanao when the animals were retaken.

Friendly Moros report that the sultan of Caraca, north of the lake, is throwing up fortifications, that the renegade Ualli has joined the rebellious sultan of Bacolod and that the Macius are recovering from their recent defeat by Captain Pershing's force and are trying to reorganize and block the trails. It is probable that they will be easily dislodged when General Sumner moves forward with his forces about Nov. 3.

The renegade priest Aglipay, who was excommunicated by the bishop and who for a time led a band of rebels against the Americans, has inaugurated the so called Filipino National Catholic church here by celebrating mass in a vacant lot. About 2,000 persons, most of whom were attracted through curiosity, were present. Aglipay professes to have 2,000 followers. The movement is not regarded as a serious one.

SLIGHTED BY THE SULTAN.

Spencer Eddy Demands Reparation of Turkish Officials.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 29.—Spencer Eddy, the United States charge d'affaires here, has entered a protest with the sublime porte demanding reparation by the sultan for a slight to which he was subjected by Turkish officials on the occasion of the visit of the Grand Duke Nicholas of Russia to the sultan the other day. When Mr. Eddy arrived at the pavilion set apart for the foreign envoys, the palace officials barred his way and rudely bade him take a place in the gallery set apart for ordinary European tourists and strangers.

Indignant at the treatment to which he had been subjected in full view of the officials, troops and of the general public, Mr. Eddy re-entered his carriage and drove back to the legation. Later on the grand master of the ceremonies, and through him the sultan, discovered what had taken place and sent an imperial carriage, requesting him to return, which Mr. Eddy declined to do.

A Fleet of Big Lake Steamers.

CHICAGO, Oct. 29.—A fleet of the biggest steamers on the great lakes, whose total cost will exceed $10,000,000, is to be built for the United States Steel corporation through the Pittsburg Steamship company. All the steamers will be of the following dimensions: Keel, 550 feet; beam, 58 feet; depth of hold, 30 feet. On a mean draft of eighteen feet they will carry 9,000 tons. It is believed that the new boats can carry iron ore from the head of Lake Superior to the furnace docks of Lake Erie and Lake Michigan at less than 50 cents per ton. At present the rates are 75 and 80 cents.

Another Hunting Accident.

LANCASTER, O., Oct. 29.—Lafayette Hull was accidentally shot and killed near here by Clarence Loomis. They were hunting ducks, when Hull got in the way of Loomis' gun. The latter afterward attempted to kill himself. The j were close friends and prominently connected with the steel works at Columbus.

Pneumatic Tube Contracts.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—The postmaster general has signed the contracts for the pneumatic tube service in Boston with the Boston Pneumatic Tube company and the St. Louis service with the St. Louis Pneumatic Tube company. The contract for the service in Chicago has been held up for a time.

Ten Thousand Dead of Measles.

LONDON, Oct. 29.—The St. Petersburg correspondent of the Daily Mail cables that there is an epidemic of measles on the Kamchatka peninsula. Ten thousand persons have died of the disease, and the populations of some country villages have been nearly wiped out.

Champagne Vintage Falls.

LONDON, Oct. 29.—Heidsieck & Co. of Rheims, France, report that the 1902 vintage of champagne has been an absolute failure and will rank as one of the blackest vintages in the experience of champagne growers. The vintage of 1903 also promises to be poor.

A Possible Train Robber.

BUTTE, Mont., Oct. 29.—A man giving his name as Michael Mulcahy is in jail here under suspicion of being the robber of the Union Pacific train in Mulkey canyon. The police say he exactly answers the description given by the train crew.

Costly Fire at Little Rock.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Oct. 29.—The plant of the Forst Hardwood Manufacturing company in this city has been partly destroyed by fire, entailing a loss of $100,000, which is covered by insurance.

BIGGEST IN WORLD.

Mammoth Soft Coal Combine Projected.

TO BE CAPITALIZED AT $110,000,000

Combined Output of the Companies to Be Consolidated Is Nearly 30,000,000 Tons—Stock Watering Not to Be Allowed.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 29.—The Gazette today says:

"Negotiations are under way for a merging of the Pittsburg Coal company and the Monongahela River Consolidated Coal and Coke company with their combined authorized capitalization of $110,000,000 and assets of $120,088,581. Consolidation of these interests will launch by far the strongest bituminous concern in the world. The combined coal output of the two concerns is close to 30,000,000 tons a year. The plan is to make the Pittsburg company lessee and the purpose to economize operations.

"Successful termination of the deal will end the trade rivalry which has existed between the two companies either under or on the surface.

"The negotiations which are now on to bring the two big interests together are understood to be between two men, Presidents Francis L. Robbins of the Pittsburg Coal company and Colonel J. B. Finley, president of the River company.

"The tentative plan is to merge the two companies and at the same time eliminate one of the seemingly fundamental principles of such moves, which is the issuance of a new and increased lot of watered stock to more than cover the combined issues of the constituents. While the Pittsburg company will probably become the investor interest, there is no present purpose to issue new stock of the Pittsburg company to take over that of the River company. Anything like a stock watering deal is to be eliminated.

"The total assets of the Pittsburg company are figured at $76,276,769 and those of the River company at $43,811,812."

Chicago Wants New Charter.

CHICAGO, Oct. 29.—A convention of citizens has met under the auspices of the Civic federation to discuss ways and means of securing for the city of Chicago a new charter. The charter under which the city now exists has, in the opinion of the larger number of business men, become ineffective for a place of the size to which the city has grown, and they claim that under provisions better constructed to meet present needs the city can be run more economically and with far better returns for the money expended than is possible under the present charter. The convention is made up of delegates from twenty-four different organizations representing 6,000 business men of the city.

Bryan In a Wreck.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Colo., Oct. 29.—The Bryan special crashed into the caboose of a freight at Arena, in Brown canyon, fifteen miles above Leadville, yesterday. The special remained on the track, but the caboose was thrown from the trucks, and three people saved their lives by jumping. Mr. Bryan was uninjured. The track was obstructed so that the special could not proceed. Mr. Bryan and his party were put into an empty refrigerator car and, drawn by a freight engine, were taken to Nathop, seven miles away. There a chair car was attached to the engine and run to Buena Vista and Leadville.

After Oriental Trade.

CHICAGO, Oct. 29.—The Record-Herald today says that the management of the Harriman lines is preparing to make a vigorous campaign for increased oriental traffic through Portland. With this end in view orders will be given for the construction of four mammoth ocean going steamers to ply between Portland and Asiatic ports. The cost of the steamers will be between $2,000,000 and $3,000,000 each, and their tonnage will probably be as large as those which are being constructed for the Hill lines.

Governor Odell at Binghamton.

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., Oct. 29.—Governor B. B. Odell was greeted by two large audiences at Stone Opera House yesterday, with an evening overflow meeting at the courthouse. He and his party, including Henry B. Coman, candidate for attorney general, were met at the station at 2:35 p. m. by a large delegation, who marched through the business streets to the opera house.

Scientists Visit President.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—Some of the foremost scientists of the world were among a party of thirty visitors who arrived here from New York, where they attended the international congress of Americanists. After being formally welcomed to the city by President Macfarland of the board of District commissioners they were received by President Roosevelt.

Suspected Bomb Thrower Arrested.

LEGHORN, Italy, Oct. 29.—An Italian named Cateni, who returned here from America, has been arrested on suspicion of having been the person who on Sunday placed a bomb on the steps of the bishop's palace with the result that it afterward exploded, killed a boy and wounded two others.

Composer Herbert Gets Damages.

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—Victor Herbert, the composer, has been awarded a verdict of $15,000 damages against the Musical Courier. The jury which sat before Judge Truax in the supreme court was only an hour and a half estimating the amount of the verdict.

CANAL TREATY HITCH

Colombian Minister Delaying Negotiations.

ISTHMIAN INCIDENT THE CAUSE.

Senor Concha Declines to Act on Instructions Received Because of Admiral Casey's Stand Regarding Troop Transportation.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—It is learned that a prompt answer has been made by the state department to the latest Colombian note respecting the Panama canal treaty, which was transmitted to the department Monday. Its nature is not divulged, but the presumption is that it deals almost entirely with Colombia's representations regarding the sovereignty of the isthmus, which the Colombians feel has been seriously invaded by the acts of Commander McLean and Admiral Casey in preventing the prompt movement of troops across the railroad.

This matter, as before stated, is now the subject of negotiations between the Colombian government and Minister Hart at Bogota, and an early adjustment is looked for. The state department is anxious that a speedy settlement be reached in order to facilitate the completion of the Panama canal treaty.

Senor Concha, Colombian minister, has received ample and specific instructions empowering him to proceed in this matter, which has been retarded only by the controversy which has arisen regarding the transit of the isthmus.

Considerable irritation is felt in official circles over knowledge that Senor Concha, the Colombian minister, is believed to be purposely delaying the negotiation of a treaty between the United States and Colombia conferring on this government the right to build the Panama canal. Information in the possession of the state department is to the effect that Senor Concha received instructions from his government several weeks ago defining its position with reference to the points of difference over the acquisition by the United States of the canal strip, but that he has declined to act upon these instructions by renewing the negotiations with the authorities here.

Senor Concha's attitude is attributed to a personal feeling of anger toward the United States on account of the policy of Rear Admiral Silas Casey, commander in chief of the American forces on the isthmus of Panama, in refusing to let Colombian troops cross the isthmus on the railway between Panama and Colon when there was danger that the trains would be attacked by insurgents and traffic interrupted. Senor Concha, it is said, took the action of Admiral Casey very much to heart, holding that it was an insult to his government and interfered with the suppression of the insurrection on the isthmus.

Mexican Miners Entombed.

CITY OF MEXICO, Oct. 29.—In one of the mines near Santa Maria de la Pas on Saturday a number of miners were working at the bottom of a shaft when many tons of earth caved in, choking the shaft at some distance from the bottom. Relief parties went to work instantly. Sunday night a tapping noise made by the miners could be heard, and relief work was pushed with all possible speed. There is a bare hope that the imprisoned miners have excavated holes for themselves where they can take refuge, for when the remaining mass of earth falls down into the shaft there will be no hope for any one within it. It is considered still possible that all the men have not been suffocated.

An Alleged Wife Poisoner.

LONDON, Oct. 29.—The home secretary, Mr. Akers-Douglas, has ordered the exhumation of the body of the last wife of George Chapman. George Chapman, who went to England from America in 1893, was arraigned at a police court in London on Monday, charged with poisoning a young woman reputed to be his wife. It transpired that this was the third woman who had died within five years in houses owned by Chapman. Both the other women were his wives.

A Pacific Record Broken.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 29.—The Pacific Mail company's new steamer Korea has arrived from Yokohama, breaking the record across the Pacific. The steamer made no stop between the coast of Japan and her home port. From Yokohama by direct line to San Francisco is 4,000 miles. The Korea sailed from the Japanese port on Oct. 18 and made the passage in ten days, averaging 470 miles a day.

Lapponi Operated Upon.

ROME, Oct. 29.—The operation on Dr. Lapponi, the pope's private physician, who is suffering from appendicitis, was successfully performed by Dr. Mazzoni, who operated on the pope for a cyst about two years ago. The pope, who was very anxious, was informed of the result by telephone and begged Dr. Mazzoni to go to him personally in order that he might hear more precise details.

Showers of Ashes Continue.

HAVANA, Oct. 29.—The Ward line steamer Vigilancia has entered this port covered with volcanic ashes which fell upon her during Sunday between Vera Cruz and Progreso, off the isthmus of Tehuantepec.

A Steamer Sunk.

TACOMA, Wash., Oct. 29.—The steamer Capital City was sunk off Brown's point, at the entrance to Tacoma harbor, last night. The passengers were saved.

DIGG'S UPRIGHT FIRE EXTINGUISHER.

The Best on Earth! We Challenge the World!

The Extinguishers that turn up-side-down to discharge are good of their kind, but this is far better. Read the following reasons:

Points of superior merit of the Diggs-Upright over any other machine—

2—Can never be discharged by accident; absolutely under the control of the operator.
3—A 3-gallon machine of this type contains ONE QUART more of liquid than a reversible, because it does not require a handle underneath.
4—It does not need inspection and recharging as required for the reversible with its loose stopple.
5—The acid being released at the top of the tank, and the outlet being at the bottom, the mingling of the chemicals is so thorough before the acid reaches the outlet that it is completely neutralized, and no harm can be done to flesh or fabric. In the reversible type the acid is released within the two inches of the outlet.
6—Convenience is handling. The machine stands on its bottom, and all the operator has to do is to turn the screw in the cap, and the flow begins instantly.
7—The bottle is not broken, and no nuisance of broken glass.

CHOLERA'S RAVAGES.

Widespread and Heavy Mortality In the Old World.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—Mail advices received by the marine hospital service show terrible ravages of cholera during the past few months. From Manila Chief Quarantine Officer Perry makes a conservative estimate that the cases of cholera that have occurred in the Philippine Islands since March 20 last aggregate 75,000, with a mortality of 75 per cent.

He says that the disease has practically disappeared from those provinces first infected, but those most recently infected are suffering severely.

In Japan the latest advices show that there have been 4,329 cases and 1,650 deaths from cholera.

The cholera situation in China is appalling. At Nanking 40,000 deaths have occurred. At Shouyangasien 3,000 cases per day are reported. In Hongkong since the beginning of the outbreak there have been 459 cases and 396 deaths.

According to a report of the director general of the Egyptian department of health, the cholera epidemic continues to claim a large number of victims. The number of infected places have increased to 1,557. The number of cases registered for one week amounted to 9,467, with 8,278 deaths. Of the 28,520 cases of cholera registered between July 15 and Aug. 15, 23,684 were fatal. During the four days from Sept. 15 to Sept. 19 there were registered 4,048 cases and 3,761 deaths.

WANTS MRS. EDDY INDICTED.

Coroner Blames Head of Christian Science Church.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Oct. 29.—The Westchester county grand jury completed its investigation late yesterday into the case of little Esther Quimby, who died from malignant diphtheria after having, it is alleged, received Christian Science treatment from John Carroll Lathrop of Manhattan, a reader in the Christian Science church.

Only four witnesses on behalf of the people were examined. They were all doctors and experts and testified that in their opinion Esther Quimby died through the neglect of the scientist to call in a physician. At the conclusion of the inquiry Coroner Banning made this statement:

"I asked the jurymen to also indict Mrs. Eddy, the head of the church, as being morally responsible for the neglect through her books and teachings to abandon medicine and take up the science faith. I am sure the jury will find a true bill."

Policeman Kelly Not Guilty.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 29.—Loud and long cheers, such as have not been heard in a courtroom in this city in many years, greeted the verdict of not guilty brought in by the jury in the case of Policeman John Kelly, who has been on trial in the superior court charged with burglary. The moment the foreman of the jury uttered the words which exonerated the patrolman the courtroom, which was crowded with spectators, rang with cheers, which could not be suppressed by the sheriff. Many persons crowded around Kelly to congratulate him, and the manner in which his wife greeted him was touching. Kelly resumed his duties on the police force today.

Miss Wainwright Married.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Oct. 29.—Miss Louisa Wainwright, only daughter of Commander Richard Wainwright, superintendent of the Naval academy, was married yesterday afternoon to Lieutenant Walter S. Turpin, U. S. N., in the home of her father on Upshur row, in the Naval academy grounds. Only the relatives of the two families were present. The bride's father commanded the little gunboat Gloucester, which rendered valuable service during the battle of Santiago. He is a great-grandson of Benjamin Franklin. The groom is from a well known Maryland family.

Bear Killed a Boy.

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Oct. 29.—At Happy Hollow, a resort near here which, among other attractions, includes a zoo, a black bear fatally injured Robert Tatum, an eight-year-old boy. The lad was passing the animal, which was chained, but came too close, and before the horrified spectators could interfere the brute had the boy hugged to his breast. Then the animal closed its great jaws on his prisoner's head. A keeper pried the bear's mouth open and released the boy, but he was unconscious and dying from several fractures of the skull.

Secretary Shaw In Iowa.

MARSHALLTOWN, Ia., Oct. 29.—The largest meetings of the Iowa campaign were held here yesterday afternoon and evening. Senator Allison delivered the principal address in the afternoon, and Secretary Shaw also spoke briefly, covering his views of the tariff revision and the "Iowa idea." Secretary Shaw was the principal speaker at night.

Socialists Won In Austria.

VIENNA, Oct. 29.—Elections held in twenty-four rural constituencies yesterday of members of the lower house of the Austrian diet resulted in a remarkable victory for the Christian Socialists, who, with one exception, won all the seats contested. In this case a second ballot was necessary to elect the opposition candidate.

He Threw the Bull.

FREMONT, Neb., Oct. 29.—While Frank Uhling was trying to drive a bull out of a cornfield the animal turned and attacked him. He grasped it by the horns and after a terrific struggle managed to throw the animal. When his brother came to help him, he found Frank sitting on the bull's neck.

URIBE-URIBE TAKEN

Colombian Insurgent Leader and His Army Surrender.

GREAT VICTORY FOR THE GOVERNMENT

Pacification of the Country Complete With the Exception of the Isthmus—Much Rejoicing at Panama and Colon.

PANAMA, Oct. 29.—The revolutionary general Uribe-Uribe, with ten cannon, 2,500 rifles and 300,000 rounds of ammunition, has surrendered to General Marjarres at Rio Frio, near Santa Marta.

The revolutionary forces under General Uribe-Uribe, which were defeated Oct. 14 at La Cienaga, retreated to Rio Frio and took up positions there. General Marjarres, with 2,000 men, proceeded against the rebels from La Cienaga and engaged the enemy two days ago. The government general succeeded in surrounding the rebels and forcing them to surrender. General Castillo was with General Uribe-Uribe.

The news of this victory was received here by General Perdomo and Governor Salazar in a telegram from General Marjarres. Details of the engagement are lacking, but heavy casualties on both sides are reported.

The surrender of Uribe-Uribe is said to complete the pacification of the departments of Magdalena and Bolivar. The revolutionists now occupy the isthmus only.

In the fight of Oct. 14 at La Cienaga the revolutionary force consisted of 1,300 men.

A Colon dispatch says that the government gunboat General Pinzon has arrived there from Savanilla. She was especially sent from that port by the governor of the department of Bolivar to bring to the isthmus news of the defeat of the revolutionists under Uribe-Uribe and Castillo at Rio Frio. Both these generals were made prisoners. There is much rejoicing over the success of General Marjarres and especially over the capture of Uribe-Uribe.

Moose's Head For Roosevelt.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—A moose's head with antlers, from Alaska, said to be the largest ever brought to the United States, was presented to President Roosevelt by a delegation of Alaskan citizens, accompanied by Representative Wooten of Texas. The antlers measured six and a half feet across. A piece of native placer copper attached to the mounting bears the inscription: "To Theodore Roosevelt from the citizens of Alaska in token of their esteem and in recognition of his friendship." The delegation also exhibited specimens of Alaska gold, copper, cinnabar and other metals that called forth expressions of surprise and delight from the president.

Fatal Gunning Accident.

RICHMOND, Va., Oct. 29.—Albert Sheppard, eighteen years old, son of Henry Sheppard of this city, died from accidental wounds inflicted while out hunting. Young Sheppard was with a friend near Highland Park in quest of birds. His dog flushed a field lark, and the hunter fired at the bird and then passed the gun to his companion. In doing so the weapon, which was a hammerless gun, prematurely exploded and inflicted a wound in the upper part of Sheppard's abdomen. The wounded youth was removed to the City hospital, where he died in about an hour after the accident.

Will Sue the Jockey Club.

PARIS, Oct. 29.—It is said here that J. Reiff and Milton Henry, the American jockeys whose licenses to ride on French tracks were recently withdrawn by the Jockey club as an outcome of very careful investigation made by the detective department of the jockeys' methods of riding, will sue the Jockey club for damages for having deprived them of their licenses. Reiff and Henry have retained Lawyers Lagasse and Labori. A writ will be served upon the Jockey club at once.

Beresford Predicts Peace.

LONDON, Oct. 29.—In a speech delivered at West Bromwich, Staffordshire, Vice Admiral Lord Charles Beresford, M. P., expressed the belief that Great Britain was entering upon a century of peace. He advocated a closer union between Great Britain and the United States and declared that the International Mercantile Marine company was not a monopoly and that it would prove more favorable to England than to America.

Cresceus Failed Again.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Oct. 29.—Cresceus failed in his attempt to lower his mile record of 2:02¼, trotting the mile in 2:05½. The weather was too cool for comfort, and a strong breeze was blowing directly down the backstretch. Dan Patch, the pacer, also made an effort to reduce the world's mark of 1:59¼, but his effort proved no better than that of Cresceus, the mile being paced in 2:01½.

Dr. Lorenz In Denver.

DENVER, Oct. 29.—Dr. A. D. Lorenz of Vienna has arrived here from Chicago. He operated on three children for congenital dislocation of the hip at St. Luke's hospital in the morning and on several others at the County hospital in the afternoon. The operations were performed before the Denver and Gross Medical schools.

Heavy Rains Cause Floods.

HOOSICK FALLS, N. Y., Oct. 29.—Almost continuous rain since Monday morning has caused the Hoosick river and its tributaries to reach a very high mark. The lowlands on the west side are flooded, resulting in heavy damage to farm lands.

WHERE THE FAULT IS.

One of the acts of the Common Council at its regular meeting Monday night will be to approve the request of the Board of School Estimate for $125,000 with which to erect a new High School. There is no doubt that the board's request will be granted and the necessary formal steps taken which will permit the issuance of bonds at the proper time.

Because The Daily Press took the ground that the Councilmanic members of the Board of School Estimate ought to look carefully into the request of the School Board for the funds for a new High School in order to see that the members, in their enthusiasm, had not been a trifle extravagant, it has been said that we have cast a slur at the ability of the members of the School Board and questioned their ability. As a matter of fact, we did nothing of the kind. The Board of School Estimate was designed expressly as a check for the other board and we only wanted it to do its duty.

The members of the Board of Education are good business men, as the present excellent condition of the local school system amply testifies, but they are not infallible and it was to guard against any possible chance that we dwelt on the need of careful investigation on the part of the Board of School Estimate. As the latter body unanimously approved the plan, there is every reason to believe that the request was well founded.

It is a fact that the members of the City Board of Education do not achieve the prominence in the public eye given to the Councilmen and that one hears very little of their acts which are really deserving of much credit. Plainfield has some very able men on its School Board who give of their time freely and endeavor to conduct the city's educational affairs on the same successful lines as their business affairs are operated. It may be that the fault is right there. Any municipal department should be conducted on sound business principles but the same secrecy observed in a great corporation or business concern cannot be used in a public department without causing more or less criticism. The people like to know, and they have a right to know, what their representatives are doing and so perhaps, if the Board of Education would take the public more into its confidence, its motives would be better understood and its members would receive more of the credit which is justly due them.

An exchange says that in five years, the packing houses of Kansas City have used enough lumber in preparing their goods for shipment to build a five-story frame dwelling for every family in that city. It might also have added that the same companies have made enough money from the sale of embalmed beef and high prices to fit out each one of the houses with furniture in every room and place a few tons of coal in the cellar beside.

at the NEW YORK BARGAIN STORE, 324 W. Front St., Plainfield.

WE don't believe in heralding ourselves with a brass band, but instead of that we have arranged a special feast of bargains for the coming fall and winter, of which you are all invited to partake, and we hope that through the many bargains that we will give out the fame of our goods will spread far and wide, as once the echo of the Liberty Bells did.

THINGS WE DO——AND THINGS WE DON'T DO

We don't indulge in any bogus advertising scheme; we do everything we claim to do. We don't sell an article worth a dollar for ten cents, but we do sell by nearly half lower than any other store in the city. Our store is overfilled with all the latest and the most nobby productions for the coming fall. If you are interested in anything in our line now is the time to purchase. You can make a dollar go as far with us as two elsewhere. Polite salesmen will be willing and anxious to show them to you.

A number from town attended the cantata of "Elijah," sung at Holy Cross church, Plainfield, last night.

George Ogden has accepted a position with Clinton Clark, of Front street.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

A letter from Claude Cubberley, who is employed as civil engineer in Scranton, Pa., says that a thousand carloads of coal were sent from the Scranton mines to New York last week. Miners, however, threaten to quit work the first of November in case the arbitration committee's report does not satisfy them.

Mr. Day and family will occupy the house which Harry Weaver will soon vacate. This property, belonging to William H. Manning, is one of the most desirable places in town.

George Ryno has recently had more work offered in his line than he can undertake, and has offered to share it with others.

A large number of school children here are affected with whooping cough.

JUNIORS AT QUOITS.

Members of Franklin and Somerset Councils Have Arranged a Series.

The members of Franklin and Somerset Councils, Jr. O. U. A. M., have arranged for a quoit pitching contest for this winter. The first of the series of games was played last week Thursday night when Kriney and Hartpence, of Franklin Council, won three out of the five games played. The plan is to play 150 games in all and five games will be played in one evening. This evening B. F. Bennett and Ephraim Compton, from Franklin Council, will meet Creveling and Geo. Allen, from Somerset Council, at the regular meeting of the latter Council. Tomorrow evening at the meeting of Franklin Council, the tournament will be continued. Already considerable interest is manifested in the games.

In Honor of Birthday.

A pleasant affair of last evening was a party given to Miss Mamie Philpitt, of the borough, in honor of her birthday. The evening was passed in playing games, dancing, singing and at a late hour refreshments were served. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Dentz, Mr. and Mrs. Leser, Mr. and Mrs. Blaich, the Misses Windham, Philpitt, Levi, Mr. Sage, Mr. Fouler, Mr. Hansen, Mr. Levi and Mr. Bates.

Walking for a Wager.

Theodore McGregor, and Robert McTavish, two long distance pedestrians, on their way from Boston to San Francisco, passed through this city yesterday. Both have won many medals for long walks and are now tramping across the continent on a $1,000 wager. They left Boston three weeks ago and have one year in which to complete the trip.

Verdict for Injuries.

A verdict for $150 was given Henry Taylor, of this city, in the Union County Court, yesterday, in his suit against the Elizabeth, Plainfield and Central Jersey Street Railway. The jury was out three hours.

To Aid Nurse's Home.

A tea and sale of home-made candies will be held tomorrow afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. Evarts Tracy, West Eighth street, for the benefit of the Nurses' Home.

Play at Rescue Mission.

A play entitled "The Prodigal Son" will be given at the Rescue Mission tomorrow evening.

COLUMN FOR THE SHOPPERS

SOME OF ATTRACTIONS TO BE FOUND AT LOCAL STORES.

A Few Interesting Items Concerning Greater Plainfield's Merchants

Smalley Brothers have some of the choicest ducks procurable in stock at their North avenue market. Besides, their beef is always tender and juicy and is superior to any that can be found in this city.

There is no waste about the Backus gas heater sold by Gavett. Neither is there any smoke or offensive odor. In all it is an ideal heat producer and its very cheapness should recommend it to every householder.

If you would have comfortable feet and at the same time have shoes that always look dressy, you should be a patron of Willett & Son, of Park avenue. They carry a large stock of the best quality of shoes and the prices are attractive.

For the correct styles in fancy shirts and the best grade of underwear are always to be found at J. R. Blair's store on Park avenue. The new fall styles of shirts are attractively displayed at this store and the prices are reasonable.

Just give Callahan & Son a trial order and see if you can't get groceries much cheaper than what you are paying at persent. They make a specialty of buying and selling strictly for cash and the customer always gets the largest benefit.

Warnock's delicious charlotte russe are constantly gaining favor with the public. They are only one of the many kinds of fine pastry to be found at this store every day. All are guaranteed to be strictly fresh and are made fresh every day.

Everybody cannot grow their vegetables in their own gardens but the new cauliflower, celery, etc., which are constantly kept on hand at W. W. Dunn's grocery store on Lincoln place are just as fresh as those you grow in your own truck garden.

Putnam & DeGraw, the West Front street dry goods merchants, are daily receiving shipments of fall and winter goods. They will carry a large and complete stock of goods this season and it will be to the advantage of the people to inspect it.

Now that L. W. Randolph, the West Front street druggist, has purchased the building he occupies, he intends making some extensive improvements from time to time so that he may be better able to serve the public and give the people the best service possible. Mr. Randolph has one of the best pharmacies in the State.

THEATRICAL.

The Carter Stock Company, pronounced by both press and public to be one of the best repertoire organizations before the American public, will come to the Central Theatre for one week, commencing Monday evening. Their plays are all new to the theatre goers of this city and are dressed with new and special scenery. The opening play will be a comedy drama in four acts, "Who Is Jenks." A special woman's ticket has been issued for Monday night only.

Discharged From Hospital.

John Kauffmann, the young man who was bably injured by the cars at Bound Brook last week, was discharged from Muhlenberg Hospital, yesterday. His left arm, which was amputated, is healing rapidly and the severe scalp wound he sustained will not result seriously. He was taken in charge by his brother who lives in Mauch Chunk, Pa.

After Votes.

The Republican candidates from Somerville visited North Plainfield yesterday and made a tour of hand shaking among their friends in the borough. They all seemed very confident of winning at the polls and asked for the support of all their friends on Election Day. They left for Somerville late in the afternoon.

Women to Bowl.

The women of the German Saengerbund will take part in a bowling tournament in the alleys in Saengerbund Hall this afternoon. It is probable that several prizes will be offered for the highest scores.

Natural Anxiety.

Mothers regard approaching winter with uneasiness, children take cold so easily. No disease costs more little lives than croup. Its attack is so sudden that the sufferer is often beyond human aid before the doctor arrives. Such cases yield readily to One Minute Cough Cure. Liquifies the mucus, allays inflammation, removes danger. Absolutely safe. Acts immediately. Cures cough, colds, grip, bronchitis, all throat and lung trouble. F. S. McMahon, Hampton, Ga.: "A bad cold rendered me voiceless just before an oratorical contest. I intended to withdraw but took One Minute Cough Cure. It restored my voice in time to win the medal." L. W. Randolph.

Deal Finally Made for New Site for Aluminum Press Works.

The Aluminum Press Company which has been reported several times to be preparing to move its plant to Lincoln and which reports have been denied almost as often has finally decided to move to Lincoln and yesterday the deal was closed.

S. D. Drake was in town yesterday and exhibited to some of his friends the papers signed by the officers of the company.

It is understood that Mr. Drake has given to the company a free factory site as an inducement to have the factory move there.

Ground was broken yesterday at the park for the new buildings of the press works by Engineer Hubbard. One of the buildings will be 100x200 feet, another 45x150 feet and the third will be 100x300 feet. The buildings will be built of brick, stone and iron.

Things have been booming at Dewey Park during the past few days. One New Brunswick party has purchased 36 building lots during the past few days and another person has begun the erection of twenty dwellings along the trolley which will be rented when completed for $10 a month.

—The home of Charles H. Lyman in Washington avenue is being beautified by a fresh coat of paint.

—There is no let-up in the fruit display at Neuman Brothers. Everything is there and the prices are made to suit.

MINERS TAKE A REST.

Mitchell Day Generally Observed In the Anthracite Region.

WILKESBARRE, Oct. 29.—In order that Mitchell day may be properly observed today there is a general suspension of mining. The operators would rather the men would work, but under the circumstances they are helpless in the matter. The superintendents of many of the collieries were notified that the employees would not report for work. Many visitors are here to witness the demonstration in the city, which will consist of a street parade and mass meetings in nearly all the towns in the coal region, but owing to the presence of President Mitchell in Wilkesbarre the principal demonstration of the day is in progress here.

No visitors are allowed in the Ninth regiment camp today, an order to that effect having been issued. The soldiers are also to remain in camp, none being allowed to come to this city. It is said the order was issued as a precautionary measure. There are about 20,000 visitors in town, and nearly all of them are men who were formerly on strike.

Mitchell day is the anniversary of the close of the last big strike, Oct. 29, 1900, when the mine workers returned to work after being out six weeks, the owners having granted a 10 per cent increase in wages and other concessions.

As in the present strike, President Mitchell then conducted the strike for the mine workers.

Coal Output Growing.

SCRANTON, Pa., Oct. 29.—Official figures from the five big companies having their main offices in Scranton show that 90 per cent of their collieries are in operation and that the output is now more than three-quarters of what it is normally. Much complaint is heard at the offices of the company concerning the idleness today by reason of the observance of Mitchell day.

No Bail For Andrews.

DETROIT, Oct. 29.—Attorneys for Frank C. Andrews, the convicted vice president of the wrecked City Savings bank, announced that they had secured three bondsmen to make up the $100,000 bail fixed by the supreme court for Andrews' release pending the hearing of a motion for a new trial. J. Elisha Winder of Los Angeles, Cal., and ex-Sheriff James Hanley and David Neiderlander of Detroit called at the recorder's court to qualify on the bond, but the sum total of the real estate offered by these three as a pledge amounted to but $190,000, while Judge Murphy ruled that Andrews must furnish two bondsmen who would each be able to qualify for $100,000. Judge Murphy also ruled that Mr. Winder could not qualify on account of his being a nonresident. Accordingly Andrews remains in the Wayne county jail.

Yale Degree Without Greek.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 29.—It is announced that in future it will be possible for a student to come to Yale university after receiving the degree of bachelor of arts from another college without having studied Greek and receive the Yale degree of bachelor of arts without being obliged to make up in Greek. Such a student may enter the senior class and get his diploma from Yale at the end of the year.

A Special Ship For Chamberlain.

LONDON, Oct. 29.—In accordance with the wish of King Edward, Colonial Secretary Chamberlain is to be conveyed to South Africa on board a naval vessel, and the admiralty has assigned the new cruiser Good Hope to this duty.

WOOLEN GOODS.

They Are Especially Adapted For Plaited Skirts.

The soft woolen costumes prepared for autumn and winter wear are especially adapted for plaited skirts, and these are quite popular, while they are much varied in style, some having plaits only in the back and others being plaited all the way around into a plain yoke. On a few skirts the plaits are stitched in grouped lines, or box plaits are stitched each side quite at the edge.

On somber tailor made costumes bright colored buttons often make their appearance. Thus a dark gray hopsacking is embellished by little buttons of scarlet silk; a dark blue cloth is trimmed with buttons of plaid. Silk waists of pale colored satins are embellished by tiny dark buttons of gun metal and brilliants.

Gored skirts, with the seams strapped or trimmed at the foot with shaped straps or tabs of velvet, are fashionable and also very graceful, as the unbroken lines give height to the wearer.

The new woolens are in subdued and broken tints, the solid colorings and full shades being used in silk and velvets for trimming.

The illustration shows the latest thing in postilion coats. It is of gray cloth, with the wide cuffs and collars of plaid and the vest of white cloth.

This model might also be carried out in shot velvet, with an all over lace vest. JUDIC CHOLLET.

THE NEW SLEEVES.

The Fantastic Tudor Shape—Russian Blouse Again Popular.

There is a great controversy about sleeves. Some French people are wearing theirs tight and others voluminous all the way down. The Tudor sleeve is making its appearance on velvet models slashed with various kinds of fur and silk. This, in some cases, is becoming, but more often not.

Coats of ermine and white caracal are elaborately trimmed with lace applique, the sleeves are slashed over linings of white satin and in some cases there are wide collars of lace tyings with jeweled ribbon ends. Long, flat stoles of ermine or chinchilla are ornamented with jeweled clasps. Richness and even extravagance are characteristic of the new furs.

The furriers show good taste in their leading designs, for their sleeves are happy compromises—becomingly full from the elbow downward.

The Russian blouse is again to the fore, the bolero has by no means left us, the basques of all lenghts will be worn, and tails will be a prominent feature in furs. The evening coats will be decorated with beautiful fur stoles. It will be good news to the woman who has to study economy that she can purchase fur garments in the newest styles at very moderate rates simply because furriers are using all kinds of skins. Musquash is made to look almost like sable; squirrel is dressed in a new way; skins of other inexpensive animals are treated in such a manner that they are rendered becoming wear.

The dressy hat shown in the cut is of lace and rosebuds.

The young lady seemed still too much agitated to speak.

"Gossip has associated your name with one of the most worthy young men in town," said Hendricks, delicately; "and as he is doubtless wholly innocent of any connection with the tragedy you might be doing him a service to put me on to all available clews."

Dorothy's face was like a death mask in yellow plaster.

"Could they possibly associate him with it?" she questioned.

"Unfortunately it is said that he had some sort of difficulty with Mr. Caruthers only a short while before he was reported to have left the city."

The features of the girl shrank together as if she had been smitten in the face. She made no reply.

"We heard about it," put in Mrs. Winfret. "And I did not like it, either. The only sensible view to take of the stipulation in the will was that Dorothy ought to carry out her uncle's wishes, and Arthur Gielow acted so insanely over it. I advised him to go abroad, but he wouldn't listen to reason. It was an awfully egotistical thing—his quarreling with Mr. Caruthers in a public place."

A flush of anger flowed into the whiteness of the girl's face.

"It is absurd to speak of that quarrel at such a moment," she said, with spirit, "except from the standpoint of its prejudicing the ignorant public against an innocent man."

"I seldom make mistakes," said Hendricks; "and I'm sure you that I am going to work on the theory that Gielow is not the man I am looking for."

Miss Huntington leaned forward eagerly. She almost smiled in her boundless relief.

"I am so glad to hear you say that," she said, softly. "He has had so much trouble already that to be suspected of this would break his heart completely."

"Of all the suitors she has had I have the least use for that Italian, Count Bantinni," declared Mrs. Winfret. "I cannot bear him in my sight. Nobody knows how he ever got such a foothold in society. He was introduced by Sir Reginald Tyler, who was the rage here for a month and went away suddenly and has never once been heard of since. Count Bantinni seems to have kept his place only because of his learning. People seemed to be afraid it would show ignorance on their part to refuse him their hospitality."

"Count Bantinni," mused Hendricks; "know such a man, doctor?"

"Only from having seen his name in society papers," was Lampkin's reply.

"He is absolutely the queerest individual on earth," pursued Mrs. Winfret, as if glad of an opportunity to express her dislike. "Dorothy has refused him three times. We should never have gone with him last night to the Horse Show if Mr. Caruthers had not arranged the box party before he left. I am sure he is a fortune hunter, and it was with that conviction in my mind that I told him of the condition in Mr. Van Courtland's will. He looked perfectly bewildered when I mentioned it and made me give him all the particulars. He said nothing all the rest of the evening—it was here at a reception one night."

Hendricks' eyes flashed involuntarily and then his face became again unreadable.

"How long ago was that?" he asked carelessly.

Mrs. Winfret reflected.

"About two weeks," she replied.

Miss Huntington had been leaning forward eagerly drinking in what was said, but, watching her closely, Lampkin saw her gradually take on the droop of utter despondency. She rose with a certain cold majesty.

"You must really excuse me," she said. "I must go up to my room. Oh, aunt, I feel so tired! The gentlemen will excuse us."

The men sprang up.

"Oh, pardon us," said the doctor. "This is too much for your nerves."

"Rest is all I need," answered the young lady, courteously apologetic.

"You must get something soothing to drink and try to sleep," advised Lampkin, and he backed from the room followed by the detective.

Outside Hendricks seemed absorbed in thought.

"Well?" inquired the doctor, as they struck out down the avenue.

"We must sift Gielow to the bottom," sighed Hendricks.

"But I thought you said—"

"I know I did, and I meant it at the moment; but Miss Huntington knows something to offset my theories in his favor. She is absolutely convinced that Gielow is in for it, and it must be powerful evidence to make a woman believe her lover guilty of murder. Ah, doctor, if it had been in my power to have comforted her I'd never have let her go to her room looking as she did."

CHAPTER V.

Mrs. Winfret solicitously accompanied her niece to her chamber. She dismissed the drowsy maid, and herself undressed the girl and sat beside her bed for some moments. Her own nervousness seemed to have taken a little flight into the realm of gratified vanity over having aided a famous detective in a most important investigation. When Dorothy seemed quieter she rose and went softly to her own room.

Dorothy found herself alone. There was an awful solemnity about the artistic chamber with its high ceiling decorated with figures that seemed to rise from their somber background and peer at her through the subdued light. The passage of vehicles on the street below was now markedly infrequent. The girl judged that it was about three o'clock. The moonlight, chill and ghostlike, fell in through a window.

"It is no use," cried the girl. "I can see no hope for him. Oh, God help me!"

She rose, and, drawing on a wrapper, and thrusting her feet into slippers, she went to her writing desk in a corner and sat down. For a moment she leaned her head on her folded arms and her lips moved mutely. Then she opened the desk, and from a secret drawer took out a package of letters and began to peruse them. She was searching for evidence with which to subdue the horrible fear that was taking root in her consciousness. As she laid each note aside a voiceless conviction cried out in her heart. One of the letters she held before her long and steadily, while her beautiful eyes distended and her breath almost ceased. It contained some passages which had suddenly risen before her mind's eye during the talk in the drawing-room. They ran as follows:

"Then there are times, darling, when rationality seems to desert me, leaving me little more than a man with the furious instincts of a goaded animal. It is almost more than I can bear—to think, feel, know, that your whole soul is mine and yet that we must part because it would beggar you to link your fate with mine. In the face of all this, when I meet the man—the human barrier to our happiness—I become a veritable savage.

"The other night at Harley's stag dinner a man rose and drank to you and him, and offered congratulations. Caruthers was manly enough to admit that there was no positive engagement, but he said it was tacitly the same thing. Then a fellow spoke up and said: 'Of course, it's settled, Caruthers. The woman never has been born who could refuse to marry a man at a sacrifice of ten millions in hard cash.'

"The whole party, excepting myself, drank—drank to you and him. While they were getting up I left the room. I thought I was unnoticed, but he had his malicious eye on me and grinned knowingly. As I looked back and saw his taunting face a horrible idea crept into my brain. Knowing that you despise him, and that they will eventually bend your spirit to the ordeal of marriage to him, it flashed into my head that if he were to fall dead where he stood you would be free—we would be liberated. Later another thought came—that if he were to fall by my hand, and even if I had to give up my life in consequence, you would secure your inheritance and in the end would find happiness. Pardon me, darling, but I am beside myself to-day. Bantinni hates him as cordially as I do. I can detect that in his constant allusions to the will. And I am sorry for Bantinni, because he is suffering also. I have never liked him before, but I love to hear him denounce my rival. It is sweet music to my ear, and the count sees the injustice to me in it all."

The girl did not finish the letter. She was convinced now of her lover's guilt. Again her head drooped downward till it rested on her cold arms. She told herself that indirectly she was to blame for it all. She had really intended to throw the inheritance to the winds rather than crucify the purest yearning of her soul and drag the man she adored down into the dregs of despair, and she bitterly reproached herself for not at once acquainting him with that secret resolve. She had refrained only at the earnest request of her solicitors, who begged for time to investigate the legal status of the matter before she acted, and she had allowed them and her aunt to overpersuade her, and now—

She tried to sob out the awful agony pent up within her, but her eyes remained dry, her torture became more and more severe. She rose, and with her hands clasped behind her neck and her head drawn downward she began to pace to and fro. Near the door she walked into the arms of Mrs. Winfret.

"Oh, darling!" cried that lady. "I thought you were asleep."

"For God's sake don't talk to me!" The girl ground the words between her teeth.

Mrs. Winfret put her hands on the girl's shoulders, and turned her rigid face to the light. It was as if Mrs. Winfret were afraid that a single word from her would evoke another outburst, for she said not a word.

"Oh, aunt!" escaped the girl's white lips, "I cannot bear it—I simply cannot!"

The elderly lady released her niece and sat down.

"You believe Arthur Gielow did it," she said, slowly and distinctly. "Well, I am afraid so, too. Poor fellow! he must have been out of his senses, but it is a disgrace to bring your name before the world in such an outrageous manner."

Dorothy moved quickly to her aunt and laid her hands on her shoulder.

"I must see him at once," she said calmly, decidedly. "He has done it all for me. He must be told that the crime has been discovered. He was in his studio this afternoon. I must warn him of his danger, and urge him to escape."

"Great heavens! where would you go?" gasped Mrs. Winfret.

Do You Wish To Borrow Money?

In order to accommodate all classes of borrowers (those who cannot borrow at a bank, as well as those who can), the Mutual Loan and Investment Company, of 118 Market street, Newark, N. J., has a department for handling quickly and confidentially loans ranging from $10 to $300 on furniture, pianos, storage receipts, etc.

The security is not removed from your possession or in any way disturbed. The honest, careful and conservative borrower will try and decide two points before borrowing. First, where he can get the best terms. Second, where he can get fair and square treatment.

This company is in a position to give you by far the most satisfactory terms ever offered by any concern or individual negotiating this class of loans.

With this company you are assured of getting the lowest rates, easiest payments and longest time for repayment. The whole transaction from the time the application is made until loan is paid is entirely confidential. We give you another advantage in case you take the loan out for six months or a year, and wish to settle the same before the time expires: we charge you only for the time you have had the money. We also take up loans from other companies and advance more money.

Kindly call and let us explain our simple and up-to-date methods. If not entirely convenient for you to call, please write and our representative will call and give you any desired information. Remember it costs nothing to make application. Loans promptly made in Elizabeth, Plainfield, Westfield, Roselle, Rahway, Perth Amboy and all suburban towns.

BANKRUPTCY IN LIVERY.

Curious Laws That Were Enforced Centuries Ago in England and Scotland.

At one time in England and Scotland bankrupts were compelled to wear a distinctive dress. This was a result of enactments passed at various times in Scotland from the year 1606 to 1688, says the Philadelphia Public Ledger. The Edinburgh court of cessions specified the dress to be of parti-color, one-half yellow and the other brown, something after the style of the dress now worn in English prisons by the worst class of prisoners, those who have attempted to escape or been guilty of murderous assaults on officers. The enactment also provided that the bankrupt should be exhibited publicly in the market place of his town for a period of two hours, and then sent away, condemned to wear the dress until such time as he had paid his debts or some one else had done it for him.

Although this was a period of laws which can only be described as ferocious, this law was such an outrage on public sentiment that in 1688 it was so far repealed that the wearing of the dress was only compulsory in cases in which fraud had been proved, or, curiously enough, if the bankrupt had been convicted of smuggling. The same practice was legal, but not generally in force in England down to the year 1836. The idea was, of course, to warn persons who might have given credit that the bankrupt was not able to pay, but popular sentiment soon recognized that it was wholly unfair to impose such excessive penalties on a man who might have become bankrupt through no fault of his own, and, as usual, when the law became contrary to public feeling, it ceased to be operative.

PATRIOT WAS IN A PICKLE.

English Consul at San Diego, Cal., Was Mistaken for a Marauder When Raising Flag.

Maj. Allen, the British vice consul at San Diego, Cal., is a patriotic man and on the day preceding the coronation of King Edward desired to see the flag of his country floating over the legation offices bright and early. So he decided to hoist the flag on Friday night before retiring. The consul's office is in one of the largest lodging houses in the business part of the city, and when he had made his way through the dark corridors and up the ladder to the roof he accidentally knocked over several chairs and a few boxes, alarming over half the lodgers, one of whom rang in a burglar alarm and a squad of officers responded. A conference was held with the frightened lodgers, after which a quick advance was made on the flat roof, reports a local exchange.

As the posse appeared Consul Allen was taking the kinks out of the flag. When he was ordered to throw up his hands he refused. A second demand was made accompanied by the information that the challenging party were police officers. The consul replied that he was the local representative of Great Britain and he dared them to arrest him. Of course when he explained his midnight journey to the roof the discomfited officers quickly departed and allowed the consul to finish his flag raising in peace.

A CONDUCTOR'S PLAINT.

He Turned a Woman Passenger Around to Face the Car When Alighting and Made Trouble.

"If the powers that be," said a conductor on a Madison avenue car, according to the New York Commercial Advertiser, "would make it a misdemeanor for a woman to get off a moving car backward, fewer people would be injured, the company would save money and we conductors wouldn't get gray so quickly. We all try our best to teach women how to get off a car, but many of them seem to be unable to learn such a simple thing as that.

"When they fall and are hurt they blame us for it of course. But what saddens me is the way they resent your efforts to teach them how to insure their safety. I turned one woman half way around one day in an effort to get her to step off in the direction in which the car was going. She slapped my face, 'sassed' me good and reported me to the company as an impertinent scoundrel who ought to be in jail. If I hadn't caught her when I did she would have had a bad fall. Encouraging, isn't it? What did the company do? Oh, they understand such things all right."

Ancient Skyscrapers.

Numerous conflicting estimates have been made of the height of the tower of Babel, but one fact never has been denied, and that is that it was a skyscraper. St. Jerome, in his commentary on Isaiah, says that the tower was already 4,000 paces high when God came down to stop the work. A pace is about 2½ feet; therefore 4,000 paces must be 10,000 feet; consequently Babel was 20 times as high as the Pyramids (which are only about 500 feet). Father Calmet says the tower was 81,000 feet high, and that the languages were confounded because the architects were confounded, as they did not know how to bring the building to a head. Moreover, it is understood that the Chinese language of to-day was originally the same language as the high German.

Wireless Telegraphy Old.

While searching through old records the other day the mayor of San Remo discovered some documents which show that a system of wireless telegraphy was invented as far back as 1869.

Sub-Post Offices in Great Britain.

There are over 20,000 subpost offices in the United Kingdom, states Austen Chamberlain.

MADE THE FIRST REVOLVER.

Joseph Shirk Was the Inventor of This Modern Handy Weapon of Destruction.

The majority of people can scarcely remember the time when there was no revolver, yet the fact is that it is a modern weapon and in its form of real efficiency is less than half a century old, says an eastern exchange. It was the invention of Joseph Shirk, a citizen of Lancaster county, Pennsylvania, a county which also boasts of Robert Fulton, who, if not the inventor of the steamboat, was certainly the man who introduced the art of steam navigation successfully and is largely to be credited with the wonderful results which have followed and its revolutionary effects on commerce and civilization.

Before the civil war there were the old-fashioned pepper-boxes, which were dangerous to the user; then came the "navy," which had to be loaded like a musket, each barrel requiring separate attention, and usually being ineffective except at point-blank range. Then followed the present weapon of destruction, which is much more effective than the muskets of our fathers. Out of the revolver was evolved the repeating rifle of to-day, which has so far changed the whole tactics and strategy of war that Jean De Bloch felt that a great war could never again take place. Had he lived to see the end of the late war in South Africa he would have been confirmed in his views.

TURKEYS ARE NOT STUPID.

One Brood in Virginia That Knew Very Well When the Roost Was in Danger.

"People generally think turkeys have the least sense of all the domestic fowls," said Frank Wilkinson, a Virginia farmer, the other day, relates the Washington Star, "but I've got some that seem to have more gray matter than a great many human beings I know.

"One night a short time ago my wife and I and some visitors were out driving in the evening. As I was putting up the horses after returning home I noticed my turkeys were not roosting as usual in the big buttonwood tree by the barn. Instead they were perched on the fence posts and in the limbs of other trees.

"It struck me as mighty funny, as turkeys on the place had roosted in that tree ever since I could remember. I mentioned it to my wife when I went in the house, and she said she had noticed it when we drove in and thought it peculiar.

"That night about midnight a hard wind and rainstorm came up and the old buttonwood blew down. Now, how did those turkeys know that tree was doomed? At sundown there was no sign of a storm, and the buttonwood was fully 50 years old and apparently as stanch as ever. I tell you, I've had great respect for the judgment of turkeys since then."

SOCIAL WASP AND HER PREY.

How the Wary Insect Catches Unsuspecting Object and Stores It Away.

The wasp does not sting her prey. Her habit is to seize the squirming caterpillar in her fore legs, pass it back several times between her mandibles until it is quite limp and dead, and then to roll it deftly into a ball and hold it between the fore legs while she flies to the nest. There the operation is continued three or four minutes longer until the malaxation is complete, says Popular Science Monthly. In distributing the food the mass is held firmly against the ventral side of the thorax by means of the femora of the first pair of legs and a bit partly pinched off with the mandibles. Next, the wasp inserts her head into a cell, lightly touches the larvae with her antennae, causing it to stir and open its mouth, and then pushes the bit of food into the mouth with the tarsal joints of the fore legs. With the remainder the wasp now passes to another cell, and the process is repeated until the ball of food is used up.

A Singular Iron Meteorite.

The University of Wisconsin has come into possession of a unique piece of meteoric iron. The date of its fall is not known, but it was plowed up near Algona, Wis., in 1887, and until last March remained in the hands of the farmer who discovered it. It is shaped like a shield, ten inches long by six broad, and an inch thick in the center. The convex surface is smooth, while the concave side is rough and encrusted with oxide. It is believed that it moved broadside through the air, the convex surface in front. On this surface are strongly marked lines, radiating from a nearly flat elliptical boss in the center. The lines deepen as they approach the periphery.

Political Superiors of Women.

The immigration statistics say that during the past year, of the adults who landed in New York 62 per cent. of the Syrians, 55 per cent. of the Italians, 31 per cent. of the Poles, and 21 per cent. of the Greeks could neither read nor write. It is inspiring, writes Ida Husted Harper, for American women to contemplate that in five years, or less, the vast majority of these, being males, will be casting their ballots for every official and every public question that go before the electorate, while educated, taxpaying, native-born women are absolutely barred from voice or vote. But, then, of course, it insures us a much wiser and better government to have the foreign vote.

London Street Troughs.

London is introducing water troughs for thirsty horses, at which the water can be run off by touching a push-button and fresh water run in.

JERSEY CITY SEES HOSTS OF BAPTISTS

Assembled for State Anniversaries Being Held There This Week.

IN THE PARMLY CHURCH

THE PROGRAMME FOR THE MEETING MEETING IS SUMMED UP.

First Session Was Held on Monday Afternoon—Meetings Wil be Continued Until This Evening—The Various Details.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Jersey City, October 29—Baptists from all parts of New Jersey are flocking to this city this week, to attend the New Jersey Baptists' anniversaries in the Parmly Memorial church.

The convention began Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, with a pastors' conference. Rev. Linn E. Wheller, of New Brunwsick, presided. Papers were read by Rev. A. Lincoln Moore on "The Worship of a Baptist Church," by Rev. W. W. Case on "The Discipline of a Baptist Church," and Rev. A. B. Sears on "The Difficulties and Advantages of Expository Preaching."

Monday evening the Baptist Young People's Union had its rally at 7:30 o'clock. Rev. J. Madison Hare, formerly of the Parmly Memorial church, presided. Rev. O. A. Cook conducted a question box: "What is the B. T. P. W.?" "What Relation Does its Sustain to Our Church?"

The address of the evening was by Rev. W. T. S. Lumbar, president of the New Jersey Christian Endeavor Society, on "Equipment for Service."

The convention met yesterday morning at 9:45 o'clock, with President E. F. Brackett in the chair. Rev. C. H. Pendleton, of New York, preached the annual sermon. A paper on denominational interests of the State was presented by Rev. W. G. Fennell. Reports of the treasurer and various committees occupied the remainder of the morning session The afternoon session was devoted to State mission interests.

This morning the Endeavor Society's interests were discussed and advanced. In the afternoon there will be discussions of "The Training of the Minister." Rev. J. W. Sullivan, of Paterson, and Prof. S. A. Smith, of Elizabeth, will participate.

The semi-annual meeting of the Woman's Baptist Foreign Mission Society of New Jersey is to take place this afternoon, immediately after the close of the Educational Society session.

The convention will be brought to a close this evening with a banquet by the New Jersey Baptist Social Union, in the chapel of the North Baptist church.

The principal post prandial address will be delivered by Rev. Dr. Henry M. Sanders, of New York, who stands in the front rank of eloquent and entertaining Baptist speakers. This is to be the fourth annual banquet of the New Jersey Baptist Social Union, and it is predicted that it will be the most successful.

The Baptist Social Union is presided over by Judge E. Ambler Armstrong, of Camden, who is president; Austin Colgate, of Orange, secretary, and H. B. Zimmerman, of New Brunswick, treasurer.

Dinner Party.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gough, of Lee place, tendered a dinner party, last evering, to a number of friends, in honor of William Huffam and Lewellyn Gibbs Beavan, who are shortly to leave for Michigan. The affair was highly enjoyable and its close several hours were passed in an informal manner.

Proceeds of Saturday's Game.

It is reported by the management that $206 was collected at Saturday's baseball game between the Consolidated and Westfield teams. After the guarantee and expenses are paid the remainder will be divided among the local players.

Talk on Missionary Convention.

Dr. H. K. Carroll, corresponding secretary of the Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal church, will speak at Grace M. E. church tonight at 8 o'clock on the results of the great missionary convention recently held in Cleveland.

WM. NEWCORN IN ASSEMBLY

What Plainfield's Assemblyman Did As a Member of the State Legislature.

DURING THE LAST TERM

Some of the Bills Introduced by Him—Others Which He Engineered Through the House for Senator Cross—A Summary of the Various Bills.

As Plainfield's only representative at the legislative halls at Trenton, Assemblyman William Newcorn has managed to take quite a prominent part although it was his initial year as a member of that body. As he is now a candidate for re-election on the Republican ticket, it will not be out of place to summarize briefly what he has done in the Legislature, both in introducing new bills and forwarding those from the Senate which were introduced by Senator Cross.

The following is a resume of the bills he introduced during the last term of the State Legislature:

No. 6 provides that any justice of the Supreme Court may summarily review any proceedings before any fire and police board and commission, suspending, dismissing, retiring, or reducing any policeman or fireman. This bill is on the lines of the tenure of office act which was passed in 1899, providing that no officer could be dismissed or removed unless duly tried on written charges and an opportunity given to defend themselves by law, provision was made for an appeal from the judgment of that body.

No. 36 changes the term of the City Assessors of the third class cities to three years. This bill applied to the City of Rahway, and makes the assessors' term, whether elective or appointive, the same.

No. 37 provided that members of the volunteer fire department which shall have been or may be disbanded shall be entitled after such disbandment to the usual tax exemptions and is intended to govern the cases at Elizabeth whereby the volunteer department went into a pay department without giving all the volunteer firemen an opportunity to serve the full time.

No. 84 corrects errors in certain acknowledgement of deeds and is intended to validate deeds taken by Commissioners of Deeds whose term of office has expired by virtue of removal from the ward or district that they were appointed for.

No. 85 fixes the term of the solicitors and clerks of the Board of Freeholders in second class counties at two years. There were a number of conflicting statutes on the books providing for the election of these officers in some instances one year and in some instances two years and this act repeals all other acts and makes a uniform term running concurrent with the terms of the freeholders who are elected.

No. 133 provides that when a Board of Freeholders shall deem court house and building inadequate, a committee consisting of the chairman and two members shall have charge of the erection of a new building. This act was passed to construe the acts of 1900 and 1901 and to set aside any question that might arise as to the constitution of a committee who are first appointed to take charge of the construction of a building until the completion of the work, passed for the benefit of the Union County Court House.

He took charge of the bills 153 in facilitating the annexation of a part of one county to the other. It applies

MANY WANT COAL.

Cold Snap Made Rushing Business for Organized Aid Association's Coal Supply.

Yesterday's cold snap was responsible for a large rush of orders at the yard of the Consumers Coal Company for the Organized Aid Association coal. From 10 o'clock until 3, sixty-six requests for fuel were received most of them being for 100 pounds. These were delivered at once and this morning many more were booked.

Out of the carload of anthracite received at the yard about five tons now remain and it is thought this will be sold before tomorrow. The officers of the association are confident that the plan is appreciated by the poor and if the present high prices are maintained an effort will be made to continue selling at cost.

Among the delegates who attended the Baptist State convention, held this week in the Parmley Memorial church, Jersey City, were Mrs. William White, Mrs. B. J. Shreve, Mrs. F. W. Bailey and Mrs. J. A. Powlison, of the First Baptist church, this city.

Accounting Allowed.

The final accounting of J. H. VanWinkle, Jr., executor for the estate of Wieke Vander Weg, was allowed in the Orphan's Court of Union county yesterday.

MISS LONG WINNER OF THE HOOLEY CUP

Active Season for Women of Park Golf Club Ended With a Reception Yesterday.

LAST PLAY FOR CUP

OTHER CONTESTS MARKED THE CONCLUDING DAY OF THE SEASON.

Miss Lydie E. Loizeaux Won the Driving Contest—Miss Long and Allan B. Laing Won Approaching and Putting Contest.

As far as the women of the Park Golf Club are concerned, the active season at tha club came to an end yesterday afternoon. It was the time set for the final weekly competition for the Hooley cup, women's handicap, but, as Miss Laura G. Long could not possibly be beaten no matter the result of the day's play, the competition was given up and the time devoted to the other events arranged for the occasion.

Early in May the play for the Hooley cup, a handsome silver trophy offered by E. S. Hooley, was started and since that time Miss Long has been the most successful in scoring points for it. Miss May S. Shreve, who won the Hooley cup last year, was second. The standing is as follows:

Miss Laura G. Long	23
Miss May Shreve	17
Miss Lydie Loizeaux	16
Miss Mabel Van Deventer	10½
Mrs. C. L. Goodrich	7½
Miss Harriet Shreve	4½
Miss Edna L. French	4½
Miss Elizabeth Curtis	3½
Miss Florence L. Townsend	1½

A driving contest, for a silver trophy offered by a friend of the club, was the first event of the afternoon. It was won by Miss Lydie E. Loizeaux, whose three drives averaged 149 yards, 2 feet. Miss May Shreve was second and Miss Mabel Van Deventer third. The others who competed were Miss Laura G. Long, Miss F. F. Clark and Miss Mary Wells.

Eight couples turned out for the approaching and putting contest which completed the afternoon's programme. First honors and suitable prizes were awarded to Miss Laura G. Long and Allan B. Laing, with a score of 11. Miss Mabel Van Deventer and William R. Faber were second. The others were Miss Lydie E. Loizeaux and Roberts deS. Newhall, Miss May Shreve and Charles B. Morse, Miss Jackson and Robert A. Suffren, Miss Nellie Valiant and Miss Edna French, Miss Mary Wells and Rev. J. O. Mc Kelvey, Miss F. F. Clark and Rev. C. L. Goodrich.

An informal reception was held in the clubhouse where coffee and light refreshments were served. Mrs. Augustus Van Deventer presided at the table and was assisted in serving by some of the young women of the club. There were a number of guests present who divided their time between the chilly post of observation on the piazzas and the warm hearth stone before the roaring open fire. According to schedule, this closing reception should have been held Tuesday but it was postponed by the golf committee as the rain of the morning had tended to keep many away.

LITTLE ONES AT PARTY.

Schoolmates Gave Little Miss Ethel Webster a Surprise.

A number of her little schoolmates tendered a surprise party to Miss Ethel Webster, the young daughter of Frank O. Webster, the well-known Jersey Central Railroad conductor, at her home, 74 Duer street, yesterday afternoon.

The little folks made merry singing their school songs, roasting chestnuts and playing games. Those present were Margaret Lee, Margie Hart, Alice Drake and Madeline and Marion Blair.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Webster to the children during the afternoon.

Twenty-Five Surprised Him.

Twenty-five friends tendered Bert Smith, of Central avenue, a surprise party last evening. The evening was most enjoyably spent in playing games and dancing until a late hour. Refreshments were served after which the guests departed.

Another Ex-Prisoner.

In publishing the names of the ex-prisoners in Plainfield, yesterday, the name of John Mackey was unintentionally omitted. He was a prisoner in Andersonville prison and saw much suffering.

Firemen From Somerville Here.

Chief of the Somerville Fire Department William Quick and his assistants, together with some other firemen from the county seat, visited the members of Warren Engine Company at their Somerset street headquarters last evening. An invitation was extended to the Warren members to attend the fair of the Somerville laddies which is to be given in a week or two.

Wheel Demolished by Truck.

A wheel left standing against the curb on Park avenue near Second street, yesterday afternoon, was backed down upon by one of Captain Hand's trucks and totally demolished. It belonged to David VanBoskerck, of West Second street.

LOCAL YOUNG FOLK JOINED IN WEDLOCK

Marriage of Miss Elizabeth R. Adams to Samuel B. Beekman Last Night.

AT THE GROOM'S HOME

THE MEMBERS OF THE BRIDAL PARTY WERE PRETTILY GOWNED.

Ceremony Was Performed by Rev. John MacMurray — Couple Will Take Up Their Residence in This City—A Pretty Ceremony.

In a prettily decorated corner of the library at the home of the groom's mother on Clinton avenue, Miss Elizabeth Rosalia Adams, of this city, was made the wife of Samuel Bloomfield Beekman, at 7:30 last evening. Rev. John MacMurray, of the Monroe Avenue church, was the officiating clergyman and guests from many places witnessed the event.

Miss Edith Hutton, of Nanuet, N. Y., was maid of honor, while Edward H. Beekman, a brother of the groom, and Clifford Manning, acted as ushers. The bridal party took its position while the "Lohengrin" wedding march was rendered by Miss Etta Randolph, piano, and Miss Laura Hutton, violin. Miss Adams was attired in a pretty gown of white mulle and carried a bouquet of bride roses and chrysanthemums. Blue organdie with trimmings formed the gown of the maid of honor. She carried chrysanthemums In addition to potted plants and ferns, chrysanthemums also were prominent in the decorations of parlor and library.

Following the ceremony a reception was held and supper was served to the assembled guests. Late in the evening Mr. and Mrs. Beekman left on a wedding tour, the destination of which was not divulged. On returning they will reside in this city.

Both young people were handsomely remembered with gifts of a useful and ornamental nature and various little tokens were exchanged in the bridal party. The groom's gift to the bride was a jewelled locket and to the ushers, pearl pins. The maid of honor received a pretty jewel from the bride.

TO ELECT CAPTAIN.

Company K Will Choose Dr. Browning's Successor—Will Probably be Capt. Martin.

Colonel Collins reviewed the members of Company K at their weekly drill last evening in Saengerbund Hall. He was expected here last Wednesday evening to inspect the company but was detained at Elizabeth so the inspection was deferred until last night when a good representation of the membership was present.

The men were put through a rigid review for half an hour by the officer and at the close of the drill said that the company was in excellent trim and would, with a little more drilling prove to be one of the best companies in this State.

After the drill the men were notified that orders would be issued today for the election of a captain to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Dr. W. Kempton Browning. Colonel Collins appointed Major Dungan to conduct the election which will be held next Wednesday evening in Saengerbund Hall.

It is said that there is only one candidate for this office. He is Captain William Martin, of Elizabeth, and it is very probable that he will be elected unless some of the local members come forward as candidates during the coming week.

Wedded at Bride's Home.

Miss Mattie Maitland, of 441 West Sixth street, the foster daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Randolph, and John S. Emmons, of Dunellen, were quietly married last evening at the home of the bride, by Rev. Dr. A. H. Lewis. The affair was void of any ostentatious display, and there were only a few persons present to witness the marriage. The couple will reside in Dunellen.

To Wed Next Week.

Miss Maude Wilcox, of Dunellen, and E. A. Craig, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Craig, of West Front street, will be married Wednesday evening, Nov. 5, at 5 o'clock, at the home of the groom.

Company K's Dance.

Company K's dance will be held in the Casino, this evening, and those who have not secured tickets may procure them at the door. Suhr's orchestra will provide the music.

FOR ENGINE HOUSE.

Borough is Advertising for Bids for New Fire Headquarters on Somerset Street.

Bids for the labor and materials to be used on the new engine house of the Warren Engine Company on Somerset street have been advertised for and will be received at the office of the Borough Clerk, 218 West Front street, until 6 o'clock on November 12. The bids will be opened at the Council Chamber, 45 Somerset street, by the committee at 7:30 o'clock, November 12, the presence of the bidders. A special meeting of the Borough Council will be held during the week following the opening of the bids.

The details for the proposals will be found in another column of this paper.

WERE WELCOMED BY GHOSTS

A HALLOWE'EN PARTY GIVEN BY AN ENDEAVOR SOCIETY.

A Distinctly Novel But Enjoyable Social Held at Home of Nathan E. Lewis.

A Hallowe'en affair accompanied with all the pleasing features that go to make up an evening of genuine fun, was held last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Nathan E. Lewis, of Arlington avenue, under the auspices of the Christian Endeavor Society of the Seventh-Day Baptist church. The proper time for this celebration would be tomorrow evening, but as that will be Sabbath eve, last evening was selected.

The home was very appropriately arranged for the occasion with autumnal decorations. Throughout the house the lights were turned low and from the time that George L. Babcock, attired as a ghost, flashed an electric light in the eyes of the guests of they arrived, until the close of the evening, there was an air of mystery about the whole affair. There was just a slight feeling of timidity evidenced on the part of the guests for they scarcely knew what was coming next. As they ascended to the second floor to lay aside their coats and wraps, they were met by Howard T. Lewis, who was dressed as a spook. He, as well as Mr. Babcock, was noted for his silent manner and not a word was spoken by either of them.

The early part of the evening was spent in play the customary Hallowe'en games, such as ducking for apples, hunting the ring and thimble, fortune-telling, etc. These games furnished no end of fun for all. Another enjoyable feature was the roasting of chestnuts.

After this part of the programme, light refreshments were served under the direction of the committee in charge consisting of Dr. Martha Stillman, chairman; Miss Nancy Randolph, Mrs. Nathan E. Lewis, Miss Myra Clark and Sydney R. Titsworth.

WON A TRUCK.

Isaac Steenson Held Lucky Number in a Drawing.

Isaac Steenson, of 1629 West Front street, drew ticket No. 137 last evening at Graceley's Manhattan Hotel on Somerset street and won the double truck which was put up for a drawing by John Winzenried, of 326 West Front street, and which was to have taken place Saturday evening, Sept. 27, at Smalleytown. The place of the drawing was changed, however, and it came off in the borough at 9 o'clock last night.

To Dine As Hope's Guests.

Members or the Hope Y. M. A. baseball team, managers of the League teams and newspaper men, will be dined at Warnock's supper room this evening by the Y. M. A. baseball committee. Covers will be laid for twenty-five. At the close of the repast James Montross will be presented with the batting average cup by the donor, J. Hervey Doane.

To Sell Bonds.

Advertisements for the sale of ten bonds of the borough of North Plainfield, of $1,000 each, at 4 per cent. interest from Jan. 1, 1903, and payable Jan. 1, 1915, have been set and appear in another column. These bonds are to be coupon or registered, at purchaser's option.

Stole the Wash.

Some sneak thief entered the yard of Mrs. Kennedy, a washerwoman living in Plainfield avenue, Tuesday evening, and stole a number of pieces of clothing hanging on the line. The clothes belonged to George Odiorne, of West Fourth street.

Reception at Park Club.

Invitations have been issued for an opening reception to be held at the Park Club Thursday evening, November 6, at 8:30 o'clock.

FOUND HER SON ALIVE AND WELL

Mrs. Charles Frey Came Face to Face With Lad She Had Mourned As Dead.

IS SAFE AT HOME NOW

William Frey Went Away With the Miners' Band, and Was Finally Found by His Mother, When She Thought He Had Been Killed As Reported.

William Frey, the sixteen-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Frey, of Somerset street, who ran away with the miners' band six weeks ago, was found by his mother, Monday afternoon, just at the time when she had lost all hope of seeing him again. She was on the way to Long Island to consult with relatives over his loss when at the Thirty-fourth street ferry in New York, she came face to face with the very lad she mourned as dead. He was then on his way to Pennsylvania with several other boys but on meeting her at once agreed to accompany her home.

The boy is a musical genius and, when the miners band appeared in this city last month, their method of going about the country appealed to him and his request to become one of their number was readily agreed to by the leader, John Magee. Frey is an expert trombone and kettle drum player, despite his youthfulness and the musicians saw he would be a valuable acquisition. He played with them until two weeks ago when the miners returned to their homes in the vicinity of Tamaqua and Summit Hill, Pa. As the boy was not acquainted with work in the mines he did not remain at either place and without sending any word to this city, started off to Buffalo with another musical organization.

Last week Mrs. Frey, who had been making an effort to locate him, heard from the police at Tremont, Pa., near Summit Hill, that a boy answering his description had been killed by the cars. She journeyed to Tremont only to find that it was not her son, but received information which led her to believe that he had met with a fatal accident in another place. Almost distracted she returned home and Monday decided to go to Long Island to ask relatives what course to pursue. Then it was that she met him and was made aware positively that he was not dead.

When asked as to his failure to send some word home the boy was decidedly reticent and declared that circumstances did not permit him. He made known, however, the course of his wanderings and said that when found in New York, had just come from Buffalo and was about to go to Pennsylvania where a position was awaiting him in a large band.

ANOTHER DIRECTORY.

J. R. Wand is Preparing to Excell His Former Efforts.

J. R. Wand, of the Wand Directory Company, is in this city making plans preparatory to publishing another local directory. His last compilation of Plainfield resident names and addresses is conceded to be the best ever produced, but it is the intention of the firm to make the contemplated one even more complete. It will also include the suburban towns as has been the custom for two years past.

Old Resident Dead.

Word was received in Plainfield, yesterday, telling of the recent death of Peter TenBroeck at the Soldiers' Home in Vineland, where he had been staying for some time. Mr. TenBroeck, prior to going to Vineland, lived in Trenton for a number of years. He was also a resident of Plainfield many years ago. His wife is now living at the Soldiers' Home in Vineland.

Still More Wire Stolen.

The trolley company has been suffering extensively of late as a result of the numerous cases of wire thievery along its route. Tuesday evening thieves worked unmolested and made good their escape with 1,000 feet of trolley wire near Aldene. A special effort will be made to capture the daring law breakers.

Arranged for Inspection.

The officers of the Woman's Relief Corps met yesterday afternoon and made arrangements for the annual inspection which will be held Friday evening, November 7.

to the annexation of the Borough of North Plainfield to the City of Plainfield.

Bill No. 154 which provides for the annexation of North Plainfield, showing the boundaries.

No. 155 which provides for the manner of the consolidation between the two municipalities.

Took a prominent part in bill No. 183, which amended the State Board of Children's guardians act, by requiring that children becoming a public charge shall be placed in some family of the same religious faith of the parents of the children or in an institution of that faith. Also empowers the State Board to superintend the custody of the children with parents if thought best and until parents become capable and of good moral character.

Joint Revolution No. 1 requires the members of Congress to secure a clause in the next Naval Appropriation Bill, providing for the construction of war vessels in the navy yards of the country.

No. 220 authorizes counties having no county hospital to appropriate a sum not exceeding ten thousand dollars for hospitals. This act will naturally benefit Muhlenberg Hospital by the increase of from eight to ten thousand dollars, which will receive seven hundred dollars more per year than what it previously received from the County of Union.

No. 313 which provides for an additional appropriaton for the supervisor of roads and is in the interest of building good roads throughout the State.

Besides this he took charge of all of Senator Cross's bills and was instrumental in having them passed through the house. The following are some of Senator Cross's bills:

A supplement to an act concerning ex parte divorce cases, which provides for the taking of depositions of a witness out of the State in cases where there is no defence put in.

Senate Bill No. 3, which enables anyone for whose benefit any contract shall have been made to maintain an action thereon in courts of law and equity, using the same as a matter of defence to any action brought against him.

Senate Bill No. 4 authorizes keepers of States Prison, State reformatory, State School for Boys and State School for Girls when any of the inmates are suffering from any contagious disease of a dangerous character to refuse any patients into their custody until the medical officers of such institutions shall certify that such danger is passed. The time of such prisoners while in the custody of the sheriffs shall be calculated the same as if they were in the above institutions.

Senate Bill No. 21 provided that all unpaid taxes assessed or imposed since January 1, 1898, together with all costs, fees, charges, etc., shall remain as a first lien on the lands, tenements, herediments and real estate taxed by and during the next five years thereafter. The bill extends the time during which taxes shall be a lien on real estate from two to five years.

No. 57 authorizes that State boards of health in order that local boards of health may be enabled to secure the services of trained sanitary inspectors, to conduct examinations at least semi-annually, to determine the qualifications of applicants. No sanitary inspector is to be chosen by local boards of health after January 1, 1904, unless he be licensed. Does not interfere with the continuance in office of anyone now serving in that capacity. Enables local boards of health to create the office of medical officer of health, for which physicians only will be eligible. His term shall be five years, salary to be fixed by the board.

Senate Bill No. 73 amends the act establishing a village for epileptics by changing a few technical points concerning the government of the institution and the commitment of epileptics. Chief amongst these is a change, allowing persons committed to insane asylums to be committed to the village without any further procedure.

Senate Bill No. 92, is a general act relating to negotiable instruments being a law to establish a uniform law with the different states on this subject. This act in the entirety has been adopted by eighteen states up to date, New Jersey making nineteen, and also by Congress for the District of Columbia.

Senate Bill No. 95 provides that the term of office of every elective person, except justice of the peace, holding office, in any city under the provision of an act of February 28, 1901, (Meeker Act) whose term legally expires between January 1 and January 7 shall be limited so as to expire January 1 at noon in the year of which his term of office would otherwise expire. This act was passed for the benefit of the City of Plainfield where all offices expired on the first Monday of January at noon.

Senate Bill No. 97 relates to the taking of evidence in civil suits when witnesses are absent from the State. This act is an extension of the law of evidence so that testimony of a witness who leaves the State and hides out of the State can be taken just the same as if he was a material witness who did not reside in this State.

Senate Bill No. 147 empowers a Savings Bank by a majority of its managers to extend the time of its corporate powers for a time not exceeding fifty years. This applies to the City of Rahway and confers the right on the Savings Bank of that city to file its certificate of incorporation the same as at present under the corporation act.

Senate Bill No. 148 enables library associations to take by gift or grant any real estate not to exceed the value of sixty thousand dollars, said property to be exempt from taxation. Under the old law they could receive private bequests up to the amount of ten thousand dollars.

EAST JERSEY'S TOURNEY

Individual Golf Championship of East Jersey League at Essex County Club.

The next individual championship tournament of the East Jersey Golf League will be held on October 31 and November 1 over the links of the Essex County Country Club. Each club is to enter four men, and entries close October 30 with President Paul E. Heller, of the Forest Hill Field Club.

The South Orange Field Club has offered a handsome cup as prize in the individual championship. The last two championships have been held over long courses, and as the players have always shown an ability to score well, the chances are that some cleverly played rounds will be recorded at the Country Club.

There is a postponed team match to be played between the South Orange Field Club and the Morristown Field Club at South Orange, and also a tie to be played off between East Orange and Elizabeth, at Elizabeth. The standing of the teams in the championship race is as follows:

	Won.	Lost.	P. C.
Elizabeth	7	2	.777
Morristown	6	3	.663
Forest Hill	6	4	.600
East Orange	4	5	.444
Colonia	3	7	.300

THEATRICAL.

Minnie Seligman will make her reappearance as leading woman of the Proctor Stock Company at Proctor's Fifth Avenue Theatre, New York, Monday, playing Rosalind in a sumptuous revival of "As You Like It," presented with the original music and accessories from the Daly Theatre presentation. "As You Like It" will be given the most careful production of any play the Fifth Avenue Stock Company has yet attempted. From Hoytian farce to the classic drama is a far cry, and shows the versatility of the Proctor players as no other contrast could better do. The favorites will be seen in prominent roles, Paul McAllister, Gus Weinberg, Verner Clarges, Geo. Friend, Florence Reed, Mrs. Ada Levick and Ivah M. Wills being cast in the principal parts. Irving Montgomery, a strong man of wide repute, will play Charles, the Wrestler. There will be the usual amount of excellent vaudeville, headed by Mme. Emmy and her pets, shown between acts, and preceding and following the play, keeping the performance continuous. "On the Bowery," a faithful picture of New York life, will be given by the stock company at the Fifty-Eighth Street Theatre, with Ralph Cummings and Edna Archer Crawford in the principal parts. "The Wages of Sin," a favorite old melodrama, will be played by the Proctor Stock Company at the popular Harlem theatre. Big bills of continuous vaudeville attract great throngs to the Twenty-Third Street Theatre. Vaudeville of the very best class continues to pack Proctor's Newark theatre to its capacity. For election week the topping feature will be Milly Capell's wonderful feats of equestrian daring, an exhibition of fearlessness unequaled upon the American stage.

There is one rational way to treat nasal catarrh: The medicine is applied direct to the affected membrane. The remedy is Ely's Cream Balm. It restores the inflamed tissues to a healthy state without drying all the life out of them and it gives back the lost senses of taste and smell. The sufferer who is tired of vain experiments should use Cream Balm. Druggists sell it for 50 cts. Ely Brothers, 56 Warren street, New York, will mail it.

The Clearing Sale of Men's Shoes.

AN OPPORTUNITY to buy shoes at retail for less than manufacturer's cost can only come about through some extraordinary condition. If it were not for the fact that we have determined to open our Men's Shoe Annex with entirely new lines, we would not quote lower prices than any ever before named on strictly high-grade and guaranteed footwear. One-quarter to a third off and half original markings should bring every man with a shoe want into our second floor department this week.

THANKSGIVING DAY.

President Roosevelt Names Nov. 27 For Annual Feast.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—President Roosevelt has issued a proclamation designating Thursday, Nov. 27, as a day of thanksgiving. The proclamation is as follows:

According to the yearly custom of our people, it falls upon the president at this season to appoint a day of festival and thanksgiving to God.

Over a century and a quarter has passed since this country took its place among the nations of the earth, and during that time we have had on the whole more to be thankful for than has fallen to the lot of any other nation. Generation after generation has grown to manhood and passed away. Each has had to bear its peculiar burdens, each to face its special crises, and each has known years of grim trial, when the country was menaced by malice, domestic or foreign levy, when the hand of the Lord was heavy upon it in drought or flood or pestilence, when in bodily distress and anguish of soul it paid penalty of folly and a froward heart.

Nevertheless decade by decade we have struggled onward and upward. We now abundantly enjoy material well being, and under the favor of the Most High we are striving earnestly to achieve moral and spiritual uplifting. The year that has just closed has been one of peace and of overflowing plenty. Hardly has any people enjoyed greater prosperity than we are now enjoying. For this we render heartfelt and solemn thanks to the Giver of Good, and we seek to praise him not by words only, but by deeds, by the way in which we do our duty to ourselves and to our fellow men.

Now, therefore, I, Theodore Roosevelt, president of the United States, do hereby designate as a day of general thanksgiving Thursday, the 27th of the coming November, and do recommend that throughout the land the people cease from their ordinary occupations and in their several homes and places of worship render thanks unto Almighty God for the manifold blessings of the past year. In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Immigrants Come In at Back Door.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—Commissioner General Sargent of the immigration bureau has made public a report from Robert Watchern, special immigrant inspector, dated Paris, France, Aug. 22, 1902, on the immigration of the United States by way of Canada. Mr. Watchern says that Europeans who obviously are ineligible to enter the United States for several years have been directed by designing agents to Canadian ports with a view to effecting a surreptitious entrance into the United States across the international boundary. Intending immigrants who by reason of some disqualification are rejected by the lines running to United States ports are turned over to lines running to Canada, and, with few exceptions, they are accepted without question. Thousands every year thus find their way to Canada and thence to the United States. In conclusion the report urges that all roads into the United States be made equally straight and narrow.

Body of Unknown Woman Found.

READING, Mass., Oct. 30.—A huntsman's dog found the body of a murdered woman just off the well traveled highway near the Wakefield line late yesterday. The victim evidently was a tramp, and she has not been identified. Walter Locke, whose dog drew him to the place, found the body to be warm and blood to be slowly oozing from no less than six wounds in the head. Five of these were from pistol bullets, while the sixth, which had gashed the left ear and plunged deep into the neck, had been made by some sharp instrument. There was every indication that the murder had been committed elsewhere and that the body had been taken from a wagon and dragged into the field where it was found. From the number of wounds the local authorities are led to believe that the crime was done to hide.

Flag In Venezuela.

WILLEMSTAD, Curacao, Oct. 30.—News has been received here that the town of Carupano, state of Bermudez, Venezuela, was attacked by revolutionists Sunday and Monday of last week. After a hard fight with the government soldiers, in which the rebels lost [illegible] killed and a number of men wounded, they retreated. The government forces then burned forty-three houses belonging to Carupano. These charges are denied by the revolutionists, who say that the houses in question were burned as a result of the fighting.

Killed His Wife and Himself.

INDEPENDENCE, Kan., Oct. 30.—C. W. Hooper shot and killed his wife, Luyetta Hooper, and then killed himself. When found, the woman clutched a divorce decree, which awarded her the custody of their four children. The couple had just emerged from a lawyer's office when Hooper fired three shots at his wife, all of which took effect, and then turned the weapon on himself. Hooper was forty-six years old and his wife about twenty-nine.

Mock Hanging Fatal.

OXFORD, Miss., Oct. 30.—Emmanuel Crump, a fourteen-year-old negro boy who had witnessed the recent hanging of Mathis and Lester here, secured a plow line and hung it over a tree limb and arranged a noose for a mock hanging of himself. He stood on a milk jar and placed his head in the noose. In some manner he knocked the jar away, and his mock hanging developed into the genuine article. When found, he was dead.

Locked In Children Burned.

GUTHRIE, Okla., Oct. 30.—A negro woman, wife of a negro railroad laborer, locked their three children, two girls and a boy, aged five, seven and ten years, in the house and went out for the day. The children set fire to the place and were burned to death.

Dedication of Miss Gould's Gift.

HAMPTON, Va., Oct. 30.—Miss Helen Gould and a party of friends are at Old Point Comfort to participate in the exercises in connection with the dedication of the Y. M. C. A. building which is to be dedicated to the army and navy by Miss Gould.

Weather Probabilities.

Fair; slowly rising temperature; fresh northwest winds, diminishing.

DOWN IN THE MINES

Anthracite Strike Commission Begins Its Work.

HEADQUARTERS NOW AT SCRANTON.

A Thorough Inspection of the Collieries and Homes to Be Made. Members Pay For Their Special Cars.

SCRANTON, Pa., Oct. 30.—The anthracite coal strike commissioners, who will make an inspection of the mines and the homes of the mine workers, have arrived here over the Central Railroad of New Jersey. Commissioner T. H. Watkins, whose home is in this city, has arranged some of the details for the first day's tour of the upper region. The commission's headquarters are at the Hotel Jermyn, where the party occupies fourteen rooms.

Today is being spent in the region north of this city. At 9:15 a. m. the party left via the Delaware and Hudson railroad for Forest City. This mining town is in Susquehanna county and is the upper edge of the hard coal fields, twenty-two miles from here. The operators are represented by Mine Manager Bryden of the New York, Ontario and Western company, Superintendent Rose of the Delaware and Hudson, General Manager Thorne of the Temple Iron company and General Manager May of the Erie company. District President T. D. Nicholls of the miners' union is the principal representative of the miners. President Mitchell will not come to this city unless sent for.

The train traveled slowly so that the commission might get a good idea of the country. At Forest City the party was lowered into one of the Erie company's mines and nearly the entire morning was spent under ground. As a precaution against accident a superintendent, fire boss or a practical miner accompanied each member of the party through the workings.

A coal breaker was also visited at Carbondale, four miles south of Forest City, and then the return journey to Scranton was made over the Ontario and Western railroad. The commissioners this afternoon will stop at Olyphant, six miles north of Scranton, for the purpose of visiting other collieries and to look at the homes and surroundings of the mine workers. Scranton will be reached at about 6 o'clock in the evening.

Tomorrow the commission will spend the day visiting collieries in and about the city of Scranton.

For their sessions in the coal regions the commission will use the Baltimore and Ohio club car. This car is the only one of its kind in the country and is specially adapted for the accommodation of parties traveling from place to place. It was fitted up for the Gridiron club's visit to the Lotus club dinner several years ago and subsequently was used by Admiral Dewey in his swing around the circle. In addition to the club car the strike commission will have at its disposal a Pullman sleeper. The commission pays for both cars, having refused a tender of cars made by the railroads operating in the coal regions.

Great Demonstration For Mitchell.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Oct. 30.—Mitchell day was celebrated in all the principal towns of the anthracite coal region, and in order that all the miners might have an opportunity to participate in the exercises the mines were closed down. The principal demonstration was held in this city, and President Mitchell took part. There was snow and sunshine during the day, but the changeable weather did not keep an army of strikers out of town. Everybody wore a John Mitchell badge. The procession started shortly before noon and was nearly one hour in passing a given point. It is estimated that there were 10,000 men in line.

All Collieries Save One Idle.

SCRANTON, Pa., Oct. 30.—Mitchell day observances threw idle all the collieries of this region, excepting the Oxford and some of the washeries. The Oxford, which worked during the strike, has taken back sixty of its old employees. A notice was posted at the head of the shaft that any one who did not report for work yesterday would be discharged. Despite this some of the union men at the mine joined the West Scranton celebration. A majority of washeries worked, but with small forces.

Eight Thousand Miners Parade.

HAZLETON, Pa., Oct. 30.—The United Mine Workers of Hazleton and surrounding towns have celebrated Mitchell day here by holding a parade, in which 8,000 men took part, and later in listening to addresses by local and visiting speakers at the Grand Opera House. All of the collieries except the Lattimer operations of C. Pardee & Co. were idle.

Berlin's Enterprises.

BERLIN, Oct. 30.—The municipality of Berlin has decided to devote the new fifty million dollar loan largely to profit making enterprises, including $15,000,000 for the erection of gas works near Tegel, six miles from Berlin, and for the construction of a wholesale meat market.

Snow In Pennsylvania.

ALTOONA, Pa., Oct. 30.—This section of Pennsylvania was swept by a snowstorm yesterday. Over an inch of snow fell, and the temperature was at the freezing point.

Canadian Dock Laborers Strike.

MONTREAL, Oct. 30.—Two thousand dock laborers have struck, completely tying up shipping in this port.

LONDON LOCOMOTION

Morgan "Tube" Scheme Excites Parliament.

EFFORT TO REINSTATE BILL FAILS.

The Question of the City's Subways Causes a Strong Feeling—Liberal Press Favors Municipal Ownership.

LONDON, Oct. 30.—The efforts of the promoters of the Morgan "tube" railway scheme to procure the re-establishment of the parliamentary status of their original franchise bill as a whole led to an hour's debate in the house of commons last night, the only result of which was the withdrawal of the endeavor.

The Morgans intend to ask later for the recommittal of the bill granting the rights for their proposed "tube" and other lines without regard to the London United Tramway company, which was to have been operated in connection with the Morgan "tubes," but which was privately bought up by the Yerkes interests.

Thomas G. Ashton, who moved the recommittal of the Morgan bill, accused the London United company of a dishonorable transaction and said he doubted whether so "dirty a transaction" had ever been done by parties coming before parliament. He said also that the house should resent this action by passing the Morgan bill, thus giving the Morgans a chance. Mr. Ashton's proposition was greeted with cries of "No!" "No!"

Mr. Ashton's motion was opposed by Sir John Dickson-Poynder, who said the Morgan scheme was now a truncated affair and that it was not within the province of parliament to intervene in the dissensions of rival speculators. James W. Lowther agreed that the Morgan promoters had been badly used, but he said their enemies were those of their own household.

Sir Lewis McIver, chairman of the house of commons railroad committee, and others also opposed the motion, which was finally withdrawn.

The "tube" disputes promise to involve Londoners in the thorny problem whether the county council or private speculators shall supply London's locomotion needs. A strong feeling is expressed equally against the American endeavors to secure control of the system and against the county council involving itself in probable heavy financial burdens by taking up the work of building "tubes" and tramways.

The debate in the house of commons Tuesday night was watched by representatives of all the underground railway interests in London.

Referring to the matter editorially, all the London papers yesterday morning expressed satisfaction with the result of Tuesday night's debate and protest against American capitalists being permitted to exploit the rich field of London transit. Discussion of the question whether the county council should undertake the work rather follows political lines, the Conservative papers being against and the Liberal papers in favor of the municipalization of transit. It cannot be doubted, however, that recent events have strengthened enormously the claim of the county council at least to have a greater voice in the matter than hitherto.

Empty Boat Tells the Tale.

UTICA, N. Y., Oct. 30.—The boat in which Stewart J. Lowery of this city went out on Oneida lake last Thursday afternoon has been found on the south shore of the lake, and there is no longer doubt that Lowery has been drowned. Lowery had been in a sanitarium for nervous trouble, caused by overstudy during his last year at Cornell. His friends did not know that he had gone to the lake till a message was received that he had gone out in a boat the night before and had not appeared. Search has been kept up night and day since Sunday, and the finding of the boat is the first clew to his disappearance.

Mining Property Caves In.

JOPLIN, Mo., Oct. 30.—The Stewart mill and other valuable mining property, including seven shafts in the Eleventh Hour tract at Prosperity, near here, taking in over two acres of ground, have caved in to a depth of 100 feet. The cavein is perhaps the largest that ever occurred in the Missouri-Kansas district. Fifty miners escaped uninjured, having been warned of the approaching danger by the cracking of the ground.

Electrocuted In His Home.

PIEDMONT, W. Va., Oct. 30.—While screwing an incandescent lamp into a socket at his home 1,500 electric volts passed through the body of George W. Harrison, Jr., killing him instantly. The wire which furnished the electric light current for the residence had been crossed by a power circuit on the outside. Harrison was the son of George W. Harrison, general passenger agent of the West Virginia Central Railroad company.

Minneapolis Forger Sentenced.

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 30.—Edward Blew, senior member of the commission firm of Blew & Armstrong, pleaded guilty to forging a bill of lading on which he secured an advance at a local bank. He was sentenced to seven and a half years in the penitentiary. His partner, Thomas F. Armstrong, will plead to a similar charge.

Governor General Minto Hurt.

OTTAWA, Ont., Oct. 30.—While out riding Lord Minto, the governor general, met with an accident which will keep him in bed for a few days. His horse stumbled, and he was thrown underneath, sustaining a badly bruised leg. No bones were broken.

GET DOWN TO FACTS.

Read What Plainfield Citizens Say.

Get down to the facts of the matter. Don't take a stranger's word. It is easier to prove the truthfulness of statements made by citizens of Plainfield than endorsement coming from some far away place. Read the following:

Mr. Jepp Zensen, of 728 West Front street, pattern maker by trade, says: "For a year I had a sort of grinding pain across my back at times extending up to my shoulders and there was a lameness over my kidneys and severe headaches. When I stooped I always felt dizzy and sometimes was fairly blinded. In the mornings I felt stiff and sore until I got some exercise. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised in my city paper and so highly recommended for kidney complaint that I went to L. W. Randolph's drug store and got a box. They did me a great deal of good. From my experience with Doan's Kidney Pills I cannot do otherwise than endorse them."

For sale by all dealers; price 50c a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

The Best on Earth! We Challenge the World!

The Extinguishers that turn up-side-down to discharge are good of their kind, but this is far better. Read the following reasons:

Points of superior merit of the Diggs-Upright over any other machine—

2—Can never be discharged by accident; absolutely under the control of the operator.

3—A 3-gallon machine of this type contains ONE QUART more of liquid than a reversible, because it does not require a handle underneath.

4—It does not need inspection and recharging as required for the reversible with its loose stopple.

5—The acid being released at the top of the tank, and the outlet being at the bottom, the mingling of the chemicals is so thorough before the acid reaches the outlet that it is completely neutralized, and no harm can be done to flesh or fabric. In the reversible type the acid is released within the two inches of the outlet.

6—Convenience in handling. The machine stands on its bottom, and all the operator has to do is to turn the screw in the cap, and the flow begins instantly.

7—The bottle is not broken, and no nuisance of broken glass.

DOUKHOBORS DEFENDED.

Man Who Induced Them to Leave Russia Doubts Reports.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 30.—The Doukhobors, who are said to be creating disturbances in Manitoba, were induced to leave Russia and settle in Canada by Joseph S. Elkinton, a Quaker of this city, who was aided by several influential members of the Society of Friends. He spent three months among the Doukhobors and was the personal representative of the men who made possible the emigration of the Russian sect.

Mr. Elkinton says he has agents in each of the fifty-eight Doukhobor villages in Canada, but has not as yet received information from them of marching and alleged rioting.

"That 2,000 of them are on the march, propagating doctrines," said Mr. Elkinton; "I cannot believe. I am sure that the whole matter has been exaggerated."

Mr. Elkinton said he had visited fifty-four of the fifty-eight villages. Crime, he asserted, is practically unknown among the people. Honesty, morality and truthfulness he declared to be their chief characteristics.

Fanatics Not Disorderly.

WINNIPEG, Man., Oct. 30.—The Doukhobor fanatics are encamped in the vicinity of Yorktown. Nothing of a disorderly nature has yet occurred. While the women and children of the party spent the night in the shed, the men sought the shelter of a bluff. The whole night was spent in religious exercises. They seem determined to continue and expressed themselves thus to Agent Speers, who pointedly told them that they would not be allowed to wander in such large numbers. There is no danger of any trouble.

A Collision Without Fatalities.

LANCASTER, Pa., Oct. 30.—Passengers on the Harrisburg express, leaving this city at 7:15 o'clock last night, had almost a miraculous escape from death. The express was running at the rate of forty miles an hour when it crashed into the rear of a freight train which was standing on the track at Dillerville, one mile north of this city. The engine of the express plowed into the last car of the freight train. From some inexplicable cause none of the cars was derailed. The violence of the compact shattered the windows of the passenger coaches and hurled the passengers from their seats, but aside from the jar no one was hurt. The escape of Engineer Thomas and Fireman Downes of the express train was remarkable. They were knocked down against their firebox, but managed to crawl out of the wreck, slightly scalded and bruised. The express engine and three freight cars caught fire and were consumed.

A Shakeup at Ellis Island.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—A severe shakeup is to be made soon in the immigration service at Ellis Island, and, following a secret investigation into the condition of affairs in the service. Some of the facts are to be placed before the grand jury in New York. The department of justice is understood to be handling the facts for presentation to the grand jury. The outlook is that about five inspectors of immigration and a number of lesser officials will be dismissed. The investigation shows, it is claimed, that for years a system of petty thieving and blackmail has gone on. Besides the dismissals there will be a shifting of about forty "privilege men." Railroad and steamship companies likewise will be held responsible in the future for their employees.

Famine In South China.

VICTORIA, B. C., Oct. 30.—The Chinese Benevolent society of this city has received cablegrams from south China asking for assistance for the famine stricken people. Their crop has failed in five largely populated districts as a result of a drought which has lasted five months. The richer Chinese, taking advantage of the famine, have cornered the rice supply and have raised the price to 4 cents per pound.

A Wintry Day.

HOOSICK FALLS, N. Y., Oct. 30.—The weather yesterday marked the first real winter day of the season. A flurry of snow came early in the day and continued intermittently, with blasts of wind resembling a small blizzard, until 2 o'clock in the afternoon. The sharpest flurry was at noon, when the ground was barely covered, but the snow soon melted.

Large Missionary Gathering.

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 30.—The Woman's Foreign Missionary society of the Methodist Episcopal church has formally opened its thirty-fourth annual session here. The address of welcome was made by Rev. James S. Montgomery, pastor of Wesley church. It is probable that $500,000 will be appropriated this year by the secretaries.

Boodler's Trial Begun.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 30.—Judge Ryan denied the application for a change of venue of former Delegate Edmund Bersch, charged with perjury in connection with the suburban bribery case. A jury was then selected and the taking of testimony begun.

CONDENSED DISPATCHES.

Musicians in Paris theaters, 1,200 in all, voted for a general strike.

Chicago and Alton Railroad company advanced the wages of its shopmen.

Burglars dynamited the vault of the private bank of Charles K. Knapp, in Sodus, N. Y., obtaining, it is believed, $5,000 in cash.

About 2,000 shipyard joiners of the northeast coast of England have struck work as a protest against a 5 per cent reduction in their wages.

NEW POSTMASTERS.

All Records Broken In Presidential Appointments.

POSTOFFICE BURGLARIES ON INCREASE

Report of Fourth Assistant Bristow Shows More Offices Discontinued Than Established Owing to Rural Free Delivery.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—A total of 2,370 presidential postmasters were appointed last year, according to the annual report of J. L. Bristow, fourth assistant postmaster general, just issued. This is the largest number appointed in any one year in the history of the postal service.

The increase was due mainly to the expiration of commissions during the year and the advance of many fourth class offices to the presidential grade. The total number of appointments of postmasters of all classes was 16,970, an increase of 1,313.

There was a slight increase in the number of removals of postmasters "for cause" as a result of a more strict discipline for carelessness and irregularities. There were 3,038 postoffices established and 4,059 discontinued, the latter attributable mostly to the extension of the rural free delivery service and the consolidation of postoffices adjacent to large presidential offices. The number of postoffices in the United States on June 30 was 75,924, of which 220 were first class, 1,023 second class, 3,488 third class and 71,193 fourth class.

The report shows that burglaries of postoffices and the robberies of mail boxes are on the increase. Arrests and convictions for all offenses have materially increased. There were 1,746 robberies of postoffices, 11 robberies of mail trains, 16 of mail messengers, star route carriers and wagons and 465 of letter boxes.

Of the total of 1,721 persons arrested for violating postal laws 304 were connected with the postal service, including 112 postmasters.

Mr. Bristow renews his recommendations that a law be enacted requiring assistant postmasters, cashiers and other employees to give bonds to postmasters direct and that postmasters be held responsible under their own bonds for all acts and defaults at their offices.

Dean of Ripon Creates a Sensation.

LONDON, Oct. 30.—The Very Rev. William H. Fremantle, dean of Ripon, addressing a meeting of the Churchmen's union on the subject of natural Christianity, created a sensation by suggesting that the idea of the immaculate conception should be left out of account, because, except in St. Matthew and St. Luke, the virginal birth of Christ is not mentioned in the New Testament. The speaker then proceeded to ask whether it was irreverent to believe that Christ in the matter of miracles, such as raising the dead, etc., could not have failed to make a distinction between death and various forms of unconsciousness. With regard to the resurrection, the dean of Ripon said he considered this was meant spiritually and not materially.

Funeral of Mrs. Stanton.

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—The funeral services of Mrs. Elizabeth Cady Stanton were held yesterday at her late residence, 250 West Ninety-fourth street, in the presence of the members of her family and many of those who have been closely associated with her in the past. Addresses were delivered by the Rev. Moncure D. Conway of South Place chapel, London, and by the Rev. Antoinette Blackwell of Boston, the first woman ordained a minister of the gospel in this country. The interment was in Woodlawn cemetery.

Molineux Prosecution Rests.

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—After eight and one-half days spent in getting a jury and examining witnesses the prosecution in the trial of Roland B. Molineux for the murder of Katherine J. Adams rested its case. Immediately after the announcement of Mr. Osborne that he had concluded his case there was a conference between the lawyers on both sides and Justice Lambert, at the conclusion of which it was announced that the trial would be adjourned for the day.

Matrimonial Broker In Trouble.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 30.—W. W. Chinn, the alleged proprietor of the Verona Book company and introduction bureau, a matrimonial concern, has been arrested, charged with using the United States mails to defraud. It is stated that Chinn came to St. Louis from Chicago three weeks ago. His stenographer, who was taken to the federal building as a witness, stated that Chinn's receipts averaged from $85 to $100 a day.

Wrecked on Newfoundland Coast.

ST. JOHN, N. B., Oct. 30.—The British barkentine Frederica, Captain Churchill, was wrecked during a storm on the rocks two miles east of Cape Spencer light. The vessel was bound from Parrsboro, N. S., to Portland, Me., with coal. The crew was saved with difficulty.

A Railroad Through Cuba Soon.

HAVANA, Oct. 30.—The railroad commission has granted to the Cuba company the right to register in the name of the Cuba Railway company $20,000,000 of capital stock. It is expected that the construction of the railroad through Cuba will be completed before next December.

Evans Heads Asiatic Squadron.

THE ELECTION EDITION.

Unusual interest seems to be attached to the Congressional and county campaigns in Union this year. While the fight for Congress always attracts some attention, the fact that both sides are pressing every nerve to win out and that the result is in doubt has given an added interest to this year's fight.

In order to keep its readers thoroughly posted with the situation in which the public takes so much interest this year, a resume of the situation in the three counties making up the Fifth Congressional district will shortly appear in these columns and the result forecasted as closely as it is possible for experienced and impartial observers. In this campaign, The Daily Press has simply aimed to keep its readers fully in touch with the existing conditions and this concluding feature will be as unbiased and impartial as it is possible to make it.

Following its custom of past years, The Daily Press will make a special effort to give its readers the results of the election accurately and in full. The Daily Press will not be published Election Day, which comes next Tuesday and its edition of the day following will appear at 6 o'clock in the morning instead of in the afternoon as is the usual custom. We have never pretended to compete with the Metropolitan papers in giving the results throughout the country although, at the last national election, we did give later returns than did many of the New York morning papers which were distributed here the same time as our morning edition. On this occasion, our efforts will be devoted to giving the complete county and local returns and summarizing the results throughout the State. The election editions of The Daily Press have long been famous throughout the county for their excellence and completeness and this year's edition will be no exception.

For the benefit of The Daily Press advertisers, it might be well to state that copy for their advertisements must reach this office by noon Election Day in order to ensure publication in the issue of Wednesday morning. Subscribers will receive the paper in time to peruse it at their breakfast tables.

The contractor who is blocking up the front of the Babcock building is bringing down on his head the condemnation of all the tenants of that building and the general public as well. That corner is one of the most important in the city and the present arrangement is not at all conducive to the general convenience and comfort of the public at large. The use of the lot on the opposite side of Madison avenue and several other places were offered to the contractor for the storage of his materials but he has insisted in going just where he is not wanted and where the tenants of the building are most discommoded. The indignation against him seems therefore perfectly righteous.

According to the Philadelphia Record a campaign manager in St. Paul says that he put into display advertising in the newspaper but a small sum as compared with what is commonly expended for campaigning in other ways, yet the known results were vastly greater than from all other means of arousing the public. He is sure the time will come when the greater part of the campaign fund will be used in newspaper display advertisements.

It looks as if it would soon be up to the Central Railroad of New Jersey to elevate its tracks at Cranford. The people of that place are beginning to realize the dangers of grade crossings. There are few left on the Central now, one at Garwood, one at Westfield and another at Lorraine, besides those at Cranford.

PERSONAL.

Jacob Stoker, of Pennsylvania, is visiting friends in the borough for a time.

Mrs. Frank Story, of this city, is spending a few days with New York relatives.

Cyrus Todd, of Bernardsville, has been spending a few days with Plainfield relatives.

Miss Clara Force is spending a few days with her father, B. R. Force, of East Front street.

O. B. Leonard, of Perth Amboy, has returned home after a short visit with Plainfield relatives.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher

Don't be Deceived.

Don't be deceived by the appearance of our front. While our front may appear cold, untidy and forbidding, inside all is brightness, good cheer and comfort. We have been forced to join the "Shut-in Society," but we are mighty active members of the same. Desirable winter goods in variety are displayed in profusion under the protecting shadow of a tarred paper roof. By all means visit us. You will be amply repaid for the slight discomfort you may suffer in reaching here, by the many attractions which await your consideration.

OUR NEW FURS ARE HERE. We should like you to see them. Choice skins made up in the latest shapes in infinite variety. Special values offered in fine goods. Goods we are willing to sell on much smaller margins than New York city stores can afford to do.

P. & L. KID GLOVES. THEY SELL FOR 1.00 A PAIR. No one should expect to get good kid gloves for less. We know the P. & L. to be the best 1.00 glove that can be bought. It has an international reputation as a 1.00 glove. Unscrupulous merchants have been known to sell it for 1.50 with never a complaint. Fall stock now complete.

CHILDREN'S CLOAKS. All new and exceedingly stylish. No more desirable garments anywhere. Why go to New York to buy them? Bonnets made to match them.

LADIES' SKIRTS. Walking Skirts 2.98 to 6.98. All stylishly designed and beautifully finished. Well-fitting Dress Skirts of Cheviots, Basket Cloths, Venetians, Broadcloths, etc. Silk Skirts of Taffeta and Peau-de-Soie at 9.98, 10.98, 11.48 and 12.98. Beautiful garments.

COMFORTABLES AND BLANKETS. Two strong lines with us. We are large buyers. We get the best prices and we are most mighty particular about styles.

IN THE CARPET STORE. A LACE CURTAIN SALE IS NOW ON. Special opportunities for securing bargains in this line should be taken advantage of at once.

THURSDAY
Sale of Oil Heaters,

3.98

Reg. Price 5.00.

The improved BANNER. They are absolutely smokeless and odorless and at the same time the safest and most economical heaters ever made. Cost to operate one cent an hour. Will heat a room 20 foot square in cold weather.

"See Them In Operation."

FRIDAY
Sale of Fine Rockers,

1.98

Reg. Price 3.00.

On Friday we give you an opportunity to buy a good Rocker for a very little money. We secured about 50 of them from one of the largest and best factories in the country. Some of them are finished in golden oak and some in mahogany. The best value ever offered in this line.

"Now on Exhibition in the Window."

Rev. Frank Fletcher is obliged to carry a badly bruised face as the result of a fall, received while attending the Baptist conference, at Jersey City, Monday.

The prospects are that the Presbyterian fair to be held next month will be one of the largest and most successful fairs the church has ever conducted.

Edmund Teel and family are moving into the house on Dunellen avenue, formerly occupied by Mrs. Dunham, who has removed to Plainfield.

William Taylor and W. J. Winges have returned from a trip to South Dakota where they have been inspecting some mining property.

A Farmers' Institute will be held in the Stelton Baptist church December 11. Farmers from around here will attend.

J. H. L. Peters' new house on Dunellen avenue is already for occupancy now, except for a few finishing touches.

The younger boys around town are preparing for Hallowe'en when they expect to have a high old time.

George Conover is running his cider mill this year again and is receiving a large number of apples.

Regular prayer meeting was held last evening in the local churches, with good attendance.

Misses Mabel and Ethel Jamison, of Raritan, are spending a few days with friends in town.

A postponed meeting of the checker club will be held with W. H. Coles this evening.

The local W. C. T. U. will hold its regular weekly meeting this afternoon.

Mrs. Buckle, of Raritan, is visiting friends in town for a few days.

C. E. Wilson spent yesterday with friends in Somerville.

NEW MARKET.

Harvey Patterson, of Center street, entertained a number of his friends at a social gathering at his home, Monday evening. Guests were present from Plainfield and other places and all spent a pleasant evening. Refreshments were served before they returned home.

The number of voters in the township is about the same as usual this year and there have been few material losses or gains by either party. A few names have been added in town.

Prayer meeting was held last evening in the First Baptist church with the pastor as leader.

The cornet band will meet for regular practice this evening in Recreation Hall.

Corn cutting throughout Piscataway is about finished and husking is well under way.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

Manager Johnston, of the local ball team, and the management of the Plainfield Consolidated team have arranged for a meeting of the two teams Saturday afternoon on the Scotch Plains diamond. This will give the local fans their last chance to see a ball game this season. It has been eight weeks since the locals have played, while the Plainfield team have been in the game right along, but Manager Johnston's colts promise to give a good account of themselves and will try to have a balance on their side of the ledger when the game is finished. Game called promptly at 3 o'clock.

The regular monthly observance of the Lord's Supper will be held at the close of the morning service at the Baptist church on Sunday. It is expected that the individual service, recently adopted by the church, will be used for the first time.

Hallowe'en will be appropriately observed in town. No doubt the small boy and the tempting gate will be very much in evidence as in former years. A great deal of trouble can be avoided by removing your gate yourself.

The annual election of officers of the Epworth League, of the Methodist church, will be held in the church tonight. At the close of the business meeting, the members will enjoy a social hour together.

The weekly meeting of the teachers of the Baptist Sunday-school will be held tonight at the home of Miss Laura Bornmann, of Westfield avenue.

Twilight Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., holds its weekly meeting in the Library rooms tonight. A full attendance of members is desired.

Mrs. Thebdore Reger and Miss Cunningham, both of Westfield, were the guests Wednesday evening of Miss Sadie Reger.

The Township Committee will meet in the Town rooms Friday night at 8 o'clock.

John Rickerson was the guest of friends in Plainfield, Wednesday evening.

COLUMN FOR THE SHOPPERS

SOME OF ATTRACTIONS TO BE FOUND AT LOCAL STORES.

A Few Interesting Items Concerning Greater Plainfield's Merchants

Charles E. Vail, the Park avenue jeweler, is already planning for the holiday trade. He proposes to show an unusually attractive line of jewelry this year and he cordially invites his friends to call and see him.

There are two essential things about a first class durg store. One is the best of drugs and the other is prompt and efficient service. These you will find at Dudley S. Miller's pharmacy on Park avenue. He keeps a model store.

The constantly increasing trade at the grocery of S. Scheuer & Company, on West Front street, speaks well for this popular house. They still continue to sell the best goods at the lowest prices and they deliver goods promptly.

Schumaker's wheat food products are known the world over and millions of cartons are sold annually. For this week the local store of the A. and P. Tea Company will make this brand of goods leaders in a list of specialties.

L. Moraller & Son, the Park avenue jewelers, sustain their envious reputation by always carrying in stock the finest and strictly up-to-date line of watches and jewelry. Their repairing department is one of the most complete in the city.

For many years, R. J. Shaw's preparations have taken precedence over many patented articles placed for sale in this city. It's because Shaw's guarantee is back of all his own articles, especially so of his hard water soap, that the people buy them.

By the first of November, M. C. Dobbins, the North avenue tobacconist, will be in his handsome new store on Park avenue at the head of North avenue, where he will be pleased to see his customers and serve them with the finest grades of unflavored tobaccos and cigars.

Artists will find it to their advantage to examine the materials sold at the store of the Plainfield Art Company in the Y. M. C. A. building. Everything that is needed in painting or drawing is to be had at this store at prices that compare favorably with those of large houses in the city.

CITY JOTTINGS.

—Miss Burke, formerly of the local telephone office, has accepted a similar position in Newark.

—The sewing school of Warren chapel will hold its first meeting Saturday, November 1, at 10 o'clock.

—Mr. and Mrs. W. V. Mundy, formerly of West Fifth street, have taken up their residence in the borough.

—Nothing is lacking in Neuman Brothers large display of fruit. An attractive part is the extremely low prices.

—Frank Neal has improved his property at the corner of West Front street and Central avenue, with a coat of paint.

—The Natural Ice Company has commenced to move its belongings from the North avenue office to Madison aveune.

—The regular weekly meeting of the Christian Endeavor Society of the East Third Street chapel will be held this evening.

—The Christian Endeavor Society, of the First Baptist church, will meet tomorrow evening. A cordial invitation is extended to all.

—The Junior Endeavor Society meeting at the Congregational church will be omitted tomorow afternoon as the pastor will officiate at a funeral.

—Mrs. Winter, of East Fifth street, a member of the local W. C. T. U., is in Elizabeth this afternoon, where she will make an address at a parlor meeting to be held at that place.

PERSONAL.

Charles F. Drake, of West Third street, has been admitted to Muhlenberg Hospital to be treated for typhoid fever.

Mrs. Edwin L. Earp, of Park place, has returned home after spending a few days as the guest of her father at Ridgewood, N. J.

Miss Elizabeth Smalley, the cashier and bookkeeper of Smalley Brothers Somerset street market, is visiting friends on Staten Island today.

Mr. and Mrs. Osborn Bright, of New York, who have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Shepard, of East Front street, will leave today for the south to spend the winter.

WOMEN BOWLED.

Prizes Awarded for Bowling at Saengerbund Hall Yesterday.

A bowling club was to have been formed last evening among the members of the Saengerbund but owing to the small number of members present the organization was postponed until next Wednesday evening when it is expected that fifteen members will join.

Yesterday afternoon the Ladies' Bowling Club met and bowled at Saengerbund Hall. Mrs. Gustavus Schomp won the prize for securing the second highest score. The prize was a handsome dish. Although Mrs. Augustus Melcher scored the highest the prize was awarded to Mrs. Schomp because of a rule in the society prohibiting the one scoring the highest to receive the prize two weeks in succession.

There were eighteen women who enjoyed the game after which refreshments consisting of coffee and sandwiches were served.

Dr. Lewis Visited Here.

Dr. Edwin H. Lewis, of Chicago, arrived in Plainfield yesterday from Alfred University, where he opened the alumni course with his two new lectures, "The Poet's View of the Future Life," and "Shakespeare's View of the Life That Now Is." Dr. Lewis met his family, who has been visiting in Brooklyn, and they came to the home of Dr. Lewis' father, Rev. Dr. A. H. Lewis, of West Seventh street. Today they all left for Chicago.

City Nurse Back.

The City Union King's Daughters' nurse, Miss Edith Anderson, has returned from a four months' trip abroad with her brother and has resumed her work in this city again. This announcement is made that persons needing Miss Anderson's services may know that she is prepared to attend to such cases as may come under her supervision.

G. A. R. Inspection.

Winfield Scott Post. No. 73, G. A. R., met Tuesday evening and considered business of a routine nature. At the next meeting arrangements will be made for the annual inspection. The post decided to loan some of its flags to the High School for a play to be given soon.

Had No License.

Failure to be properly licensed before he began peddling goods resulted in Harry Kauffan falling into the hands of Patrolman Vanderweg, last evening. This morning City Judge Runyon fined him $3, which he paid in preference to going to jail for ten days.

Bird Much Improved.

George O. Bird, Jr., who was injured in the football game of last Saturday, was reported last night to be rapidly recovering and would probably be able to attend the game this week.

FOUR HUNDRED KILLED.

Particulars of the Defeat and Capture of Uribe-Uribe.

COLON, Colombia, Oct. 30.—Further news has reached here of the engagement Oct. 24 at Rio Frio, near La Cienaga, which resulted in the surrender of the revolutionary generals Uribe-Uribe and Castillo, together with ten cannon, 2,500 rifles and considerable ammunition.

The government general Marjarres reached Rio Frio with re-enforcements of 2,000 men. These troops were destined for the isthmus, and their arrival at Rio Frio was unexpected. The government forces already before the rebel positions, in conjunction with the men of Marjarres' command, managed to surround the enemy completely and, after a well contested engagement, to force them to surrender. Four hundred revolutionists are reported to have been killed. The dead were left unburied.

According to the terms of capitulation, General Uribe-Uribe undertakes to bring about the surrender of all revolutionary bands now in the departments of Magdalena and Bolivar. He goes to Bogota to confer with the Colombian government to this end.

Three Girls Murdered.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Oct. 30.—A special to the Scimitar from Wynne, Ark., says: "Mary, Sophie and May Gibson, aged seventeen, twelve and ten years respectively, daughters of Thomas Gibson, a prosperous negro farmer, were killed and one of them was the victim of a criminal assault at their home near here. The murders occurred while Gibson, the father, was away from home attending a circus, leaving the three girls alone in the house. On his return he found the bodies of two of the girls, with their heads crushed, while the body of the third lay in the yard terribly mutilated. The girl had been subjected to the most atrocious indignities. Posses, composed of both blacks and whites, were formed, and David Cross, an old negro, was arrested. Cross denied all knowledge of the crime, but finally confessed that he had witnessed the killing and said that a negro named Johnson was the guilty man."

Pacing Records Reduced.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Oct. 30.—Two world's records were reduced and another tied at yesterday's meeting of the Memphis Trotting association. The first special event was the attempt of Direct Hal and Prince Direct to pace a mile as a team against the record of 2:08¼. The pair were driven by the veteran Geers, and when the time 2:05½ was hung out the crowd gave the stars an ovation. Onward Silver next appeared to beat his previous two mile trotting record of 4:28½. Driven by Hudson, the horse made a gallant effort, but he could only tie his former mark. The bay stallion Nervola was sent against 4:25¼, the pacing record for stallions at two miles. Dean handled his horse well, and at the end a full second was chipped off the old figures.

Governor Yates Fever Stricken.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Oct. 30.—Dr. L. C. Taylor, attending physician to Governor Yates, announces that his patient has a well developed case of typhoid fever. Governor Yates has been ill in the executive mansion for the past four days, due to strenuous campaign work in southern Illinois during the last two weeks. Dr. Taylor says there is no cause for immediate anxiety or alarm, but he thinks it will be at least four weeks before the governor will be able to leave his bed.

MRS. FORCE

Kodol Dyspepsia Cure

Digests what you eat.

Fat People and Thin People are Offered a Word of Caution.

Many persons worry because they are too fat, and many more worry because they are too thin. In both cases the food eaten is not properly digested.

Fat persons digest fat producing foods and do not digest foods that give muscular and nervous strength. They are not as strong as they look, and deserve more sympathy than they get.

Thin persons cannot digest fat producing foods. Sometimes they digest nerve and muscle foods and become nervous and wiry; but usually they do not properly digest anything, and lose health and steength.

Nature has made provision for the digestion of all classes of foods; and when our digestion becomes impaired, it is wisdom to take steps at once to remedy it. Many thousands are using with marked success the preparation known as KODOL DYSPEPSIA CURE. As it contains all the digestants, it digests all kinds of foods and restores the digestive organs to health.

It can't help but do you good.

Prepared only by E. C. DEWITT & CO., Chicago. The $1. bottle contains 2½ times the 50c. size.

Fresh From the Sea.

Fishes of many kinds and various sizes are to be found here, and lovers of

Fish, Clams, Oysters,

The New Felt Hats—Pale Colors the Fad.

The new felt hats are very shallow and closely cut at the back, projecting greatly in front, and are trimmed with velvet and pads of fancy feathers shaded brown and fancy tints. They are relieved with touches of vivid turquoise, orange or red and blue, and merle feathers are intermixed with impeyan pheasant plumes. Mercury wings of varied coloring are also used on autumn hats, and paste, silver and steel buckles and ornaments are more fashionable than those in gilt or bronze.

For pretty dinner and evening gowns there are dainty striped chine louisines in pastel colorings or darker tones, with a plain colored stripe a little over a quarter of an inch wide, a narrow black and white beading stripe laid on the top.

Although white will be much worn this winter in heavy cloths, yet beaver, castor and mouse tints will be seen a great deal, as these trim well with the darker guipure laces and look well with almost any fur.

The kimono coat is admirable with a fur stole and this shape is also smart for evening wear. The lace coat is extremely elegant and in cream or ivory lace over white satin it is seen at its best. The usual decoration is chiffon.

The blue taffeta gown here shown is trimmed in an original manner with Persian embroidery and silk tassels.

Elaborateness the Keynote In Evening Gowns.

White and black beaver are very popular for the tricorne hat. Gold and silver braid will be used on hats to be worn with tailor made dresses. These simple hats are decorated with rosettes of moire, silk, velvet or taffeta.

Velvet and silk will be used lavishly as trimmings to cloth dresses. Green, brown and a new ruddy red will be about the favorite tones for the early autumn. Fantastic trimmings made of gimp, guipure and silk will not be noticeable on the cloth frocks, while on serge gowns we shall see flat braids dotted with white and silver spots.

Evening dress later on will be very costly, heavy embroideries being very much used. There is a return to the old fashioned silks and satins, which are as sumptuous as the purse will allow.

Lace dresses are still in vogue, and some lovely Parisian models show panels of painted panne. The tendency in evening dress is toward elaboration.

The dress illustrated is of ecru crepe de chine and white lace run through on the waist with a narrow scarf of black lace.

"To the studio," was the answer. "Even if he has left Henri will tell me something about him, for Henri would do anything for me."

"But—but it's almost daybreak," opposed Mrs. Winfret. "It's bad enough as it is, but for you to go looking up a murderer at such an unseemly hour—"

Dorothy laid her hand on the bell button and rang.

Then she walked to the door opening into the corridor and Mrs. Winfret heard her call to the servant below and order the carriage.

"All right, miss!" came up from the hall beneath in sleepy accents.

Mrs. Winfret rose and came to her niece, her two hands outstretched.

"Wait until morning, darling," she begged. "You will accomplish just as much and run no risk of being talked about."

"If you don't go with me I go alone," burst from the determined girl. "Get ready; I will dress myself in a moment."

"I won't be long," said Mrs. Winfret, resignedly. "I know nothing else will satisfy you. You are simply in love, and love knows no reason."

CHAPTER VI.

Ten minutes later the two ladies stood shivering in the dark asphalt-paved portecochere waiting for the carriage. When the wondering coachman drove round they got into the vehicle and drew their wraps around them.

"Rembrandt Studio building, James," said Mrs. Winfret, her teeth chattering.

Not a word passed between the occupants of the carriage on the way up town. Mrs. Winfret put her arms round her stately niece and made a gentle effort to draw the girl's head to her shoulder, but Miss Huntington sat stiffly erect. The tragedy half, as it were, turned her to stone. She drew a long, trembling breath as her aunt removed her arm and that was all.

When the carriage stopped at the studio building, Dorothy opened the door, and stepped quickly down to the sidewalk. Her aunt followed her into the dimly-lighted hall. A colored boy sat asleep on a bench at the open elevator and the jarring of the car as they entered it awaked him.

"Mr. Gielow's studio," said Dorothy, hoarsely.

The boy rubbed his eyes with one hand and with the other grasped the lever, and they began to ascend.

"Is he in?" asked Mrs. Winfret.

"I can't say, madam. I came on at three o'clock."

"If he is not in," said Dorothy, "his servant will give me the information I wish."

"Tenth floor," said the boy, sliding the door open. "Second door on the left."

The two ladies passed down one of the long corridors till they came to a door the transom of which transmitted a soft greenish refulgence from subdued lights within. Dorothy had just rung the bell when she noticed that the door was not latched. She pushed against it, it opened, and she preceded her aunt inside. They found themselves in a private hallway, and further on, through parted oriental curtains, they saw the lights of the large reception-room. Entering it they found it still and vacant. The roof had a great skylight and the several windows looking eastward were of polished plate glass. Through them, when the curtains were parted, the rays of the moon fell weirdly and blended incongruously with the low burning lights of the chandelier overhead. In nooks and recesses dark bronze and white marble statues loomed like suggestions of the good and evil they represented. As they stood in the center of the chamber, undecided what to do, they heard a step in the adjoining room, and Henri presented a terrified visage over the top of a grotesquely carved wooden screen.

"Who is it?" he cried out in a voice that shook strangely. He had not recognized the vistors.

"It is I, Henri, Miss Huntington. Where is your master?"

Henri slowly stalked from behind the screen.

"You—you, Miss Dorothy!" he stammered, and then he stood a mute picture of indecision, his glance shifting to and fro uneasily.

"Where is Mr. Gielow? I must see him!" said the heiress.

Henri made no response. He clutched a brass stand, on which lay some curios, and they shook and rattled harshly. A small piece of china fell to the floor with a crash, but he did not notice it. Miss Huntington stepped deliberately to the chandelier and raised one of the lights. Then her eyes fell on Henri. His collar was unfastened, his necktie awry, and his long black hair jumbled; his eyes looked as if from weeping they had swollen too big for their sockets.

"What's the matter, Henri?" asked Miss Huntington, almost fiercely, his bearing and aspect hurling a fresh shaft of conviction into her heart. "Speak, I say; don't you know I am as true a friend to him as you are?"

"He—he's gone, Miss Dorothy," was the reply

"Gone? Where?"

The man sank on a divan, forgetful of his station. He clasped his shaggy head between his hands and groaned. His weakness seemed to appeal to the same quality in the heiress. Her mouth lost its firmness, her face appeared to wither. She tottered to the grand piano which, open and littered with sheets of music and the ashes and remains of cigars, stood near, and leaned heavily upon it.

Mrs. Winfret stepped up to the man and laid a commanding hand on his shoulder.

"Where has he gone to?" she demanded. "Speak, I say!"

Henri looked inquiringly at Dorothy, and perceiving that she was hanging on his reply, said:

"I don't know—I can't say, but he has left forever—forever, Miss Dorothy!"

The girl felt her knees growing weak, and she sank into a rustic chair which her lover had brought from the hills of Palestine. Presently she leaned forward.

"Henri, you must tell me all you know," she said, firmly. "I am his friend. You know I can be trusted."

"I know that well, Miss Dorothy," his accent betraying just the faintest touch of his French birth, "but he made me promise not to betray him to anyone, although almost the last word he spoke was to say he did it for your sake."

"Did it for my sake!" muttered the girl, and there she paused. It looked as if she were afraid that Henri's next words would furnish positive confirmation of her worst fears.

"If it was not for the row he had with Mr. Caruthers at the club I'd really believe that there was some mistake about it," continued Henri, in a dismal half whine, half sobbing tone. "But as it is he has ruined himself for all time."

The man buried his face in his tense hands and rocked back and forth in a storm of emotion.

"Henri," said Miss Huntington at the lowest ebb of hope, "do you believe your master killed Mr. Caruthers?"

"I have been wanting to go to the Palace hotel to find out if anything has gone wrong there," was the answer; "but my master told me to stay right here and deny to any caller that he had left the city." He said he had murdered Mr. Caruthers, but I hope—I almost hope that master was out of his head."

"Great God!" exclaimed Dorothy, under her breath, and then she raised her voice: "He confessed it to you?"

Henri nodded.

"He said so, Miss Dorothy, but—"

"Henri, Mr. Caruthers was murdered ten days ago in his rooms at the Palace hotel."

"Are you sure, Miss Dorothy?"

"Yes, Mr. Hendricks, the most celebrated criminal detective in the United States informed me of it about an hour ago."

"Then it is true!" gasped the servant. "My mate not only told me about it, but I overheard him confessing it to Count Bantinni. The count was asking him all the particulars, and then I heard the count say: 'Now you must tell Henri. Tell him you did it, and then remember you must make your escape.'

"Then some one rang for me, and I came in. Master was walking up and down the room tearing his hair and crying and swearing terribly. He was like a madman. He would take hold of a statue and choke it and yell out: 'Oh, I've got you now, you black-hearted roue! If I can't have her she shall be free from your dirty clutches!' Then he turned as I entered and started to fly at me with the fury of a tiger, but the count caught him and drew him back.

"'Tell him now,' said the count; 'tell him about the murder.'

"And then master grew calmer and told me a frightful story, such an unnatural one that I was sure he was mad. But the count told me it was true and ordered me to pack my master's bag with a few things. More dead than alive I obeyed, and then they went away together."

"Where did they go?" asked the heiress.

"I don't know."

"The poor fellow was insane," said Mrs. Winfret, comfortingly, as she put her arm round the shoulders of her niece. "Even if he is caught and brought back his unsoundness of mind can easily be established. Come, darling; let's go home. Remember you are now your uncle's heir unconditionally, and if you wish you can spend all your fortune in saving the poor fellow."

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

Topic For the Week Beginning Nov. 2, "The Best Gift"—Text, I Cor. xii, 28-31; xiii, 1-13.

Painters have for ages surrounded the heads of the apostles with a halo, distinguishing them from the common multitude of disciples. Writers have honored them with an elevation above all others in the church of Christ. The grades of dignity in service shown in this Scripture have been recognized in all ages since apostles followed their Master and founded His church. Prophets, teachers, miracle workers, healers of disease, rulers and exhorters have been honored in varying degrees according to their relative worth. The desire to be able to exercise any one of these offices has been considered a worthy ambition. The people have ever been quick to recognize in the young special abilities and gifts of mind and spirit which would indicate ability for any of these sacred offices.

Eloquence has ever commanded an audience whether the prophet was Stephen, Paul, Chrysostom, Luther, Wesley or some "boy preacher." Ability to bring things to pass has been quickly discerned, and the able one usually has been put where he could use his gift. Prominence has from necessity been given those whose offices and work kept them ever before the public eye and mind. Sometimes this prominence and the power associated with high position have been more regarded than the ability to worthily fill the place or than the duty and service which the place required. Desire for eminence, applause and fame has at times raised some who had no desire to be servants for their fellow men, but who have mistaken the purpose of office and gifts in God's church and considered the receiving of homage and deference to be the due of the favored one rather than serving others to be his duty and the sole reason why he should occupy position.

Paul soberly and accurately measures the comparative values of these things. Eloquence may be priceless or worthless, if not even worse. Its test is not the faultlessness of its logic, not in the brilliancy of its rhetoric, the attractive personality of the speaker, not even in the contagion of his zeal. All these may be present and the eloquence be that of an actor simulating the character he has no intention to emulate and awakening admiration in his hearers for his skill in delineation of passion, but never moving them to passionate purpose of good. Something more and deeper is needed to make eloquence of true worth. The burning heart must be under it all—the passion of love; then words will be fire and kindle fire.

Learning is but an encyclopedic mass of rubbish until it be marshaled and led by a great passion of affection into the work of Christ for the rescue of men. Then it becomes divine wisdom. Gifts may be but bribes for the praise of men and purchase of heaven or they may be fulcrumed on a soul's sacrifice and make leverage to lift the gates of hell and lay the amethystine walls of paradise. Get the best.

This Is a Beautiful World.

What is the secret of gladness? There are many things which help to make people glad. This is a beautiful world in which we live. When the work of creation was finished, God surveyed it and saw that it was very good. We do not think enough of what God has done for our pleasure in the way that He has adorned this world preparing it to be our home. He has spread loveliness everywhere. He has covered the fields with a luxuriance of vegetation. He has sown the earth with flowers. The wonderful variety in nature—mountain and vale, lake, river and stream—gives an added charm to the marvelous beauty. Then over all this splendor God has thrown a vast vaulted roof of blue, in which, when night comes, instead of black darkness, thousands of star lamps are hung to pour their soft, quiet radiance over God's children while they sleep.—J. R. Miller, D. D., in "Secret of Gladness."

Delight In Worship.

As a rule, we believe that the souls that really want spiritual nourishment—want it enough to disregard the scoffing tone of gay society and to overcome the love of ease—find satisfaction in the worship of the churches. Even a young man's energy is limited, and if it all goes in other directions he ought hardly to expect that a minister in a single hour on Sunday should do for him what only the realization of the presence of God seven days in the week can accomplish. Worship is not merely an operation; it is a co-operation. Delight in worship grows, but it grows in active partnership with Christ. We have yet to hear of one man, young or old, who threw his energy into work with the church who did not find help in the worship of the church in spite of the shortcomings of the preachers.—Congregationalist.

Don't Grumble.

Don't be a grumbler. Some people contrive to get hold of the prickly side of everything, to run against all the sharp corners and disagreeable things. Half the strength spent in growling would often set things right. You may as well make up your mind, to begin with, that no one finds the world quite as he would like it, but you are to take your part and bear with it bravely. You will be sure to have burdens laid upon you that belong to other people unless you are a shirk yourself. But don't grumble.—Artisan.

The Cure of Loneliness.

The medicines for the cure of loneliness are portions of generosity, thoughtfulness for others and self sacrifice, taken in large doses.—Presbyterian Banner.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For the Week Beginning Nov. 2—Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle.

Topic.—The best gift.—I Cor. xii, 28-31; xiii, 1-13.

The best gifts of life are eagerly sought after by all men. But what a difference of opinion there is as to what are the best blessings which God has to bestow upon his children. The people of the world look upon pleasure, wealth, honor and power as the best things life has to offer, and they earnestly covet and strive after these supposed blessings; but among the people of God spiritual blessings and gifts are most highly esteemed and prized. Yet even here there is much difference of opinion as to which are the best gifts. The spirit has given a diversity of gifts to God's people. There are apostles, prophets and teachers, possessing varying gifts and powers. All have not the same spiritual gifts, yet the apostle exhorts all to covet the best gifts, which are possible to all. "Covet earnestly the best gifts, and yet I show unto you a more excellent way."

And what is the more excellent way which the apostle evidently esteems as the best gift? It is love—love to God and love to man. And who that studies the apostle's great utterance on love can doubt its excellency and superiority? The supreme duty of life is to love—to love God and our neighbor as ourselves. The gift of love is therefore the best of gifts, for it makes it possible for us to fulfill the supreme purpose of our lives. To love is to be like God, for "God is love," and what better grace can God bestow upon us than that which makes us like Himself?

The superior excellence of love as the best gift is comprehensively set forth by the apostle. Note:

1. The necessity of love (xiii, 1-3). Love is absolutely necessary to the fulfillment of life's duties. Eloquence without it is as sounding brass and a tinkling cymbal. Knowledge and faith without it are nothing, and liberality and sacrifice without love avail and profit nothing. And why? Because the value of what we do depends upon the motive that leads us to do it.

2. The characteristics of love (xiii, 4-7). What a list of virtues love possesses! "Love suffereth long and is kind; love envieth not; love vaunteth not itself, is not puffed up, doth not behave itself unseemly, seeketh not her own, is not easily provoked, thinketh no evil, rejoiceth not in iniquity, but rejoiceth in the truth, heareth all things, believeth all things, hopeth all things, endureth all things." The superior beauty and excellence of a life characterized by such attributes are apparent to all and should be coveted and sought after by all.

3. The permanence of love (xiii, 8-13). "Love never faileth." Other gifts perish or become useless, such as prophecy, tongues and knowledge. In eternity we shall have perfect knowledge, and hence there shall be no place for prophecy or the gift of tongues. But love shall always find a place. Heaven will need no prophets and no interpreters, but love will still reign supreme there as upon earth. Faith will have turned to sight, hope to reality, but love, the greatest of all graces, will remain forever. "And now abideth faith, hope, love, these three, but the greatest of these is love."

To Glorify God.

Many forget that "the chief end of man is to glorify God and enjoy Him forever." That grand end God always had in view, and He never loses sight of it. We lose sight of it often and so neither aim to glorify Him in our bodies nor spirits and seek to enjoy everything else more than God. Thus we miss both the noblest employment in the world and the purest and fullest happiness of living. There is no lasting enjoyment without God, in whom we live, move and have our being. The nearer we live to Him the more blessed will be our existence. A loving family is never happier than with its own parents.—Christian Instructor.

Scotch Physician Here.

Dr. James Wilson, a prominent physician, of Glasgow, Scotland, accompanied by his two sisters, is on a tour around the world and honored Plainfield with a call. They are enjoying the beautiful fall scenery of Plainfield at the home of H. B. MacDonald, on West Sixth street. Dr. Wilson and sisters are cousins to Mrs. MacDonald.

Dropped Match Did It.

A lounge in the parlor at the home of Mansfield Robinson, of West Third street, caught fire, last evening, from a dropped match, and threatened to result seriously. An alarm was sent in from box No. 43 but before the department arrived the lounge had been thrown out of doors by neighbors. The damage was trifling.

BICYCLE GONE.

Somebody Stole W. M. Stillman's Wheel From Piazza of Residence of J. K. Myers.

A daring theft of a bicycle was reported to the police by Counsellor William M. Stillman, this morning. The machine belonged to him and was left standing on the porch of J. K. Meyers' home on East Seventh street, last evening, while he was making a call.

It is described as being a chainless, black frame Pierce, No. 83,522, with a front brake. The owner offers a reward of $25 for information leading to its recovery.

BOWLING CONTEST.

It Will Start at Y. M. C. A. Alleys Tomorrow Evening.

The bowling contest at the Young Men's Christian Association will begin tomorrow evening with thirteen entries. H. Brokaw is the chairman of the contest and all new entries should be placed in his hands before 8 o'clock tomorrow evening. After that time no entries will be received. There will be ten games rolled by each man and the man getting the best average will be declared the winner. The committee has decided that the prize be a handsome silver medal with an inscription on one side and on the other side two bowling pins and two bowling balls raised.

Dinner to Congressman.

A dinner was given today noon at the Hotel Kensington to Congressman Charles N. Fowler, at which nearly all of the leading Republicans of the city were present, including Mayor Jenkins, Judge Wm. N. Runyon, Postmaster E. H. Bird, Andrew McCardell and a number of others. The dinner was followed by a few impromptu speeches.

Social Evening Spent.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester B. Dennis, of East Sixth street, entertained a number of their friends in a social manner last evening. The time was spent in playing games and with vocal and instrumental music. Refreshments were served at midnight.

Improvements at Club House.

The members of the Park Club have definitely decided to enlarge the women's dressing room at the club. For some time past it has been entirely too small, and the club recently decided to make the necessary improvement.

Permit for Dwelling House.

A permit was granted by Building Inspector Doane this morning to Fred W. Miles, of Elizabeth, for the erection of a two story frame dwelling house on Johnson avenue, near East Second street. J. W. Mills is the contractor.

Chimney Fires Begin.

West End Hose Company, No. 3, was called out at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, to fight a chimney fire at the home of John McCarthy, of 1129 South Second street. Two extinguishers did the business.

Proceeds of Fair.

Rev. Father Egan, rector of St. Mary's church, said this morning that the net proceeds of the fair which was held last week, would amount to about $2,000.

COAL TAKES A BIG TUMBLE

PRICE OF ANTHRACITE REDUCED FROM $10 TO $7 A TON.

Local Dealers Are Beginning to Receive It in Quite Small Lots.

The price of hard coal took a tumble today in this city from $10 to $7 per ton. This will be the prevailing price for the present. McDonough Bros., received a car of the anthracite yesterday and they expect more within a short time.

For the present each dealer is receiving a car of coal at a time. This is done so that all dealers may receive the same amount. The operators are not yet able to guarantee the delivery of any great amount of hard coal, although the prospects for a continuous shipment is bright.

Other dealers in this city have also received limited quantities of coal and all are selling to consumers in small lots. However, there has not been a great rush at any of the yards, owing to the moderate weather now prevailing. Many families have learned lately how to get along with little or no coal and they will continue so as long as they can.

MYSTERIOUS INJURY.

Geo. Gahagan Was Struck by Something While Boarding Train at Greenville Today.

When George Gahagan, of 519 Belvidere avenue, was boarding a train bound for New York this morning at Greenville he was struck, it is believed by a passing train and was rendered unconscious.

When he recovered consciousness he found himself in the office of Dr. Broderick at Jersey City and was unable to tell what had struck him or how he came to be injured. His forehead was severely hurt and one eye was badly cut and lacerated while one shoe was torn completely off at the ball of the foot without injuring the foot itself beyond a few scratches.

Mr. Gahagan was brought to this city on the next train from Jersey City and was taken to E. S. F. Randolph's pharmacy at the corner of Watchung and North avenues, from where he was removed to his home in Belvidere avenue.

Dr. P. B. Cregar attended the injured man at his home. It is believed that the injuries to his head may prove to be serious.

CITY JOTTINGS.

—The Young Men's Christian Association gymnasium leaders will hold a meeting this evening, after the class meeting, for the study of advanced gymnastics in the gymasium.

—Prof. and Mrs. LeRoy, of North avenue, are adepts in palmistry and have given great satisfaction since coming to Plainfield. They are perfectly reliable, as their work has shown.

—A meeting of the committee on physical work at the Young Men's Christian Association will be held at the store of J. W. Gavett, on West Front street, this afternoon at 5 o'clock.

PERSONAL.

E. C. Perkins, of Central avenue, lies critically ill with pneumonia and is not expected to recover.

Miss Alice Carroll, daughter of Dr. H. D. Carroll, of Westervelt avenue, has returned from an extended visit in Maryland, where she was the guest of friends.

The Christian Endeavor Society of Warren chapel will hold its regular meeting Sunday evening at 7 o'clock, instead of Tuesday, on account of election day coming on that day.

Must Hustle.

Owing to the slowness with which Contractor C. M. Meeker has been pushing the work on the Arlington avenue storm sewer, Street Commissiore Gavett has been obliged to remind him that he must hustle the work and complete it at the earliest possible date.

Church Conference.

The three days' meeting to be held at the Seventh-Day Baptist church, November 14, 15 and 16, will be for the New Jersey churches and the New York church. However, representatives are expected from Rhode Island.

Farmers' Institute.

A State Farmers' Institute will be held in the Stelton Baptist church on Thursday, December 11, and plans are being made to make it one of the best held in recent years.

To Fix the Date.

At the meeting of the Retail Clerks' Mutual Aid Association, Monday evening, a date will be set for the progressive euchre party which was postponed recently.

John Kyle Won.

John Kyle was the winner of the $5 gold piece at St. Mary's fair Tuesday evening and not Cornelius McCarthy.

At Dewey Park.

The Aluminum Press Company is moving to Dewey Park instead of Lincoln Park, as stated.

EX-PRISONERS IN SESSION

ANNUAL MEETING OF NEW JERSEY ASSOCIATION HELD TODAY.

Business Session and Election Held This Morning—Camp Fire This Afternoon.

The annual session of the New Jersey Association of Ex-Prisoners was opened at the Y. M. C. A. building this morning. A short business session was held at which routine affairs were transacted after which a luncheon was served at Vincent chapel to the several hundred members and guests by the Garfield League, of this city.

The following officers were elected: Commander, J. A. Peloubet, of Bloomfield; vice commander, Charles Montross, of Weehawken; adjutant, David Snell, of Montclair; assistant adjutant, H. G. Myers, of Hoboken; quartermaster, S. M. Long, of East Orange; chaplain, E. H. Williams, of East Orange; executive committee, Gen. E. L. Hayes, of Bloomfield, H. P. Crawford, of Montclair; delegates to the National convention, M. S. Kirby, of South Amboy, A. B. Crawford, of Montclair, George Ogheltree, of Newark; alternates, E. H. Williams, of East Orange, Charles Oakley, of Millville, H. G. Myers, of Hoboken; color bearer, Oscar Buckley, of Newark.

A campfire will be held this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock when Past Department Commander John Lawrence, of New Brunswick, will be present.

FOWLER IN MORRIS.

Addressed Big Mass-Meeting at Morristown—Cleveland There This Evening.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Morristown, Oct. 30—The Republican campaign was formally opened in Morristown last evening by a monster mass meeting, in the Lyceum, at which Hon. Charles N. Fowler was the principal speaker. Morristown is the home of DeWitt Clinton Flanagan, the present Democratic congressman, who is now a candidate for reelection.

The county of Union is a strong Republican one, Warren is as strongly Democratic. Therefore the great fight is in Morris county, which is usually Republican, but being the home of Flanagan, it is in the present campaign, considered doubtful.

The Democrats are persuing a very strong and energetic campaign, and to help them, the retirement of Former President Cleveland has been broken and he is to appear this evening at the Democratic mass meeting at which Jas. E. Martine, the farmer orator, of Plainfield, will also speak.

Congressman Fowler's speech was a very concise and able one, touching upon the trusts, the monetary situation and the other questions of the present campaign.

Col. E. L. Dobbins was the chairman of the meeting and a New York quartette enlivened the affair by their campaign songs and sketches.

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

Clippings From Other Newspapers Which May be of Interest to Plainfield and Its Citizens.

Congressman Flanagan has made two big political hits during his campaign for re-election. The first one was when he conferred the title of "colonel" on all the colored voters in the Fifth district, and the second was when he secured former President Cleveland to make an address in his support. Viewing the ex-President as sourly as do some of the Bryanites, it might be said that Mr. Flanagan was trying the efficacy of both molasses and vinegar to catch the flies he is after.—Newark News.

The nomination of Ellis R. Meeker for mayor of Elizabeth ought to test pretty accurately the sentiment in that city as to the merits of the election merger law of which Mr. Meeker is the putative parent, although his connection with the measure was little more than that of a willing tool in the hands of bigger men. The notoriety that came to him as sponsor for a bill which others were afraid to touch flattered his vanity. The same weakness has been cleverly played upon to induce him to accept a nomination which had been vainly peddled among all the Republicans of Elizabeth who were thought to have a show of success.

Nobody, except, perhaps, Mr. Meeker himself, expects that he will be elected. The majority against him ought to be big enough to convince even Mr. Meeker that efforts to suppress the popular will in the interests of machine politics are likely to prove disastrous to their promoters.—Newark News.

TOLD OF CONVENTION.

Dr. Carroll Addressed the Prayer Meeting at Grace M. E. Church.

Rev. H. K. Carroll, corresponding secretary of the Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal church, addressed the prayer meeting at Grace M. E. church last night and gave an interesting description of the great convention recently held at Cleveland, O.

He told in an interesting manner the gist of the speeches made at the convention by very prominent speakers, the different plans for work suggested and discussed and then he told how the great sum of $300,000 was raised for the benefit of foreign missions.

The story of the convention was told by Dr. Carroll in such an interesting word picture that the twenty minute discourse was all too short.

More New Motive Power.

The management of the New Jersey Central has placed an order with the American Locomotive Company for twenty-five new locomotives. These engines will be built at the Dunkirk works. Ten will be heavy consolidations for use in coal service; six are to be for fast freight service and nine will be heavy switching engines. From the Baldwin works will come eight suburban locomotives and seven switching engines, and when this consignment is received, the New Jersey Central will have a motive power equipped second to none.

Fire at Chief's House.

Chief of the North Plainfield fire department J. J. Stahl was called upon Tuesday afternoon to extinguish a chimney fire at his own house at 28 Grandview avenue. The fire was easily extinguished and no damage was done. Yesterday a still alarm was sent in to Chief Stahl for a chimney fire in a house on Somerset street.

Woman to Speak.

Miss Sara Wray, of New York, will speak and Mrs. F. M. Ward, contralto soloist of the choir of the First Baptist church, will sing at the Y. M. C. A. meeting Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Col. H. H. Hadley in speaking of Miss Wray said that he considered her the best woman speaker on the American platform.

Stole Registry List.

REPUBLICANS' FINAL APPEAL

Mr. Fowler and the County Candidates Addressed Mass-Meeting at Reform Hall.

HELD LAST EVENING

Former Mayor Alex. Gilbert Acted As Chairman—U. S. Senator Kean Was Present and Spoke —Most of the County Candidates Had Their Little Say.

An urgent and last appeal was made to the Republican voters of Plainfield at an enthusiastic mass meeting held in Reform Hall last evening. The meeting was an enthusiastic one and afforded an opportunity in the closing days of the campaign for the various candidates to present themselves and the several issues being considered. Prior to the meeting at the hall the Joseph Cross.

Independent Fife and Drum Corps paraded about the principal streets and upon their return brought with them any interested persons.

The hall was well filled, when Mayor O. L. Jenkins announced that Former Mayor Alex. Gilbert had been chosen chairman of the meeting. He was promptly elected by a unanimous vote. Upon taking the chair, Mr. Gilbert made a short speech, in which he dwelt upon the various issues and took occasion to refer to the several candidates and their records. He urged for a continuance of Republican power and prosperity throughout the United States. He did not deny but that the party had made mistakes, but added that it was doing the best it could and that every party is liable to make some mistakes. He paid glowing tributes to every candidate and urged the hearty support of every Republican voter for the entire ticket.

Charles W. Runyon, who was chosen secretary of the meeting, at this time read the list of vice presidents, whose names were published in The Daily

WHEELMAN KNOCKED DOWN.

Timothy Murphy Was Run Into by Team and Wagon.

While Timothy Murphy, of Spooner avenue, was crossing Second street and Park avenue on his wheel, last evening, he was run into by a team and wagon belonging to the Hoerster Bottling Company. The rider was knocked down and kicked by one of the horses but he managed to escape the wheels. He was picked up by Patrolman Vanderweg who afterward assisted him home. The bicycle rolled under the horses' feet but was not badly damaged.

VOTE NOT THROWN AWAY

REV. JAMES PARKER MADE PLEA FOR THE PROHIBITION TICKET.

Mass-Meeting Held in the Borough Last Evening in Behalf of a Prohibition Ticket.

Rev. James Parker, of Jersey City, was the speaker at the Prohibition mass meeting held last evening at the vacant store at 83 Somerset street where a good sized audience gathered to hear the reasons why they should vote the Prohibition ticket this fall.

The meeting opened at 8 o'clock when S. B. Scribner was appointed chairman of the meeting. After Rev. A. A. Phelps had offered prayer, Rev. Mr. Parker was introduced to those present as the speaker of the evening.

In the first place, the speaker said, the Prohibition party was the only one that has a great moral issue. He said that there is a sentiment that morality divorces politics, but added that if that was true it meant the ruination of the government because if the popular government would exist it must have the support of moral people and that it can only exist as the people maintain morality.

The Prohibition party is the only one that can properly deal with the question of outlawing the liquor traffic. What hope has the Democratic party of outlawing the liquor traffic. The Democratic party, he said, could be correctly said to be "tickled to death with liquor." The Republican party has not had a great moral issue for the past three or four decades since the time that party advocated the abolition of slavery. Twenty-five years ago the Republican party had an anti-saloon wing but you never hear of that wing now because the saloon men themselves have fraternized with the leaders of that party. Therefore it stands to reason that neither of these parties will take up this great moral question.

Some say that casting a vote for the Prohibition party a man is throwing away his vote but he maintained that he is the only man that saves his vote. After every election there is a second count before a Greater Judge and the man that casts his vote for truth and the right is saving his vote.

Rev. Mr. Parker, after making a final plea to his hearers to vote for the Prohibition ticket, closed his address and the meeting adjourned.

SOCK SOCIAL.

Affair Held at Rooms of W. C. T. U. Last Evening.

An enjoyable sock social was held last evening at the rooms of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union. The social was opened by the entire assemblage singing "America." The recitation of the evening was by Miss Weber followed by a short address by Mrs. T. H. Tomlinson and Mrs. Parse in which they both told of the events which characterized the recent National convention. Recitations and music were the principal features of the evening. After the entertainment the socks were opened and over $40 was received. The evening closed with the serving of refreshments by the members of the union.

Hallowe'en at Perseverance.

Perseverance Lodge, No. 74, K. of P., will have a jolly time at its session, this evening. The members have made preparation for a genuine Hallowe'en party on a large scale without dispensing with any of the amusing tricks seen at smaller affairs. The Castle Hall is being decorated so that it will present a truly rural appearance.

Played Whist.

The G. G. Social Club held a meeting Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Arthur Smith, of West Third street. Whist was the order of the evening. Refreshments brought a very pleasant evening to a close.

ATLANTIC COULD NOT SEPARATE THE LOVERS

And So They Were Happily Wedded Last Evening at Saengerbund Hall.

MANY FRIENDS THERE

MARRIAGE OF MISS ABILONE JENSEN TO CHARLES JENSEN.

Proprietor of Hotel Arlington Wedded the Young Woman He Had Loved in Sweden, and Who Came Here to be His Wife.

A romantic wedding was that of Charles Jenson, the proprietor of the Arlington Hotel on Somerset street, to Miss Abilone Jensen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Soren Jensen, of Denmark, Sweden, at Saengerbund Hall, last evening. The bride and groom of last night were the two happy school children in the town of Aarhus, Sweden, years ago. Even the wide Atlantic could not separate the devoted pair when they had become of age and when the lover left for America, it was not long before she whom he loved came to America and resided in the same State.

Last night their wedding took place in Saengerbund Hall in the presence of nearly four hundred guests.

The knot which made them man and wife was tied at 8 o'clock by Rev. John Christiansen, pastor of the Danish church at Perth Amboy. The ceremony took place on the stage and while a string orchestra rendered a wedding march they plighted their troth amid numerous potted palms and in the presence of many admiring friends.

The bride was attired in a rich gown of white silk and wore a veil caught at the brow with a spray of myrtle. She was attended by two bridemaids, Misses Minnie Petersen, of New York, Anna Odiesen, of Staten Island, and a maid-of-honor, Miss Anna Fredericksen, of Cranford.

The bridemaids were gowned very becomingly in suits made of the same kind of material as that of the bride's gown. The bride carried a very handsome bouquet of bridal roses, with myrtle interspersed. The best man was Erik Jensen, of Newark.

The bride was given away by her sister-in-law, Mrs. Thomsen Jensen, who was gowned in black silk and carried pink roses.

This morning early the bride and groom left for Washington where they will spend their honeymoon and when they return they will reside at the Arlington Hotel on Somerset street.

After the ceremony a grand banquet was served on five long tables which stretched from end to end of the big hall. A corps of colored waiters was on hand to attend to the wants of the diners.

The members of the Saengerbund sung and several members of the Independent Gun Club, of which the groom is a member, were present.

The bride's gift to the groom was a set of cuff and collar buttons and the groom's gift to the bride was a hand embroidered screen. They received a great number of handsome presents.

The groom is very well known in Plainfield and in several lodges of this city where he is a member.

Ran Away, But Nobody Hurt.

One of the Consumers' Coal Company's horses left standing on West Second street, near Central avenue, Wednesday evening, became frightened and ran away while the driver was in the rear of a house. It attempted to turn into Plainfield avenue but was thrown with the wagon on top of itself. Several men caught the animal before it could hurt itself in struggling. There was practically no damage.

Missionary Meeting.

The Volunteer League and missionary Bible study class of the Y. M. C. A. will meet at the Association building, Monday evening. Bible study topic: "The Mission of the Twelve and of the Twenty," Matt. x, Luke x:1-16; missionary topic: "The Gospel in Oriental Cities."

BURGLARS AT WORK AGAIN

Visited Four Houses in the Netherwood Section, But Secured Little Booty.

CASH AND AN OVERCOAT

Entered Homes of A. J. Beal, Cornelius van Herwerden and Joseph Crane, on South Avenue, and Serino Ayres, on LaGrande Avenue—Forced Lower Windows.

In the early hours of this morning, burglars struck town and selected the extreme eastern section of the city as a base of operations. Three houses on South avenue, beyond Leland avenue, and one in the the rear on LaGrande avenue were entered but the prowlers secured a total of only $11.10 and an overcoat for their trouble.

The houses entered were those of Andrew J. Beal, Cornelius vanHerwerden, and Joseph Crane at 1310, 1312 and 1314 South avenue and Serino Ayers, 1210 LaGrande avenue. At the first three they ransacked at will but at the last they were heard by Mrs. Ayers and made their exit before the family could get down stairs. It was then a little before 4 o'clock.

In each case entrance was effected by prying the front windows open with a grub-axe, which was evidently stolen from a nearby barn. It was left behind at the Ayers house and was later found by the police.

At Beal's, a bureau was opened and a pocketbook containing $11 was taken. At vanHerwerden's an overcoat was purloined and although the rooms at the Crane house were evidently well gone over, all that was found missing was a ten cent piece left the night before on a mantel. Nothing was taken from the last place visited, but their timely discovery by Mrs. Ayers was all that prevented their making a haul.

Chief Kiely was early on the scene and with Roundsman Mattox spent three hours investigating. They secured a number of important clues and have hopes of apprehending the gang.

CLEVELAND AT MORRISTOWN

BIG OVATION FOR FORMER PRESIDENT AT MASS-MEETING.

James E. Martine Also Addressed the Meeting and Was Enthusiastically Received.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Morristown, Oct. 31—Many Democrats from Plainfield were the among the great crowd of the party followers which packed Lyceum Hall, here, last evening, when ex-President Grover Cleveland spoke for the first time in a long while for political purposes. Delegations were present from all parts of the Fifth district and the former chief executive recieved an ovation that made the rafters ring. With him on the platform were many of the State's most prominent of which was James E. Martine, of Plainfield. A further honor was accorded the Plainfield orator in allotting him a place among the principal speakers. His address ranked in favor next to that of Cleveland's. Tariff was the theme of the ex-president's speech. There never was a time, he said, when it should be more earnestly, persistently or honestly pressed upon the people. From a Democratic standpoint he related the evils of the tariff license and closed with an appeal for the election of DeWitt Clinton Flanagan to Congress from the Fifth district.

When the applause had subsided at the close of Cleveland's speech. the "Farmer Orator" from Cedar Brook was introduced and presented a speech on tariff reform, trusts and other issues that kept the audience on its feet. His hearty Democrtic spirit permeated the atmosphere and he was frequently interrupted by rousing cheers.

Previous to the mass meeting Robert D. Foote, a Morristown millionaire, entertained the Cleveland party and a few intimate friends among whom were Mr. Martine. Later in the evening he tendered a reception to the notables at which 200 were in attendance.

ALL WANT AMATEUR LEAGUE NEXT SEASON

Such Was the Expression of Opinion at Hope Y. M. A. Dinner to Baseball Nine.

AND INVITED GUESTS

BATTING TROPHY WAS PRESENTED TO "SMILING JIMMY" MONTROSS.

Given by the Donor, J. Hervey Deane—Speeches by Members and Guests Followed An Excellent Repast at Warnock's.

Recognition of the valiant services it has performed in winning honors on the diamond the past season was shown the Hope Young Men's Association baseball team, last evening, when the members and a few friends, twenty in all, were dined by the organization at Warnock's supper room.

Those who responded to the invitations to be present were James Montross, David Gordon, Claude Roseberry, D. Brittain Martin, William Hartfelder, E J. Shortman, R. B. H. Dalley, George B. Cose and Benjamin Evans, of the Y. M. A. team; C. E. A. Heywood and Captain John G. MacLaughlin, of the Y. M. C. A. team, J. Hervey Doane, donor of the batting average cup; F. W. Runyon and Archibald Hacquer, of the News; Charles B. Morse and Themas Muir, of The Daily Press; J. Fred Wharton, of the Y. M. A. baseball committee; John H. Cose, manager of the Hope team and City Judge William N. Runyon, president of the Baseball League and the Y. M. A.

An hour sufficed to dispose of the menu and then President Runyon, acting as chairman, asked attention. In a few apt remarks he related tersely the object in giving the dinner and mentioned briefly some of the team's achievements on the diamond. He then introduced the following speakers: Messrs. Heywood, Hacquer, Runyon, Martin, Muir, Morse, Doane and Manager Cose. All referred to the exceptionally enthusiastic baseball season just passed and each expressed the hope that next summer would see a continuance of the Plainfield Amateur League instead of semi-professional baseball. Especially pointed on this subject were the remarks of J. Hervey Doane, Managers Heywood and Cose and President Runyon.

One of the looked-forward-to events came at the conclusion of J. Hervey Doane's address when he presented to "Smiling Jimmie" Montross the handsome silver trophy which he offered at the beginning of the season for the highest batting average. The winnner accepted the cup and true to his cognomen gave one of his winning smiles in place of a speech. Remarks by President Runyon of a congratulatory nature terminated the event which formally closed the Hope 1902 baseball team's career.

The committee which arranged the dinner consisted of John H. Cose, chairman, J. Fred Wharton and Benjamin Evans.

CELEBRATED HALLOWE'EN.

Miss Laura Hangliter Entertained Her Friends Last Evening.

Forty friends of Miss Laura Hangliter, of West Third street, gathered at her home, last evening, to participate in a Hallowe'en social. Pastimes appropriate to the occasion occupied the earlier hours, games being the feature, two prizes being won by William H. Scott. Several vocal and instrumental selections by Allen Squier were greatly enjoyed. Refreshments were served at midnight after which the young people engaged in dancing.

Much Experience.

Miss Sara Wray, who will address the Y. M. C. A. meeting in this city, Sunday, was formerly connected with the St. Bartholomew Mission, of New York city, and is now superintendent of the Eighth Avenue Rescue Mission. She has had a large experience in evangelistic work in this country and in England.

Farewell Dinner.

NEW SCHOOL PAPER.

Board of Editors of the City High School Met This Morning.

A meeting of the board of editors of the new City High School paper was held this morning when the following allotment of duties was made: Editor-in-chief, A. F. Conant; literary editor, Miss Dorothy Waldo; corresponding editor, Miss Edith Jarvis; school editor, Miss Jessie Maclay; assistant business manager, VanWyck Brooks. Plans for the new publication were discussed and it was decided that the first issue should appear the first week in December.

MET SOMERSET CANDIDATES

BOROUGH REPUBLICANS SAW AND INFORMALLY HEARD THEIR CHOICE.

Jos. S. Frelinghuysen Made a Statement Concerning Rev. Mr. Cleaver's Reasons for Change.

The Republican candidates for office in Somerset county were present last evening at the store at 43 Somerset street when between 300 and 400 voters of North Plainfield had an opportunity of meeting the men who, if elected, would conduct the affairs of that county for the next two years.

Candidate for senator, Joseph S. Frelinghuysen, candidate for surrogate, P. V. D. VanDoren, and candidate for assembly, Irving Hoagland, were present. All of the candidates made short addresses. Mr. Frelinghuysen in his address said that if elected he would carefully look after the welfare of North Plainfield as well as Somerville for, he said, the county of Somerset belongs to no one man but to all.

He touched on Rev. J. B. Cleaver's sudden change from the Republican ranks and said that the change was made by him purely for remnenrative considerations.

He said that Mr. Cleaver had come to him and asked what the Republican party would pay for stump speaking during the campaign. Mr. Frelinghuysen says he told Mr. Cleaver that he would pay $15 a night to Mr. Cleaver if the latter would stump for the Republican ticket. He went to the Democratic party and secured $2 or $3 more and closed the deal with that party. That, Mr. Frelinghuysen said, was the reason Mr. Cleaver is stumping for Samuel S. Childs.

Dr. J. H. Cooley and John McLaughlin circulated among those present and introduced the candidates to the voters.

SILK WORKERS STRUCK.

Twenty-Five Quit Work, But Silk Mill Continued in Operation —Cause of the Strike.

Simply because one man was reprimanded for not properly doing his work, twenty-five operatives of the Watchung Silk Company went out on a strike yesterday afternoon at about 4 o'clock during the absence of the manager, W. R. Stanbery, who was in New York on business.

Shortly after the hands went out a reporter called upon Mr. Stanbery for the purpose of securing an interview, but he declined to make any statement for publication. He did say, however, that the employes of the mill acted entirely on their own responsibility and unbeknown to him. The employes who are out are all young people. They assembled in a woodshed on Watchung avenue, where they held forth until almost dark haranguing over the strike.

There is no danger of the mill closing down as the factory was still in operation yesterday afternoon after the operatives went out in a body, as there were a number who remained faithful, and did not join the strikers.

This morning the strikers returned to work at the mill.

Tea and Sale Held at Home of Mrs. J. Evarts Tracy.

A number of women interested in the erection of a new Nurses' Home in connection with Muhlenberg Hospital, gave a tea and sale of home-made candies at the home of Mrs. J. Evarts Tracy, of West Eighth street, yesterday afternoon. The affair was given at the solicitation of Mrs. Tracy, although on account of the illness of E. C. Perkins, whose death occurred this morning, neither she nor her daughters were able to be present.

The tea and sale was largely attended and $135 was netted as clear profit toward the fund for the erection of the Nurses' Home. Miss Elizabeth R. Cock and Miss Schipper took charge of the affair and they were assisted by several other well-known women.

E. C. PERKINS PASSED AWAY

Prominent New York Lawyer Died at His Home on Central Avenue Today.

PNEUMONIA THE CAUSE

Well-Known Resident Finally Succumbed to a Fatal Attack of the Disease—Was Lawyer of Ability and Prominence—Leaves Widow, Four Sons and Two Daughters.

The hand of death rested on the brow of Edward C. Perkins as he lay battling for life at his home at 723 Central avenue this morning at 1 o'clock and took away one of Plainfield's prominent residents. For several days past he has been suffering with pneumonia and while at times there were faint rays of hope that he would recover, it was seen during the last twenty-four hours that the end was at hand and the family who gathered about his bed side in the early hours of the morning were prepared for the worst. The end came peacefully at exactly 1 o'clock and he was able to recognize his wife and children almost to the last.

Mr. Perkins, though well known socially in this city where he had resided for many years, was not very well known in political or lodge circles, never having accepted an office nor been a member of a lodge. He was a Democrat and once accepted the Democratic nomination for school trustee. As a member of the Church of the Holy Cross in North Plainfield he stood well and was one of the board of trustees of the local free public library.

Besides his wife, who is the daughter of Senator W. M. Evarts, four sons and two daughters survive him. The eldest son is now a student at Harvard University from which institution the father graduated in the class of '79. At the time of his death Mr. Perkins was in the forty-fifth year of his age.

Soon after graduating from college he entered upon the practice of law and was, at the time of his death, the senior partner of the well-known law firm of Perkins & Jackson whose law offices are at 115 Broadway, New York. Among his partners in his profession was Judge Gray, of the Court of Appeals of New York. In his practice he has handled a number of very important cases the latest of which was the arguing before the United States Supreme Court, the recent Insular cases. He has been identified with a large number of important cases.

His sister is now Mrs. Beaumont, wife of Admiral of the British Navy. She is now in Australia where she was advised of her brother's death this morning. Mr. Perkins was born in Florence, Italy. He is related distantly to J. Evarts Tracy, of this city.

The funeral will be held Sunday from his late residence on Central avenue. It is probable that the interment will be in Windsor, Vermont. The services here will be conducted by Rev. W. Montgomery Downey, rector of the Church of the Holy Cross, in North Plainfield.

OBSTRUCTION TO GO.

Contractor Has Promised to Remove Property in Front of the Babcock Building.

There was a conference yesterday afternoon of those interested in the obstruction in front of the Babcock building, about which considerable has been said of late. Included among those at the conference were several city officials and the managing contractor. At first the contractor was inclined to maintain his position, believing that he had a right to use the space in front of the building. After a discussion of the question, Manager Halem promised to remove the obstruction the first of next week.

The Stillman vacant lot on Madison avenue will be used to store the materials needed. This will clear the space in front of the building and allow the free use of that thoroughfare.

Changed His Office.

John Morton, the ice dealer, has removed his office for receiving orders, fgrom 153 to 145 North avenue, with Woolston & Buckle. In his new location he hopes to retain all his old customers and secure more new ones.

W. W. Hart, of Duer street, went to Pittsburg, Pa., on a business trip, Monday evening.

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

Clippings From Other Newspapers Which May be of Interest to Plainfield and Its Citizens.

The rebuke of the Meeker act by the voters of Essex county this fall would probably secure its repeal, and a return to independent elections. The State Republican leaders have themselves admitted the dubious nature of this partisan act, and a definite declaration by the people would carry conviction.

And one decisive revolt against this class of legislation at Trenton would have an enormously beneficial effect in every way. The Republican partisans have become so confident that nothing could interfere with their success that they have been reckless of public sentiment. Probably nothing would do them as much good as a thrashing now.

The consolidation of the elections is doing more harm to public interests than is realized by the majority. There has been no adequate discussion of public affairs, outside of two or three overwhelming issues. The city administration, with the vast changes since the last local election, is neglected; the park question is ignored; Passaic river pollution gets no proper consideration, and a hundred details which would be considered and practically settled at a local election suffer by the complicated issues before the people. This preliminary discussion has been of the greatest value in the past. Of course, one of the objects of the bosses was to get rid of this criticism, and they would enjoy the immunity if they had no fear of their righteous punishment.

It is interesting to recall the chief argument used for the combined election act. It was that the people could not be trusted more than once a year to do their political duty. The bosses are always afraid of the people. Let this election demonstrate that their fear is well founded. The boss responsible for the Meeker act is running for Sheriff, and his defeat would be the defeat of the consolidation act, the vindication of the people's right to manage their own affairs.—Newark News.

The Worst Form.

Multitudes are singing the praises of Kodol, the new discovery which is making so many sick people well and weak people strong by digesting what they eat, by cleansihg and sweetening the stomach and by transforming their food into the kind of pure, rich, red blood that makes you feel good all over. Mrs. Cranfill, of Troy, I. T., writes: For a number of years I was troubled with indigestion and dyspepsia which grew into the worst form. Finally I was induced to use Kodol and after using four bottles I am entirely cured. I heartily recommend Kodol to all sufferers from indigestion and dyspepsia. Take a dose after meals. It digests what you eat. L. W. Randolph.

JERSEY'S CLUB WOMEN AT ANNUAL MEETING

New Jersey State Federation of Women's Clubs in Session at Jersey City.

YESTERDAY AND TODAY

THE PROGRAMME OF THE MEETINGS SUMMED UP BRIEFLY.

Sessions Held in Bergen Reformed Church, Jersey City—Meeting Comes to An End This Afternoon—Those Who Took Part.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Jersey City, Oct. 31—The eighth annual meeting of the New Jersey State Federation of Women's Clubs took place in the Bergen Reformed church, yesterday and today. The invitation was extended by the following clubs of Hudson county: The Woman's Literary Club, of Arlington; the Athena, Allegro and the Woman's Musical and Literary Club, of Bayonne; the Bergen Point Music Club, the Odd Volumes, Open Hand Club, Teachers' Club, Jersey City Woman's Club, College Club, Mothers' Club, of Whittier House, and Primary Principal Association, of Jersey City.

Yesterday morning's session opened promptly at 10 o'clock, Miss Clara Krause rendering a vocal solo at this time, after which Dr. John L. Scudder followed with the invocation. Dr. M. F. De Hart, president of the Jersey City Woman's Club, made the address of welcome, Mrs. Stewart Hartshorn, president of the State Federation, making the response. The annual reports of the secretaries, treasurer and auditor were then heard, after which Miss Mary C. Currie favored the audience with a vocal solo. The president's hour closed the morning programme.

Luncheon was served in the church at 1 o'clock. The afternoon session convened at 2 o'clock. Mrs. Fannie J. Taylor, of Newark, reported on the department of forestry and palisades. The report on the department of town improvement was presented by Mrs. Louise B Silvers and William R. George followed with an address on "The George Junior Republic." Mrs. Georgine C. Bennett rendered a vocal solo at this point in the programme and Edwin Markham completed the afternoon by reading two poems, "Lincoln, the Man of the People," and "The Joy of the Hills."

At 8 o'clock the delegates and guests assembled again in the same place to listen to a delightful musical and literary programme. Miss Grace Manross sang two numbers and Miss Edith Cline Ford recited scenes from "Timothy's Quest" and "How They Laugh." Mrs. Mary E. Lease gave the address of the evening, after which the time was given over to a social reunion.

This morning the programme opened with a duet by Mrs. Krebs and Mrs. Ely, the meeting going into executive session thereafter and taking up the roll call of delegates, which preceded the election of State officers. Mrs. Elizabeth R. Vermilye had charge of the question box and Mrs. Fannie S. Gnade, Miss Ellen Mecum and Mrs. Mary B. Kinsley rendered their reports on the department of education, libraries and the reciprocity bureau, respectively. The clubs new to the Federation are Bergen Point Music Club, Resolve Club, of Orange; Paragraph Club, of Beverly, and Civic Club, of Newark. They closed the morning programme with a brief report of work undertaken. This afternoon, at 2 o'clock, the Federation will convene for its final session, Miss Emily B. Allen giving a violin solo as first number on the programme.

"The Great Need of Christian Socialism on the East Side" will be the subject of an address delivered by Mrs. Sarah J. Bird. Mrs. Emily E. Williamson, ex-president of the State Federation, will also make an address, taking up "Child Labor." The meeting will close with a report from the committee on resolutions, a report of tellers and installation of officers.

—Miss Stewart will give a musicale at her home in West Seventh street, Friday, November 7.

—The Christian Endeavor Socitey of the Crescent Avenue church, will meet this evening in the chapel of the church.

—W. D. Murray, of this city, will lead the monthly missionary meeting at Warren chapel, this evening. A cordial invitation is extended to all.

at the NEW YORK BARGAIN STORE, 324 W. Front St., Plainfield.

WE don't believe in heralding ourselves with a brass band, but instead of that we have arranged a special feast of bargains for the coming fall and winter, of which you are all invited to partake, and we hope that through the many bargains that we will give out the fame of our goods will spread far and wide, as once the echo of the Liberty Bells did.

THINGS WE DO—AND THINGS WE DON'T DO

We don't indulge in any bogus advertising scheme; we do everything we claim to do. We don't sell an article worth a dollar for ten cents, but we do sell by nearly half lower than any other store in the city. Our store is overfilled with all the latest and the most nobby productions for the coming fall. If you are interested in anything in our line now is the time to purchase. You can make a dollar go as far with us as two elsewhere. Polite salesmen will be willing and anxious to show them to you.

A GENERAL ACCUSED

Spanish Paper at Manila Arraigns Bell.

NOW HAS LIBEL SUIT ON HAND.

Plan For Aiding Distressed Provinces Resulted In a Profit—The Case Explained—General Miles Arrives.

MANILA, Oct. 31.—Libel proceedings have been instituted against the editor and the proprietors of Libertas, a Spanish newspaper published in Manila, on account of the publication of an article attacking General J. Franklin Bell and his plan of aiding the people of the provinces of Batangas and Laguna, Luzon, and of the island of Mindoro. This plan was put into effect after the cessation of hostilities. It consisted of selling rice and supplying the people with seeds and farming implements, and it resulted in profits amounting to $27,000 in gold.

General Bell has recently been ordered home. The presidentes of all the towns in Batangas province petitioned General Bell to take steps to have his plan of aid continued after his departure. General Bell thereupon consulted General Davis and the members of the civil commission on the matter and decided to place the $27,000 in his possession in the hands of the commission, and it will be expended by the commission among the people of the provinces whence it was derived. General Bell came to Manila as the guest of Governor Taft and drafted an act covering the continuation of his plan. This act was adopted by the commission, and General Bell transferred the $27,000 to the insular treasury.

After this transfer of funds had been made Libertas published an article charging General Bell with an attempt to steal this fund and take it with him to the United States, but saying that the commission had forced him to surrender the money. General Davis transmitted to General Bell officially a copy of the Libertas' article. General Bell responded by denying the charges. General Davis thereupon transmitted the papers to Governor Taft, who in his turn remitted them to the prosecuting attorney. This official then instituted the proceedings against the newspaper.

The United States army transport Thomas, with Lieutenant General Miles and his party on board, has anchored in Manila harbor.

Molineux Will Testify.

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—Ex-Governor Black has been defeated in his first move to break down the case built up by the state against Roland B. Molineux for the murder of Mrs. Kate Adams. His motion to dismiss the case was overruled by Justice Lambert. The trial was then adjourned for the day to enable Molineux's counsel to arrange for presenting testimony for the defense. Mr. Black asserted positively that he would put Molineux on the stand to testify in his own defense.

Firmin's Followers Imprisoned.

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti, Oct. 31.—Forty followers of General Firmin, the revolutionary leader, and five members of the chamber of deputies who were left without means of support by General Firmin at Mathewtown, Inagua island, Bahamas, have returned to Port au Prince. With the exception of the deputies they were all imprisoned. The sessions of the chamber of deputies will soon recommence. General Nord, with 8,000 men, is expected to reach here next week from Gonaives.

Sheriff Shot to Kill.

JACKSON, Miss., Oct. 31.—In an attempt to liberate his friend, S. O. B. Jones, from the county jail at Mount Olive, Miss., John Millis, a white man, was shot and instantly killed by Deputy Sheriff Walker. Millis approached the jail armed with two six shooters and an ax and when ordered to halt attempted to draw his guns, whereupon Officer Walker fired, killing him instantly.

The Czar Ill.

LONDON, Oct. 31.—The St. Petersburg correspondent of the Daily Express says that Dr. Merzejewski, one of the foremost specialists in Russia, has been summoned by telegraph to Livadia to attend the czar, who is suffering from a nervous complaint.

Buying Cement In Germany.

BERLIN, Oct. 31.—Unusually heavy American orders for Portland cement have been placed in Germany, and several cargoes are afloat including Berlin shipments. The demand is attributed to the construction of the New York underground railroad.

A CLOSE INSPECTION

The Strike Commission Visits Mines and Breakers.

SPEND A LONG TIME UNDERGROUND

Particular Attention Is Paid to the Matter of Separating Slate and Refuse From Coal—One of the Bones of Contention.

SCRANTON, Pa., Oct. 31.—The seven commissioners appointed by President Roosevelt to adjust the differences existing between the anthracite mine workers and their employers had an interesting day and returned to their hotel at 6:30 o'clock last night grimy from coal dust and tired after eight hours of observation and investigation.

The trip was quite a novelty to most of those in the commissioners' party, some of them never having been in the hard coal regions. The commissioners displayed the greatest interest in every feature of coal mining and went about their work in a manner that was pleasing to both the mining superintendents and the representatives of the mine workers, who accompanied the president's commissioners. The seven arbitrators had to endure many discomforts, make their way through wet places in the mines, almost crawl along some of the gangways in the working and pass through clouds of coal dust in the breakers. Notwithstanding this their eagerness for information was not diminished, and they set out this morning to put in another hard day's work in this vicinity.

Today the commissioners are inspecting the Manville colliery at Green Ridge, just outside of this city. It is operated jointly by the Delaware and Hudson and Delaware, Lackawanna and Western companies. This colliery is one of the worst so far as thin veins of coal are concerned and was selected by the miners' representatives. A thin vein of coal as a rule is hard to work. According to the present programme, the commission will go to Wilkesbarre tomorrow for the inspection of the region surrounding that city. No testimony will be taken until next week.

Yesterday's tour consisted of an inspection of No. 2 mine of the Hillside Coal and Iron company, operated by the Erie company, and the Coal Brook breaker of the Delaware and Hudson company. The former is located at Forest City, twenty-two miles north of this city and the breaker at Carbondale, four miles south of Forest City. On the run up the Lackawanna valley the commissioners viewed with interest the several mining towns situated along the Delaware and Hudson railroad.

The party reached the surface of the Forest City mine at 2:10 o'clock, after being underground for 2 hours and 10 minutes. A hurried inspection was made of the outside buildings of the colliery, and then the commissioners were driven in carriages to their special train. Light lunch was had on the observation car, after which the commissioners held a brief executive session, at which they discussed matter relating purely to the further movements of the arbitrators. The exact nature of the question discussed was not made public, but Colonel Wright, the spokesman of the party, said it was of no public interest.

The arbitrators had an interesting time at the Coal Brook breaker at Carbondale. They went to the top of the great black building and inspected all the machinery down to the ground. They were much interested in the men and boys who are employed in picking slate and "boney" from the coal. From the breaker the now tired commissioners were escorted to the chute where the coal fresh out of the mine is sent to the breaker by means of a "conveyer," an endless chain arrangement of scrappers. It is here where one of the principal bones of contention between the employees and employer is found. The miners maintain they are often unjustly docked by the docking bosses for the amount of slate, boney or other refuse found in the coal. The commissioners watched the work of the boss closely.

Coal Region Quiet.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Oct. 31.—The Fourth and Eighth regiments, which have been stationed in the Wyoming valley for some time past, broke camp yesterday and returned to their homes. The Ninth regiment will break camp today. The entire coal region is now peaceful. The only place where trouble is looked for is in the Lehigh region, where the individual operators and the miners have failed to come to an agreement. Some of the troops may be kept in that section until the miners return to work. It was a busy day at all the mines working, and the output of coal was heavy.

More Roumanian Jews Coming.

VIENNA, Oct. 31.—After an interval of several weeks the migration of Roumanian Jews through this city for the United States has recommenced heavily. Two parties of emigrants, numbering 400 persons, were here last Tuesday and Wednesday. The most remarkable feature of this revived movement is that half of the emigrants are men, whereas former parties were almost entirely composed of women and children. The men now emigrating are chiefly artisans.

Fire at a Summer Resort.

STROUDSBURG, Pa., Oct. 31.—Fire has totally destroyed the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railroad depot at the famous summer resort Delaware Water Gap. A residence on the river side opposite was also destroyed. The Delaware House was badly damaged by fire and water. The loss by the fire is fully covered by insurance. The depot, freighthouse, express office and Union News stand were gutted.

DIGG'S UPRIGHT FIRE EXTINGUISHER.

The Best on Earth! We Challenge the World!

The Extinguishers that turn up-side-down to discharge are good of their kind, but this is far better. Read the following reasons:

Points of superior merit of the Digg-Upright over any other machine—

2—Can never be discharged by accident; absolutely under the control of the operator.

3—A 3-gallon machine of this type contains ONE QUART more of liquid than a reversible, because it does not require a handle underneath.

4—It does not need inspection and recharging as required for the reversible with its loose stopple.

5—The acid being released at the top of the tank, and the outlet being at the bottom, the mingling of the chemicals is so thorough before the acid reaches the outlet that it is completely neutralized and no harm can be done to flesh or fabric. In the reversible type the acid is released within the two inches of the outlet.

6—Convenience in handling. The machine stands on its bottom, and all the operator has to do is to turn the screw in the cap, and the flow begins instantly.

7—The bottle is not broken, and no nuisance of broken glass.

COFFEE ZONE RUINED

LIVES OF PLANTERS IN DANGER.

Eruption of Santa Maria, Quiet For Many Years, Causes Enormous Losses—Nearby Towns Likely to Be Overwhelmed.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 31.—The entire coffee zone of Guatemala has been destroyed by flames and smoke from the volcano of Santa Maria. Eruptions threaten the destruction of every living thing within reach of the fumes and fire that pour from the burning mountain, according to a cable to Castle Bros., importers of this city, received from their coffee plantation in Guatemala. Only meager details are given.

Louis Hirsch of Castle Bros. says: "I wired to our representatives there asking for news of the eruption of Maria and have received in reply this cablegram: 'It is true. Enormous losses. Probable volcanic eruption. Coffee zone destroyed. Our lives are in danger. Further reports will follow.'

"The coffee districts referred to," said Mr. Hirsch, "are the Costa Cusa and Costa Granda. They are the finest plantations in the country. If the coffee district is destroyed, as the cable seems to indicate, one-third of the crop is most likely involved.

"The volcano of Santa Maria is located between Retalhulen and Quezeltenango. The towns in the neighborhood most likely to be destroyed are San Felipe, Mazatenango and Quezeltenango. The volcano has been quiet for many years.

"I was in the district last April at the time when earthquakes racked the country. No volcanic eruptions accompanied the earthquakes, however."

New Phase of Trolley Strike.

SARATOGA, N. Y., Oct. 31.—The Hudson Valley Railway company was unable yesterday afternoon to resume trolley car service between Waterford and Troy, as was announced would be done. Two cars, accompanied by forty men of Company L of the Second regiment, moving through Waterford in the direction of Troy, were stalled by a "cut off" switch, which rendered the cars powerless on the leased lines of the United Traction company of Troy and Albany. The switch is said to have been operated by officials of the Traction company when they saw the Hudson Valley cars approaching. Litigation, it is thought, will follow. The union men of the Traction company have openly declared that they will go out on a general strike if the Hudson Valley cars, with nonunion men, are allowed on the Traction company's road.

King Oscar's Decision.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—The full text of the decision of King Oscar, acting as arbitrator of the triangular case of the United States, Great Britain and Germany growing out of the acts of sailors in Samoa during the Mataafa rebellion, has reached Washington. As indicated in the cable advices, the decision is adverse to the contention of the United States and Great Britain that their sailors were properly used to repress the rebels, and the statement of the reasons which influenced the arbitrator in his decision has not made it any more acceptible. The judgment is on the one point of responsibility, and the arbitrator has not yet fixed the amount of the money liability, which now must be determined by him on statements of facts to be submitted by the individual claimants through their respective governments.

President Again In White House.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—Many of President Roosevelt's personal belongings have been removed from the temporary executive quarters on Jackson place to the remodeled White House. The president is now occupying his old room in the southwest corner of the second floor of the White House, the room formerly occupied by Lincoln, Harrison and at times by some other presidents. The room has been refitted entirely. Next week the president's family will return to the White House, and the temporary quarters on Jackson place will be closed.

Germany Will Exhibit.

BERLIN, Oct. 31.—The German government has decided after a long delay to make an adequate representation at St. Louis. Home Secretary Posadowski, within whose jurisdiction the business comes, has shown recently a strong official and personal interest in the fair. The cabinet at his request has inserted, it is understood, an item of $500,000 in the budget to defray the expenses of the German official exhibits at the fair.

Chicago Billposters Strike.

CHICAGO, Oct. 31.—Three men were injured and four arrests were made in connection with disturbances incident to the billposters' strike now on in this city. A wagon containing several nonunion billposters and four special detectives and guarded by ten policemen was stopped several times today by mobs and greeted with a storm of stones and other missiles.

School Closing Approved.

PARIS, Oct. 31.—For the past two days the senate has been debating an interpellation with regard to the closing of unauthorized congregationist schools by the government. Finally by 163 votes to 90 it passed an order of the day approving the action of the government.

THANKSGIVING PROCLAMATION.

President Roosevelt has issued his annual Thanksgiving proclamation as follows:

By the President of the United States of America. A proclamation:

According to the yearly custom of our people, it falls upon the President at this season to appoint a day of festival and thanksgiving to God.

Over a century and a quarter has passed since this country took its place among the nations of the earth, and during that time we have had on the whole more to be thankful for than has fallen to the lot of any other people.

Generation after generation has grown to manhood and passed away. Each has had to bear its peculiar burdens, each to face its special crises, and each has known years of grim trial when the country was menaced by domestic or foreign levy, when the hand of the Lord was heavy upon it in drouth or flood or pestilence, when in bodily distress and anguish of soul it paid the penalty of folly and a forward heart. Nevertheless, decade by decade, we have struggled onward and upward; we now abundantly enjoy material well-being and under the favor of the Most High, we are striving earnestly to achieve moral and spiritual uplifting. The year that has just closed has been one of peace and of overflowing plenty. Rarely has any people enjoyed greater prosperity than we are now enjoying. For this we render heartfelt and solemn thanks to the Giver of Good, and we seek to praise Him, not by words only, but by deeds, by the way in which we do our duty to ourselves and to our fellow men.

Now, therefore, I, Theodore Roosevelt, President of the United States, do hereby designate as a day of general thanksgiving Thursday, the 27th of the coming November, and do recommend that throughout the land the people cease from their ordinary occupations, and in their several homes and places of worship, render thanks unto Almighty God for the manifold blessings of the past year.

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Done at the city of Washington this 29th day of October, in the year of Our Lord one thousand nine hundred and two, and of the independence of the United States the 127th.

(Signed.) THEODORE ROOSEVELT.
By the President:
JOHN HAY, secretary of State.

As far as the welfare of the Republican party in Plainfield is concerned last evening's Republican rally was really not necessary. As far as the Republican ticket itself, the G. O. P. will not have to worry very much. It will be the split ticket which will cause disquietude among the Republican leaders. Last night's meeting is not likely to have affected many of those. There are other reasons than those of mere political policy which are playing a prominent part in the race for Senator, Sheriff and assemblymen. Never has the personality of the candidates played such an important part as this year and this, as well as other reasons, will lead to more voting of scratched tickets.

The Daily Press will devote some space tomorrow to a resume of the political situation in the Fifth Congressional district as well as in Union, Somerset and Middlesex counties. The most accurate forecasters will occasionally go astray but these ante-election statements will be made as accurately and impartially as it is possible to make them. They will serve to show at least how the political fight appears on the surface to those who are well acquainted with the existing conditions.

The Somerset Republicans decided that a personal interview would serve their purpose this year better than a mass meeting and so the Congressional and county candidates were paraded and introduced in an informal way over at the borough headquarters last evening.

—Fresh mushrooms will be one of the special offerings at Neuman Brothers tomorrow. Place orders early.

DUNELLEN.

This place will go through one of the liveliest nights in the year tonight if the weather is clear and very likely if not clear, Hallowe'en is always taken by the Dunnellen small boy to let loose all the lawlessness and good spirits he has, as many people can testify. The day will be celebrated at several homes by social gatherings.

Defender Fire Company held its regular meeting last evening in the Borough Hall. Nearly all the members were present. Routine business was considered.

Mrs. Chas. Dodwell has been attending the convention of Great Council, Daughters of Pocohontas, at Atlantic City, this week.

James Touzeau has been on the disabled list for some time, with a sore arm, caused by a falling slate from the roundhouse.

Rev. and Mrs. W. C. Kinsey, of Staten Island, have been spending this week with Mr. and Mrs. G. T. Schenk.

A parlor meeting will be held by the local W. C. T. U. at the home of Mrs. John Runyon next Thursday afternoon.

Hunters around here are waiting for the open hunting season with a good deal of eagerness as there is lots of game.

C. H. Kirby has purchased the Runyon house on Dunellen avenue now occupied by O. M. Mitchell.

A union temperance meeting will be held by the W. C. T. U. in the Methodist church Sunday evening.

A number of small houses will shortly be built on the land recently bought by Adam Dealaman.

Mass will be observed in St. John's church tomorrow morning at 10:30, as it is All Saints' day.

Miss May Higgins, of Bound Brook, has been employed as a teacher in Lincoln School.

Communion will be held in the Methodisit church Sunday morning.

Mrs. J. C. Giddes has been spending a few days in Staten Island.

NEW MARKET.

Tonight is Hallowe'en and as usual the small boy will be in his element. Householders are warned to put their gates in a safe place.

Dr. W. J. Nelson, William Fletcher and C. F. Dayton are spending this week hunting in New York State.

Joseph Carkhuff, of Piscataway, has rented the rooms over Nelson's grocery store.

Friendship Circle will hold a regular meeting next Wednesday.

C. E. Kelley and wife are visiting in Maryland for a few days.

Rev. L. E. Livermore has purchased a handsome new carriage.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

If the weather is pleasant tomorrow afternoon the ball game between the locals and Plainfield Consolidated should call out a record breaking crowd. Owing to the shortness of the days, Manager Johnston has decided to call the game promptly at 3 o'clock. Ample accommodations will be made to take care of the crowd. The price of admission will remain the same as it has been all the season. This is positively the last chance for the local ball cranks to see a game this season.

The members of the Baptist Sunday-school will hold their annual Bible day exercises in the church Sunday morning at 9:30. A pleasing programme has been arranged by Superintendent C. H. Vincent and the friends of the school are cordially invited to attend.

The members of the Epworth League of the Methodist church held their annual meeting and election of officers in the church last night. At the close of the business session the members and a few friends enjoyed a social hour together.

Miss Addie Demarest, who has been spending a week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Abram Wade, has returned to her home at Suffern, N. Y.

The local Republican organization was well represented at the Republican rally held in Reform Hall, Plainfield, last night.

"The Great Supper," will be the topic discussed at the Friday evening prayer meeting in the Baptist church tonight.

Scotch Plains still feels the effect of the recent coal strike. No coal hs been received by the local dealers yet.

A number from town will attend the dance at Berkely Heights Hall, tonight.

Miss Nancy Wade is spending a few days with friends at Mahwah, this State.

The Township Committee meets in the Town rooms tonight at 8 o'clock.

Tonight is Hallowe'en—look out for your gate.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

Camp No. 41, P. O. S. of A., is preparing for an initiation at their next meeting.

Samuel Riddell now occupies the house formerly occupied by Harry Hartzel.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Winship dined with Mrs. Theodore Vanpelt yesterday.

Many are suffering from colds and some with whooping cough.

MISS SNYDER MADE DEPUTY.

Honored as Well as Mrs. Holstein by Degree of Pocohontas.

The delegates from Iona Council, No. 41, Degree of Pocohontas, of this city has returned from Atlantic City, where the great session was held.

The elected chiefs were as follows: Great prophetess, Mrs. Mary L. Morgan, Newark; great pocohontas, Mrs. Levenia Holstein, Plainfield; great wenonah, Mrs. Stella B. Ragen, Paterson; great minnehaha, Mrs. Ray Wardell, Jersey City; great keeper of records, Mrs. Sarah T. Rellstab, Trenton.

Miss Daisy Snyder, of this city, was appointed deputy of the eighth district which includes Plainfield, Perth Amboy and Carteret.

The delegation speak in the highest terms of the reception given them by Troga Council, by whom they were entertained.

FUNERAL OF MRS. PEARSON.

Services Were Held From the Home Yesterday Afternoon.

At her late home on West Fifth street, yesterday afternoon, funeral services were held over the remains of Mrs. W. W. Pearson, with many relatives and friends in attendance. Rev. Cornelius Schenck was the officiating clergyman. During the services several selections were sweetly rendered by Elmer E. Runyon. Interment was afterward made in the family plot at Hillside cemetery. Those who acted as pall bearers were Clifford Pearson, Robert Pearson and Harry G. Fay, nephews of Mrs. Pearson, and L. W. Randolph.

COMPANY K'S DANCE.

Gave a Social Affair at the Casino Last Evening.

The members of Company K took their initial step, last evening, at entertaining by giving a dance in the Casino. Its success was early assured as there were 150 young people in attendance. Suhr's Imperial orchestra, which was grouped behind palms on the stage, furnished the music.

The committee which arranged the affair and had charge consisted of George L. Apgar, N. R. Titsworth, E. A. Searing, Charles Peterson, and C. H. Bilyeu.

—There will be a special sale of peanut brittle and American mixed candies at Tier's candy store tomorrow. Tier's superior ice cream is the standard in this city.

Forty Years' Torture.

To be relieved from a torturing disease after 40 years' torture might well cause the gratitude of anyone. That is what DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve did for C. Haney, Geneva, O. He says: "DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve cured me of piles after I had suffered 40 years." Cures cuts, burns wounds, skin diseases. Beware of counterfeits. L. W. Randolph

SOME OF ATTRACTIONS TO BE FOUND AT LOCAL STORES.

A Few Interesting Items Concerning Greater Plainfield's Merchants

The sweetest notes ever heard come from the pianos sold by G. H. Kenyon, of West Front street. They are beauties, both as to tone, quality and durability.

When one has fine laces to be done up it is necessary to have a first class laundry to do the work. Such a laundry is the Meissner hand laundry at 432 Watchung avenue.

T. L. Walsh wants all lovers of vegetables and fruit to see his large display. His market on North avenue is always crowded with bargains and he delivers all orders free.

The patrons of Peck's store on West Front street, are a happy lot of people. They are made so by the superior line of goods which they are able to secure and all goods give satisfaction.

Parties desiring to have shrubbery placed about their residences should place their orders at once with the Belleview Avenue Nursery. It has a lot of plants and small shrubs adapted for the purpose at reduced rates.

If you order fish from the Rogers Seafood Company with the expectation of getting it nice and fresh, you will not be disappointed. The firm never sends out any orders that are not made up from strictly fresh stock. All fish is received directly from the nets.

Science has again come to the assistance of humanity. This time it has discovered a way to take cod liver oil without experiencing that unpleasant taste while taking it. This particular kind of oil may be procured at E. S. F. Randolph's North avenue pharmacy.

Desirable winter goods in wide variety are now being shown at Woodhull & Martin's store. There is an attractive line of handsome furs, children's cloaks, comfortable blankets. The lace curtain sale is now on offering special bargains. If you need an oil stove you will find the best make here. An inspection of goods is invited.

CITY JOTTINGS.

—Miss Rhoda Thoms, of this city, has secured a position in the local office of the telephone company.

—Justice Nash has issued papers in the landlord and tenant case of Vail against Drake, returnable November 5.

—The first fall meeting of the sewing school of Warren chapel will be held tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock.

—Neuman Brothers' variety of grapes are Concords, Niagaras, Delawares, Catawas, Tokay, Muscats and Malagas. A new lot has recently been received.

—The regular bi-monthly covenant meeting of the Seventh-Day Baptist church will take place this evening. The communion service will be held tomorrow morning at the usual hour.

Peddled Without License.

Harry Levine, of New York, was arrested on Park avenue, yesterday by Patrolman Vanderweg, for peddling without a license. This morning City Judge Runyon released him on condition that he leave the city.

PEACE FOR COLOMBIA.

It Is Believed Revolution Has Received Deathblow.

PANAMA, Colombia, Oct. 31.—There is reason to believe that the Colombian revolution will now end with little, if any, further bloodshed.

Information from a reliable source has been received here that General Vargas-Santos, the military director of the revolutionists, has been negotiating a treaty of peace in Costa Rica with a representative of the Colombian government. Last week General Vargas-Santos sent a cable message to Governor Salazar, asking leave to come here to confer with the governor personally. Today General Vargas-Santos repeated this request, and Governor Salazar replied by cable, telling him to come. Much is expected from the approaching conference between these two men.

It is also a fact that last Tuesday the revolutionary general Herrera sent a communication to Governor Salazar insisting upon a conference with the governor of Panama and saying that from it he believed peace would result. This message was answered by Governor Salazar yesterday. He said he was ready to meet General Herrera.

General Herrera's desire for a peace conference is undoubtedly a result of the recent surrender at Rio Frio of General Uribe-Uribe, who was one of the most active of the revolutionary leaders. He is considered to be one of the brainiest men in the Liberal party, and his surrender was a severe loss to the rebels.

On the isthmus there is now much hope that internal peace will soon be an accomplished fact.

TRIPLE MURDER AND ARSON.

Remains of Family Found In Ashes of Their Home.

PALMYRA, Wis., Oct. 31.—What is supposed to have been one of the most diabolical murders ever committed occurred yesterday, when the home of William Wickingson, three miles southeast of this place, was burned to the ground after, it is thought, the three occupants had been robbed and murdered.

The names of those whose charred remains were found in the ruins are as follows: William Wickingson, aged forty-two years; Albert Wickingson, aged forty years, and Julia Wickingson, aged thirty-six years.

Evidence secured points to murder. The most important clews are that William Wickingson drew $500 from a local bank Wednesday and that a rig was heard on the road near the Wickingson home shortly before the fire was discovered. In the search of the ruins William Wickingson's body was found face downward with arms outstretched, and near the charred bones of the right hand were found a revolver and $365 in gold. A tin box was also found containing burned fragments supposed to be bills amounting to nearly $1,000. The other bodies were also found.

From the evidence secured it is thought William Wickingson died while fighting with his revolver and that his brother was struck by his assailant while he was in the hallway. The remains were placed in one casket and removed to La Grange.

NEW CABLE LINE.

Northern Pacific Coast Connected With Australia.

VICTORIA, B. C., Oct. 31.—The last link of the Pacific cable has been completed, and a celebration is to be held by citizens of Victoria in Victoria theater to mark the completion of the line which will connect Canada with Australia.

The cable steamer Colonia left Bamfield creek on Sept. 18 to lay the stretch of cable to Fanning island, and, allowing for slack, she soon had 3,561 miles of deep sea cable stretched to Fanning. On Oct. 6 the Colonia went to Honolulu, where her crew was transferred to the cable steamer Anglia, and that vessel, after making the shore connection with Fanning, started out Oct. 18 for Suva to lay the last link connecting the Fijis with Norfolk island, to which island the cable had already been connected by the Anglia from New Zealand and Queensland. This work, according to advices from the cable steamer, was completed this morning.

Killed by Falling Girder.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Oct. 31.—One man was killed and two others were severely wounded, one probably fatally, in an accident at India bridge, which is being built by a Boston concern. The chain which held a girder in position broke, letting the huge piece of iron fall. It struck John White, killing him instantly; crushed the leg of Edward Freburg of Boston, so that amputation was necessary, and seriously hurt Allen Leyler of Boston. Leyler will recover.

Destroyed Home and Himself.

WILLIAMSTOWN, N. J., Oct. 31.—Nicholas Wetzell, aged fifty-three years, committed suicide by blowing his head off with a shotgun after setting fire to his home. The house was destroyed and Wetzell's body was cremated. There were twenty-four loaded shotguns in the dwelling, and during the progress of the fire all were discharged. Wetzell is believed to have been rendered insane through grief over the death of his mother.

Japan's Naval Expansion Assured.

YOKOHAMA, Oct. 31.—The Japanese cabinet has adopted the proposed scheme for naval expansion. It involves an annual expenditure of $8,250,000 for ten years. The naval expansion scheme referred to involves the building of four new battleships, six first class cruisers and various other craft. The battleships are to be built in England and the cruisers in England, France and Germany.

SEPARATE COATS.

The Revival of the Basque—Sack Coats.

Basques are a prominent feature of the new fashions. Some of them are absurdly short, but no doubt they will get longer as the season advances.

The revival of the jacket is another item of interest. It is being made in pale colored cloths trimmed with braid and there are even smart models in silk, satin and velvet.

Separate coats of the loose paletot or sack type are now very modish, but much depends on the finish of these garments. For a plain coat the triple capes with turnover revers or collar in highwayman style are much in favor, or deep capes fitting tightly over the shoulder are bordered with passementerie and lace.

A fashionable cloth for coats is of gray and white, the knots and tufts of white intermingled slightly with black on a gray ground. This is exceedingly effective with black braid, silver or steel buttons and a lining of pearl gray silk.

Most of the newer coats have no neckband or collar and are more comfortable to wear with fur ties or boas than when the neck is high and close.

An ultra smart cloth coat is here shown. It has the triple cape collar and wide bell cuffs so fashionable. The collar and wide sleeves are of velvet and embroidery.

BROWN POPULAR.

A Certain Shade of Dark Red Also Worn.

One of the newest tones of brown is very dark and has the particular reddish tint of newly plowed earth when quite wet. These red tones are more in vogue than the yellowish shades of last season.

A rich deep red will be worn by a few, but this is only for the dark pale woman who possesses many gowns and can afford to wear her red one only on appropriate occasions.

A soft white felt hat recently seen was very much tilted on the left side, the vacancy being filled in with a huge black velvet bow. The brim was surrounded by a garland of cherries ending in a long trail of cherries in the back.

Drooping trimmings are the rage once more. The newest fruits for hat trimmings are apples, with long trails of them at the back, apricots, raspberries and grapes.

Grapes are also used in the hair for evening decorations. When hats have upturned rims, it is becoming to trim the inside with feathers the same color as the hat.

The empire gown in the cut is made of black dotted chiffon over white silk.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

COPYRIGHT 1898 BY A. N. KELLOGG NEWSPAPER CO.

Dorothy rose slowly, and as precisely as one in a dream followed her aunt from the room and down to the carriage.

Henri accompanied them to the door, and then crept sobbing and sniffling back to his own apartment.

He had scarcely turned his back when a man crawled out from behind a heavy curtain of a little alcove. He went softly to the door, unlatched it, and glided out into the dimly-lighted corridor. He turned a corner, and, going down one of the darkest and narrowest hallways on the same floor, he approached a man sitting on a window sill.

"I know you are cold and tired," he said. "But I could not get away sooner." It was the voice of Minard Hendricks, and he was speaking to Dr. Lampkin. "I found the door of the studio open, and got in safely enough. I was too late to see Gielow, and just as I was about to come out Miss Huntington and her aunt came in and turned up the gas. I had to lie low, but I overheard what I'll bet the police will never get out of the artist's servant. I heard him tell Miss Huntington that Gielow had confessed to the murder."

As they walked away through the lonely streets Hendricks recounted minutely what had taken place in the studio.

"He'll never hang for it if he is caught," was the doctor's comment when his friend had concluded. "It is plain that he is as mad as a march hare."

The detective reserved his opinion on that point, and Lampkin studied his face in no little surprise. Hendricks paused, struck a match on a wall and lighted a cigar. He held two in his hand, but he was too much absorbed to offer the remaining unlighted one to his friend.

"You certainly think Gielow did the killing, don't you?" questioned Lampkin, taking the cigar as it was traveling back to Hendricks' vest pocket.

"Oh, beg pardon!" exclaimed the detective. "I was not thinking of what I was doing. As to your question, it is by far too early to pronounce the artist guilty, sane or insane. If I did that, there would be nothing left to unravel, and I don't operate that way." He heaved a big sigh. "Doctor, mark my words, when this thing is sifted to the bottom, it will be found the most gigantic piece of shrewd criminality ever heard of. Remember, I said—ever heard of. Good-by; this side street will take me home quickly, and I want to think over some perplexing details."

CHAPTER VII.

Lampkin did not see the detective again till late in the afternoon of the day thus begun. He met Hendricks as he sprang from a cab in front of Grace church, on Broadway.

"I have but a minute to spare," the detective said. "There is much to look into. I am sending out trusty young fellows in many directions. As for me, I am just now studying cremation."

"You want to see it—"

"If a one-handed man has been taken to a regular crematory."

"Ah, a good idea, of course. Have you read the papers?"

"Only the headlines. They are enough for me. Denham's star is in the ascendant, but it will sink eventually into a mud-puddle."

"He seems not to have got a word out of Gielow's servant," replied the doctor.

"He didn't know how to do it," grinned the man of experience in such things. "There are many theories advanced, I presume?"

The doctor nodded.

"All of them point to Gielow's love affair and his recent flight. They make Miss Huntington disagreeably conspicuous."

"And a blasted shame, too!" muttered Hendricks. "She belongs to the swell gang and all that, and was born with the proverbial spoon in her pretty mouth, but all the same she is a credit to womanhood—the stuff mothers of great men are made of."

"If she reads the papers she will feel sorely hurt, for not one of them credits the poor fellow with even temporary insanity. They have made him out a cold-hearted, cool-headed villain, who, not satisfied with killing his man, cremates his body simply to show the malignity of his hatred."

Hendricks was moving away, his hand outstretched, when a sudden thought lighted up his face and he said:

"Anything in the papers about his having been last seen in the company of Count Bantinni?"

"Not a word."

"Then Denham is minus the chief clew to the whole business. Poor Gielow! One of the headlines dubs him a Dr. Jekyll and a Mr. Hyde, a man who paints Madonnas and angels, and at the same time is the devil's vilest agent."

"I hope you will run across something in Gielow's favor," said Lampkin.

"May God help him if I can't," said the detective, with feeling. "This forenoon I went all the way out to Kola's place on the Palisades, hoping he might aid me in some way. I found him absorbed in crystal-gazing, and I knew it would irritate him to be interrupted till it pleased his fancy. His eastern servant had led me into the great dark room where Kola sat and whispered that I must wait till the [illegible] balderdash had received some psychic impression or other. From where I was placed I could see Kola behind a screen. His profile was towards me. His lips were moving constantly, and his eyeballs standing out from his cheeks on stiff muscles. He is a fit subject for a museum. He has had some accident with an explosive with which he was experimenting and his hair was singed off close. He actually looks uncanny. I sat without a word or a sign of recognition from him till I got tired and stole away."

"I didn't know he had moved out there," said the doctor.

"Oh, yes, and the place suits him to a T. He found an old colonial mansion built half of brick, half of stone, in a wooded portion of Cliffside Park, the most inaccessible part of the Palisades. He found out by accident that it was under contract to be torn down before long, and got a couple of years' lease on it, and recently he received a carload of oriental rubbish from somewhere and has turned the interior into the queerest looking retreat you ever saw. I got onto his idea not long ago, and, while it is not exactly above board, I have nothing to say, for New Yorkers—the wealthy ones—love to be humbugged, and Kola has discovered that they are willing to pay for it to boot. The vast mystery with which the rascal invests his personality does the work. He couldn't have chosen a better place. The old mansion is reputed to have been the headquarters of a gang of thieves of long standing, and when they were disbanded ten years ago I heard much about the place. One of the thieves who died in prison said a gang of counterfeiters had operated there for fifteen years and had the most perfect outfit in the cellars beneath the house that was ever owned in America. As I said, the mystery does the work for Kola. He receives applicants for psychic messages in the dark or when he is cowled, gowned and masked. I heard of one multi-millionaire who wanted his advice and went out there one afternoon in a coach with six armed attendants to drive off possible highwaymen. Kola's ambition is to get rich rapidly, and I think he is making considerable money. He has founded a sort of cult, and I assure you none but the rich are admitted."

"Do you think he can really tell people things they don't know?" asked Dr. Lampkin.

"He often gives me valuable hints," answered Hendricks, with a shrug. "I have no idea how he gets his information. You know my weak point is superstition; I can't help it. I shall talk with him about this case before it is ended. He is a sensitive cuss and would take offense if I didn't. I want to know particularly if he has ever met Bantinni, and if he has I want to know what he thinks of him. I called at the count's rooms this morning and found he had left the city. His housekeeper was as mum as a gravestone with the top knocked off. I interviewed Caruthers' valet. I wanted to see the letter he received from Philadelphia, but Denham has it. The valet admitted that it was typewritten, however."

CHAPTER VIII.

The next morning on arriving at his office after having been unavoidably detained uptown for an hour, Dr. Lampkin found a messenger-boy awaiting him.

"Are you Dr. Lampkin?" asked the boy, retaining the envelope for which the doctor had extended his hand.

"I am," answered Lampkin, impatiently. "Why do you doubt it?"

"I had orders at the office to deliver the message only to Dr. Lampkin," replied the boy. "They told me it was very urgent, but I had to wait here. I was afraid I'd miss you if I went up to your house."

"Quite right," said the doctor, and he opened the letter, which bore the little yellow seal, peculiar to the important communications sometimes sent him by Hendricks.

"I COULD SEE KOLA BEHIND A SCREEN."

"Come without a moment's delay—let nothing hinder you—to my house," ran the message. "Bring instruments to probe for bullet. Come in at the rear. My mother will be on the lookout to admit you. Don't attract attention. Explanation when I see you. Hendricks."

Do You Wish To Borrow Money?

In order to accommodate all classes of borrowers (those who cannot borrow at a bank, as well as those who can), the Mutual Loan and Investment Company, of 118 Market street, Newark, N. J., has a department for handling quickly and confidentially loans ranging from $10 to $300 on furniture, pianos, storage receipts, etc.

The security is not removed from your possession or in any way disturbed. The honest, careful and conservative borrower will try and decide two points before borrowing. First, where he can get the best terms. Second, where he can get fair and square treatment.

This company is in a position to give you by far the most satisfactory terms ever offered by any concern or individual negotiating this class of loans.

With this company you are assured of getting the lowest rates, easiest payments and longest time for repayment. The whole transaction from the time the application is made until loan is paid is entirely confidential. We give you another advantage in case you take the loan out for six months or a year, and wish to settle the same before the time expires: we charge you only for the time you have had the money. We also take up loans from other companies and advance more money.

Kindly call and let us explain our simple and up-to-date methods If not entirely convenient for you to call, please write and our representative will call and give you any desired information. Remember it costs nothing to make application. Loans promptly made in Elizabeth, Plainfield, Westfield, Roselle, Rahway, Perth Amboy and all suburban towns.

WHEELER TELLS ALL.

Chicago Tax Frauds Placed In a New Light.

CHICAGO, Oct. 31.—To State Attorney Deneen and his uncle, Police Inspector Wheeler, Luke Wheeler, the convicted tax fixer, has revealed in all its ramifications the gigantic plot that collapsed with the discovery of the Masonic temple tax frauds. Unless the present programme shall be changed Wheeler will go before the grand jury and in a formal declaration under oath reiterate the statements made to the prosecutor.

Wheeler's confession places him in a new light and if accepted literally removes from him the stigma of the charge of building up a defense with the tombstones of the dead. The conspiracy, or rather, the series of conspiracies, drove two men to suicide, according to the confession.

According to Wheeler, the Masonic temple fraud was merely incidental to an extensive series of operations reaching back into the past and made possible through lax methods, coupled with a desire on the part of responsible prominent business houses to evade taxation.

Moreover, according to Wheeler's declaration, the promissory notes he was placed on trial for forging were bona fide and legitimate papers. He said that a public official at Springfield sought to blackmail the clique, threatened exposure and prosecution against one in particular and worried him into ending his life. The second suicide involved in the case was due, Wheeler says, to fear that the fugitive (Wheeler) would confess when he was brought back from Canada.

INDICTED FOR MANSLAUGHTER

Healer Lathrop and the Quimbys Must Stand Trial.

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—John Carroll Lathrop, John Quimby and his wife, Georgianna, have been indicted by the grand jury of Westchester county, the charge being manslaughter in the second degree. Mr. and Mrs. Quimby are the parents of Esther Quimby, a child who died last week of diphtheria after the dismissal of a physician and the substitution of Mr. Lathrop, who is a reader of the Christian Science church of New York city. The three have not as yet been arrested under the indictment, the bonds previously given still holding good.

The indictment charges that "John Carroll Lathrop, John Quimby and Georgianna Quimby did maliciously and feloniously cause the death of Esther Quimby, aged seven years, by neglecting to provide medical attendance."

If convicted in the degree of manslaughter charged, all three may be sentenced to long terms of imprisonment. The law does not allow the sentencing magistrate any latitude. It imposes a prison term of fifteen years or a fine of $1,000 or both.

Fatal Riot at Ponce.

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, Oct. 31.—Two men were killed during attacks of the Republicans, which began early yesterday morning, and a number of men were severely wounded. The rioters announced that they intended to attack the Federation of Labor club and another club during the day, which caused the closing of all the stores in Ponce. A Spanish dramatic company which had been playing at Ponce applied to the Spanish consul for protection, and it is reported that the consul communicated with the Spanish minister at Washington. Shooting and rioting occurred inside the theater Tuesday evening, and since that day the company has been unable to perform.

ON THE GRIDIRON.

The Alis A. A. football team will meet this evening for practice for the game, tomorrow, with Cranford on Hope Common. The game will be called sharp at 3:45, and an interesting battle is looked for. Woolston is going to take part in the game in his old position as halfback which means that the team will be greatly strengthened.

The North Plainfield Crescents will line-up against the Netherwood, F. C., tomorrow afternoon, on the Mountainside Oval. Manager McLoughlin has had the former out for practice the past few nights. The Crescents would like to arrange two games for Election Day with teams averaging 105 pounds, the Underwoods preferred. Address E. McLoughlin, Somerset street.

The football game which was to have been played tomorrow between the Orange Field Club and Leal's School will not be played as announced. Manager Smith announces, however, that the Orange Field Club will play the I. C. T. football team on Election Day morning at 10 o'clock on the Orange Oval at the junction of the Arlington avenue and Randolph road.

GOLF.

The Westfield Golf Club will play a match game with the Suburban Club, of Elizabeth, at Westfield, tomorow afternoon.

The events on the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club course next Saturday will be the weekly play for the Boys' and Golf Committee cups. On the same day there will be the concluding play at tennis for the club championship. The scheduled events at golf will be concluded on the course on Thanksgiving Day, with the finals for the Gilbert cup and possibly some other events.

ON THE DIAMOND.

And still the baseball season continues. It was thought last Saturday's game between the Consolidated and Westfield teams would be the last but another one has now been arranged for the former and the Scotch Plains nine. It will be played tomorrow on the 'Plains grounds beginning promptly at 3 o'clock.

TENNIS.

The final match in the club championship play at tennis will be held Saturday on the courts of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club. T. M. Day, Jr., now holds the cup.

CITY JOTTINGS.

EX-PRISONERS HELD CLOSING CAMP FIRE

Afternoon Session of Reunion of New Jersey Association of Ex-Prisoners of War.

FINE PROGRAMME GIVEN

ADDRESSES MADE BY MEN PROMINENT IN THE ORGANIZATION.

Annual Reunion Was Brought to a Close Yesterday Afternoon—Speeches and Entertainment at the Camp Fire.

The afternoon session of the sixteenth annual reunion of the New Jersey Association of Ex-Prisoners of War was held yesterday afternoon at the Young Men's Christian Association Hall on Watchung avenue with a campfire.

It was a continuation of the exercises in the morning which consisted of a business session when the officers were elected for the following year and a collation was served in Vincent chapel by the members of Garfield League of this city.

At 2:30 Commander J. A. Pelonbet, of Bloomfield, called the campfire to order. There was a good-sized audience in the hall when the programme opened with a prayer by Rev. Dr. W. C. Snodgrass, pastor of the First Methodist church. An address of welcome was made by Mrs. E. J. Oleson. The response made by Quartermaster Stephen M. Long, of East Orange, was very appropriate to the occasion.

An instrumental solo was rendered by Miss Grey, which was followed by an address by Past Department Commander John Lawrence, of New Brunswick.

A chorus was rendered by a number of little girls all of whom were daughters or granddaughters of veterans of the Civil War which was enthusiastically received by the audience.

J. B. Oakley made an address eulogizing the soldiers who gave their lives for their country, Miss Adams, of Milltown, N. J., recited, "The Nation's Died."

An address was made by Warren L. Goss, the first president of the National Association, which proved to be a very interesting one. Miss Slack, a ventriloquist, entertained with an imitation of a cornet solo rendering "Marching Through Georgia," and "The Palms," with such a slight motion of her lips and with such correct sounds that she was greeted with loud applause.

After a recitation by Miss Adams, a piano solo was rendered by Miss A. Cain. Votes of thanks were then offered and the meeting came to a close with the singing of "America" by the audience.

An interesting feature of the session was the fact that the meeting was called to order by the commander's gavel, the wood of which was secured from a part of the prisoners' stockade at Andersonville and presented to the Ex-Prisoners National body at the encampment at Washington several months ago by Mrs. L. M. Winants.

Stood Candidate on His Head.

When the people of Plainfield awoke this morning they found Assemblyman William F. Hall, the Republican candidate for re-election, standing on his head in many public places. Several score pictures of Mr. Hall were posted about town yesterday afternoon and during the night some of those who do not admire Mr. Hall quietly reversed all the pictures with rather startling effect.

Words of Sympathy.

At a meeting of the local Democrats held Wednesday evening, resolutions of condolence were passed, conveying the sympathy of the party to James P. Homan in his bereavement.

Press of yesterday. While there was not room for all on the patform, that space was well filled with as many as could conveniently sit there.

After this announcement, the chairman introduced the speakers of the evening, the first of which was U. S. Senator John Kean. He referred to Mr. Kean as the most stalwart Republican in Union county. The Senator returned the compliment by saying that he believed every Republican in Plainfield was the most stalwart member of the party. He recited the issues and for each candidate he had words of praise.

B. Frank Coriell, candidate for sheriff, was the next speaker and he, too, took occasion to mention each one of the candidates. In speaking for himself he said that he was born in Plainfield and had always lived here. His life was an open book and upon his record he would stand. He said that if elected he would faithfully fulfill the duties of the office and treat every person with utmost courtesy. Mr. Coriell was followed by Surrogate George T. Parrot, who is a candidate for re-election. He spoke of the success of the Republican party and he hoped for a continuance of it. He especially urged that every candidate on the ticket be elected by a good majority.

One of the most enthusiastic speeches was that of Assemblyman William Newcorn, who is also a candidate for re-eletcion. Mr. Gilbert complimented Mr. Newcorn on his excellent record and said that he knew the Assemblyman would make a record to be proud of. Mr. Newcorn besought the voters to see that the State government is continued Republican that certain important measures may be carried out, notably the primary election law.

Senator Joseph Cross was the next speaker and he made a few earnest remarks in support of the ticket and the continuance of Republican party in power. He said that if the Republican ticket is defeated November 4, it will be the fault of the Republicans as nothing else could do it was his opinion.

All of the candidates who spoke took occasion to refer to Congressman Charles N. Fowler and of his past record, which was considered one to be proud of. These remarks caused much enthusiasm and when Mr. Fowler was introduced, he was given great applause which lasted fully for five minutes.

Mr. Fowler was the speaker of the evening and for nearly an hour he held the undivided attention of all. He began with the unprecedented prosperity of the country under Republican rule, of the steadily increasing business and the fact that twenty million people are busily employed. He touched upon the trust and monopolies and explained their functions. He told just what their powers are and how they can be curbed so as not to work an injustice to the people who support them. He spoke impressively of the times prior to the election of President McKinley, comparing them with the prosperous times since and gave many facts and figures.

The speaker said that he was first and always for America and the American people and would do all in his power to advance its interests. He also touched on the tariff and other paramount issues of the day. There was frequent loud applause as the Congressman would make a strong point in support of his position, and he seemed to have the majority of those present with him in what he said.

At the close of Mr. Fowler's speech, a informal reception was held and the candidates were given a cordial greeting by all. Assemblyman Wm. F. Hall did not appear.

HALLOWE'EN PARTY.

Given Last Evening by Members of Young Women's Club.

A delightful Hallowe'en party was held last evening at the rooms of the Young Woman's Club at North and Watchung avenues last evening.

The rooms were appropriately decorated with rosy red apples and flowers and the entire evening's entertainment was appropriate to the day. A piano solo was rendered by Miss Ruttman, a vocal solo by Miss Christine Smith. Little Miss Anna Warnock, aged seven years, delighted those present with a selection on the piano and a vocal solo.

Hallowe'en games were played and the old fashioned dance "nine pins" was enjoyed. Refreshments of grape juice, cake and apples were served by the committee which comprised Misses Leahy, Helen Apgar and Stella Apgar.

Mrs. Wm. M. Runyon and Mrs. Fred Bird, of East Front street, are visiting Mrs. A. E. Bushnell, of Newark.

NEW POWER HOUSE.

Being Constructed at Cranford to Supply Power for All of Elizabeth-Plainfield Line.

The new power-house to be used by the Elizabeth, Plainfield and Central Jersey Street Railway Company which is now being erected at Cranford, will furnish power for the entire line. At present the Plainfield Electric Light Company is furnishing power for a portion of the line. There will be nine boilers at the new plant and the equipment will be such that in case of accident there will be no interruption in the operation of cars.

The main line cars will be kept at Westfield Junction in the new car barns, while the cars running in this city will be housed at the West Fourth street carhouse. It is expected that when the change is made at Westfield many trolley men will have to live near Westfield and this will make a demand for houses at that place. Already there is talk of the erection of a number of small houses in the vicinity of the new power-house. The company hopes to have its improvement work completed by spring.

Natural Anxiety.

Mothers regard approaching winter with uneasiness, children take cold so easily. No disease costs more little lives than croup. Its attack is so sudden that the sufferer is often beyond human aid before the doctor arrives. Such cases yield readily to One Minute Cough Cure. Liquifies the mucus, allays inflammation, removes danger. Absolutely safe. Acts immediately. Cures cough, colds, grip, bronchitis, all throat and lung trouble. F. S. McMahon, Hampton, Ga.: "A bad cold rendered me voiceless just before an oratorical contest. I intended to withdraw but took One Minute Cough Cure. It restored my voice in time to win the medal." L. W. Randolph.

To the Voters of the Second Ward.

Charles A. Sturtevant, Democratic nominee for Councilman from the Second Ward has for many years been a resident of the Second Ward, residing at No. 1334 Watchung avenue. He is a young and energetic business man, being President of the Welvant Mfg. Co., now doing business on 4th street. The Democrats in placing his name for Councilman on the ticket believe that they have nominated the right man to represent the people's interest in the Municipal Government of our city. Although a Democrat, he has never taken an active part in politics, and as he stated in his address of acceptance, it was a case in which the office had sought the man, and not the man the office. Mr. Sturtevant is no politician, he has no ax to grind, he belongs to no clique, and if elected he will be a free man to represent your interests, and we ask you before you vote on Election day, to stop and think what it means, to have our Municipal government represented by a solid Republican representation.

The Most Stubborn Cases

and those of long standing often yield readily to the methods of the new science. They are caused in most cases by an imperfect circulation in the parts. Osteopathy corrects this imperfect circulation and restores the parts to normal, thus relieving the condition. It is rarely necessary to expose the body in treating these conditions by osteopathy, as the nerve centres regulating the blood supply to these parts are reached in the back along the spinal cord. By the new science patients are not only not subjected to the embarrassment of exposure, but instruments, etc., so generally used by the old method, are dispensed with. One of the most prominent ladies in the land (the wife of a United States senator) said the founder of Osteopathy will have been immortalized had he discovered nothing more than its method of treating women's ills.
